This morning about two o'clock some fishermen who were returning home saw some burglars robbing the Wales grocery store and as soon as possible sounded the alarm. Constable Beard was on duty and he hurried to the scene, but unfortunately, was not able to catch the thieves at their work. He found that they had forced an entrance into the store and carried off biscuits, tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and, opening the safe, had abstracted a tin box which contained the bonds. They evidently took their booty across the road into the lumber yard of the Gibbard Company to divide it up. The tin box was forced open and the bonds thrown out on the ground.

When Constable Beard arrived he secured the assistance of Chief Barrett and the two made a thorough search. Not one of the precious bonds were missing and the only loss by the burglary was the merchandise.

This store was broken into last Friday night and some groceries taken. The garage and accessories store of W. J. Normile was also broken into then and two flash lights and twenty-five cents stolen. This is the only money which it is believed the burglars have secured.

The residents of Napanee are confident that the guilty parties will be arrested, as the police have a good idea of their identity.

CHAMPION OF CORPS

KINGSTON, April 16.—Pte. Arthur A. Twigg, 21st Battalion, won the corps athletic championship and received his medal from the hands of Premier Borden recently. He won the 100 yards, 220 yards and 440 yard races, and also a boxing bout. In a recent ball game he played for his battalion as shortstop and helped the team to defeat the battalion by 7 to 1.

Toronto University Receives Many Gifts

TORONTO, April 16—Sir John and Lady Eaton have announced to the Board of Governors of the University that they will make a gift to the university of $25,000 a year for the next twenty years to be devoted to the maintenance of the Department of Medicine in the University of Toronto, it being understood that this amount is to be addition to what has hitherto been spent by the university upon that department. One condition of the gift is that a professor is to be appointed who will give his full time to the organization and oversight of the Department of Medicine. Another condition is that the Department of Pediatrics is to be developed by the appointment of a person who will give half his time to the duties of the department. It may be confidently expected that as a result of this magnificent gift the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Toronto will will be placed in the forefront among those of this continent.

The University of Toronto has of recent years been particularly fortunate in gifts that it has received. Two years ago the Cannought Laboratories were given to the University by Col. Albert E. Gooderham. These laboratories, which are of the most recent construction and are situated on a farm of fifty-eight acres, have been entirely erected through the generosity of Colonel Gooderham. By reason of this gift the university has been enabled to supply the province practically at cost with the sera and antitoxins which have been recently distributed free by the Government.

A few years ago the Household Science Building, one of the finest and best equipped to be found anywhere, was presented to the university by Mrs. Massey Treble and at her death the university received a bequest of $100,000 for the maintenance of this department.

MANY FINE GIFTS

Hart House, which is to be opened in the Autumn, is the gift of the Massey estate. This magnificent group of buildings unique in design and purpose, is to be devoted to the activities of the men students of the university.

For four years Mrs. H. D. Warren paid the salary of the director of the social service department of the university.

For the past four years graduate fellowships amounting to $2,000 a year, most of them held by students coming to the university from the other provinces of Canada, have been given by Sir Edmund Osler, Sir Joseph Flavelle and Co. R. W. Leonard.

A few years ago for a period of five years a sum of between $10,000 and $15,000 a year was given to the university by a number of gentlemen for the purpose of developing medical research.

In 1916 a legacy was received from the E. C. Walker estate amounting to $25,000 towards the erection of a men's residence in the university.

There has also been a large number of scholarships of smaller amounts given to the university which have been announced from time to time. In addition to these direct gifts to the university mention should be made to the Royal Ontario Museum, which is under the joint control of the Government and the university. Most of the exhibits of this museum, the cost of which has been several thousands of dollars, hape been paid for by the Toronto citizens.

This list of larger benefations is a proof that though the University of Toronto is a state institution it has many generous friends.

NEW WOOLWORTH WILL WAS NOT SIGNED

NEW YORK, April 16—Death stayed the hand of Frank W. Woolworth, founder of chain of Woolworth stores as he was about to execute a will under which large bequests were to be left to charity and gifts to old employees, friends and relatives, according to an announcement made by Charles E. F. McCann, son-in-law of the merchant and who is in charge of the legal affairs of the estate. In consequence an old will, which the entire estate is left to Mrs. Jennie Woolworth, , the testator's wife, who is also named sole executor. As Mrs. Woolworth is under medical care, a committee will be appointed to look after her interests.

The provisions of the new will, which was practically completed but not executed, Mr. McCann stated, will be carried out by the family as far as possible. He said it was impossible as yet to appraise the value of the estate. It has been variously estimated at between $30,000,000 and $60,000,000.

Warning Given By Lloyd George—World Faced With Grave Perils

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

LONDON, April 16.—Replying in the House of Commons today to critics of his activities at the Peace Conference Premier Lloyd George said the situation was still full of perils for all countries. He pleaded that those who were trying to do their best be let alone. The allied representatives in Paris have arrived at a complete understanding on the great fundamental questions that would effect peace with Germany, Premier Lloyd George declared. The Allies had formulated their demands and he hoped that by the end of the next week they would be presented.

Questions have cropped up at Peace Conference which imperilled the peace of Europe but the Premier believed that the conference had surmounted these difficulties.

Much as the British Government deplores conditions in Russia, the Premier continued, it is not its duty to commit England to a gigantic enterprise in order to improve conditions in Russia. There was no question he said of recognizing Russia. It his never been proposed and had never been discussed. The Premier denied trying to escape declarations made during the election campaign. The declaration regarding compelling Germany to pay was concurred in by all party leaders.

Conference decided not to publish the terms of peace. He said it would be a first-class blunder. Premature publication could only serve to encourage the resistance of the enemy. Lloyd George sharply criticized certain newspaper attacks made in connection with the Peace Conference, which tended to cause dissension.

William Adamson, leader of the Labor Opposition, following the Premier, said in regard to the latter's address: "The speech was eloquent, but not entirely satisfactory.

Death Watch Drugged Murderer Escapes

FRANK McCULLOUGH, WHO KILLED TORONTO DETECTIVE, DRUGGED HIS GUARD, SAWED BARS ON WINDOW, AND ESCAPED FROM TORONTO JAIL, LEAVING NOTE IN CELL.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

TORONTO, April 16.—After drugging his guard, Frank McCullough, of Youngstown, N.Y., under sentence of death for the murder of Acting Detective Williams, escaped from his death cell at Toronto Jail some time between midnight and five o'clock this morning. He cut through two heavy iron bars in the window while his guard, a returned soldier, was asleep. He then dropped on to the wall which skirts the jail and jumped to freedom. He left a hastily written note in his cell stating that he drugged the guard's coffee. It is a mystery how McCullough obtained the saw with which he cut the bars, and the drugs, his only visitor being a young girl, who was admitted some time ago after being searched. The prisoner often boasted that he would beat the gallows.

WANT DAYLIGHT TIME

WINNIPEG, April 16—At a meeting of the Brick Layers' Union, the premier organization of local labor, Monday night, votd in favor of the daylight saving proposal. This, in spite of the fact that a large portion of the labor unions have protested against the re-introduction of the scheme.

Daylight saving for Winnipeg is still very much in doubt. Monday night the City Council, despite a strong plea from several members, refused to deal with it on the ground that some members of the Council deeply interested in the project, were not present. The matter was therefore, laid over for another two weeks.

IT HAPPENED IN BELLEVILLE

APPLES FOR SOLDIERS

In connection with the article recently published in The Intelligencer in regard to giving each soldier on the troop trains passing through a nice, big rosy Canadian apple, I asked a soldier recently returned from overseas, what he thought of the apple stunt and this is what he said:

"I think the idea of the gentleman in touch with returning soldiers on troops trains is very good. I am sure nothing is appreciated more by the men than the refreshments they receive en route, and the place they receive them at is never forgotten.

"I remember well as we were going overseas the reception we met with at Moncton, N.B., and I notice that the big hearted city is still "carrying on" with the boys on their return, by giving them refreshments. When in France we used to sit and talk at times about our journey "over there," and Moncton reception was always brought up. We used to wonder whether it would be the same on our return, or should we be forgotten, but it is plainly seen that we are not. The reception we met with at St. Johns, N.B., on arrival from all classes was certainly great. Refreshments were showered upon us.

"When I told a lady who was offering me fruit that I was full she replied that I could not get full in St. John, but it is a long journey from St. Johns or Halifax to B. C., and only one place on the road where people show their appreciation by giving refresments to returned men."

"Belleville should buck up," concluded the soldier, "and get BIGGER and BETTER, and let the returned men see that this is a place worth living in."

The House of Eddy
A Factor in Canadian Life

IT is probable that not a day goes by in which the House of Eddy does not make life more comfortable and convenient for you. Eddy Products—Eddy Conveniences—are woven into the very fabric of Canadian life. You light the kitchen fire, or the gas-grate of a morning—or perhaps your pipe, and the comfortable glow springs from the end of an Eddy match-stick.

Eddy's Products are Products of Convenience

Eddy's Indurated Fibreware Pails, Washtubs and Washboards are widely used on the farm and in the cities. Your butter was shipped in an Eddy Butter Tub, which kept it free from taint or odor. Eddy Milk Pails play their part in keeping your supply clean and sweet. Your purchases from the store are sent home in Eddy Paper Bags, It is highly probable that the newspaper you are now reading is printed on paper which was made at Hull—by Eddy.

Eddy's Matches, Indurated Fibreware, Paper and Paper Specialties all contribute to make Canadian life more convenient. Since 1851 the House of Eddy has been bending its energies toward this one end.

Little Journey From Coal Pit To Pulpit

"From Coal Pit to Pulpit," was the title of a very interesting lecture given in Holloway Street Methodist Church last evening by Rev. T. Wallace, of Sidney Circuit. The attendance was large and all were charmed with the eloquence and humor of the speaker whose life has been a shifting panorama of strenuous endeavor and helpful Christian service to humanity. At the age of twelve years he began work in an English coal mine and in the dark and grime and danger of the underground workings began his life as a coal miner at the munificent wages of two cents per hour for a ten-hour day. After working several years as a miner he was converted at a religious meeting and felt called to the ministry. After a period of Christian service in England he came to Canada and now stationed in Sidney Circuit where he is doing a splendid work and is highly esteemed and appreciated. His lecture was intensley interesting and interspersed with anecdotes, humorons and pathetic and all who heard him will welcome another opportunity of listening to him.

The meeting was of a Missionary nature under the auspices of the W. M. S., the chairman being Miss Martin.

Life memberships were presented to Mrs. (Rev.) Clarry, Mrs. Chas. L. Walters, Mrs. B. McMurray, Mrs. A. Booth, and Rev. Mr. Clarry, the latter being the recipient of a life membership as a token of the esteem of the Alert Bible Class.

Vocal solos were charmingly rendered by Mrs. Dobbs and Miss Winnifred Pearce, while a reading by Miss Ray Farrell, was very much enjoyed.

Notes From The Harbor

By Davy Jones

The barge, "New Dominion," is expecting to clear for Ogdensburg any day now with Capt. Clemmie Ellis in charge. Capt. Ellis is gradually picking out his crew from among the best sailors of The Wharf Street Club, as he says money is no object with him and he wants the best money can buy. He is one of the youngest and best dressed captains on the lakes and is very popular wherever he goes. He is an enthusiastic member of the Wharf Street Club and belongs to the Elks and several other societies and when he leaves here with his vessel it has been arranged that the cannon on the park will fire twenty-one rounds in honor of the event.

The schooner, Bertie Coulken, a Picton owned vessel that laid up here last fall, has had a lot of good work done on her here this spring and is now ready and will clear to load coal for Picton, Thursday. Capt. Vandusen, her Master, has made many friends here during his stay and is really considered now as one of Belleville's mariners. He is very popular, has a first class crew, a high class schooner and is always sure of a good trade and everyone hopes that he and his vessel will lay up here again next fall.

The schooner "Grace M. Filer" will clear for Oswego Thursday to load coal for Belleville. This good vessel has been thoroughly overhauled and is in grand shape for this season's trade and it is now considered to be the best craft on inland waters and is a credit to Belleville. The crew consists of Capt. Joe Fagan, Master: Capt. Farrington, Mate; Wm. Smith, Geo. Keegan and Mr. Fred Sandford are the crew and Mr. Joe Provost will act as cook and steward. That good luck attend the vessel and her crew for the season is the wish of many friends.

Mr. Frank Keegan, owner and master of the schooner, "J. B. Newland" of Belleville, will clear for Oswego to load coal for Belleville, Thursday wind and weather permitting. This vessel is in good shape, as she has to be, ship shape and Bristol Fashion, to suit that good sailor, Mr. John Hunter, who acts as first mate; Mr. Jimmie Arnott, who acts as chef, and the fact alone makes it clear that the bill of fare on the "Newland" will be the best. The Wharf Street Club presented at their last meeting to their esteemed secretary, Mr. Frank Keegan, the master of the "Newland," a beautiful silver horseshoe and it has been nailed to her mast head for luck. Everybody likes the vessel, the crew, and may good luck attend her.

Oriole III, the handsome sailing yacht of Geo. H. Gooderham, M.P.P., is being refitted for the season under direction of Capt. G. A. Strahan. The crew are all here and ready for the season's sailing. Four of the crew are from the Maritime Provinces, all deep sea sailors. About six weeks will be occupied in refitting and getting everything shipshape.

MAJOR GREER RETURNS.

Major Greer, M.C., C.A.M.C., who has been appointed to succeed Major Richardson, returned from overseas. Major Greer belongs to Peterborough, and he went overseas as medical officer of the famous 2nd Battalion. He served continuously throughout the war, receiving the Military Cross for conspicuous service at the front.

ENJOYABLE MUSICAL EVENT.

Teh Ballptist Church was filled to capacity with an appreciative audience last evening to listen to the rendition of Stainer's "Crucifixion" by the choir and assisting artists. This beautiful cantata was given in a highly finished manner, eliciting the warmest approval of everyone present. To Mr. R. J. F. Staples, tenor, and Mr. Sam Anglin, baritone, fell the hardest work, and to these gentlemen a great deal of the evening's success is due, their solos being given in pleasing voice with distinct enunciation. The work of the large chorus was magnificent; they were at all times completely under control of Miss Eva Lavoie's baton, who displayed fine skill as a conductor. Other solos were given by Mrs. Wilmot, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Farrow and Miss E. Lavoie. Each solo was given in splendid manner and added very much to the program. After the cantata the anthem "As Pants the Hart" (Spohr) was given by the chorus, the obligato being taken by Mrs. Allen in her own inimitable way. Miss Laura D. Lavoie presided at the organ throughout, and displayed her usual good judgment in handling the various accompaniments.

The Spirit of Sunlight

All over the land the sun calls forth beauty, cleanliness, health and the renewing of youth. So with Sunlight Soap in the home. It redeems everything washable from the thraldom of dirt. Renews beauty and brings out old colors. It cleanses with a sure, gentleness that only the purest of soaps could accomplish.

Sunlight Soap

Its mission—as thousands of homes know—is to wash clothes, from the finest to the coarsest, without rubbing or old-time labour and discomfort. Also to wash woodwork, linoleums, dishes, utensils, etc., spotlessly clean with only a little soap. All this because it is absolutely pure.

No one can buy better Soap.

CANADIAN AIR SERVICE.

The Government appears to be still undecided regarding the creation of a Canadian Air Service. The Ministers are making a mistake. Canadian airmen undoubtedly led the rest of the world in aviation on the west front. Aviation will witness great developments in the next few months and years. Canada has trained flyers, the scientific aviators who can keep it in the lead in these developments. The only thing that is required is Government backing. Let the Administration place its resources behind Canada's flying men without any further delay.—Toronto Times.

APOSTLES OF LOST CAUSES.

Did you ever notice that in every community there is a type of humanity which is always "agin' the government"?

A case in point of an interesting character who, by the way, does not live in Belleville, but has prototypes everywhere, may be cited. Let us call him Bill, because that isn't his name.

Bill has a loud voice and an obstinate nature which finds expression in being the noise centre of all radical opposition to established authority and rarely finds any good in any legislation, municipal, provincial or federal.

Bill was an ardent McCarthyite in that evanescent but noisy movement back in the days of '96, later championed reciprocity feverishly and blatantly, and with mild interludes of municipal agitation eagerly joined the bunch opposing Union Government.

Bill is always on the losing side, both in his championship of movements and in his election bets.

Bill is always against all public improvements, including civic parks, pavements and extension and improvement of public utilities.

Bill, if he lived in Belleville, would be against the Bay Bridge and would prefer mud to pavements unless someone wished an automobile on him, and would be in favor of pulverizing Zwick's Island and scattering the dust to the four winds.

Bill is strong for the workingMAN, meaning himself, but weak for the workingMEN who seek higher wages and shorter hours, and loves to recall the "good old days' when sunup to sundown constituted a day's work and one dollar a day's wage.

It is a difference of opinion that makes horse races, lawsuits, wars, prize fights and other interesting features of life on this uneasy plane, and it is the opposition of the Bills which puts the Pep into real reformers.

The poor we have with us always, and the halt, the blind and the cantankerous, but the Bills are rather a necessary evil and contribute to the gaiety of nations.

"The headstrong gentleman," says the New York Sun, "who urges us to nominate Vice-Admiral Sims for president of the United States should read the constitution of the nation the eminent naval commander serves so faithfully, and then examine the Sims family history." He might also read what befell Admiral Dewey, who had the timerity to dispose of a house given him by a "grateful nation" after his target-practice with the helpless Spaniards in Manila bay. Incidentally, Admiral Sims is Canadian born, and thus incapacitated for the above office.

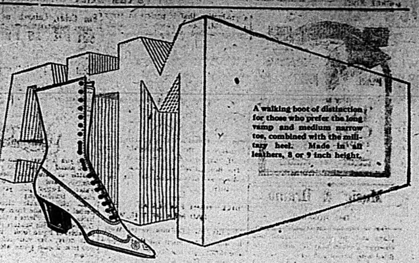
GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing becomes easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.



A walking boot of distinction for those who prefer the long vamp and medium narrow toe, combined with the military heel. Made in all leathers, 8 or 9 inch height.

When You Buy for Style

THERE is a point beyond which the adding of refinements to a shoe can add nothing to its value. There is a certain definite limit to the fineness of leathers and fabrics.

Shoes of graceful design, and in perfect good taste, can readily be obtained at moderate prices, and little extra service value can be secured at any price. There is no reason why you should not pay extravagant prices if you can afford it, but you should understand what your dollars are really buying.

The model shown above is correct and attractive in style, and represents good value for the money in any of the grades in which it is made. Our booklet "How to Buy Shoes" gives some interesting information about different types and grades of shoes. We gladly send it to any address in Canada upon request to our head office at Montreal.

Music & Drama

"THE ROSARY"

Out of the ruck and ruction of war plays and the unclean dramas now emerges a clean play of modern life, filled with humor and tense with moving situations. It is "The Rosary," from the pen of Edward E. Rose, and is being revived by Messrs. Rowland & Clifford to supply the increasing demand for good, wholesome, clean plays that has manifested itself in the past few months with the cessation of the war. "The Rosary" will be the attraction at Griffin's Opera House next Tuesday night and is bound to prove one of the most welcome attractions of this season, presented as it is with a trained company of players and with a production that is perfect in every detail. Millions of people have laughed and cried with Father Kelly, the central figure of this modern drama, and millions more will smile and sigh with him, as this play begins its revival.

CATHERINE CALVERT AT PALACE TOMORROW

The noted stage beauty, Catherine Calvert appears at the Palace tomorrow to Saturday, matinee daily in Paul M. Potter's thrilling drama, "A Romance of the Underworld." The ninth chapter of the high speed serial "The Bull's Eye" and a new Luke comedy are also announced for presentation.

"BILL" HART EXCELS AS BAD MAN OF THE WEST

Virility, the breeziness of the West, the qualities of manhood that inspire admiration, are the strongest traits of William S. Hart, whose latest picture "Breed of Men," will be shown at Griffin's tomorrow to Saturday, with a special matinee Good Friday and Saturday. During his screen career Mr. Hart has depicted western types of every description—bad men, punchers, woodsmen, ranchers, etc. His remarkable forceful personality imparts a realism to his acting that lifts it out of the commonplace and renders it distinctly superior and convincing. His new picture offers great opportunities for the famous star, for the role he portrays is that of a positive daredevil among cowpunchers, a man who is afraid of nothing.

That the management of husbands cannot be reduced to a formula with the same accuracy as a recipe for doughnuts is the theme about which is developed a series of delightful comedy situations in "Happy Though Married," Enid Bennett's new picture which is being screened on the same program. "Saucy Madeline," a new Mack Sennett comedy, and the British News film will also be exhibited.

NATIONAL JOY-MAKERS

Those popular stars of farce-comedy, Jane and Katherine Lee, are to be seen for the last time tonight at the Palace Theatre in their unusually clever and witty picture, "Swat the Spy." Situations of the most humorous description imaginable follow one another upon the screen, while a well balanced and orderly plot keeps interest at high tension. The inimitable way in which the "Baby Grands" outwit and circumvent a fierce acting band of German conspirators keeps the spectator in a constant state of laughter throughout the showing of the picture. A new comedy and Pathe News are also being screened.

"ROMANCE OF HAPPY VALLEY"

David W. Griffith's superb photoplay of homely life in Kentucky, "A Romance of Happy Valley," which is on view at Griffin's tonight, is a superb photoplay with situations of peculiar heart appeal and tremendous dramatic power. Mr. Griffith never has displayed his genius as a producer to greater advantage than in this excellent photoplay. Lillian Gish, Robert Harron and George Fawcett and Kate Bruce are the principals in the cast. "The Summer Girls," a new 2-act Mack Sennett comedy, a Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoon and a beautiful hand-colored travelogue are also announced for exhibition.

TREAT FOR THE KIDDIES

High and lofty tumbling by clever acrobats, boneless contortionists, wild western cowboy stunts, slack-wire walking, acting ponies, dogs and monkeys, and old-fashioned clowns made up a novel program presented at Griffin's Theatre yesterday afternoon and evening by Bernac's European Circus. The show pleased the kiddies and most of the grown-ups present, some old features were presented with new trimmings and some new features with old trimmings. The acrobatic work was very good and the youthful con- Levine's Statuesque Dogs was the best Leoine's Statuesque Dogs was the best number on the programme.

World-weary patrons of circus and theatre who have seen everything worth while were more interested in the juvenile audience than the performers and the laughter of the kiddies at the antics of the clowns was well worth the price of admission alone.

GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Neglect your kidneys now and the results will be fatal later. Heed Nature's warnings: headaches, dizziness, pain in the back, etc., are all symptoms. If you have them Gin Pills are necessary at once.

For Colds, Catarrh or Influenza

Do you feel weak and unequal to the work ahead of you? Do you still cough a little, or does your nose bother you? Are you pale? Is your blood thin and watery? Better put your body into shape. Build strong!

An old, reliable blood-maker and herbal tonic made from wild roots and barks, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This "nature remedy" comes in tablet or liquid form. It will build up your body, cure your cold, and protect you from disease germs which lurk everywhere. One of the active ingredients of this temperance alterative and tonic is wild cherry bark with stillingia, which is so good for the lungs and for coughs; also Oregon grape root, blood root, stone root, Queen's root,—all skilfully combined in the Medical Discovery. These roots have a direct action on the stomach, improving digestion and assimilation. These herbal extracts in the "Discovery" aid in blood-making, and are best for scrofula. By improving the blood they aid in throwing off an attack of influenza.

Catarrh should be treated, first, as a blood disease, with this alterative. Then, in addition, the nose should be washed daily with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

ISLANDER WON'T COME BACK

It is definitely announced by the Canada Steamship Lines that the steamer Thousand Islander will this year continue on the Detroit-Wallaceburg run which proved a successful venture last season. In addition the company has decided to place a boat on the run between Chatham and Detroit.

SAD DEVELOPMENTS

Sad developments arose in the case of Joseph Cooper, of Springbrook, Hastings County, who was found guilty by Police Magistrate Bradshaw last Friday of being a defaulter under the M.S.A. and fined $250. Between the time of his arrest and his trial his mother took ill and died. This morning his brother having paid his fine, Cooper was released from the local jail, but not soon enough to pay the last rites to his deceased mother.—Kingston Standard.

FIFTY-FIVE GREAT-GRANDCHILDREN

Mrs. P. Antoine, of Cornwall township, died at the home of her son, Ecklorn Antoine, Cornwall, at the age of 84 years. Mr. Antoine was born in Ireland, but came to Canada when 11 years of age. She was the mother of eighteen children, thirteen sons and five daughters, of whom three daughters and ten sons survive. She leaves an unusual number of descendants to the third generation there being eighty-one grandchildren and fifty-five great-grandchildren.

A DELIGHTFUL DANCE.

At the Belleville Club premises last night a dance took place which was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated in the event. A delightful program of dances was provided and suitable music was furnished.

BODY ARRIVES HERE.

The body of the late Mrs. (Rev.) A. W. Budd, who died at Derby, Conn., arrived here last night and was taken to the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. J. A. Goodsell, Coleman St., from whence the funeral took place this afternoon.

CASE ENLARGED.

The case of Louis Campbell, charged with assaulting and occasioning grievous bodily harm to one O'Connor, was called in police court this morning, but enlargement for a week was granted. The charge is the outcome of a fracas which occurred near the G. T. R. roundhouse yesterday, when the accused and the more injured man attacked each other with shovels. O'Connor is still in the hospital doing as well as can be expected. Mr. Carnew represented the Crown in the matter and Mr. E. J. Butler is looking after Campbell's interests.

THE HOME-COMING.

It is desirable that the return to Belleville and district of all soldiers from overseas be chronicled in the public press so that friends and well-wishers far and near may be apprised of their safe return. As soldiers are returning on the many trains at all hours of the day and night it is impossible to accurately record their arrival and The Intelligencer will be pleased to receive notification from relatives and friends of the return of soldier boys with records of service, as the public is very much interested. Phone, write or call.

PLATE GLASS SMASHED

On the wall of a hallway on the west side of Front street, leading to Mr. W. S. Clarke's studio, is a large show case used for exhibiting photos. Some time last night the plate glass covering same was smashed, entailing a loss of about $18. It is thought that parties were scuffling in the hallway and in this manner broke the glass.

WHEN THE SEASON IS NEW

Hats are new, too. Styles are brighter, fresher, and get more glances of approval as you walk down the street.
Come on, while there's glory in it.
Prices $3, $3.50, $5.

CITY AND COUNTRY

COL. PONTON AT ALBANY

Capital City Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, of Albany, N.Y., celebrated it fiftieth anniversary with a reception and banquet last Friday evening at which the principal speaker was Col. W. N. Ponton, of Belleville. The Albany Argus thus refers to Col. Ponton: "The speaker of the evening, Lieut.-Col. William N. Ponton, grand second principal of the Grand Chapter of Canada, was then introduced and made a most inspiring address. The topic was "The Ties That Bind." and during the course of his remarks he told of the friendly feeling that existed between the chapters of Canada and America. He said that in all of his travels he never had received a warmer welcome than the one accorded him in Albany. For more than an hour he entertained his hearers, and the masterful manner in which he handled the subject was the cause of much favorable comment."

PYRITE INDUSTRY QUIET

Conditions are not active in the pyrite industry in Canada, and there seems to be a general lack of inquiry for either pyrite or sulphur. The Quebec mines of Eustis and Weedon are reported to be the only shippers from that Province, while the Sulphide, Ontario mines of the General Chemical Company, is shipping at the rate of 6,000 tons a month. Until the reserve stocks of both pyrite and sulphur have been worked off, the market for these products in both Canada and the United States is likely to be rather uncertain. The importation of Spanish ores for the refining plants on the Atlantic coast of the United States is believed to be not an unlikely event, but the plants in the interior will be used to dispose of stocks of pyrite and sulphur that have been accumulited.

AN APPRECIATIVE ADDRESS

At the John Street Presbyterian church last evening, Mr. R. J. Graham gave an address, the subject of which was "The Relation of the Church to the Nation." The address was in connection with the Forward Movement meetings being held nightly this week in that church. Mr. Graham's remarks showed careful preparation and were much appreciated by the goodly number who were in attendance.

OFFICER MADE GOOD

Lieut.-Col. Featherstonhaugh has arrived home and has joined his family at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mrs. Tobias Butler, this city. He was connected with the Imperial forces at Cologne. Col. Featherstonhaugh was one of the officers of the first Canadian Forestry Battalion under command of General McDougall. Three times he was mentioned in despatches and was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire. to enlistment the Colonel was an engineer on the Grand Trunk Pacific Division. His many friends will be pleased to learn of his achievements while on active service.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

DEFAULTER FINED $1,000

Fines imposed on defaulters under the Military Service Act continue in Previous to enlistment the Col. was an spector Simpson and his staff are bringing the evaders in. Since March 15th, fines amounting in all to $3,750 have been paid, all of which is placed at the credit of the Receiver-General of Canada. So far the heaviest levy has been $1,000, which amount was on Wednesday collected from a young man who had long been defiant in attitude and seditious in speech. In the court room his bearing was unchanged, wherefore a thousand-dollar fine was imposed and a note made of his un-British sentiments. A chum of his had appeared in court on the 3rd inst., but he, whether sincere or not, expressed regret over his actions and got off with a $750 fine. There is a report current that a short while ago a brother of the man who paid the $1,000 fine tried to get out of Canada at Niagara Falls, and, being caught, was taken to Kingston and there after trial by court martial got a 2-year sentence without the option of a money payment. During the past week four men have paid fines of $250 each in Renfrew.

TURNED UP IN TORONTO

The lad Anthony Nelzbyzcka, who on Saturday last ran away from the Children's Shelter here while being held on a charge of riding on a railway without a ticket was yesterday picked up in Toronto. He will be retained here until his parents, who reside at Montreal are communicated with.

DRUG STORE BROKEN INTO

Some time during the late hours on Monday night or early Tuesday morning the drug store of Mr. J. V. Doyle of this city was entered and some six or seven gallons of alcohol were taken. An entrance was effected by forcing a door at the rear of the premises. It was evidently the work of more than one person.

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

French Suffered Ever Since a Boy

After Taking Tanlac He Enjoys Better Health Now Than In 15 Years

"Positively I am in better condition now than I have been in fifteen years," said Chas. J. French, of 1733 Dundas street, West, Toronto, Ont.

"Ever since I was a boy," he continued, "I had stomach trouble. My food did not digest well, and I got into a general run-down condition that worried me for years. My back hurt me terribly and many a time I would have to quit work, and I lost so much life and energy that my work became a drudgery to me. Although I was taking medicines all the time, I kept getting worse, till I could hardly keep going at all.

"My wife got me a bottle of Tanlac and I soon felt it was straightening me out. I kept it up and now I can eat anything I like and it never hurts me at all. The pain in my back is entirely gone and I am so much better and stronger in every way that my work is a pleasure and I get through the day without feeling all tired and wornout."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling, by J. S. Morton, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Put Vim In Jaded Muscles

by stimulating and arousing the circulation with light applications of Absorbine, Jr., rubbed in thoroughly. This invigorating liniment acts quickly and surely. It is fragrant and pleasant to use—leaves no greasy residue on the skin.

As Absorbine, Jr., is a powerful germicide as well as a liniment, it is effective for prophylactic and aseptic uses; it destroys the germs in cuts and sores; it may be diluted and used successfully as an antiseptic and germicide for the mouth and throat.

Athletes will find it efficient for limbering sore, stiff muscles. A good formula for a rub-down is one ounce of Absorbine, Jr., to a quart of water or witch hazel.

It is composed of vegetable extracts and essential oils and is positively harmless. Get a bottle to-day and keep it in your desk, in your traveling bag, in your medicine cabinet or in the side pocket of your automobile. It is health insurance of a high type.

At most druggists or sent postpaid upon receipt of $1.25. Trial bottle for 10c. in stamps.

WELLS—PREST

A very pretty, but quiet event took place this morning at the home of the Pastor of the Baptist Church, Rev. Wallace, Catherine Street, when Miss Ethel M. Prest, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur H. Wells, of Marmora. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Delbert Prest of Syracuse. After the ceremony a dainty wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, on Herchimer Street, only relatives and intimate friends being present. The young couple left on a wedding tour bearing the best wishes of a large circle of friends. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Wells will take up their residence in the city.

Lloyd George Confounds His Critics Great Parliamentary Triumph

BRITISH PREMIER'S GENERAL ACCOUNT OF PEACE TERMS GIVES SATISFACTION — DEMOLISHED WHOLE STRUCTURE OF CRITICS BUILT UPON SUPPOSED DEPARTURE FROM PRE-ELECTION PLEDGES—PREMIER'S SPEECH APPROVED WITH ROUSING CHEERS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, April 17.—While opinions are divided regarding the substance of the address of Lloyd George before the House of Commons there is a general agreement by the London Press that it was a great parliamentary triumph, as indeed was shown by the rousing cheers of his audience and the expressions of individual members in the lobby. With the exception of Laborite and Northcliffe newspapers none of the morning journals condemn the Premier's statement wholly, while several warmly applauded it. These admit that Lloyd George revealed nothing of the peace terms, but they do not complain. The Telegraph, for instance, says that his general account of the terms will give satisfaction and adds that he demolished the whole structure of his critics built on his supposed departure from his pre-election pledges.

Raise Speed Limit For Motorists

May Travel 20 Miles an Hour in Urban and 25 Miles in Rural Districts.

TORONTO, April 17—No longer will motorists who speed up to twenty miles an hour in town or 25 miles an hour in the country need to watch apprehensively for the appearance of a minion of the law armed with a stop watch. The Municipal Committee of the Legislature yesterday decided that a fifteen-mile limit in the city and town and a twenty-mile limit in the country is too tight a check to place upon even the owners of a small car and although sundry members from the rural sections voiced loud objections, the committee boosted the limit five miles in each case.

The fight was largely between rural and urban members, and the decision was a close one, the advocates of a higher speed limit in the country having but two votes to spare, the vote being 19 to 17. They did a little better on the clause to raise the speed limit in urban centres to miles, the vote being 20 to 16. The majority of the committee figured that in raising the limit they were not encouraging motorists to drive their cars faster since in some municipalities a motorists was not interfered with so long as he did not exceed 20 miles. Similarly in the country, a 25-mile an hour rate has not as a rule led to a summons. The change was simply recognizing in the Act the generally permitted speed limits.

Although it is unusual for the verdict of a committee to be reversed in the House the opponents of the change declare their intention of carrying the fight there.

The committee threw out a clause barring the way to the conviction of a person for speeding upon the evidence of a single officer. Sections requiring noise mufflers, and, in the case of commercial cars, side mirrors were approved.

SHOUOLDERS HIS RIFLE BUT GOES WRONG WAY

TORONTO, April 17—Louis Gendron, a teacher in a little school in Hastings County, who, when the Military Service Act was passed shouldered his rifle and went to the bush, was fined $300 and costs for disobeying an order to report for duty, when he appeared in the Police Court.

Gen. Plumer Ordered German Strikers To Return To Work

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

COLOGNE, April 17.—In consequence of the spread of German strikes to the Cologne district, Lieut.-Gen. Sir Herbert Plumer, in command of the British forces on the Rhine, issued a proclamation ordering the immediate return of the men to work and threatening strong measures against persons promoting or countenancing strikes in the British zone of occupation. General Plumer offered military mediation if other means of settlement failed. A squadron of British airplanes flew over the affected district today.

Standard Oil Wages Raised $5,000,000

First Year of New Industrial Relationship System Pleases Company, Too.

NEW YORK, April 17—The golden age of industry seems to have arrived within the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, judging by reports given at the second annual joint conference and dinner of the elected representatives of the employes of the New Jersey refineries and the directors of the company held in the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark. Among the speakers were A. C. Bedford, chairman of the directors, who presided, and Walter C. Teagle, the company's president.

A year ago the company put into effect its industrial relationship plan, whereby the employes have a voice in the fixing of wages, hours and other conditions. The results of the year were discussed. Minutes of eighty conferences between the management and the workers at five refineries showed that 119 matters had been discussed and amicably settled. Of these 38 per cent. had to do with wages, 10 per cent. with working conditions, 9 per cent. with promotions and discharges, 8.5 per cent. with hours, and 8 per cent. with methods of wage payments.

Wage decisions in which the employes participated, increased the annual payroll by $5,000,000. In the course of the year thirty-nine employes were retired on annuities averaginb $89 a month. Under the group insurance plan 9,251 employes were insured for total sum of $9,188,000 without cost to themselves. Of this group 146 have died and their dependents have received $159,853, or an average of $1,096 for each death. About 30 per cent. of these employes had no other insurance and not 7 per cent. of them other insurance amounting to more than $1,000.

It was also reported that the company had taken back 1,816 men who were in military or naval service, while retaining on the payroll these who filled the gap during the war. The soldiers are taken back without having to pass the regular physical examination, and the time they have been in the national uniform is added to their company service record, this increasing the benefits and annuities they will eventually receive.

All these units will be dispersed in Kingston. It is expected that a half holiday will be proclaimed by the mayor the day of their arrival.

French Hold Left Bank Of Rhine For 15 Years

PARIS, April 17—The Council of Four decided definitely yesterday that millitary occupation of the left bank of the Rhine shall continue for fifteen years, the newspapers say. At first inter-Allied forces would be used, but they would be withdrawn progressively in preparation as Germany met her financial obligations and be replaced by French and Belgian soldiers.

The Journal says that the central territorial commission of the peace conference has decided the Teschen problem in favor of Bohemia as against Poland.

McCullough Is Still At Liberty

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, April 17—There is little new to-day in connection with the escape of the condemned murderer, Frank McCullough, from Toronto jail yesterday morning, except theories. The main fact is that McCullough is still at large. This morning Mrs. Currell, wife of the night watchman who was on duty when McCullough escaped, received through the mail her husband's returned soldier button with a letter in the same hand writing as those received by the newspapers yesterday. Last night a small boy found a lady's valuable watch and fob a few feet from the spot where McCullough jumped clear of the jail property. Some people incline to the opinion that McCullough is still in Toronto, while the police declare that he is probably many miles away.

BANK MANAGERS BURNED TO DEATH

LONDON, April 16.—Widespread disturbances in India were referred to in Parliament as being the outcome of what was described as the "passive resistance" movement against the recent Indian legislation known as the "Howlatt Act," intended to combat seditious conspiracy. The movement originated with the Home rule element in Bombay, and has taken shape in attacks on officials and Europeans and on property. The India Office last night issued a long statement describing the general situation. It was shown that there have been disturbances recently at Lahore and a few casualties at Amritsar, thirty-three miles eastward, where three bank managers were burned to death in the town hall, two banks destroyed, the telegraph office wrecked and three Europeans killed.

At Ahmedabad, a mob attacked and burned the telegraph office and two government buildings. Here also there were a few casualties. There have been disorders in which some persons have been wounded at Bombay, but the statement says, in most of these places military forces are now maintaining order.

Disorders In Turkey Massacres Of Armenians

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, April 17.—It is learned here that the situation in Turkey is causing grave anxiety, internal disorders being rife. According to reports from Rear-Admiral Webb, R.N., at Constantinople, it is feared that there will shortly be outbreaks and massacres of the Armenian population on a large scale.

Order Now Restored Everywhere In India

Bombay Markets Reopen—Ahmedabad Government Buildings Were Burned.

LONDON, April 17—Prompt measures taken by the Indian authorities to deal with the disturbances that occurred at Bombay, Ahmedabad and other points recently have resulted in the restoration of order everywhere, says a news despatch from Bombay filed on Sunday. The cotton and other markets in Bombay have been reopened.

In the disorders at Ahmebabad the Government buildings were burned down and a train conveying troops from Bombay to restore order was derailed by the removal of several rails. There were no casualties, but the line was blocked and telegraphic communication interrupted.

Paris Mystery Of Missing Women

PARIS, April 17—The disappearance of a number of women from a suburb of Paris has led to the arrest of Henri Landru, who, the Paris detectives assert, may be able to solve the mystery of their continued absence from home.

The missing women were acquaintances of Laudru, who is declared to have made a specialty in becoming engaged to widows. The police officials says that from papers found in Laudru's possession they believe that he had at least ten fiancees who cannot be found.

Under the name of George Dupont, Laudru hired in 1915 a lonely villa in the outskirits of the village of Gambass, on the border of the Rambouillet Forest. The villa is almost surrounded by walls and is 550 yards from the nearest house. The allegation is made that Laudru only paid brief visits to the villa, accompanied by women, none of whom were seen to leave the place.

One woman who visited the house with her two small dogs, the bodies of which were found Sunday under a heap of leaves. They had been strangled with a cord. Women's dresses, a revolver, a bloodstained mattress and cord similar to that with which the dogs were strangled are alleged to have been found in the villa.

Laudru, according to statements made by the detectives, admitted having used various names, because he had been imprisoned several times. He denied, the authorities say, that he did away with any of the women, but said he killed the dogs at the request of the woman because it was too expensive to feed them.

Council of Four has decided that Heligoland shall be dismantled and as far as possible be destroyed.

Germany must accept or reject peace treaty by May 15. No debate will be permitted.

State Of Open Rebellion Exists In Some Parts Of India

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN SOME DISTRICTS WHERE DISTURBANCES HAVE GROWN TO OPEN REBELLION AGAINST AUTHORITY—COMMISSION WILL TRY VIOLATORS OF MARTIAL LAW.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

SIMLA, India, April 17.—Martial law has been declared in the districts of Lahore and Amritear, according to an announcement made here. It is said in the announcement that the Governor-General is satisfied that a state of open rebellion against authority exists in those districts. The trials of those violating regulations under martial law will be held by a commission which will be similar to those prescribed by the Defence of India Act.

Major Sharp Gets Year And Is Cashiered

KINGSTON, April 17—Major W. J. S. Sharp, Casualty Officer, of this district, who disappeared last August and was apprehended in New York last January, and who was tried by court-martial some days ago, will have to serve a year in Burwash Prison and in addition to this be cashiered from the service, according to the finding of the court martial which was promulgated yesterday afternoon.

Sharp was charged with being absent without leave while on active service.

Archangel Situation Is Better

LONDON, April 17—News from Northern Russian yesterday is that the situation in the Archangel area has been considerably improved by the recent success against the Bolsheviks. The announcement that a relief force will shortly proceed to the front has had a marked effect on the spirits of the allied troops.

The most critical period, however, has not yet been reached, but it is believed that if the relief force is despatcher as soon as open water is available, all will be well.

PARTY, AFTER BRAVING ALL THE TERRORS OF THE BOLSHEVIKI, REACHED CONSTANTINOPLE — GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS IN THE PARTY AS WELL AS THE DOWAGER EMPRESS.

PARIS, April 17.—Twenty members of the former Russian Imperial Family, including former Dowager Empress Marie Feodorovna, reached Constantinople from the Crimea several days ago, according to Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris.

The party also included the former Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaivitch, at one time commander-in-chief of the Russian army, and Peter Nicholaivitch, a lieutenant-general in the Russian Imperial Army, and a younger brother of Nicholas.

Nicholas and Peter who married sisters of the Queen of Italy, having been invited to reside in Rome, have left Constantinople for the Italian capital on an Italian steamer. Others in the party, including the Dowager Empress, will go to Malta on board a British warship, where they will await the decision of the British Government as their future place of residence.

The evacuation of Odessa by the Allied forces and the advance of the Bolshevik into the Crimea probably was the compelling factor in the withdrawal from Russian soil of the members of the former Russian Imperial Family. Saturday it was reported the Bolshevik had captured Simferpol, the capital of the Crimea, and within a few miles of the coast where the Romanoff family had its villas. The former Dowager Empress and other members of the family had been living on the southern shore of the Crimea since the overthrow of the Emperor Nicholas.

The Dowager Empress is a sister of the Dowager Queen Alexandra of Great Britain. The Grand Duke Nicholas is married to the Princess Anastasia of Montenegro, while his brother Peter is married to the Princess Militiza of Montengro, both princesses being elder sisters of Queen Helen of Italy.

White-cloaked Woman Cries For Bolshevism

LONDON, April 17.—There was an unusual scene in the House of Commons Thursday night. During a discussion of a Labor motion on pensions two women in the Strangers' Gallery began shouting: "You are murderers. You have not settled the last war. You are leading the people and workers to another war."

They were immediately hustled out by attendants. Then a third woman, attired in a long white cloak, in the same gallery, slowly rose and exclaimed: "We want the Soviet."

This woman left quietly on the request of the attendants.

IT HAPPENED IN BELLEVILLE

BELLEVILLE BAD BOYS AND HOOTIE, THE OWL

Since NIGGER the black squirrel died the joy has gone out of the Belleville Firehall natural history class. Nigger, the champion nut-cracker of the world, was popular with young and old alike, but was particularly idolised by the young folks, who kept him well supplied with his favorite variety of nuts. The Christmas festivities were too much for NIGGER and an acute attack of indigestion carried him away to the HAPPY HUNTING GROUNDS where nuts are plenty and snow is scarce.

Nigger will be missed this summer by the kiddies who found much pleasure in gathering about his little house on the big tree in Fire Hall Park and watching his antics and feats of nutcracking.

TROUBLE always comes in bunches and another calamity has overtaken the Fire Hall Juvenile Natural History Class—HOOTIE THE OWL, who for two years has maintained a dignified, aggressive and aloof attitude to all visitors, has departed, and his departure has not been accompanied with fond recollections for humanity of the juvenile species. HOOTIE, while showing much Scotch reserve and not being given to florid manifestation of affection, developed a measure of respect for the firemen, and when he was liberated this week after his long confinement seemed willing to make his permanent home in a tree in the vicinity of the Fire Hall. His wings were not in good flying trim and a flight essayed over the river resulted in a disastrous nose-dive into the chilly waters. Hootie was rescued from the muddy Moira and took up his abode in a tree near the fire hall. Here he was happy and contented and apparently willing to stay all summer, but it was not to be.

BAD BOYS would not let HOOTIE alone and persistently bothered him with sticks and stones until one eye was completely knocked out. This was too much for the wise old owl and he sorrowfully took his departure by night and by short stages from tree to tree, heading for the Green Forest and the Smiling Pool, where wicked boys cease from troubling and even Weary Owls can be at rest.

It is said that a great reception is being planned for Hootie by Sammy Jay, Billy Mink, Bobby Beaver, Peter Rabbit, Grandfather Frog, Reddy the Fox, Buster Bear, and all the furred and feathered folk, with music by Frogs Marine Band and Rice Cream Refreshments cooled and served by old Mother West Wind. Invitations will be limited to Forest Folk with the single exception of FARMER BROWN'S BOY, who is kind to all living creatures. HOOTIE will lecture on "My Two Years in Captivity, in Belleville Town."

To Grow Hair On Bald Heads

Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That Works Fine

Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That Works Fine

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair grower without results have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces, Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces. Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.

BENNETT—SPRY

A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at the Tabernacle parsonage on Wednesday, when Miss Tessie Pearl Spry was united in marriage to Mr. Robt. Lyman Bennett. The officiating minister was Rev. S. C. Moore of the Tabernacle church. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are both residents of Madoc and will continue residing there.

Gardening will receive an impetus on Good Friday, as the stores here in general will close all day. There is a growing tendency all over the country towards the proper celebration of holidays by merchants and their employees. This is as it should be, and it will be supported and encouraged by the public.

THE CRISIS OF REDEEMING LOVE

By Rev. A. M. Hubly, Toronto

BY REV. A. M. HUBLY, Toronto.

"Eloi! Eloi! Lamasabacthani!, Mark XV: 34.

This awful cry has lost none of its significance, though so many centuries have passed since it sounded out from Calvary, the dark womb of our redemption.

marked the world's great crisis.

Here on the written page a paragraph of momentous import is rounded out.

The recorder waits the issue!

There is a pause in the conflict. The combatants look each other in the eye, knowing that the next stroke means death to one and victory for the other.

It is a moment in time, when the recording angel rests his pen and waits the next event.

To this finished paragraph all succeeding history must look back as to a distinguishing line between the old and the new. From thence proceeds a new dispensation, and new order of life. Through all preceeding ages Deity was exercised in pointing fallen humanity to one great event, from which, for all successive generations, would flow a river of Divine grace, bearing freely to willing recipients heaven's richest blessings. This event, all down the centuries, had been a theme of lofty praise for both men and angels. To its keynote patriarchs, prophets, priests and kings tuned their lyres and their voices.

Abraham, the "father of the faithful," "friend of God" saw the sequence of this event and was glad. It fixed the harp of the sweet singer of Israel. It inspired the heart and voice of the prophetic poet Isaiha. It was the result of this conflict that tuned the voices of the angelic host around the throne of God, whose gloria excelsis, when the Bethlehem Babe was born, struck the earth and rebounded to Heaven, making the whole universe vocal with celestial praise. And yet, it may be, that this crisis of redeeming love, in pity for a polluted world, and for the vindication of divina justice, was hid in the bosom of the Father. He, who "so loved that He gave," His best and dearest for the world's redemption, alone knew the cost and what the purchasing price would be.

Could angels have known; could prophetic vision have revealed the terrible drama necessary for a complete salvation, would there not have been a hush among the choristers in Heaven instead of song? There would have been a laying down of harps, and weeping taking the place of joy. It may be that the Son of God knew not the bitterness of the cup, that He, as Saviour of the world, would have to drink, when He said: "Lo! I come to do Thy will, O God!"

"My God! My God! why hast Thou forsaken me?" Let this awful bitter cry, and the spot from whence it was sounded forth, claim our prayerful attention for a brief season. The scene was too horrible for nature to look upon! The sun veiled his face; the darkness of starless night enveloped the degrading shameful drama, with all its concomitents.

In imagination, let us view the scene. As our mental vision pierces the gloom we see outlined against the blackened sky three crosses, instruments of torture and death. It is from the centre cross the cry of anguish came. How awful is the darkness! How laden with evil seems the hour! Oh the solemn silent darkness. In the hush of midnight blackness, the soldiers gambling for the garments of the crucified are awed into silence, and stop their revelry, unable to see the spots upon the dice. The curious multitude huddle together like a lot of frightened sheep, and are speechless with dread. The mocking priests fear and tremble. Nothing is heard in the death-like silence, but the blood dropping—spat! spat!—Not a zephyr moved its wing. All nature, in wondering anxiety waith breathless the issue of the conflict in the world beneath. And now another cry breaks the silence. It comes from the centre cross. It is the shout of a conqueror, so loud that the whole world may hear:

"It is finished!"

The battlements of Heaven thunder in response; the earth trembles and quakes; shafts of lightning rend the clouds, a glittering sword-like shaft strikes the temple in David's royal city and the sacred veil within is rent from top to bottom. The sun disrobes himself of his mourning blackness and bathers again with light, the face of nature. Delivered from the power of darkness which had reigned for three hours, what a spectacle the light discloses! How shall we describe the scene? Who is that mangled bleeding One that hangs limp and motionless upon the centre cross.

The Roman Centurian, who with watchfulness directed the execution of the tragic drama, comments: "This man was the Son of God!"

As we look upon the victim, what is our verdict?

"By the eyes so pale and dim,
Streaming blood and writhing limb,
By the flesh with scourges torn,
By the crown of twisted thorn,
By the side so deeply pierced,
By the baffled burning thirst,
By the drooping death-dewed brow
Son of God 'tis Thou! 'tis Thou!"

The light of divine prophesy makes our verdict more sure. We know Him of whom Moses in the Law, and the prophets did write. No such a death was ever predicted for any other. Behold Him! "Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by!"

The sinless, compassionate man of Galilee who went about doing good, transfixed to a fellen's tree—the death couch of shame and crime. Oh! more than that—the Son of God—His back was stripped with blood marks of the cruel scourging; His brow scarred and bleeding from the torn crown; His cheeks marred by the hands of men, who plucked out the hair; the nerves of his hands and feet, most sensitive, of all the body, to suffering, bearing the whole weight of the exhausted frame. Jesus Christ, the friends or earth, the adored of Heaven the beloved of The Father, the Saviour of sinner hanging between earth and sky in the most cruel manner that could possibly be conceived, or invented by men or devils. Two ruffin thieves, on either side one, struggling in his last agony. Beneath is a surging sea of human being; some indifferent, some scoffing and mocking, others in fear and amazement, and soldiers gambling for the garments of the crucified.

"There is another class—a little

The Only Sugar that is Canadian from the ground up

A LARGE part of the output of our three refineries is obtained from raw cane sugar—but our pride is in that increasing proportion of our output which is made from Canadian Sugar beets.

Thousands of Canadian women have used this sugar, but many of them without realizing it.

The war did much to bring about a realization of the superiority of this truly Canadian product. When supplies of raw cane sugar were at a low ebb in Canada the Canadian housewife still had sugar for her table and for her kitchen. On inquiry she learned that this sugar which "saved the day" was sugar refined from Canadian beets—Dominion Crystal Sugar. It was found to be all that sugar should be and, accordingly, Canadian women who used it in war-time promptly adopted an attitude of extreme friendliness toward it and pride in its use. It is indeed a matter of pride that we have the ability to produce our own strictly Canadian sugar from our own Canadian-grown beets.

Most grocers have Dominion Crystal Sugar in 20-pound bags as well as in barrels. They take pride in selling this superior Canadian product. Ask your grocer for it.

For a copy of our interesting booklet, "Sugar—From Beet to Bowl," write us direct. The book is free to anyone who asks for it.

ROUMANIA'S HARD FATE IN THE WAR.

A comprehensive survey of Roumania's "betrayal" by Russian traitors in the war is presented by the New York Evening Sun in the editorial here quoted:

"The publication of the text of the treaty of August 17, 1916, between Roumania and the Quadruple Entente substantiates the contention of the Roumanian leaders that their country was deliberately betrayed by the miserable clique of traitors that surrounded the Czar. The treaty provides that the Russian army will aid by vigorous action, notably in Bukowina . . . that Roumania is to receive from the Allies, by way of Russia, munitions and war-material.

"It is notorious that in both these particulars the agreement was broken. The Roumanian armies that crossed the Carpathians and advanced into Transylvania were not supported by the promised offensive in Bukowina. As the overwhelming forces of Falkenhayn drew near the Roumanians pleaded with General Alexief to hasten the looked-for diversion on their right, but in vain. The Russians there remained almost entirely inactive while their allies were being crushed and driven back over the mountains.

"The assistance promised in munitions and war-material proved equally illusive. The Western Powers, it is true, shipped guns and ammunition, but they were a long time delayed in Siberia, undoubtedly through the connivance of the Russian administration, and it was only in March, 1917, that a few heavy cannon, sent by France, arrived on the Sereth front.

"The Roumanians are firmly convinced that they owe their misfortunes to the treachery of the Petrograd Government. They feel that the Russians, although they were induced to sign the treaty of August, 1916, were bitterly opposed to the carrying out of those clauses which were designed to create the Greater Roumania, and thus establish on their southwestern frontier a new Power of some 13,000,000 people. . . .

"But the old Russia is gone forever, and there are none now to lift their voices at the Peace Conference against Roumania's just claims. King Ferdinand's heroic people may rest assured that they will not go without their reward for their espousal of the Allied cause, for their betrayals and sufferings. The Greater Roumania is soon to be an accomplished fact."

THE DUTY OF LANDLORDS.

From every city and industrial town on the continent goes up a cry over rising rents and the shortage of houses. Building has been almost at a standstill everywhere during the war, and the return of the soldiers has made the situation critical. A woman in New York who cannot pay the higher rent demanded of her has asked the Mayor of the city for permission to pitch a tent in Central Park. The New York World says that this course may yet be necessary. The problem is just as acute in many other centres. Toronto is no exception.

Landlords have a moral responsibility and a duty as good citizens not to be governed exclusively by the rule of supply and demand. A moderate increase of rents has been justified by rising taxes and the higher cost of repairs. Dwellings built during the war must rent for more than those of the same standard built when prices were lower. Many landlords who years ago leased their houses for long terms are not getting a fair return. But every landlord should feel it on his conscience not to take advantage of the necessities of home-seekers by exacting more than a reasonable interest on his investment. He may say that in business everyone is entitled to the open market price, and that he has the same right to get all he can for his property. But the conditions in Toronto and other municipalities are not those of an open market, but bear more resemblance to a monopoly. House owners should think also of the social consequences of wringing the last dollar from the needs of their fellow-citizens. If rents in general go to profiteering heights there will be discontent which may become dangerous. Self-interest combines with justice in enjoining landlords not to be grasping.—Toronto Globe.

GREY IN STYLE AND OUTLOOK.

> A grey business suit. A crop of hair, dark grey on top and light grey above the ears; altogether a human symphony in grey is Mr. N. Parliament, M.P.P. for Prince Edward County. Even his outlook is grey, since he sits behind Mr. Proudfoot's official deplorers and devotes himself to the art of Viewing With Alarm.
> Mr. Parliament is clean-shaven and has a wholesome face; perhaps a shade too stern. There are wrinkles in his brown and doubts in his eyes. He has a broad back—and in the opinion of the Government a narrow vision. But when he speaks his friends are comforted. His favorite hymn, we imagine, is one that could be used as a poetic address to his political associates:
> "Come on, my partners in distress."

Reports have reached Paris that Germany is making secret preparations to renew hostilities. While the Germans are capable of anything shady it will be beyond even their inventive powers to replace at once surrendered war equipment, including battleships, submarines, cannon, rifles and airplanes. If they could recall from the grave all the dead soldiers, butchered to make a German holiday, they might be able to re-establish the Hindenburg Line.

What puzzles the Joplin News-Herald about the political situation in Germany is that the lower class has declared a dictatorship in Bavaria. The News-Herald would like to know if it is possible there is a lower class than the one that was in power.—Kansas City Times.

OTHER VIEWS

Never Again.

London Chronicle

What sense would there be in permitting our military burdens to be increased? We all want them to be as light as possible; we all have need of every available man to take part in the productive economic work by which alone the world's vast loss of wealth can be repaired. Germany herself has not only to repair her losses but to pay her gigantic debts; and until she has done so, why should we let her indulge again in the luxury of military armaments? It is to her own interest as well as ours that we should insist on her demilitarization being complete.

Not One Argument.

Ottawa Journal.

The Journal has recently published a few of a number of letters from correspondents, located mostly in the rural districts, opposing the adoption in Canada again this year of "daylight saving." We have studied them carefully with a view to ascertaining if there is any real ground for the undoubtedly widespread objection in farming districts and small villages. We are compelled to say that not a single argument has been presented to alter the opinion formed during the experiment last summer that, for the country as a whole and the people of Canada generally, the policy of putting the clock forward one hour for the middle months of the year has been an inestimable boon.

Mr. Hughes' Criticism.

New York Globe.

Mr. Hughes examines the League of Nations proposal as a lawyer for his client and finds that all of his client's rights are not fully protected. The amendments he suggests are intended to make good these deficiencies, and as far as they accomplish that they are likely to meet the approval of the country. Most of us are disposed to preserve the purpose of the Monroe Doctrine and our right to manage our own affairs (including tariffs and immigration), and we naturally expect that in the settlement of questions in the American hemisphere we shall be the agent of the nations as long as we are competent.

Signs of Peace.

London Daily Chronicle.

Peace is stealing upon us gradually. The itinerant tinker, the cats' meat man, the old clo' dealer are enlivening the streets with their melodious cries. The piano organ grinders are mobilizing in the mean streets. A local butcher has actually given voice to a tentative "Buy, buy!"

The fountains in Trafalgar-square have begun to play, the publisher is shyly issuing his sporting handbooks, the motor trappers are foregathering in the hedgerows, and the small boy is digging hard for bait, prepared to participate in all the amenities of a world made safe for civilized pursuits.

Dreams and Nationalism.

Chicago Tribune.

We understand that it is pleasant to sit at a desk and work out blue-prints of a society actuated by only the highest and most altruistic motives and warranted to establish the millennium over night. We can understand that this is a glowing exercise, but we do not much rely upon the theories of men who do not take their coats off and learn the resistance of things, or of men who keep their skins intact while others fight and die for the principles they preach.

Tells Dyspeptics What to Eat

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

The Man Who Banished Corns

Blue-jay was invented by a scientist of distinction. By a man whose lifetime has been spent in the study of surgical dressings.

This is a master's method—correct, complete and efficient. And the millions of people who know it, never think of enduring a corn.

All in One

The first step is to stop the pain. This is done by removing all pressure—by the soft protecting ring marked A.

The next step is to gently cause the corn to disappear.

This bit of wax—marked B—is centered on the corn. It cannot spread. So, unlike old-time methods, it acts on the corn alone.

You apply this Blue-jay in a jiffy. The corn pain stops at once. The wrapping is comfortable and you forget it.

In two days you remove it and the corn can be lifted out. Only rare corns need a second application.

This is the scientific way, the easy, sure and right way to end corns. You will never return to any wrong method when you try a Blue-jay once.

Try it tonight.

The Crisis of Redeeming Love

flock—you may see them standing near the cross." John XIX: 25.

Each one of us is so related to this historic event, that we belong to one or other of the classes represented in the scene. Friends of Jesus! one man and a few women out of the multitude! so akin to the gatherings for prayer during these tragic years of cruel war; and also during this season of Lent—behold the indifferent, the mocking, scoffing, pleasure-seeking, feasting, dancing, gambling, sporting multitude, while virtue and holiness bleeds and suffers.

How helpless were the few which stood near the cross, to ward off the evil, but they bent their heads and wept and prayed, and thus witnessed their love and friendship for the innocent victim of human depravity, lust and envy. In the distance, the holy temple is seen lifting its dome towards Heaven in snowy whiteness from its three hours' darkness, looking out upon the green slopes of Olivet, lighted by the unclouded glory of the descending sun. The clam repose of death had settled on the countenance of Him who a few hours before had moistened the turf of the little mount with tears of compassion, and sprinkled its crown with blood, while presenting prayer to The Father for the forgiveness of His crucifiers.

Now, sin and death, men and devils have done their worst. His lifeless body hangs before them, a witness of their triump. This is the hour to which He looked forward all through his earthly life. He knew it would come! All the way long His sorrowful journey the Father was with Him, or at least within calling distance, and sometimes speaking in testimony of His approval, and sending angels to comfort and sustain Him. In such close fellowship with the Father, the Son was ready to brave the powers of Death and Hell and go through the Dominion of Satan, perfecting a way of life and holiness upon which the redeemed might walk in safety. But this cry "Eloi! Eloi! Lamasabacthani," indicates surprise. Was this part of the program of redeeming love hid from the chief hero in the mighty drama? Would not this be the logical consequence of the Son of God taking the sinner's place? The unforgiven rebel—the rejector of God—must gravitate to the place so dark with sin that no light from the face of God can enter. Christ took, in that awful darkness, the place of the unredeemed, banished from God His light and love.

It is quite apparent, that in such a place the Father's presence could not be, yet He, suffered equal with the Son. On the cross of Christ God gave the mightiest pledge, and exposition of both His holiness that required such an expiation for sin and of His love that pay such a ransom for the sinner. In the place of an unpardoned sinner, when the last ray of filial love and support seemed quenched in darkness, the flood gates of anguish burst in the bitter cry: "My God! My God! why hast Thou forsaken Me?" This was the crisis of redeeming love. Redemption seemed to tremble in the balance. It hung suspended on the will and purpose of The Father. One violation from His throne. One utterance from His lips and twelve legions of angels would surround that cross: the expiring victim would have been unbound, and this world loaded with its own woven chains would have been left to the wail of its merited despair, still under the dominance of sin and Satin. "But God so Loved!" That love triumphed, to the everlasting glory of The Father and The Son.

Burns
Listen to This

Some time ago my daughter was severely scalded about the legs with boiling water. Immediately following the accident we plastered the wounds with "Mecca", keeping this up every day, and the result was the child suffered but little. In a few months there was not a sign of a scar to be seen, although several of the parts scalded were very severe and scars would naturally be expected.

We have since considered "Mecca" an indispensable household remedy, and with pleasure give it our hearty recommendations.

Yours truly,
Mrs. H. D. Tresaldder,

A Very Good Reason

why Zam-Buk is the choice of the good housekeeper—it is reliable. She knows that money spent upon Zam-Buk is well spent because this famous balm does what is claimed for it.

Then again, Zam-Buk is economical. Because it is all medicine and is so highly refined and concentrated; a small quantity of it is more effective than many times that quantity of ordinary ointment. Besides, it will not deteriorate with keeping, but retains its strength and purity to the very last.

Zam-Buk should be kept handy in the home—especially where there are children—for cuts, burns, scalds, eczema, rashes and sores. 50c box, 3 for $1.25, all dealers.

Told Court They Paid $2,000 Each For Exemptions

QUEBEC, April 16.—"I did not really fall for it at first, but when Guay told me one of his brothers was a priest, and another high up in the militia, I thought it was a good thing the military service through him."

This statement, which in part was corroborated by another witness, was made before the Court of King's Bench by Edward Vezina, farmer of Lauzon, Que., who was a witness for the prosecution against Captain J. Alberic Goulet, Notary George Pion and J. Omer Guay, charged with conspiracy to defraud in connection with the granting of military exemptions last fall. The three men were put on trial before a jury.

Alphonse Morissette, jeweler, of Montmagny, testified he met Pion at Montmagny and that Pion told him he had a business proposal for him. He called on Pion, he says, and Pion there told him he could, for $1,500, get him exempted from military service. When Morissette agreed to pay this, he says, Pion got in touch with Guay at Quebec, over the long distance telephone, and that he told Guay: "I've got another case, if you wish to take it." Morissette then related all the visits he had made to Pion, how he was introduced to Guay and then to Captain Goulet, at Quebec, how he had asked $2,000 instead of the $1,500 agreed upon in the first instance, and how he paid a cheque made to the order of Omer Guay and handed to Pion and how he wrote a note for the balance payable to Notary Pion.

FATHER KELLY

Father Kelly, a priest of the modern world with a deep insight into human nature and a great love of his fellow-men is the main character of "The Rosary", which is to have a splendid revival by Rowland and Clifford and is to be offered at Griffin's Opera House next Tuesday night. While Father Kelly is a Catholic Priest the play is in no way sectarion. This priest is a character indigenous to America, and familiar to all people at all times. With his gentle philosophy his keen wit and his love for humanity, he averts a calamity in an American household and saves a home from destruction. The characters in this play are vividly drawn and the situations are projected graphically. It is a play of modern life, teeming with tense scenes and one that will grip and hold the attention, as well as cause much laughter. Edward E. Rose, the author has mingled tears and laughter in this story, and has given it a universal appeal. It will be enacted by a notable company of players, headed by Oscar O'Shea as Father Kelly.

BIG "BILL" HART

"Bill" Hart's new picture "Breed of Men," is a story of a land development scheme in Arizona and the unprincipalled methods of a land shark are exhibited in all their bald and heartless details. Mr. Hart appears as a bad man, who becomes sheriff and finally rounds up the individual who has swindled all kinds of people out of their money. The picture will be shown at Griffin's tonight to Saturday, with a special matinee Good Friday and Saturday. Mr. Hart always excels in a role wherein he is seen as a dare-devil of the open country and this is described as just such a part-one with plenty of speed, red-blood and that desirable quality known as "Pep." The star is his own director and is sparring himself nothing that will make the picture most effective. The influence of literary suggestion is amusingly portrayed in "Happy Though Married" with Enid Bennett which is being screened on the same program. This picture is decidedly a laugh producing vehicle for the young actress, develops its comedy situations on the incident of a young bride finding in her husband's trunk a book entitled "How to be happy though married," and a picture of another woman. "Saucy Madeline" a new and very original two-act Sennets comedy and the British News will also be presented.

CATHERINE CALVERT AT THE PALACE

Catherine Calvert's director in "A Romance of the Underworld," which will be the feature attraction at the Palace tonight to Saturday, matinee daily, is Sidney Olcott, admittedly one of the leading men in that branch of the industry. Mr. Olcott in the screening of many of Mary Pickford's Paramount successess, achieved an enviable record. The present picture includes many moments of delightful humor heightened by dramatic passages which make it an ideal vehicle for Miss Calvert as well as for Mr. Olcott, whose forte is precisely along these lines. "It isn't necessary," said Mr. Olcott, "to try to make Catherine Calvert more beautiful than she is. Our aim is just to get her beauty and her talent into that little black box standing yonder. And the many thousands who have seen "A Romance of the Underworld" unanimously agree that the combination of Miss Calvert's and Mr. Olcott's talents make this one of the choicest screen treats of the year. The 9th chapter of "The Bull's Eye" serial featuring Eddie Polo and a good Luke comedy complete the program.

CUT THIS OUT

Old English Recipe For Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognised that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Canadian Aviator's Escape From Huns

(Toronto Saturday Night)

Few authentic stories about our prisoners of war have sifted through from Germany—which has habitually maintained a polite reserve about prisoners of war—and, generally speaking, we know little of what a number of our men suffered while in the hands of the enemy. For that reason a lecture such as the lecture delivered last Monday evening in Massey Hall by Lieut. Beverley Robinson, R. A. F., who, after two years' imprisonment, is both enlightening and interesting. Lieut. Robinson gives us something of a new outlook, upon an old war.

How many know, for instance, that there are four modes of escape from German prison camps? Or again, how many know what those modes of escape are? These are they, as Lieut. Robinson classifies them: the train jump, the wire-cutting show, the tunnel show and the front door show. The first three terms explain themselves. The fourth leaves some room for doubt as to its precise meaning. It consists of marching up to the door of the prison camp and demanding that the doors be opened, then walking out and following the shortest and most convenient route to neutral territory. Of course, it is advisable to wear a German uniform at the time admission to freedom is demanded. The French prisoners were very fond of this procedure, and used it to advantage on innumerable occasions. The tunnel show is a slow progress. Roland Garros tunneled for 9 months before he got away. The train jump is rather nerve-racking. The wire-cutting show generally has a bullety interlude, German bullets.

Lieut. Robinson spoke of one flying officer who escaped eleven times from German camps and who died on the twelfth attempt. Hard luck brought him down eleven times as he neared the frontier, yet he went on escaping. He was a man of unconquerable soul. A sense of humor is also attributed to him. The Germans, fearing that there were some great developments in the British Flying Corps, undertook to ascertain their nature, and inaugurated an inquisition for all flying officers. Lieut. Robinson and the one of unconquerable spirit were examined together.

"We understand," said the unctuour German, in his best emulsion manner, "that a number of English manufacturing plants have been turned into aeroplane factories."

"Thousands of them," said Lieut. Robinson's comrade.

"We have all the names of them, of course," said the oily officer, "but should like to confirm our reports. Will you give us some names?"

"Certainly," said the obliging prisoner. "Crosse and Blackwell and Huntley and Palmer."

The reply was carefully noted. The examiner then asked for information as to the new type of British areoplane of which there had been rumors in circulation. The prisoner explained that it was of a combined tractor and pusher type. What particular advantage did this ensure? asked the German. The prisoner replied that it could fly two ways at once, a notable advantage.

Lieut. Robinson has an interesting story to tell and he tells it well. His audience, which was large, thoroughly enjoyed his lecture.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

HYMAN'S

Peep! Peep!
At Our EASTER STYLES, then you'll buy. We Have "Halcheo" some hat ideas that MUST appeal to you if you like distinction in your headgear.

THE RIGHT STYLE
AT THE RIGHT TIME

There's a distinction which fitness gives, and which alone can make a well-dressed man.

Just now, everything—the need for change, even the warm Spring sunshine, calls for the light soft hat.

Prices: $3.00, $3.50, $5.00.

"YES, IT'S A DERBY"

One man thought we'd put a soft hat on his head by mistake—so light and yielding. It's a way they make them now. Stout, set hats if you want them, but if a love for head-ease keeps you from the Derby the light-weight flexibles that we are selling have solved your problem.

Seeing's believing—feeling, too! Come in and do both.

Prices: $4.00, $5.00.

DON'T FORGET THE CAP

For the trip out and for the care-free comfort when you get there, there's nothing like a well-made, well-fitted CAP.

They make them for gentlemen nowdays so well patterned and tailored that you ought to have one for the looks alone—let alone convenience and comfort.

Always glad to pick a style for you.

Prices: $1.00 to $3.00.

Children's Hats More of them, in more shapes, than you ever saw before. Prices 50c to $3.00.

G. W. V. A. OBJECTS TO HUTTERITES INVASION

OTTAWA, April 16.—The situation concerning the migration of Hutterites and Mennonites from the United States into the Prairie Provinces of Canada grows more acute daily. The president of the Alberta G. W. V. A. left Calgary yesterday to come to Ottawa to make a plea to the Government to take immediate action to avert trouble and possible bloodshed.

Telegrams are pouring into G. W. V. A. headquarters asking that protests to be made to the Government to prevent any more Hutterites coming into the country. Such as "Situation serious, trouble will ensue over which officers have no control." "Situation impossible, leaving for Ottawa in consequence of probability of serious trouble unless Government takes action now; no longer bluff. Government action indefensible, situation acute."

THE HOME-COMING.

It is desirable that the return to Belleville and district of all soldiers from overseas be chronicled in the public press so that friends and well-wishers far and near may be apprised of their safe return. As soldiers are returning on the many trains at all hours of the day and night it is impossible to accurately record their arrival and The Intelligencer will be pleased to receive notification from relatives and friends of the return of soldier boys with records of service, as the public is very much interested. Phone, write or call.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Yesterday the police here were notified that an auto which evidently had been abandoned was on the side of the Trent Road about five miles west of the city. The license number on the car was ascertained, and upon investigation it was learned that it was the property of Mr. Barton Babcock, who resides on Charlotte street in this city. It had been taken out of the garage without the consent or knowledge of Mr. Babcock, and was evidently taken on Tuesday night.

Williamson Has A Big Surprise

Toronto Man Finds Relief From Troubles After Years Of Suffering

"I was niever so surprised over anything in my life, as I was over the relief I got through using Tanlac," said C. W. Williamson, of 1115 St. Clarens avenue, Toronto, Ont., recently.

"My kidneys had been worrying me for four or five years," he continued, "and kept me miserable most all the time. I had terrible pains across my back and rheumatism in my right leg that pained me so awfully that I'd almost drop in my tracks. I had no appetite and could hardly sleep. I was so nervous, and many a night I never closed my eyes at all.

"I had no life or energy. I felt blue and discouraged, for I was in a dreadful condition, and there seemed to be no help for me.

"One of my friends told me to try Tanlac, which I did, and have been improving every day since I started on it. The rheumatism never bothers me now at all, and my kidneys are in fine shape. My appetite is fine and everything agrees with me. My nerves are steady and I sleep like a log all night and have gotten back my former strength and energy."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

CITY AND COUNTRY

CHARGE DISMISSED

Before Magistrate Masson yesterday afternoon a case of indecent assault was investigated with the result that the accused was acquitted. Mr. Carnew represented the Crown and Major R. D. Ponton for the accused.

EXTENSION OF GRIFFIN CIRCUIT

Theatres in North Bay, Cobalt, Sault Ste. Marie and Wallaceburg have been recently acquired by the Griffin Amusement Co., which controls Griffin's Opera House and the Palace Theatre in Belleville. With the enlargement of the circuit new features in the entertainment line have been contracted for and it is quite possible that the moving picture programs in Belleville may be varied in the near future with select vaudeville acts.

WRONG PHONE NUMBER

In the advertisement of the Belleville Cleaning Co. on page eight of yesterday's Intelligencer, the 'phone number was given as 713 in error, causing some inconvenience and annoyance. The phone number of the Belleville Cleaning Co is 731, where all orders for spring housecleaning will receive prompt attention.

BLAZE IN DENTAL PARLOR

A blaze from a valcanizing heater in Dr. Day's dental rooms on Front street, ignited curtains hanging near by and caused a slight fire shortly before 1 o'clock to-day. Fortunately the fire was detected before it had gained much headway and was quenched by the aid of an extinguisher.

LECTURE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Principal Dyde of Queen's Theological College, Kingston, last evening at the assembly room of the High School gave a lecture, the subject of which was "Shakespeare." Lorne Deeton, a student of the High School, presided over the gathering. Despite the inclement weather there was a good attendance. Prof. Dyde handled his subject in a manner that was both interesting and instructive. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker, which was fittingly acknowledged.

CANADA'S NATURAL RESOURCES

Under the auspices of the Canadian Club of this city, an illustrated lecture showing Canada's Natural Resources, was given in the City Hall last night by Mr. Johnson. The lecturer is from the Department of Publicity at Ottawa and the views shown were interestingly explained by Mr. Johnson. Owing to counter attractions and disagreeable weather the attendance was limited. Dr. Yeomans, President of the Club, presided. The lecture will be repeated this evening.

WHISKEY SMUGGLERS FIGHT

Two Brockville men smuggling liquor from Ogdensburg, fought a pitched battle with customs officials at Prescott, but were captured. One was fined $200 for bringing liquor into Canada, besides $200 for having liquor in his possession, and $12 for being intoxicated. The other man was fined $200 for violation of the O. T. A., $12 for intoxication, $10 for assault and assessed $6.50 for damages to furniture in the Prescott Custom's Office. The men had bottles of whiskey strapped to their bodies. Three months in jail is the alternative.

CIVIC COMMITTEES

A regular fortnightly meeting of the Civic Committees will be held this evening, when matters appertaining to the city's welfare will be considered.

TO RUN LAKE ST. CLAIR

The steamer America will run between Port Huron, Sarnia and Chatham this coming summer.

EGGS FOR EASTER

Eggs for Easter will be appreciated at the Children's Shelter where the kiddies will enjoy an extra feast of eggs.

BOAT FOR THE ISLANDS

The small steamer Orizaba, which used to run on the river and is now at Oswego, may be overhauled and put on the route between Kingston, Gananoque and Clayton.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

Charles McConnell and K. Arnott were remanded to jail yesterday by Magistrate Masson on a charge of breaking into and stealing from a place of business. The remand was granted as the case was not ready to be proceeded with. Mr. Carnew for Crown, and Col. E. D. O'Flynn for the accused.

FORGER AT LIBERTY

Chief Constable J. C. Ruse, Cobourg, has furnished Police Chief Newton with the description of G. L. Cousins, alias George Walker, a pseudo commercial traveller, who is wanted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences and forgery.

FATALLY BURNED

Miss Anna Simpson, former resident of Brockville, received burns that ended in her death while preparing a meal in her apartment in New York a few days ago. She was employed as an auditor at the Biltmore Hotel, and previously held a similar position in the Alexandria Theatre, Toronto. Miss Simpson acted one season as travelling business agent for the Cherniavisky Concert Co.

THREATENED STRIKE AVERTED

A compromise has been arrived at in the dispute between the engineers and the owners of the vessels which call Ogdensburg as their home port. It is understood that a proposition was made by the George Hall Coal and Towing Company to the disgruntled engineers. The proposition stated that the men would be hired at an increase in salary but that they would be paid by the month instead of by the season. Consequently the engineers are no further ahead than they were before. They accepted the proposition.

MAJOR LUMB RETURNING

Major H. W. Lumb, who has been on active military service with the Imperial forces since 1914, has sailed for Canada on the S. S. Olympic and expects to arrive at Montreal about April 19. Major Lumb was formerly a resident of Belleville, and at the outbreak of war was a commercial traveller with headquarters in Brockville. When hostilities commenced he offered his services to his former regiment in England and was accepted in November, 1914, leaving for England, where he was attached to the 8th Suffolks, was wounded in France and upon recovering was assigned to duty as transport officer in charge of troops from training camps in England to the trenches.

$7,000,000 Added To Railway Payroll

Admiral Sims Explains Conditions Under Which "Ash Can" Was Devised.

It is estimated that the recent order of the United States Railway Administration will add $7,000,000 to the payroll of the railways in Canada. This is the result of the agreement by the Railway Brotherhood organizations with the Canadian Railway War Board over what is known in United States railway circles as "General Order 27." The organizations involved are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Enginemen and Firemen, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the baggage and yardmen's associations. The number of employes who will benefit by this increase is 30,000, 1,200 of whom are in Toronto. The back pay coming to these men is estimated to amount to at least $1,500,000. The increases date back to Jan. 1, 1919.

Last year the brotherhoods agreed to the formation of Railway Adjustment. Board No. 1 This board is composed of the vice-presidents of the brotherhoods in Canada and representatives of the railways through the Canadian Railway War Board.

Two of the members of this board are Toronto men. S. N. Berry vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, is chairman, and James Murdoch of the Brotherhood of Railway Tainmen is a well-known member.

Last August the brotherhoods agreed, through their officers, that the rates of pay set out by the Director-General of Railways in the U. S. A. in "General Order 27" and all amendments thereto should apply to Canadian railways. It was also agreed that the Adjustment Board should take up all questions relating to wages, hours, grievances, etc., and the decision of the board was final in these matters.

"General Order 27" has been amended and the increases, which are made retroactive to January 1, 1919, become operative n Canadian railways by virtue of the agreement made last August.

One of the features of the order is that switch tenders, for the first time in their history, come into their own. Under the amendments made to the order they receive $4 for an eight-hour day, and time and a half for all overtime. The rates now set are a step toward the standardization of conditions on the Canadian and United States railways.

The New Era

London Daily Mail.

The war has brought a complete revolution in our ideas of social values. Those who dream of going back to the conditions of 1914 are living in a fool's paradise. The first need of the revaluation which is taking place is that there should be a resolute elimination of waste, idleness and unproductiveness. It is universally recognized that the life of the worker must be improved. The way is open to a complete transformation of the worker's life and social status. But it is vital that the workers should grasp the fact that the better life can only be realized if they will give the nation time to effect the change, and if they accept the essential condition that limitations on output must be removed and production increased. In the long run, no man can receive more than he earns without such consequences as have followed in Russia, where the day-wage is $10 or $15 in paper, but will buy nothing because nothing is produced to buy. There is no inexhaustible reserve of wealth on which the community can draw; we had such reserves before the war, but hey have vanished in that great catastrophe.

Attend School Until 18 Yrs. Old

Part Time Attendance For Ontario Youths of 14 to 18 Compulsory.

TORONTO, April 15.—In the Legislature Hon. G. H. Ferguson introduced a bill based upon the report of the Natural Gas Advisory Board, which has reported upon natural gas problems in Ontario. The report, which was tabled in the House make strong recommendations for conservation of gas supplies, while favoring the protection of existing agreements wherever necessary. Diligent search should be made for new gas areas, supervision should be established over field operations, and a proper scale of prices fixed. The report admits, however, that consideration must be given the fact that gas producers have had to contend with high operating costs.

The bill introduced provides for the appointment of a natural gas commissioner, to carry out the recommendations of the report under direction of the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

Premier Hearst introduced a bill providing for changes in his constitution of the Medical Council of Ontario, based upon recommendations made by Mr. Justice Hodgins.

In the absence of Hon. Dr. Cody, Premier Hearst also introduced the Adolescent School Attendance Bill, which makes part time school attendance of boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 compulsory. Adolescents of this age, will in future be unable to obtain employment unless they possess certificates of exemption.

Between the ages of 14 and 16, adolescents are required to have 400 hours education each year, and between the ages of 16 and 18, 320 hours yearly. The act does not apply to adolescents who have completed a matriculation course or have passed an equivalent examination.

The act stipulates that all urban centres of over 5,000 population must provide for such courses. In smaller communities, it is not obligatory. The bill is not likely to be finally passed this season, and no date is fixed for its coming into force.

Sale Of Liquor By the Government

Bill Providing for Transfer of Business Explained in the Legislature.

TORONTO, April 15—Legislation giving the Ontario License Board authority to take over and operate as a Government enterprise the sale of liquor in Ontario was introduced in the legislature by Hon. W. D. McPherson. The bill, which was explained in detail by the Provincial Secretary, is not confined, however, to the provisions for the transfer of the present vendors' business to the Government. There are a number of amendments, of lesser importance perhaps, but of considerable interest, including one which will put an end to liquor advertising in the province in newspapers and elsewhere. This section declares that no person shall within Ontario "print, publish or distribute, either publicly or privately, and circular or newspaper containing a price list of intoxicating liquor used for beverage purposes, however, described, or any announcement, however expressed, having for its object the solicitation within Ontario of orders for such liquor, and no person within Ontario shall by any other means whatever solicit such orders."

DOCTORS' PRESCRIPTIONS

Another section of the bill is intended to strike at an abuse that has been growing in extent ever since the Ontario Temperance Act came into force—the traffic in doctors prescriptions, genuine and bogus. Authority is given a vendor of liquor to retain a medical prescription before filling it in order to satisfy himself that the order was actually signed by the doctor whose name appears upon it, and it is further declared that if it appears that the prescription was not signed by the practitioner, was obtained irregularly, or was being used by a person for whom it was not intended, the person presenting it may be arrested without a warrant by any officer of the law and may be prosecuted for attempting to obtain liquor illegally. The section also makes it an offence to give or sell a prescription, however obtained. Penalties of not less than $50 nor more than $200 are provided for the first offence.

The sale of liquor by doctors is also to be curbed. A section has been introduced permitting a doctor to have in his possession for purely medicinal purposes such quantity of liquor—not more than ten gallons—as may be prescribed" by order-in-Council. The effect of the amendment is to limit the use of liquor to "purely medinical purposes," and to permit the Government to regulate the amount that may be kept. Thus doctors in a district conviently close to a vendor might not be allowed so much, while a doctor in an outside district far from a vendor might be permitted the full ten gallons.

Traveler Safe When He Carried One Flask Only

That instructions were given Provincial police not to confiscate the liquor, a traveler carrying a single flask of liquor or to prosecute in such a case, was made clear at the sitting of the Public Accounts Committee, at the Parliament Buildings, which is investigating the operation of the O. T. A. Inspector of Provincial Police Joseph Rogers was called, on request of Dr. Forbes Godfrey.

Dr. Godfrey: "You have a constable named Lefabre, in North Bay. Did you give him any instructions as to searching for liquor?"

Inspector Rogers read a letter written to Constable F. Lefabre, following a complaint from the C. P. R. officers. The railway officials complained that the constable had searched a train at North Bay, including sleeping cars, while most of the passengers were on the platform. When spoken to by the porter, he had replied that he "would open any bag he pleased," and that he "did not need to show any authority, his uniform being enough." In answer to this complaint, the following letter had been sent:

"If you did this work, you were quite wrong. The law does not give you or any other constable the right to search the baggage of any person without you have good grounds to suspect they are conveying liquor for illegal purposes. In the case of sleeping cars, the passengers are generally those who are traveling long distances and I can see no occasion for their baggage being searched, as described and in future you will not do it.

"I further say to you that if you find a single flask in a man's bag who is travelling on a train for a long distance, it is going beyond what an officer is expected to do to take it, or to prosecute. We simply want to get these who are bringing liquor on trains in quantities for purpose of illegal sale. You should use common sense and judgment in searching any baggage. There is no reason why the traveling public should be humiliated by having a police officer search their baggage unless they have strong reasons to suspect they are illegal dealers. In future you will take orders from no person regarding this work, unless advised by me."

Natives Thought They Were Germans

Attacked American Crew With Clubs and Shovels.

NEW YORK, April 16. Five shipwrecked sailors and the skipper of the abandoned three-masted schooner Nettie Shipman, Captain Beryn Bradford of Eastport, Maine, arrived here Monday aboard the steamship William B. Palmer, after harrowing experiences at sea, which included a losing fight with a tropical storm, four days in an open lifeboat, and 22 days' existence on an island after being attacked by natives, who feared they were Germans before they were picked up and taken home. During this period they lived on sugarcane and fruit.

The schooner, laden with 267,000 feet of lumber, became a derelict three days after leaving Jacksonville, Florida, for Antilla, Cuba, early last February. A tornado snapped her masts and dislodged her cargo. Soon the vessel became waterlogged, forcing the captain and the crew to the lifeboats. On the fourth day they sighted Wallings Island, 165 miles off the coast of San Salvador, and when they attempted to land the natives tried to drive them back with clubs and shovels before finally being convinced they were Americans. The William B. Palmer, from the West Indies, took them off.

Teulon Farmer Found Murdered

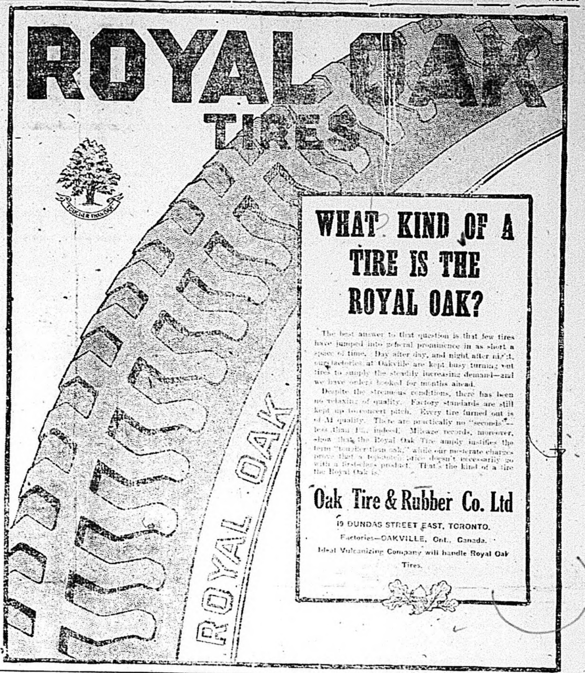
WINNIPEG, April 16—James Campbell, a wealthy pioneer farmer of the Teulon district, was found murdered and his body charred to a cinder, in the burned ruins of his farm home on Sunday evening. An Indian youth, who gave his name as J. Cochrane, is being held by the police as a suspect.

Accurate details of the crime are lacking owing to the reticence of the police. It is reported that the youth has confessed that he quarreled with Mr. Campbell, his employer, on Sunday evening, and it is alleged that he admitted that he struck the farmer with an iron, and then, to hide all traces of his crime, poured kerosene over the body, set fire to the house, and fled on horseback.

The tragedy was discovered by Daniel Campbell, brother of the murdered man, who had been attracted to the scene by the fire. An investigation is being conducted preparatory to holding an inquest.

CANNOT CONFISCATE POKER JACK POTS

SUDBURY, April 16—District Magistrate Major Brodie on Saturday last handed down a reserved decision that "jack pots" and money found in front of poker players as the result of Sunday raids by the police, for infractions of the Lord's Day Act, cannot be confiscated by the court. Heretofore all monies have been confiscated without protest, but in the case in point, counsel for one of the defendants challenged the authority of the court to the money grabbed by an officer while defendant was in the act of taking it from the table and putting it to the scene by the fire. An investiheld the contention of counsel for the defence, and also included the "pot" in the ruling.



WHAT KIND OF A TIRE IS THE ROYAL OAK?

The best answer to that question is that few tires have jumped into general prominence in as short a space of time. Day after day, and night after night, our factories at Oakville are kept busy turning out tires to supply the steadily increasing demand—and we have orders booked for months ahead.

Despite the strenuous conditions, there has been no relaxing of quality. Factory standards are still kept up to concert pitch. Every tire turned out is of A1 quality. There are practically no "seconds"—less than 1%, indeed. Mileage records, moreover, show that the Royal Oak Tire amply justifies the term "tougher than oak," while our moderate charges prove that a topnotch price doesn't necessarily go with a first-class product. That's the kind of a tire the Royal Oak is.

Bolsheviki Uprisings Planned In Finland, Sweden and Norway

RINGLEADERS ARRESTED AT VIBORG — COMMUNISTS IN MUNICH NOT YET THOROUGHLY MASTERED.

BERLIN, April 16—The latest news received here is to the effect that the Communists in Munich have not yet been mastered, and that heavy fighting is raging in the streets of Munich between organized guards and troops loyal to the Government.

Then Central Railway Station, the postoffice and telegraph office and several other public buildings again are in the hands of the Communists, who used heavy mine-throwers in their recapture.

A number of persons have been killed or wounded.

The entire male population of Riga between eighteen and thirty-six years of age have been mobilized by the Bolsheviki, according to a Libau despatch to the Lettish Press Bureau. The Bolsherki are reported to have seized three hundred influential citizens as hostages and taken them to Russia. Open revolt is prevented only by terrorist means.

A Helsingfors despatch says: "Eight persons have been arrested at Viborg in the act of planning a revolt. It was intended to blow up the Officers' Club at Viborg, the bridge and ammunition depot in co-ordination with the Bolshevik attack in Finland. A revolt was also planned to break out in Sweden and Norway."

Where Is the Solomon To Say: "She is the Mother Thereof"?

WASHINGTON, April 16—A legal fight begun in 1915 over the custody of the ten-months old baby, Irene, between Mrs. Margaret Ryan of Ottawa, Ont., and Mrs. Anna D. Matters of Chicago, Ill., both of whom claim to be its mother, culminated on Monday with the Supreme Court setting aside Federal Court decrees turning the child over to the former. The lower court was ordered to dismiss the case.

The proceedings were instituted by Mrs. Ryan, who claimed Mrs. Matters had kidnapped the child shortly after its birth and taken it from Canada to Chicago in violation of the immigration law. Mrs. Matters contended the trial court was without jurisdiction, and this was upheld by the Supreme Court.

Small Average Of Liquor Prescriptions

The annual report of the Ontario License Board to April 30, 1918, has just been printed.

The number of convictions of standard hotel licenses was 27 and 14 dismissals, against 3,238 convictions of non-licensees and 654 dismissals the previous year. Of the latter, 1863 convictions and 163 dismissals were upon charges of being found in public places in an intoxicated condition.

The revenue accruing to the province from fines for the year totalled $294,514.28, as against $184,717.49 during the previous year. The expenses for enforcing the act were $118,982.07, as compared with $112,652.59. One of the tables in the report shows the total revenue for the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1918, to $213,709.44, as compared with $192,512.84 for the previous year. The cost of enforcing the act was $210,828.53.

Municipalities' Share

Municipalities have received revenues in fines up to April 29, 1918, of $338,228.54 and the revenues from the same source received by the municipalities for the year ending December 31, 1918, amounted to $332,629.54, a considerable increase over the corresponding period of the previous year, which was $305,466.76. This amount, together with the sum received by the province for the corresponding period, namely, $213,709.44, makes the total revenue received between the province and the municipalities of $546,338.98, as compared with $497,998.60 in last report.

Doctors Observe Law

Statistics of medical prescriptions filed by the seven licensed vendors for the last five months of 1918 (August to December, inclusive) show that 89.06 per cent of physicians who issued liquor prescriptions issued within 50 per month, their actual average being 8.54 per month. In contrasts to these, 10.93 per cent. issued over 50 per month, their average being 150.89 per month. If those who issued over 100 per month were separated, it is estimated they would be found to be not over 2 or 3 per cent. of the whole. The average number of vendors' prescriptions issued by all doctors issuing such prescriptions, including high and low, was only 24.18 per month.

Liquor Seized

Large quantities of liquor have been seized, according to the report, and about $50,000 worth is the stock on hand at present. About $16,000 worth was sold to vendors and $10,000 donated to provincial hospitals.

Gothenburg System For P. E. Island

Proposal to Transfer Sale of Liquor to Government.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., April 16—One of the important measures to come before the Legislature this session will be the bill to amend the Prohibition Act by taking the sale of liquor out of the hands of the vendors and transferring it to the Government, in other words, to introduce what will be practically the Gothenburg system. The act is at present administered by a board of commissioners, composed ent'rely of Protestant and Roman Catholic clergymen, who receive no salaries. To do the work they appointed prosecutors for each country, who hold office at the pleasure of a Commission. There are one wholesale vendor and three retail vendors. As the Commissioners keep track of all the liquor sold through them, because every sale is on record, they find that the profits during six months have been considerable. For instance it is understood that the three retail men have earned in that time nearly $12,000, whilst the wholesalers have also reaped a rich harvest. The proposal is to transfer that revenue to the Province. As the bill had not been introduced yet there has been little or no discussion on the proposal and the attitude of the members remains to be seen.

Majority Of Seven On Titles Motion

OTTAWA, April 14—Sir Thomas White's proposal that a special committee of the Commons be appointed to consider what attitude should be taken toward the "conferring of titular distinction and decorations upon subjects of his Majesty ordinarily resident in Canada, including those who have performed overseas, in Canada or elsewhere, naval, military and civilian service in connection with the war," was carried in the House tonight by the narrow majority of seven votes. The proposition was submitted by way of subamendment to the resolution of W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, calling for a pronouncement against the granting of any titles to Canadians except those denoting naval or military rank or judicial position, and an amendment by R. L. Richardson, of Springfield, Manitoba, calling for the extinction of hereditary titles held by Canadians upon the death of the present holders. It was carried upon a division by 71 votes to 64. Nine Unionist members voted against the Acting Prime Minister's motion.

BROCKVILLE INSPECTORS ROUNDING UP OFFENDERS

BROCKVILLE, April 16—During the past twelve days efforts of Inspectors Taber and Sykes in rounding up offenders against the Ontario Temperance Act have met with considerable success. Large quantities of liquor have been seized and several bootleggers caught in the meshes of the dragnet. The inspectors have seized in that time 51 gallons of liquor and 350 bottles of whiskey, valued at slightly $900, Montreal prices. They have secured six convictions of $200 each and four more cases brought before the attention of the court have yet to be disposed of. Three fines of $200 and costs each were imposed yesterday by Magistrate Page, two of the defendants being Dominic Loudel, of Montreal, and Romeo Bunvento, Thorold, who were caught with ten bottles of Italian whiskey and seven gallons of liquor. They were committed for three months.

DEATH TO CONSTABLES SINN FEIN PROCLAMATION

LONDON, April 16—Introducing a bill in the House of Lords providing for compensation in the case of constables and other public servants suffering injury or death in execution of their duty in Ireland, the Lord High Chancellor quoted from a Sinn Fein counter-proclamation issued in Tipperary in February after the declaration om military law in that district.

The proclamation threatened that after a given date any policeman, magistrate and juror in the pay of the British Government found in that district would be deemed to have forfeited his life.

J. D. HAMILTON DIES EX-ALD. OF STRATFORD

STRATFORD, April 16—Ex-Ald. J. D. Hamilton, a familiar figure in Stratford for many years, died at the family residence, Albert Street. He had been unwell for some time and his death was not entirely unlooked for. "Lord Raglan," as he was more familiarly known, was born in Montreal and came to Stratford about 40 years ago in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway. He rose to the position of conductor, and he was one of the members who attended the convention of old employees of the Buffalo-Goderich branch of the Grand Trunk, held in the Queen's Hotel last summer.

OVER $1,000 IN BELT

SUDBURY, April 16—A Lupoi, a foreigner arrested here on instructions from the Montreal police, is charged with the theft of a Post Office savings bank book from a fellow Austrian, whom it is alleged he successfully impersonated, and secured thirteen hundred dollars from the department. When arrested he had $1,127.21 in a belt around his waist. The prisoner was located through information available in the alien enemy registration records. He has been taken to Montreal for trial.

WILL LIKELY REPEAL SCOTT ACT IN QUEBEC

QUEBEC, April 16—It is stated that the Scott Act, which is in force in Quebec since May, 1918, will be repealed by the Federal authorities, this having been agreed to in the event of the referendum providing favorable to beers and wines. In this event the License Commission, which was formerly presided over by Hon. Judge Langelier, will take in hand the matter of issuing wine and beer licenses in the city of Quebec.

LONDON, April 15—The vote of the miners on the report of the Sankey Commission regarding conditions of labor, as adopted by the Government, has been completed and shows a very large majority in favor of acceptance. The final vote stood: For acceptance, 693,000; against 62,480.

MONTEAGLE VALLEY

Death has again visited this community and taken from our midst a well known and highly respected resident, Mr. Matthew Wilcox. Deceased, who had been ailing slightly for a number of years, suddenly became worse on Thursday last. He was removed to Belleville Hospital on Friday, but lived only three hours after his arrival. Mr. Wilcox was born in Ireland eighty-nine years ago. When a young man he crossed to England, where he enlisted in the British army. He served for a period of fifteen years, throughout the Crimean War. About forty years ago he came to Canada and settled in Monteagle, where he spent the remainder of his days. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow, five sons and two daughters. The heartfelt sympathy of their many friends is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Robert Thompson, who has been ailing for some time went to Toronto Hospital Wednesday.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Hewitt's health is improving.

A very quiet wedding took place at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon when Mr. Wm. Hutchinson was united in marriage to Miss Cecilia Jessop, by Rev. Mr. Wilson of Bancroft.

Mr. C. A. Bartlett spent three days last week at Boulter.

Mrs. Dadley and Albert Jenkins have returned home.

Messrs. Hugh Wilcox, Detroit, Alber, Cobalt and Henry of Renfrew arrived here Monday to attend their father's funeral.

CARMEL

Rev. McMullen occupied the pulpit on Sunday and gave a splendid discourse.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckley have been visiting at the home of Mr. J. Reynold for a few days.

Miss Wanda Reid spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Tummon and Miss Tummon, Eighth Line, spent Friday evening at the home of Mr. Reynolds.

Mrs. Harry Spencer, Burrs, has been spending a few days at her father's home, Mr. J. Pitman.

Mr. Shaw, Gilead, has purchased the farm owned by Mar. B. Pitman.

Mr. Gaweau, Belleville, is moving to our neighborhood on the late Tracey farm.

The Invisible Conflict

From the moment of birth—and before—until the hour of death, there is going on within the body a constant conflict, unseen and usually unfelt, between forces that seek to defend, and others that strive to destroy.

Germs that enter from without are attacked and destroyed by the living guardians in the blood, the white blood cells or phagocytes. Poisons generated within seek entrance into the blood and are removed or destroyed by the functions of the intestines, liver and kidneys.

Food waste allowed to stagnate and remain in the intestines, unevacuated, poisons the blood and destroys its power to defend against outside or inside enemies. Such self-poisoning causes over 90% of human illness.

Constipation turns the tide of the invisible conflict against the body, in favor of the invaders. Nor does the taking of castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., to force the bowels to move enable the body to defend itself. Not only will the constipation grow worse with the continuance of such remedies but the dose must be constantly increased with an ever-weakening effect.

On the other hand Nujol overcomes constipation and brings about the habit of easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals, because Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug. Nujol brings about a return to Nature's methods by supplying necessary lubrication of the bowel contents, by facilitating intestinal muscular action, by absorbing poisonous matter, and thus securing necessary cleansing of the intestinal canal and protection of the defensive properties of the blood itself.

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and send coupon for free booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger."

The Path to Health

For many thousands of women the Path to Health has certainly been through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When this great remedy was first introduced, and for many years after, skeptics frowned upon its curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by it has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands—doubt and skepticism have been swept away as by a mighty tidal wave, until today this purely vegetable medicine is recognized as the greatest remedy for woman's special ills in the world. This is because it is a wonderful tonic and reconstructor which acts directly and favorably upon the feminine organization and is a specific for that purpose.

A Metamorphosis

By Lillian Hall Crowley

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

James Morgan was thinking!

"I wonder why the girls never seem glad to see me? They never act just plain glad when I come along. The fellows, too—they're all right, only—well, I'm not really intimate with any of them."

James had jogged along in the little town where his family had been as comfortably off as most of the families of their set. He had jogged through the state university just as unthinkingly as he had spent the preceding years. He drifted into a clerkship in the bank and mentally wandered through his duties as colorlessly as he did everything else.

He went to the parties, never thinking whether he could dance well or not. It had not occurred to him to think anything about it.

The night before he had heard the following conversation between two of Haviland's most charming girls:

"I wish James Morgan would stay from the parties. He is the awkwardest creature I ever saw, and the homeliest!"

"Every time he asks me to dance I wish I had stayed at home."

"The trouble is, Margery, we've been fairly polite to him, just because we've known him always, and he doesn't realize he's horrid and uninteresting."

"Let's drop him! He has no right to make us miserable—tramping all over our feet at the dances."

"And such clothes! We don't expect much in a little place like Haviland, but he's a positive fright!"

The two girls, Margery Raymond and Alice Wrightman, had fallen into this conversation one night at a party. James had come around a corner intent on asking Margery to dance. He would not have listened intentionally, but the knowledge had staggered him. He tiptoed away from his Waterloo and went out on the veranda to collect his scattered wits.

"I never dreamed of such a thing!" he told himself. At last he went in and bade his hostess good-night.

This brings us to the day in the bank when for the first time in his life he was puzzled. After dinner he went alone to a moving picture play. It was a western play. The hero was a big fellow wearing the rough clothes of a miner—nevertheless he was very polite. He raised his hat to the women he knew and jumped to pick up a plate dropped on the floor by the boarding house keeper.

"That's the kind of man a woman is proud to have for a son," he heard a voice behind him. "What a magnificent figure!" the voice went on. "One feels that a strong chest not only indicates physical strength, but strength of character as well."

Instantly James straightened his drooping shoulders.

Looking at the hero, James thought: "He is a fine-looking fellow—gives one real pleasure just to look at him. I wonder if I'd play tennis and things if I could develop my chest."

He noticed the man's manner of taking off his hat to the women he met; sometimes James only touched his hat, lazily, with one finger. He knew the girls so well—why bother? James remembered, too, that he didn't jump quickly to the polite assistance of people. True, he was glad to help anyone in trouble, but this was different.

"Maybe that's what Margery and Alice meant. I don't do those nice things." He was puzzled, but went on with his self-analysis.

He went again to the movies. This time he saw a society play. There was dancing. James opened his eyes wide to see how the other fellows danced. Alice had said he tramped on her feet. He saw the men, cleverly and gracefully guiding their partners through the crush.

"Why, that's part of it," he thought. "You're responsible in a way."

Then he noticed clothes. He had never given his toilet much thought except to be clean, to buy a suit when necessary—which was seldom pressed—and a pale blue tie for Sundays. He wore it to the bank after it had become soiled.

All the business men in the pictures were trim looking, their clothes were pressed and coats buttoned. James walked along the street with suit coat and overcoat open and his hands in his pockets. None of these men did that.

"Yes," he thought, "that's the way to look. It isn't because they're movie men; lots of other men dress that way. He noticed, too, the bright, interested and alert expressions on their faces.

At home he looked in the mirror. His hair needed trimming. It hadn't been cut right in the first place. He had parted it so near one ear that it was inches too high on the other side. He brushed it straight back. He was surprised at the good lines of his forehead, something he had not noticed before.

Next day a successful young man from one of the large cities of the state came into the bank. James looked him over. First of all he saw that the man was neatly dressed and was unconscious of his clothes. James was always uncomfortable when "dressed up," as he called it.

"I'll ask him to select me a tie from his place."

"Certainly," replied the young man graciously. "Do you like a black or a mixture?"

"I like pale blue," James answered hesitatingly. "I say—please get the kind you'd get for yourself."

"I'll send one to wear with that dark suit you have on."

When the tie came James was amazed to find a dark one with bits of dull color in it. He had the utmost faith in the young man's taste, and he could not recall ever having seen him with a pale blue tie.

Before the glass that night he tried it on and realized that his chin was in the way of his collar. Should he pull his chin inside or stretch it out over the collar.

Somehow he didn't look as well as he had expected. What was the trouble? His collar was too large! He rushed out and purchased shirt and collar two sizes smaller, and they fitted perfectly. He tied the tie, brushed back his hair, and smiled at himself. It was not the same young man who had looked in that glass for so many satisfied years.

"I'll show those girls yet! I'll make them sit up and take notice."

He had declined all invitations to parties and kept going to the movies to get more "pointers."

How to dance correctly was the next problem. He suddenly remembered Inez Jaynes, who had been in New York studying music. She was helping out a small income by giving music lessons. Inez was a beautiful dancer. Perhaps she would teach him.

He swore her to secrecy and worked diligently. When the time came for the club party, James escorted Inez there.

You may be sure he did not lack partners, for, besides being well dressed and good looking, he was the best dancer among the men.

He danced many times with Inez and with quiet self-possession guided her through the crush.

Inez looked happy.

James danced with Margery and Alice. The wall flowers and the fat ladies were not forgotten either. Margery said to Alice:

"I must have been mistaken about James. I'm going to ask him to dinner when my New York cousin comes."

"I've asked him for Sunday night supper," said Alice.

On the way home from the dance James looked down at the sweetly brave little woman at his side and said:

"Inez, Mr. Witmer has made me assistant cashier of the bank."

Inez looked up alarmingly.

"You have been so good to me, dear," he went on, "and I love you so—could—could you possibly marry such a lout as I?"

"You're a great, big, splendid prince, and I love you!"

Later, when James was leaving, he said: "I'll come for you tomorrow night and we'll go to the movies!"

"Jonah" Words.

Nearly everyone has some special word which he mispronounces. Have you? The writer always tries to avoid the word "plebeian," through an absurd desire to put the accent on the last syllable, as in "plebiscite." A laugh went round a room once when a young man referred to a ship's "bo," and a woman debating came to grief over the word "epitome," to which she gave but three syllables instead of its rightful four. But how about the governess who told her little pupils all about the "aborijeens" of Australia? The writer was one of the little pupils, and it made an indelible impression. "Jejune" is always tricky. "Aspirant" is worrying, too, until you learn that the accent may be on the first or second syllable. Of course, you know how to pronounce Macpherson, Mackenzie and machinery. Perhaps the last word caught you napping, though—unless you are too old a bird!—Answers, London.

Halcyon Days.

The word "halcyon" is the name of a bird called a kingfisher. It was anciently believed that the eggs of the halcyon were hatched at sea in a floating nest, and that during the two weeks the nests were floating on the waves of the ocean, and while the bird was brooding over them, the seas were calm and could safely be navigated by the mariners. We are familiar with the term "halcyon days," which are understood to signify beautiful weather, and the expression is also used to describe the bright days of boyhood or of youth or other periods of one's life that the memory delights to recall.

Mother Not Important.

In a certain Western city a man of exceedingly boastful disposition was recently made justice of the peace. His family was much impressed by the honor conferred on the father, but most of all who showed pride was the twelve-year-old son. It was he who opened the door to one of the suffrage petition bearers. She explained her errand and asked for his mother.

The little boy puffed up very much as did the father on occasions. "You needn't waste any time with her," he told the woman. "She isn't anything important. Just me and pop are squires."

Monte Carlo Put to Good Use.

Monte Carlo, the once famous gambling place, is still crowded, but there are no players there now. The tables, instead of being loaded down with chips, are piled high with offerings for the wounded; with cushions for wounded limbs, crutches, ice bags and pneumonia jackets. And instead of the crowned heads that once frequented the resort the new patrons wear a "jewel" above the forehead in the shape of a Red Cross.

Negative Joys.

She—I can't see what takes you men to the club every night. Do you go there for the pleasures you find?

He—No; for the troubles we don't.

Kept Mum.

"Did the bride's father give her away?"

"No; on the contrary, he told the bridegroom she would make a very economical wife."

What an Easter this will be!

PEACE!—Joyous homecoming and reunion—Spring in the air—and renewed evidence of prosperity and plenty about us—

Happy parents—healthy children—freed from the worry of the years of conflict and the restrictions that have helped to attain the victory that is now ours—

Little wonder that the aim in thousands of Canadian homes will be to celebrate this joyous occasion by a return to old-time festivity. Let your home be one! Let your household, this Easter of 1919, once again freely enjoy its old-time Easter Breakfast—

Jolted From Engine Lost Both Feet

SHERBROOKE, April 16— With both feet amputated at the ankles, following an accident on the C.P.R. tracks at Lake Megantic on Saturday, Alexander Johnston, of Bowmanville Junction, is now at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, having been brought here Sunday afternoon.

Johnson, who was an employee of the railway was riding on the front running board of an engine when it crossed over a switch and he was jolted off, falling in front of the engine. With considerable presence of mind he grasped the running board, but his legs were drawn beneath the wheels and both feet crushed.

Shadows of History.

"William the Conqueror," read the small boy from his history, "landed in England in 1066 A.D."

"What does A.D. stand for?" inquired the teacher.

The small boy pondered.

"I don't exactly know," he said. "Maybe it's after dark."

MADE BAD LANDING

Young Boche Airman Really Deserved Better Luck.

As It Was, the Youth Probably Only Escaped Ignominious Personal Chastisement by Being Made a Prisoner of War.

Although he was a boche we admired his audacity. He came humming out of the summer blue on a sultry afternoon, swooping from nowhere right in the inner guard of half a dozen of our unsuspecting kite balloons. Swift and straight as a falcon he dived, and at the rattle of his machine gun and the flash of his tracer bullets pigmy figures strangely agitated came bobbing and gyrating earthward under their spreading parachutes.

Whirr! went his gun, and biff, went the first balloon, a thin train of fire leading to a scarlet blaze and a gossamer wreckage. Before one could count twelve a second sausage had shriveled into skin and the Hun plane was making tracks for home.

The "Archies" had been taken by surprise. For a moment it looked as if the unwelcome visitor would reach his lines. But suddenly the "Archies" ceased firing, and it was then we saw a British plane pursuing at a pace that could only have one result. The German "side-stepped" twice by intention and once involuntarily. He smashed into a cottage like a goat butting through a fence, his propellers going through the thatched roof and his rudder cocking up in the air. The solitary pilot was pitched into a corner of the long orchard, little the worse for his fall. He was a small, thin, rather mean-looking young man, and he blinked stupidly at the remains of what had once been an airplane. A little dog barked at him, half a dozen fussy hens scolded him, and a very angry and very determined old lady came out of the cottage to investigate him.

She was a typical Flemish dame, massive of build, tenacious in character and practical in all things. Deliberately and of set purpose she advanced on the dazed airman. She caught him by the collar of his tunic. She shook her fist in his face, and she asked him in the incisive vernacular of the Flemish peasant what he meant by smashing up her house. She ordered him to look at the mess he had made, calculated the cost and demanded payment, all in a breath. She heaped insults on him, his parents and his airplane.

As she talked all the glory of war and the spirit of conquest evaporated from the flying Hun. He shrank till he looked like a small boy caught in a mean theft; his airplane, with its gaudy splashes, resembled a broken toy, and he tugged ruefully at his hair, and flushed and stammered and edged cautiously away.

As he retired the old woman advanced, and I am convinced that but for the prompt arrival of a guard of grinning Tommies she would have spanked that unhappy Teuton youth. Never did a man surrender so eagerly.

When he and his escort had departed the dame "shooed" away the hens and then industriously picked up the assorted fragments of the airplane for firewood.—Montreal Herald.

Prof. W. J. Rutherford, dean of the Faculty of Agriculture, Provincial University, Saskatoon, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee to examine the lands now held under grazing leases in Southern Alberta, to ascertain what areas will be suitable for mixed farming in connection with the campaign now being carried on by the Soldier Settlement Board.

Using the broad powers of the recently enacted anti-narcotic law for the first time, the federal government reached into New York city and struck heavily at the drug traffic, arresting six physicians, four druggists and herding more than 200 addicts, shaken, quivering physical wrecks and all under thirty years old, into police headquarters.

The raids came with the suddenness of a shot and were worked out and directed by Major Daniel L. Porter, supervising internal revenue agent for this district—the same "Shadow" Porter who came here a month ago after practically banishing the "still smokes" from the mountains of Tennessee, Virginia and the Carolinas.

The decision to hit at the drug traffic here was reached some time ago, it was said, and report after report had come into Washington indicating a steady increase in the illicit use of cocaine, heroine, morphine and other narcotic poisons, surveys which were supported by the recent utterances of Health Commissioner Copeland, warning that drugs were fast permeating the life of the city. Although prepared to go ahead with the campaign, the agents of the Department of Internal Revenue, going on their assumption that the mainstays of the traffic were unscrupulous physicians, were unable to take action because of the legal protections afforded doctors.

LIMITLESS AUTHORITY

In the latter part of February, however, as pointed out at headquarters, the United States Supreme Court handed down a decision which interpreted the narcotic law so as to give the enforcing officers almost limitless authority. Major Porter worked for some weeks at Washington and then with a strong force of special agents—men from all professions and trades, from lawyers and physicians to steamfitters and clerks—came to New York.

Porter immediately got in touch with Lieutenant Henry Scherd, of the narcotic squad of the police department, and joined forces, the men began a systematic investigations of the drug traffic. For weeks the agents at New York loitered near drug stores, keeping tabs on the customers and observing from window corners the relations between purchaser and seller. While the drug store watchers kept their vigil, others noted the sort of people that came for treatment to neighborhood doctors. In several instances a day and night scrutiny was maintained.

Slowly the evidence mounted up, and place after place was absolved or found suspicious. Tonight the revenue agents and police set the stage for the round-up. At night the men left headquarters. Some took care of the long lines of trembling addicts they knew would be forming at certain drug stores; others were to watch the doctors' offices and others were to apply for treatment, for 'cures' for the habits they claimed to have; other details were at the offices of physicians placed under arrest, and at the drug stores and the revenue agent and police later said that in all $80,000 woth of narcotics were confiscated, half of that amount being taken from the store of J. Frialich, At 1st avenue and 16th street. Dr. Louis Falk, of Grand street, according to the agents, was selling prescriptions as low as 25 cents each. Major Porter said his men had found that once prescription was offered at one of the drug stores, the amount of narcotics obtainable was limited only by the purchaser's ability to pay.

WAS PITIFUL CROWD

Just as the accused physicians and druggists began to arrive at headquarters the police started to bring in the adicts: thin, sunken-eyed, furtive and plac, some of them were; others apparently in the flush of a recent administration of drugs, were rosy, bright-eyed and confident of manner. So when the 200 were crowded into two rooms in the basement of headquarters, the rooms echoed with laughs and jests, with groans and eager pleas for "the stuff."

As the men, youthful in age but everyone decripit from drugs, arrived, they were ushered into the presence of two lawyers-agents, who questioned them. Those who plainly had just taken drugs invariably refused to talk or if they did they spun long yarns of no value. The trembling ones, however, were ready to reveal all they knew, providing only that drugs were promised.

When all of those taken in the raids had reached headquarters, the examining agents moved their desks right into the rooms and brought in the arrested physicians and druggists. By this time the men were in a wretched state—men were alternately screaming and laughing, some were trying to roll upon the floor while others clawed at their clothing or at their mouths.

Soon one of the victims, a recently discharged sailor, collapsed from lack of stimulant. Then another man not yet 20 years old, but five years a drug addict, fainted. They were revived and the latter man said he had tried to cure himself—"got down once to fifteen grains a day," but had found the fight too hard.

After obtaining the statements of the men, all but one was released.

Discussing the raids, the heads of the federal service said they were only beginning of etao ietao itaorgtar only at the beginning of a city-wide campaign to stamp out the drug evil.

Floating Mines In Dardanelles Great Danger

Floating mines in the Dardanelles and Sea of Marmora constitute great danger to navigation. Several ships have been lost since the armistice through mine explosions. The armistice required Turkey to indicate all mines, but it has not been possible in all cases to give their exact position. Mine sweepers have been at work for some time, but naval authorities saw it will be many months before vessels can proceed through the straits with safety. No navigation is permitted at night. On passenger vessels lifeboat drills are held regularly, just as in days when submarines menaced the seas.

Even in the broad stretches of the Aegean Sea the greatest precautions are taken against floating mines. In certain areas passengers are required to wear life preservers, and many narrow lanes of travel have been marked out for pilots to follow.

But it is in the Black Sea that the greatest danger exists. Not only are there numerous floating mines there, but extensive unmarked mine fields laid indiscriminately by the Germans, Russians and Bolsheviki. They are a constant menace to shipping. The steamer bearing the American Red Cross Mission to Roumanian narrowly escaped a floating mine while proceeding to Constanza. Often these mines are carried down by the swift current in the Bospohrous Straits to the Sea of Marmora, where they are an ever-present danger to the hundreds of naval and merchant vessels.

Naval authorities say it will be several years before the waters of Europe are entirely free of floating mines. Many of the German mines destroyed by Allied trawlers were found to have been moored by rope. When the rope rotted the mines broke from their anchorage and drifted in many cases to the main line of steamer travel.

BERLIN HAS GAYETY OF DANCE CARNIVAL

Barbed wire barricades, camouflaged armored cars with white death's-head and cross-bones emblems, cannon and machine-guns have vanished from Berlin's streets.

Life is again so superficially normal that nothing reminds you of democracy's death grapple with Bolsheviki in the German arena.

The sporting world of last week was absorbed in Berlin's six-day bicycle race, drawing crowds despite the nightly increasing price of seats, soaring prices being a typical Berlin phenomenon—a new way discovered for parting natives from their money.

At two of Berlin largest cafes continuous billiard tournaments are going on. Mechanical gambling on the rolling ivories made a hit with devotees of sport.

In a Berlin paper is an "ad," in which the advertiser seeks a partner with 100,000 marks for opening a bar of a new type in Berlin. New gambling clubs for ladies and gentlemen continue to sprout, providing sumptuous free banquets of illicit foods and free liquor as bait to catch members, with vaudeville and operatic stars as an added attraction.

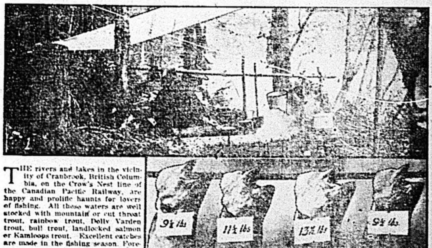
FIND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BEST

This year will see a 50 per cent increase in daily newspaper advertising, manufacturers and merchants having found the dailies the most profitable form of publicity, according to William H. Rankin, of the American Association of Advertising Agencies meeting at Chicago.

Rankin spoke at a meeting of the executive committee, here to perfect an organization to back the U. S. Victory Loan.

"Never have newspapers stood in such high esteem with advertisers," said Rankin. "Much credit for success of previous loan campaigns and various war work drives must be given newspapers for their co-operation with the Government.

A Wonderful Fishing Region



THE rivers and lakes in the vicinity of Cranbrook, British Columbia, on the Crow's Nest line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, are happy and prolific haunts for lovers of fishing. All these waters are well stocked with mountain or cut throat trout, rainbow trout, Dolly Varden trout, bull trout, landlocked salmon or Kamloops trout. Excellent catches are made in the fishing season. Foremost amongst the fishing waters of this region are: St. Mary's Lake and river, Kootenay River, Moyie Lake and river, Gold Creek, Cherry Creek, Perry Creek Lake, Doyle's Lake, and Premier Lake. Perhaps the favorite rendezvous is Premier Lake. This lake is situated about thirty-eight miles from Cranbrook. It is three and a half miles long and one mile wide. Mountains surround it on every side, and it is very deep. There is no visible outlet for the waters. Springs that rise adjacent to the lake and streams from the mountain sides gush to rest in its placid bed.

On August 12th, 1915, the Game Conservation Board of the Eastern District of British Columbia furnished Premier Lake, along the Kootenay Central Railway, a branch of the C. P. R., with 10,000 Kamloops trout fry, each one then being about three-quarters of an inch long. A prophecy was made that the fry within four years would develop into fish weighing between twelve and thirty pounds. The accompanying illustration shows some of the fish caught when three years old.

Realizing the sporting possibilities of the Cranbrook region some of the residents met in Cranbrook on November 7th, 1917, and formed the Cranbrook District Rod and Gun Club. A hatchery was started in Cranbrook; 200,000 eggs were brought in and incubated. The enterprise was a huge success, and fry were distributed: 75,000 in St. Mary's Lake, 12,000 in Rock Lake, 25,000 in Premier Lake, 50,000 in Moyie Lake, 2,000 in Doyle's Lake, about 4,000 in Perry Creek Lake. These fish will spawn at the age of four years, and when they begin to multiply in the natural way it is certain that Cranbrook will be one of the finest fishing districts in the world.

The best season for fishing these waters is from May 1st to June 15th and from August 1st to September 30th. The fly is used generally with success. Trolling will bring good results in St. Mary's, Moyie and Premier lakes.

Distances from Cranbrook to the different fishing waters vary, but none of the lakes and rivers is difficult of access. Good automobile roads radiate in all directions.

The scenery of the Cranbrook fishing district is beautiful, and in addition to a creel laden with splendid trout, the fisherman will bring home with him memories of a landscape as fair as the eye can anywhere behold.

"Congratulations, My Daughter, You Are Looking Fine"

"AND why shouldn't I look well after using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"Is that what has made such a change in your appearance? You were so pale and thin, I was rather anxious about your health."

"Why, I have gained fifteen pounds, and I feel so well, too."

"And you have such a good, healthy color. Your blood must be rich and red."

"I knew you were suspicious of anything that our doctor did not prescribe, so I said nothing about it to you."

"Well, I will not have any doubts about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the future after what a healthy looking girl it has made of you."

"Yes, and I feel so differently, too. I was so nervous and irritable that I was very easily annoyed and upset. Then I would have those fearful nervous headaches. But, thank goodness, that is all over, and I know what to give credit to for the change."

"I am very glad you are so well again and think Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a very valuable medicine, since it has done you so much good."

Miss Gertrude M. Burrell, Clementsport, N.S., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results. For a number of years I was afflicted with nervousness, and six years ago had a complete breakdown. I had no control of my nerves and had terrible hysterical spells. I could not sleep, had night sweats, awful dreams and nightmare. My physician gave me medicine to put me to sleep every night, and another kind to take every two hours during the day, but it did not seem to do me any good only while I was taking it. I never really expected to get well. Reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food one day, I gave it a trial, and the results from the first box encouraged me, so I continued its use, and found my nerves getting steady and stronger. My appetite improved and I gained in strength, ambition and flesh. Now I am able to do considerable work, and can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a good tonic for the whole system."

(Alonzo W. Daniels, J.P., says: "It gives me great satisfaction to vouch for the testimony of this young lady and the benefit she has received from your wonderful discovery.")

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

Military Exemption Fraud

Quebec Trio Found Guilty

MILITARY CAPTAIN, NOTARY PION AND OMER GUAY CONVICTED — COURT'S STRONG CHARGE — ARMAND LAVERGNE ATTACKED LLOYD GEORGE, CLEMENCEAU AND OTTAWA.

QUEBEC, April 18—"Guilty with a recommendation to the clemency of the tribunal," was the verdict returned against Captain J. Alberic Goulet, Notary George Pion and J. Omer Guay, all three tried before the Court of King's Bench, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the granting of military exemptions.

The jury had been out barely one-half hour after hearing from Judge Pelletier, one of the most stinging and severe charges ever made from the bench in the Quebec Criminal Court.

Immediately upon the return of the verdict, Armand Lavergne, one of the lawyers for defence, introduced a motion to have the three men admitted to bill, stating that an appeal would be entered against this verdict, on a reserve case, alleging irregularities in the proceedings before this court as well as on the ground that the charge of the judge to the jury was illegal.

PLEA FOR DEFENCE

Mr. Lavergne in the course of his plea for the defence made utterances that caused the huge crowd in the court room to quiver with excitement. He said the three men at the bar were no more guilty than were those members of the Canadian Government who had trampled upon the pledged word to oppose conscription and had passed the measure. He scored the Federal Government for cancelling existing laws of the country through mere orders-in-council, the legality of which he denied .He also had a bitter word for the heads of the Entente, Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau

JUDGE PELLETIER'S CHARGE

Judge Pelletier, in his charge, dwelt mainly on the facts with a bearing on the case, but he rebuked Mr. Lavergne for some of his utterances. "We are not here to try the Ottawa Government, nor the heads of the Entente," said the Judge, "and all this has no bearing on the case we have to pass upon." However, he refuted a number of Mr. Lavergne's statements.

Mr Lavergne had alluded to agitations against Quebec, made in Ontario and other provinces and to this Judge Pelletier said. "This has nothing to do with the case, and I believe this should be ignored altogether. Let us mind our own business and I believe things will run smoothly.

Judge Pelletier, answering to Mr. Lavergne's criticism of the Ottawa Government said that whatever the Federal authorities had done of passed, the court had nothing to do with it, and that it had to pass on the three men at the bar, who were on trial and not Sir Robert Borden and Hon. Mr. Sevigny. And here with a smile, the Judge said:

"You had to pass judgment some time ago, on a certain Government and I think you did pass judgment and there were not then only twelve petty jurors to decide the case, but a whole population. So, let that Government be and study and pass only on the case of these three men."

Judge Pelletier was severe when he talked of the conceso of the accused. He qualified them as a triumvirate, who like robbers in a fire, profit of the confusion to enter a blazing house to rob it and its contents. He could not bear, he said, to see men like these go unpunished after carrying on such a busines. "They were," said the Judge, "dealers in refuse and garbage, and since an appeal was made to you on the occasion of this holy week, a week of pardon and forgiveness. I will also tell you that this holy week is the time when Christ lashed away from the temple, the barterers and pharisees.

"We are in the holy week, I admit, then, let us render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's. Let the accused reimburse the money so unjustly obtained from poor women like the Widow Cote, who handed them her all, the only money she had left in the world, to save her boy."

He then recalled the testimony adduced, proved that the charge was really proved. That the men were really guilty and the best proof of this, he said, was the fact that Pion begged one of his victims to deny all acquaintance with him, when the police started to investigate.

Judge Pelletier thus spoke during two full hours, while the large gathering in the court room barely made a move. The jury listened intently while the accused held a downcast demeanor.

When the verdict became known, none of the accused showed any sign of nervousness, and calmly went to their cells until tomorrow when the motion for bail.

Calgary is Facing Big Civic Strike

CALGARY, April 19.—Unless the Calgary municipal authorities effect a settlement of the wage schedule with the civic employes by three o'clock Monday next there will be a general strike of all unions in the civic federation with the exception of the street railwaymen. This is the definite decision that was reached Thursday when the various unions voted on the matter.

The decision, according to the officials of the federation, was unanimous, with the exception of the street railwaymen, who passed a resolution to the effect that they desire the city to appoint an arbitration board. If this is refused, they are willing to join the other unions in strike notwithstanding the fact that they are affiliated with the International.

Balfour Warns Hungary Gov't

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, April 19—The Press Bureau announces that during the visit of General Smuts to Budapest he obtained from Bola Kun, Soviet Foreign Minister, assurances regarding the protection of foreign interests in Hungary. Nevertheless the Hungarion Government is still endeavoring to confiscate foreign property. Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, British Foreign Minister, has addressed a note to Bola Kun warning Soviet Government it will be held responsible for the fulfillment of the undertaking.

The Treaty of Peace

PARIS, April 19.—The drafting of the final form of the Peace Treaty is proceeding rapidly in order to have it ready for presentation to the German delegates when they arrive at Versailles a week hence. The document as framed, begins with an introduction in the form of a protocol, setting forth the complete list of belligerent powers taking part in the war and now making peace, with designation of plenipotentiaries of each country and with power to sign.

Then comes a declaration, of impressive brevity, not exceeding thirty words, stating that on the conclusion of the treaty and the exchange of ratifications the war shall come to an end.

Following upon the declaration of peace the present intention of the peace delegates is to have the covenant of the League of Nations occupy the place of honor in the treaty and to be the first subject treated in detail. It will thus take the priority it had in the program of the Peace Conference.

Then, in succession, will follow the military, naval and aerial terms, reparations, responsibilities, the Rhine frontier, the Saar region, Alsace-Lorraine, Poland, the status of Dantzig as an international port, Germany's Schleswig-Holstein frontier, and a large number of special subjects, including the Labor Convention adopted at the last plenary session of the Conference, international ports and waterways, and extended economic and financial provisions not directly connected with reparations.

The textual form of all these subdivisions has been completed, so that the work at present going on is chiefly fitting together the parts into a homogenous whole.

Relation of Church Labor And Capital

Dr. Riddell, Superintendent of Trades and Labor for Ontario, Gives an Instructive and Inspiring Address.

During this week special meetings have been held in the John Street Presbyterian Church in this city in connection with the Forward Movement of the Presbyterian Church. Special speakers have given addresses each evening by prominent men and Thurday night was no exception to the rule. The speaker was Mr. W. A. Riddell, Superintendent of Trades and Labor for the Province of Ontario. His subject was "The Relation of the Church to Labor." In his opening remarks the speaker stated that there was need to-day of missionary work in the church in regard to labor. Last century saw a revolution in industrial pursuits. We are only now beginning to realize that revolution. The problem of production has been largely solved and especially so during the war but there were other great problems to overcome. The revolution in labor had created child welfare and even made women cooperative in working with men especially in production. The revolution period was increasing and increasing for good or evil. Labor realized that the only way to get a square deal was by organization and to meet as a group the leaders of industries and its wealth. The christian church must look out upon organized labor and administer help to it in the right direction. The laborers or the majority of them are apt to believe that the church is not ministering to them but rather to the more favored citizens. The standard of the christian church should be to measure up to all alike. The church should be prepared to guide the masses. There should be a christion application to all avenues of life. Grip the employer in such a manner that he will see that those in his employ are receiving an honest days wage for an honest day's work. We are living today in tremendous changes. Democracy has triumped over autocrocy. Competent democracy will establish the will of God on earth. Incompetent democracy will destroy it. Great leaders are desired to assist in this competent democracy and it is the duty of the church to see that the best men are selected. The Church should be alive to its responsibility in this matter. He, the speaker, believed that the day would come when the leader in the economic field would be chosen the same as the leader of any political party is chosen. Labor demands fair control of conditions under which it works. Labor, capital and the church must get together. The church must create in this regard a spirit of brotherhood, which is the doctrine of the Lord Jesus Christ. Competent democracy is making strides, but not as fast as it might be. In speaking of Bolshevism Dr. Riddell said we need not fear it in Canada if our leaders and church will but unite on this vital matter of competent democracy. The church has stood out for social improvement but it has not stood out for the greater economic conditions that must prevail if competent democracy is to prevail. Labor must have a greater share of product. No democracy will be competent until all who desire employment are employed and the Government is doing all in its power to assist in providing avenues where employment can be secured. We must look after the unemployed and the church can get behind this as in other matters. When the church becomes more interested in labor more funds will be secured for the extension of the word of God. The church is not getting the wage earners as it should get them. It is because it will champion everything else but labor and its environments. The church must assume its responsibility in this matter if it desires to assist in competent democracy The church has to take action in this forward movement and get down to the fundamental principles of religion.

During the service Rev. Mr. Wallace, Pastor of the Baptist Church offered up an appropriate prayer and Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Pastor of the church, also assisted.

Crime Wave Sweeps Chicago

48 Hours of Violence

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Forty-eight hours of extreme violence caused Chief of Police Garrity to summon all commanding officers to his office and warn them that unless there were unremitting efforts to check the crime wave some of them would face a trial board. Up to today the records of the chief's office show that since January there had been 43 murders in the city, 29 deaths from manslaughter and eight homicides, a total of eighty killed in one hundred and eight days. In addition 202 stores had been robbed, 94 saloons held up and looted, and three ticket-sellers in elevated railway stations forced to surrender their cash. Three major causes were given by the chief of police for the reign of lawlessness—the discharge of criminals from the army, unemployment, and too few policemen.

Kindly Thoughts Expressed in Gift

Gold-Headed Cane Presented to Mr. Bird, of the Springer Lock Co.

A very pleasant event took place at the office of the Springer Lock Mfg. Co., Limited, on Thursday, when the management and foremen of that industrial establishment presented Mr A. F. Bird with a handsome gold-headed cane, accompanied by an address of appreciation. Mr. Bird, although taken completely by surprise, voiced his deep appreciation of the kindly thoughts which prompted the gift and said he would always treasure as a pleasant memory his business association in the Springer Lock Co., Limited. The presentation marked the retirement of Mr. Bird from the position of secretary-treasurer of the company, a position which he has occupied very capably and retires from with the respect and esteem of all his business associates.

Belleville, April 17, 1919.

Dear Mr. Bird:—It is with regret that we understand that after nine years of faithful service, you are about to leave us, owing to ill health and trust that after a good rest you will be restored to your usual health again and that you may see your way clear to be with us in the near future.

In all our business transactions we have always found you courteous and obliging.

We, on behalf of the management and foremen of the Springer Lock Manufacturing Company, ask you to accept this cane as a small token of our esteem. As you use it may you remember the many friends you leave behind and whose kind thoughts will follow you where ever you may go.

Signed on behalf of the donators,
W. C. SPRINGER,
H. CARR.

"Little Welsh Giant" At Grips With "Newspaper Napoleon"

"LITTLE WELSH GIANT" AT GRIPS WITH "NEWSPAPER NAPOLEON"—BRITAIN AGOG AT DRAMATIC BREAK BETWEEN PREMIER AND NORTHCLIFFE OVER HAPPENINGS AT PEACE CONFERENCE — BEGINNING OF NEW POLITICAL CHAPTER — PEER'S PAPERS ALL LAUNCH SLASHING PERSONAL ATTACKS ON LLOYD GEORGE—NORTHCLIFFE SORE AT NOT BEING NAMED DELEGATE TO PARIS.

LONDON, April 19.—Open warfare between David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, and Lord Northcliffe, England's foremost publisher, is to the political world the most interesting result of the Premier's flying visit to London from the Paris Peace Conference and his speech before Parliament on Wednesday.

Northcliffe and Beaverbrook

Lord Northcliffe and Baron Beaverbrook, who served as the official 'Eyewitness' for the Canadian Government at the front in 1916, and later became Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and Minister of Information always have been credited with being the powers behind the scenes who brought about the retirement of Premier Asquith and the succession of Lloyd George to the head of the Cabinet. Northcliffe's newspapers gave Lloyd George general support throughout his management of the war, but when the general election followed the armistice they shifted somewhat to the attitude of friendly critics. Only during the latest developments of the Peace Conference have they become sharply critical of Mr. Lloyd George's leadership.

Northcliffe Chagrined

The Premier in his speech in the House of Commons credited this fact to the 'disease of vanity," and pointedly hinted that it was due to disappointment on Lord Northcliffe's part that he had not been appointed on the peace delegation. Premier referred to the peace terms Lord Northcliffe recommended in The Times before the Peace Conference began, and satirized his change of front.

Slashing Attacks on Premier

The Northcliffe papers today all contain slashing personal attacks on Lloyd George. The Evening News, a Northcliffe publication, prints a cartoon of the Premier hovering over Westminster in an airplane, labelled "hot air," with bombs for the Northcliffe papers.

Spectacular Battle Anticipated

Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Northcliffe probably are the two most influential personal forces in British politics, and now that they are fiercely and publicly joined in battle, the effect upon Mr. Lloyd George's political fortunes and the test of the influence of the Northcliffe press which is expected to follow will mark the beginning of a new political chapter, the developments of which are being discussed with the liveliest interest. Each man is an eager fighter, and the battle between the "little Welsh giant" and the 'newspaper Napoleon" is not likely to be a tame one.

"THE ROSARY"

With the dark clouds of war departed and the people returning to normal conditions, the taste of the public in the drama has made a sudden veer. And, odd as it may seem, that taste has gone back to the old days of clean plays, wholesome stories, and unctuous humor. The unclean drama, which had such a vogue is slowly giving way to the more wholesome and the more cleanly. The people are tired of the riot of sex plays and the ruction of the war drama. They want to wander back into the realm of plays where there is a battle between the forces of good and evil, and there the battles turn in favor of the good.

To be sure they do not want any mawkish stories and the like of that, but they want to see human life depicted as it is, with all its tears and its laughter, and they want to see the players moving about in clean and interesting surroundings. To this end, every one in this city will welcome the return of "The Rosary," a play founded upon an emblem of purity, and as pure as the emblem. The play will come to Griffin's Opera House next Tuesday night bringing a selected company of players and as plendid production.

"BILL" HART AT GRIFFIN'S TONIGHT

William S. Hart's new photoplay, "Breed of Men," is a remackable one in every respect and is attracting large audiences to Griffin's this week end. The story is full of incident and human nature. It has as well a delightful love element and plenty of wild riding that has made the Hart pictures so attractive to those who like action. Seena Owen is the leading woman. She was with Mr. Hart in "Branding Broadway." There are many fine scenes in the mining country in "Happy Though Married" in which Enid Bennett is starting and which is being shown on the same programme tonight. Douglas MacLean is the leading man and the support throughout is of the best. The story takes the spectator through a maze of jealousy, myster, humor, suspense and final reconciliation. And a book on marriage is the basis of a lot of trouble The British News with its budget of important British events, and a very funny two-act Sennett comedy entitled "Saucy Madeline" completes a splendid varied program.

"GHOSTS OF YESTERDAY"

Among film stars who have advanced to the first rank in a comparatively short time, Norma Talmadge stands out pre-eminently. Six years ago this now famous artist of the screen was a mere child with a suddenly conceived ambition to become a motion picture actress. 'I had to do something,' Miss Talmadge says, 'and one day I breezed into a studio and to my own great surprise was given a part. In those days there were no great film actresses; the art of the camera in its infancy. "Everybody," to quote Miss Talmadge again, "Got twenty-five dollars a week,' and when my first pay day came round, I opened my envelope, and when I found the actual money there I took it home and asked my mother if she thought this could really be 'on the square.' Miss Talmadge is appearing at the Palace Monday to Wednesday, matinee daily in "Ghosts of Yesterday." Pathe News a beautiful travelogue and a new Luke comedy will also be screened.

CATHERINE CALVERT AT THE PALACE

Catherine Calvert who is appearing at the Palace tonight in "A Romance of the Underworld" will be remembered by photoplay lovers as the beautiful young woman who supported William Faversham in the sterling screen version of the famous English melodrama, "The Silver King." The 9th chapter of the "Bull's Eye" serial and "Are Crooks Straight," a very amusing Luke comedy are also being screened.

REFINED VAUDEVILLE TO BE PRESENTED AT GRIFFIN'S

Commencing Monday a new policy wil be introduced at Griffin's, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, picture program being augmented with vaudeville. Smith and King in "A Study in Black" and Winifred Evans concert soprano comprising the vaudeville portion of the programme for Moday and Wednesday of next week. The public always love to see the biter bit and in Dorothy Dalton's new picture which is the feature photoplay offering on the same program, the manner in which a rascally old deacon is beaten at his nefarious game by a charming prima donna pleases everybody who cares for a wholesome story of life in a small town. There is comedy galore. Filled with laughs from start to finish the new Mack Sennett comedy "Beware of Boarders" is said to be one of the most humorous productions made by the Sennett organization in many moons. The principals in the cast are Chester Conklin, Ford Sterling and Mary Thurman. A new Mutt and Jeff cartoon comedy will also be screened.

SOLDIERS' RECEPTION

Ald. Hanna, Chairman of the Civic Soldiers Welcome Committee, is making every ararngement possible for the reception of the Belleville and Hastings County members of the Second Battalion, who are expected to arrive here on Monday or Tuesday. He will go to Kingston to assist in the arrangement of bringing the boys home and is also endeavoring to secure a special train. There are upwards of 200 for the city and county on board the Olympic, which is expected to dock tonight at Halifax. When the boys arrive the bell on the city building will ring for fifteen minutes, preceeding the arrival of the train. Merchants and citizens are requested to decorate for the occasion, and although a number have offered cars still more are required. The programme as outlined at present is that the boys will be met at the G. T. R. station and conveyed in cars to the upper bridge, where they will be met by bands and societies and escorted to the Armuries, where Mayor Platt will give a brief address of welcome. The boys will be taken to their respective homees in the city. It is proposed at a later date to have a public holiday for the purpose of extending a civic welcome to all returned men.

Called By Death

FREDERICK C. ACTON

At the family residence, 1844 Superior Street, Chicago on Friday the 11th inst., Mr. Frederick C. Acton, son of the late Mr. Phillip Acton, of this city, passed away from an attack of pleuro pneumonia, after a brief illness. Deceased was 36 years and 11 months of age and was born in this city where he was well and most favorably known. After graduating from the public and High School deceased took a business course and for some time was a stenographer in Mr. E. G. Porter's, KC., M.P., law office. Some fifteen years ago he left Belleville and for the past fourteen years had been in the employ of the Armour Company first as stenographer and latterly as assistant manager which position was an evidence of his ability. Mr. Acton was a member of McKinley Lodge No. 876 A.F. & A.M. also a member of Oriental Consistory Medinah, A.A.O.N. M.S. He was also president of the Armour Bowling Asociation. In politics he was a Conservative. Deceased was sometime ago married to Miss Adeline Virginia Olson, who with one son Oliver Wilfrid survive. The brothers living are Robert, of Edmonton; William of Winnipeg; Harry of Peroria, Ill. The sisters are Mayme of Chicago and Mrs. Nelson Patterson of Belleville. The funeral which took place in Chicago was largely attended. Services were held at Bethany Congregational church, where the body was reviewed. No funerals in Chicago are allowed on boulevards but upon this occasion a special permit was obtained and policemen on motor cycles stopped all traffic. At the house a private funeral was held owing to the serious illness of the deceaseds' mother-in-law. At the chapel in connection with the cemetery the Masons conducted services. The body was reposed in a steel casket, which was placed inside of a cement vault. Among the magnificent floral tributes was a blanket of roses, three yards by two yards, from the Armour Company also a blanket of orchids and sweet peas from the brothers-in-law, a broken wheel from the family. Mr. Acton had been most successful in business pursuits and had accumulated a small fortune.

MRS. W. WHITEFOOT

Mrs. William Whitefoot, aged 85 years, a resident of Bancroft village, died a few days ago while visiting friends in Toronto. The body was taken to Bancroft for interment. Deceased was a member of the Anglican church.

GOOD FRIDAY DEVOTIONS

The Good Friday services in St. Thomas' Church were observed this year as never before. The attendance was the largest in the history of the parish, number, according to the figures handed in by the sexton, 331. The "Three Hours" from 12 to 3 p.m. was largely attended from the beginning, most remaining through the entire period. The service was most impressive, and the congregational singing of the "Litany of the Last Seven Days" was a notable feature. The eight addresses were delivered by the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, and were of a character suited to the thoughts of the day, and were founded on the seven words from the cross. They were listened to with marked attention and earnest devotion. In the evening the "Story of the Cross" was sung by a large choir under the direction of Mr. Wheatley, with tenderness and marked devotion. At the close the Rector announced that there would be three celebrations of the Holy Communion on Easter Day, at seven, eight and eleven p.m. The offerings for Jewish Missions were very liberal.

WORLD'S LONGEST DAM

IT HAS JUST BEEN COMPLETED IN ALBERTA.

Great Structure Was Erected In Connection With Colossal Irrigation Scheme and No Project to Rival It Has Ever Been Carried Out on the American Continent—Will Add to Richness of West.

THERE has just been completed in the Prairie Provinces of Alberta, Canada, a monster dam. It can claim the distinction of being the longest edifice of its kind in the world. Whereas the famous Assuan dam, in Egypt, has a total length along the crest of six thousand four hundred feet, the new Canadian structure is no less than seven thousand eight hundred and twenty feet in length.

But apart from its record in the matter of length it has many notable features. It has been erected in connection with a colossal irrigation scheme, the largest individual project of this character that has been carried out on the American continent.

While most irrigation projects have for their objects the obtaining of a larger yield of cereals or fruit crops, the Canadian enterprise is destined solely to increase the dairying and live stock output of the province.

The scene of this latest triumph on the part of the irrigation engineer is Bassano, on the Bow river, some eighty-five miles to the east of Calgary. Across this broad stream a mighty dam has been thrown and the river brought under subjugation for watering a huge tract of country. The waters held up by this dam alone irrigate, by means of two thousand eight hundred miles of canals and ditches, four hundred and forty thousand acres of land.

But included in the general scheme is the irrigating of a further tract of three hundred and seventy thousand acres by diverting the waters of the river at another point, making eight hundred and ten thousand acres in all. Shortly, too, these acres will be increased to over one million two hundred and fifty thousand acres, providing homesteads on rich irrigated land for thousands of settlers.

The undertaking owes its inception to the enterprise of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which owns some six million acres of the finest virgin land in the Prairie Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, which it received as a grant for the construction of its transcontinental line. Some three million acres of this land is in Southern Alberta, a great open prairie plateau lying between the Bow river on the south and the Red Deer river on the north. Its surface is rolling, and its soil, consisting of heavy black loam and a clay subsoil, is excellent.

In order to encourage settlement on this land and, incidentally, provide freight for its line, the Canadian Pacific Railway determined to see what could be done in harnessing the waters so that a regular and plentiful supply could be guaranteed to the farmer. First they carried out an exhaustive survey of the whole region. This occupied several years, an irrigation project demanding surveys and examination far more complete than those for a railway line. The engineers first traversed the region in all directions, taking measurements and noting the rises and fall of the land. They spent several months upon the ground, virtually dwelling in what was then a wilderness so far as any life was concerned.

They now gave their attention to the rivers. First they made a thorough examination of the Deer river, and then the Bow river. They studied their banks, their beds, ascertained their volume, and the discharge at a given point in the dry season and during flood.

As a result of their surveys it was shown that the block, as the region was termed, naturally divided itself into three sections — the western, eastern, and central — of about one million acres each, and the work of developing them has been carried out in the order named.

In the western section three hundred and seventy thousand acres has been brought under irrigation by diverting the waters of the Bow river at a point just outside the city of Calgary. Here a canal, seventeen miles in length, sixty feet wide at the bottom, and one hundred and twenty feet wide on the water level, carries the precious fluid to a great lake three miles long, half a mile wide, and forty feet deep. It is virtually a natural depression, but has been strengthened by a large earthen dam.

From this reservoir water is carried to the hundreds of farms by one thousand and six hundred miles of secondary canals and ditches. The engineers' real difficulties, however, began when they tackled the eastern section, for it is here where the great dam is situated. It was not a question of merely diverting the waters of the river into another channel, but of first curbing the stream and then raising the level of the river over forty feet, and controlling the flow. This was accomplished by the erection of a great composite dam across what is known as Horseshoe Bend, on the Bow river.

There is no engineering work that demands such careful preliminary investigations as dam-building, particularly when it comes to the storage of a large body of water. For dams do burst with terrible consequences.

The most noteworthy instance was the destruction of the town of Johnstown, in Pennsylvania. It was literally swept off the map by the bursting of an earthen dam across the little Conemaugh river under the pressure of tremendous floods. Over two thousand people perished, and property to the value of over two millions sterling was destroyed. Since that date, some 37 years ago, thirty large solid masonry dams and thirty-five large earthen dams have failed, causing, in some cases, large losses of life and the wholesale destruction of property.

The pressure against the face of a large dam is simply tremendous. At the foot from the surface a large body of water, such as that held in check by the great dams of the world, exerts a pressure of sixty-two pounds to the square foot; at ten feet the force would be six hundred and twenty pounds; and at a depth of a hundred feet no less than six thousand two hundred pounds to the square foot.

Accordingly, the earthen embankment, which is some seven thousand feet in length, is of a particularly massive character. At its base it is three hundred and fifty feet thick, and contains about one million cubic yards of earth, rubble, and stone.

GALLANT PEER WON HONORS.

Earl of Dunmore, V.C., D.S.O., Was a Visitor to Canada.

Alexander Edward Murray, eighth Earl of Dunmore, V. C., D. S. O., M.V.O., who recently visited Canada, possesses one of the most distinguished records of military achievements to be found anywhere in the British peerage, despite the fact that scions of nearly all the noblest families in Britain were among the first to answer their country's call and have since acquitted themselves on the field of battle with honor and distinction. During the war, the earl, who is now in his forty-ninth year, was awarded the D.S.O. for conspicuous gallantry. He is one of the Imperial "Originals," being in France shortly after the outbreak of hostilities in 1914. He was wounded in 1916 and invalided back to England.

Lord Dunmore has served in India both as a soldier and as A. D. C. to the viceroy. He won the Victoria Cross in the frontier war with Afghanistan in 1897 and gained fresh honors in the South African war. He was through the Dongola Expedition for which he received two medals and was with the 6th Inniskilling Dragoons and 16th Lancers in South Africa, 1899-1900, being also mentioned in despatches. He was then in command of the 31st Imperial Yeomanry, Fincastle's Horse, in the same war. His South African decorations include the Queen's Medal with four clasps.

The earl is a student and writer, as well as a soldier, and incidentally has many interests in British Columbia, which he has visited several times. His wife, who was Miss Lucinda Dorothea Kemble, of the Isle of Skye, was an indefatigable worker in the interests of the Red Cross and of other kindred patriotic and philanthropic societies.

The Dunmore title dates back to the fascinating yet tragic period of British history which deals with Mary, Queen of Scots. It was during this reign that Lord Charles Murray, of the house of Athole, Master of the Horse, was created Earl of Dunmore. The Dunmore estate is a vast one, extending over some 17,800 acres.

Which is the more valable, a tree or a squirrel?

Animal lovers will have no hesitation in making a choice. They deplore the new policy of mending every hole in the trees of our parks and city "squares," because such cavities are the natural homes of squirrels. Also of many worth-while birds.

It is all very well to build miniature cottages for squirrel habitations and set them in the forks of trees, but those fuzzy and interesting friends of ours do not care much for our style of architecture. A good deep hole in a trunk or limb is what they want for domiciliary purposes.

Most of the "cottages" remain untenanted. What happens to the squirrels? Evidently they disappear, most of them — as one may judge from their reduced numbers. Deprived of suitable residential and breeding quarters, they vanish away.

The "cottages" are not comfortable, from the squirrels' point of view, to start with. They are built wrong for their use. They are not weather-proof — not proof against cold in winter or against wet. In a season or two they begin to fall to pieces.

Canadian Poetess Dies.

One of the earlier Canadian poets passed away at St. Mary's Ont., recently in the person of Mary A. Maitland, wife of Geo. F. Maitland, formerely of Stratford, St. Catharines, and Hamilton. Her verses, secular and religious, had at one time a wide circulation in Canadian and American periodicals, among the best remembered being "The Girl Who Helps Her Mother" and "Old Letters." Her book "Autumn Leaves" was published some years ago in Toronto. She was a native of Elgin, Scotland, and a devoted Baptist. Mrs. Maitland, who had attained the age of 80 years, had been suffering from neuritis since October, and death came as a relief to months of pain.

Our Fire Losses.

Fire losses are greater in Canada than in any other part of the world, and greater in Ontario than in any other part of Canada. A recent report contains figures showing the various fire loss per capita in the different countries in the world in 1916. In Canada it amounted to $3.24, while in Ontario it was $4.61; in the United States, $2.26; Great Britain, 64 cents; Russia, 27 cents, and Germany 28 cents.

British Trade Ambassadors.

The Federation of British Industries, representing sixteen thousand manufacturers and $25,000,000,000 capital, is organizing a great system of trade ambassadors for the extension of British trade overseas. The federation expects to have an ambassador in every important centre.

$10,000 Worth Liquor Seized

Kitchener Police Catch Foreigners Rifling Car of Contraband.

KITCHENER, April 18.—Over $10,000 worth of liquor was seized here Thursday night by the local police, after a lively engagement with a gang of thieves who were looting the contraband car containing the shipment of whiskey consigned from Montreal to Kitchener. The operation of the thieves, one of whom was arrested, sprang the trap which the police had set for the capture of the parties to whom the liquor was consigned. Shots were exchanged between the police and the looters, resulting in the arrest of Evanoff, who was given his bail at $250 cash to appear on April 23.

Seizure was made shortly before the C. N. R. yards in the vicinity of Turk street. When the police arrived on the scene it was found that one of the car doors had been pried open and three cases emptied. It was decided to await further developments, and with this in view the police secreted themselves near the car to await the arrival of the consigners or their agents, so that the job might be completed with the arrest of the parties who were violating the O. T. A. in receiving the shipment.

One of Three Caught

The police had not waited long when a gang of four foreigners, believed to be Bulgarians, arrived on the scene and began to loot the whiskey. The two officers, who were on guard, attempted to capture the thieves, but three of them made good their escape. The one who was caught was in the act of lifting an armful of bottles from a case, and when he straightened up he found himself looking down the barrel of a revolver and immediately dropped the bottles, spilling the liquid on the floor of the car. With the exception of about a dozen barrels, the entire shipment is contained in boxes which have the appearance of dry goods cases. They vary in size, the biggest being about two yards long and two and a half feet wide. They have a depth of about two feet.

It was the largest seizure of liquor made in this city since the enactment of the O.T.A. Although the shipment was cased in boxes that had the appearance of small dry goods cases, there was practically no effort made by the shipper to camaflouge the goods. The barrels taken from the car were regular whiskey barrels of about 40-gallon capacity. No effort was made to disguise the barrels.

HOSTILE TO BRITAIN.

The Statesman is understood to be the organ of the Rump Liberals at Ottawa. Mr. Lindsay Crawford is its editor. He may therefore be regarded as voicing the sentiments of the Opposition led by Mr. D. D. McKenzie in the House of Commons. According to the newspaper reports of the speech which the editor delivered at the People's Forum on Sunday he went as far as he dared in suggesting British misrule in Egypt and India. He said that on the question of principle there was no distinction in the relations existing between England and Canada and those existing between Turkey and Armenia. What insanity! The measure of Mr. Crawford is the measure of the hard shell Opposition at Ottawa. The Editor of the Statesman is hostile to the British Empire. He is no doubt a very inconsequential person, but he must be repudiated by the leaders of the Rump Liberals if they wish to retain any standing in the eyes of decent Canadians.—Toronto Times.

THE INJUSTICE OF MILITARY JUSTICE.

Military justice is often of the kind not tempered with any suspicion of mercy. The Imperial Army of Great Britain with its traditions and unbending code of honor never countenanced as severe a sentence as the one handed down by a court-martial upon Major Sharpe at Kingston this week. There is no greater punishment in the eyes of an officer of the Imperial army than to be cashiered, but the Kingston court-martial went this one better and added one year in Burwash prison for good measure. Major Sharpe served on the firing line in France—offering even his life, his all, to the Empire; wounded, gassed and invalided home, he leaves a makeshift military post framed up, perhaps, more to keep him occupied than for any real importance—his conduct was unbecoming an officer, but there was no deserting in the face of the enemy, no slackening of the high courage he had shown overseas, but a sudden weakness to which all humanity is open. Then this civilian-military court, red-hatted, red-taped and fussy, seeks to kill the soul of this gallant officer by sending him to the Bush Prison in Northern Ontario where life will be one endless nightmare while his term lasts—pickpockets, bootleggers, pro-Germans and degenerates for his companions, tormented, and tortured day and night by black flies and mosquitoes—what prospect would there be of him coming out in any other way than embittered, revengeful and with morals weakened.

This court-martial farce has gone far enough in Canada and there have been too many victims of the mistaken energy of stay-at-home military men who think severe punishment is the other name for justice.

> Public opinion appears to be that the military court-martial sentence of a year in prison given to Major W. J. Sharpe, former Casualty Officer, for absence without leave, is decidedly excessive. Major Sharpe's confinement under arrest, and his unfortunate position, are enough punishment and disgrace without his being sent to prison with forgers, thieves and the like. The Whig does not propose to remain silent at such a time as this, when an officer who has faced death overseas for his country is to be degraded by being sentenced to prison for deserting an easy home service post in a comfortable armories office because it happens that the post happens to be under the direction of the military authorities instead of, perhaps, the Military Hospital Commission. The post is of the kind given to returned and disabled soldiers. From a military point of view the action of Major Sharpe may appear inexcusable, but there are those who hold that a prison term at this time is out of place. It is up to the Minister of Mliitia to wipe out the sentence.

TRUE DEMOCRACY.

While many nations are struggling towards the ideal no nation has yet secured true democracy. No term more clearly defines itself than this. A knowledge of Greek is not necessary to discover the two words embodied in it—"people" and "rule."

The rule of the people means the whole people, not just a part trying to rule the whole and calling this self-government.

Even in Athens where democracy was born two thousand five hundred years ago the Greeks failed to do justice to this principle, because the slaves who formed a large portion of the people had no voice in the government of the country.

Even in Canada until very recently one half of the adult population had no vote, and yet we talked as though the people governed.

Our system of representation based upon territorial areas rather than upon classes in the community renders it almost impossible to have true democracy. While we have so many lawyers and so few farmers, so many employers and so few employes acting as members of parliament we cannot as a people be truly represented.

Beyond all dispute the human factor and not the money factor should be the chief concern of our legislators. The time is rapidly coming when those who cannot adjust themselves to the modern conception that the welfare of human lives must be put before large dividends will have to step down from the position of leaders of the people.

And yet just at the critical moment when the balance of power is turning in favor of labor, and all classes are beginning to realize that concern for the common welfare must be the dominating principle of true democracy, there is sweeping over the world the strange delusion that the government of the whole community of mankind, irrespective of nationality, can be in the hands of one class in the interests of this class alone.

This is not democracy for there is no rule of the people only the despotism of a class.

CRISP COMMENT

"What shall we do with our tanks?" writes a British military expert. The United States will have the same problem to face after July 1.—Rochester Herald.

Lloyd George is in training and in the pink of condition. Lord Northcliffe is in the Riviera for his health. The odds are in favor of the little Welsh solicitor.—Toronto Globe.

Following the line of least resistance, some municipalities have made no move to take advantage of the government housing scheme despite the scarcity of houses, which is a handicap to any progressive community and an incentive to profiteering in excessive rentals.

Ontario Government fish at ten cents per pound, fresh caught and wholesome, is one example of practical government for the people which has cut the price of an important article of food right smack in two. May the governments, federal and provincial, take heart from the success of the fish enterprise and seek other avenues of practical government which will make the problem of living less a question of how big a mortgage can be placed upon the future and more of a possibility of living fairly well and saving a few bawbees against the day of need.

Toronto is not the only city bothered by a housing problem. Pittsburg put a half-page advertisement in seven daily newspapers, "Rent Profiteering Not Justified." This, with the formation of a Renter's Anti-extortion League, is said to have checked undue advances.—Toronto Globe.

Justice Pelletier maintained the honor of the Bench in his rebuke of Armand Lavergne's seditious plea for proved scoundrels. But why the jury's recommendation of clemency for men who robbed widows and mothers by playing on their maternal sentiments?

Because butter is selling at a high price in the regions that are ravaged by war is no reason why Canada, which manufactures this product, should not be able to procure it at a lesser price. The situation in which the consumer finds himself is becoming so serious that the Government would be justified in going so far as to prohibit export and thus forcing the dealers to accept a more reasonable price.—Le Canada.

Such use is now being made of cold storage in handling butter—holding it out of sale while the price goes up, to the great profit of a few persons—that an exact account of the present butter situation ought to show the necessity for having Provincial ownership of the cold storage plants all over Ontario. The community is vitally concerned in all industries, but in nothing so much as cold storage. One cannot but feel that our grandchildren will laugh at us for the way in which the people of this generation allowed millionaires to be made by icing our food and holding it back out of our reach.—Toronto Star.

The Best Boosters.
San Francisco Chronicle.

There are no boosters for any city like the children who boost for it in their healthy and happy appearance. People want to live where their children can have a good time. There would be less movement of home-makers to points outside the city limits if within those limits there were all the playgrounds necessary for the children. In the long run, it is the young who decide where we shall live.

The Japanese Government has decided to provide in the next Budget for an increase of 50 per cent. on an average in the salaries of all Government officials. These salaries now total 140,000,000 yen in round figures. Though the proposed increase is by 50 per cent. on an average, it is understood that a greater increase will be given to lower officials than to higher officials.

The influenza epidemic has made a lasting impression on school children. The following conversation was overheard in a grammar school in West Philadelphia, where the recent epidemic rather than orthography claimed prominence:

"Aw, go on. He did not!"

"Sure he did. I'll show you. It's here in the history. He pointed a grimy finger to the sentence: "Sir Walter Raleigh's death was due to Spanish influence."

The Poet's Corner

"NOW TO REST"

Now to be still and rest, while the heart remembers
All that it learned and loved in the days long past,
To stoop and warm our hands at the fallen embers,
Glad to have come to the long way's end at last.

Now to awake, and feel no regret at waking,
Knowing the shadowy days are white again,
To draw our curtains and watch the slow dawn breaking
Silver and grey on English field and lane.

Now to fulfil our dreams, in woods and meadows,
Treading the well-loved paths—to pause and cry:
"So, even so I remember it" seeing the shadows
Weave on the distant hills their tapestry.

Now to rejoice in children and join their laughter,
Tuning our hearts once more to the fairy strain,
To hear our names on voices we love, and after
Turn with a smile to sleep and our dreams again.

Then—with a new-born strength, the sweet rest over,
Gladly to follow the great white road once more,
To work with a song on our lips and the heart of a lover,
Building a city of peace on the wastes of war.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the removal of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money, if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

In The Land of Sunshine

From J. J. B. Flint.

There are some lines in an old song now almost forgotten which come to my recollection:

Home again, home again—
From a foreign shore,
And oh it fills my heart with joy,
To meet my friends once more.

Three times, twice in Canada, once in London I heard Patti sing "Home Sweet Home." I also heard Albani and Melba sings that lovely song. I shall never forget that day in the Royal Alexandria when I listened spell bound to the lingered velvety sweetness of Patti's voice. I was overcome and burst into tears, and now when I have returned after an absence of four months, it rejoices my heart to see the faces and grasp the hands of my fellow citizens.

I travelled over seven thousand miles. It is dreary indeed traversing deserts. I pitied the Mormons and tenets when I pictured to myself the horrible suffering they endured in those waterless deserts, level without bushes or trees, animals or birds—sand, sage brush, vast quantities of white alkale; the sun beating down upon them, and attacked by Indians who descended from the neighboring mountains, as did the Highlanders in Scotland, upon the Lowlanders. Passing beyond civilization they hoped the Gentiles would leave them alone. To-day they exist in large numbers but the stern laws prohibit the practice of their peculiar and obnoxious customs.

All of Brigham Young's wives are dead. No profane foot is permitted to enter the sacred precints of their magnificent temple which is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world. Some say it cost eight million dollars; others, five.

Great Y.M.C.A. Building

I had many opportunities of visiting the Y.M.C.A. building in Los Angeles. It is a massive structure which furnishes rooms for, I should imagine, a thousand men.

Situated in the basement below the street is an immense cafeteria, which accommodates at one time I should think five hundred guests. It is bright and cheery. You select what you desire from dishes of various kinds placed before you, fish, rabbit, steak, oat and corn meal cakes, pies, pudding, cake. Having selected you proceed with your tray to a girl who casts an eye upon your tray, instantly fixes the price you are to pay and places upon the tray a slip of paper with the amount stamped upon it. You then set at a small table, consume the food, hand the slip to a girl cashier, pay, and depart.

Upon the first flat is a beautiful light room, wainscotted with marble, marble floors, comfortable chairs and other seats. Here one can sit as long as desired. A very large room is at hand for basket ball, etc; billiard room, ten pin alley, barber shop, every convenience desirable. The rooms may be taken by any man. Tourists are welcomed, but women are not permitter. I am not aware whether a man and his wife can obtain rooms. Everything which can assist the young man to be happy and comfortable is provided. The prices I learn are most reasonable Many tourists patronize the cafeteria A great many girls are employed Nearly all persons serving food are girls

Industrial Parade

The Chamber of Commerce numbers twenty-five hundred individuals. This chamber is equivalent to the Canadian Boards of Trade. The industrial parade was about five miles long. There were many bands of music.

Cudahey meat packer has fourteen hundred men employed. He had half a dozen floats and meats of all kinds were displayed. About 100 men lead by a band. Some establishments had one hundred girls in blue dresses, waggons of drovers filled with sheep and calves. Twelve hundred men from the ship yards showing anchors, and immense castings. One had the rudder of a war ship now building. It was a mass of steel, about fourteen feet long and six feet wide. I think every trade was represented. Men and girls making biscuits tossing them to the crowd. Confectioners making and throwing candies, packages of nuts and fruits, eagerly consumbed by the boys and girls. Horsemen in all kinds of equipments, the civil authorities, Board of Trade, thousands of soldiers with hands. I must not take more space, but really it was a most wonderful display of the activities of Los Angeles. I learned that one of the great successful and financial men in Passadena is Mr. Slavin, son of Mr. Jonh Slavin, who for many years drove a cart and horse in Belleville.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Bras d'Or, C.B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight —going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'.

In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Sovereignty of Air.

PARIS, April 15. — The proposed convention regarding international aerial navigation has been completed by the Judicial and Military Sub-committees of the Aeronautic Commission of the Peace Conference. The convention is composed of 41 articles, which establish an international agreement on sovereignty of the air, provide for the concession of inoffensive voyages between the contracting zones and also international aerial routes.

An International Commission on Aerial Navigation is to be formed. Its duty will be the gathering and disseminating of radio telegraphic, meteorological and medical information affecting aerial travel.

The provincial estimates for the coming year are over two million more than last year.

Don't Prod Your Liver to Action

NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly. No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others.

"Whipping" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief, but genuine and lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified for once; stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well.

Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or no pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Pointers for Policyholders

IT always pays to keep in force a policy that has been taken out in a good company.

—Because your health may not admit of securing another policy.

And also because the cash value of your policy increases year by year.

—Again, the cost of a policy advances with age. So for all these reasons keep your policy in force.

We need more protection to-day than ever before. Ask yourself what income the insurance you now carry would yield to your family? That is the true test of its actual value as protection.

The premiums have not been increased although the mortality of late has been excessive. Therefore, if possible—increase the protection for your household. Increase the provision for your own old age.

Spring Impurities Clog The Blood

A Tonic Medicine is a Necessity at This Season

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an all-year-round tonic, blood-builder and nerve restorer. But they are especially valuable in the spring when the system is loaded with impurities as a result of the indoor life of the winter months. There is no other season of the year when the blood is so much in need of purifying and enriching, and every dose of these pills helps to make new, red blood. In the spring one feels weak and tired—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give new strength.—In the spring the appetite is often poor—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills develop the appetite, tone the stomach and aid weak digestion. It is in the spring that poisons in the blood find an outlet in disfiguring pimples, eruptions and boils—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills speedily clear the skin and because they go to the root of the trouble in the blood. In the spring anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, erysipelas and many other troubles are persistent because of poor weak blood and it is at this time, when all nature takes on new life that the blood most seriously needs attention. Dr. William's Pink Pills actually renew and enrich the blood, and this new blood reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, bringing new health and new strength to weak, easily tired men, women and children.—Here is a bit of proof: Miss Anna Patterson, R. F. D. No. 1, Thorold, Ont., says:—"My trouble was one of general weakness, which thinned my blood and gave me at times unbearable headaches, loss of appetite and also loss in weight. I tried several medicines, but without success. Then I heard of Dr. William's Pink Pills and decided to give them a fair trial. The result is that I feel like a new person. My appetite improved, I gained in weight, my blood is thoroughly purified, and my face cleared of some unsightly pimples which had troubled me. If one good turn deserves another then I have much pleasure in recommending Dr. William's Pink Pills.

If you need a medicine this spring try Dr. William's Pink Pills—they will not disappoint you. These pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or you can get them by mail at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. William's Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Listen to This

Some time ago my daughter was severely scalded about the legs with boiling water. Immediately following the accident we plastered the wounds with "Mecca", keeping this up every day, and the result was the child suffered but little. In a few months there was not a sign of a scar to be seen, although several of the parts scalded were very severe and scars would naturally be expected.

We have since considered "Mecca" an indispensable household remedy, and with pleasure give it our hearty recommendations.

Yours truly,

The Wide, Wide World

By S. B. HACKLEY

(Copyright, [illegible], by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Oh, Bobby, we can't tell your mother that! How will we tell her?"

Flora Nelson's large eyes filled as she clung to Robert Greer, who had just cautiously entered the back door of his mother's cottage.

Early that morning, in the courthouse at West Hardtown, 100 miles from Burnham, Robert had seen his father, Charles Greer, sentenced for life to the state's prison. In the big front bedroom, Jael, the young fellow's mother, for six weeks close to death of fever, lay slowly recovering.

Two weeks before, the father, who worked aboard the river steamer Mary Ann, had quarreled with Cyrus Canter in West Hardtown. Cyrus and Ananias, brothers and surly, had provoked the quarrel that ended in a fight with chairs. Green had not meant to kill the man, but he forgot the power in his arm, and Cyrus' neck was broken at the first blow.

Robert had warned their friends and neighbors to keep his mother in ignorance of what had happened, and hoped against hope that his father would go free. But the Canters were influential people in West Hardtown, and the trial had ended unhappily for Greer.

The boy—he was scarcely twenty—took his sweetheart's face between his trembling hands.

"We won't tell her, Flo," he whispered, "we won't ever tell mother—not even if she comes to die. Dad said for me to make her believe he's dead!"

"Dead!" gasped Flora, "make her believe that? Why, she's looking for him today, as soon as the Mary Ann's unloaded. She came in about an hour ago."

"I know it!" Robert's lips trembled. "But we've just got to think of some way to make her believe dad's dead. He says we must be dead to him—never write to him nor try to see him—he couldn't bear that! The Mary Ann—"

A roar that shook the panes in the windows drowned his words. The Mary Ann would never run up the river again! Before many days the bodies of the captain and the three deckhands who died when the explosion sent the boat to the bottom of the river came to the muddy surface of the stream and were identified, but the bodies of the remainder of the crew were never recovered. It was easy to say that Charley Greer was one of the dead, but Jael refused to believe it.

"Charley was always the first man off the boat when she docked!" she insisted. "He'd always come to the house to see me a moment, then he'd go back and help unload. I tell you, Bobby, Charley isn't dead. He's alive and well somewhere! He's always wanted adventure and he's never got to have any. He begged me to go with him, when we were first married, to some wild country in South America, where he could hunt, but I was afraid. Then you and your three little sisters that died came along and he quit talking about it. And now, since you've been grown, Bobby, he's hated to say anything about wantin' to wander for fear you'd laugh at him. I just believe he's slipped off from us all to go somewhere and take his fun! And when he's had it he'll be coming back. Why, Bobby, what makes you cry? Don't you know daddy'll be coming back?"

When six months passed with no letters from her husband, Jael explained his silence to her son by the fact that he was in the wilds, where no mail could be sent out, but at the end of the year, at each meal, she set a fancy plate that Charles had always liked at his place at table.

"He'll be coming in at just any time now, Bobby," she told him. "A year is generally all the time men stay on a hunting trip, isn't it?"

"Why, no, mother," Robert explained, "I've read that Englishmen who hunt spend as much as six months or a year in one place, trying out the hunting in each place. Sometimes they put in five years or more at hunting big game, and if they take a notion to go on exploring trips there's no telling how long—"

Jael's face fell. "Stay away from their families all those years, Bobby?"

For an instant her lips quivered, then she smiled again.

"Of course, and we want daddy to have all the fun the rest of 'em have. He knows you'll look out for me and never leave me while he's gone, Bobby. Charley worked awful hard all them twenty years that's past; he's earned a long, long holiday. We oughtn't to say a word, even if he's taken a notion to tour the wide world around, and we'll stay right here in this house and wait for him until he comes back!"

Robert's ruddy face paled. Flora's mother had been ordered to Colorado to live, and Flora was her only child and support. Flora would have to go to Colorado with her; her cousin had already secured a teacher's place for her there — and he — he'd intended to take his mother and go out there, too. But now— He knew his mother's gentle obstinacy. Never would she leave her home while she expected his father back! And he could not leave her alone. There was nothing to do but to release Flora from her promise to marry him. But somehow Flora did not understand.

"I'll keep mother out there where she can live, Bobby," she told him, "and I'll wait for you."

"But for how long?" Robert's voice was hoarse. "Mother'll never quit hoping, and I—I can't ever tell her about father, Flora!"

"I know," she answered, "I wouldn't want to walk to happiness over her broken heart. We—we won't be the first people that fate's kept apart, Bobby, and it isn't as if one of us were dead. We can keep on loving each other across that thousand miles, and—I'll wait for you, Bobby—I'll wait, if it's the rest of my life!"

Five governors had served in the twenty years before Claudius Bassett was elected. In the second month after his election, Bassett paid a visit to the state prison farm, and the impression made on him by the yearning eyes of the forgotten bits of humanity there—men whose names years before had been laid away in the state's files, as numbers, and forgotten, kept the young governor awake that night and for many nights afterward. It stirred him to investigate the records of convicts who had served long terms, to see that mercy was extended where mercy was due, and to permit the rewards of good conduct provided by law.

Governor Bassett's first visit to the prison farm was six weeks past, when one day Robert Greer sat in his mother's garden, while Jael for the twice ten-thousandth time hopefully set the evening table for three, and put the little vase of grass pinks that "Charley" loved, in the center of the white cloth.

The young man held an open letter in his hand—Flora's last letter.

"Dear Bobby," it read, "I'm in trouble. Mother has taken a notion to go back home to live. I don't know what I'm to do. She has not been sick one day in all the years we've been in these glorious mountains, but one winter back there, Bobby, would mean her death! And, oh, Bobby," the letter went on, "Col. Oscar McClean, that rich old rancher I told you about, has again taken it into his head to marry me! He worries me so, I'm afraid I'm getting more wrinkles than a woman of my age ought to have!"

Robert dropped the letter on the grass with a groan.

"I've let her wait for me twenty years," he said aloud; "I can't stand it! I don't believe I can stand it any longer!"

The man who had come up silently behind him, touched his shoulder.

"What's that you can't stand, son?"

Robert turned his head. "My God, daddy! Where did you come from?" he cried.

Greer drew his parole papers from his pocket. "I'm free, Robert! I've been here since yesterday, and I've found out what Jael thinks. I've spent a heap of time since I've been down there studyin' over maps and readin' about foreign countries I'd always wanted to see. I can tell her a lot about 'em and she can keep on thinkin' I've been travelin'. Maybe we can go to some of them places together!"

"Go in and tell her!" Robert pointed to the house. "I've got to send a telegram."

An hour later Flora received his message.

"Don't worry any more. I'm coming tomorrow!"

How Josh Billings Arrived.

Josh Billings, the humorist, was not appreciated when he offered his first contribution to a paper in his home town, according to a correspondent of Christian Register, who was personally acquainted with him. He then concluded to follow Artemus Ward's example and misspell his articles so as to attract attention. "In this absurd shape," he said, "I sent one of my unfortunate productions to the New York Weekly. I soon got a letter accepting my manuscript and asking me for more. In time I was under a big salary not to write for any other paper." One of Josh Billings' eccentricities described was his "Lecture on Milk." In this lecture he never said a word about milk, but a glassful of that liquid stood on his desk while he talked and was occasionally sipped by him as he spoke. As milk was his support while he talked, rather than water or something stronger, his lecture was in truth given "on milk."

Great Facts Hard to Win.

The highest truths are hard to put into entertaining forms. You expect to teach children through stories, games and the exhibition of the concrete. Grown-ups are expected to learn from the facts presented, arguments and the abstract. Empty heads and near-empty heads have to be constantly amused. Abstract facts are too elusive for their truant observation and perception. They need spoon-fed products. With men of brains it's different. They love problems hard to solve. They grow by responding to life's challenges. So when you think things tame begin to find why they are so. The chances are you will find the fault in yourself. You haven't given all the attention you should. The greatest facts have to be sought to be won. Only the ordinary and fleeting courts you.—Exchange.

Barbarity.

"Oh, the awful thing that's happened to Cutie Smith, over in France!" gasped Heloise of the rapid-fire restaurant. "He was in a front line trench, and them Hun devils attacked with flame throwers and burnt poor Cutie nearly all over!"

"Aw, a good kid like Cutie!" wailed Claudine of the same establishment. "Why couldn't they be decent enough to serve him rare instead of well done?"—Kansas City Star.

What Color Of A Tune Do You Like

Perhaps you don't realize there are pink pieces of music, red rags, violet jazz, and blue melodies.

Those who know best about music say so; and undoubtedly we have heard topical songs with a dash of lavender.

Color crops out everywhere. When Goodrich brought forth Black Tread rubber, the color caught; and soon a lot of tires were singing the black song in treads.

The distinctive coloring of Silvertown Cord Tires, and their graceful modeling make them much sought by motorists to dress smart cars.

But Goodrich would make them ugly as an old shoe if ugliness would add another mile to their durability.

"GREAT DEEDS NEED GREAT PREPARATIONS"

Says the ancient writer. And Milady's toilet table also needs "great preparations" particularly at this season of the year, when one is so much out in the open air. The greatest of all toilet preparations are Dr. Partin's, the noted specialist. This is so by reason of the admirable manner in which each preparation, whether for the complexion, or for the hair or scalp, is designed for its special purpose. All Dr. Partin's preparations are composed of the finest and choicest ingredients only. They are absolutely free from all cheap and deleterious compounds whatever. They are put up under his personal supervision, and are the results of his unrivalled experience in his profession. In short, they are, one and all, the last word in excellence and efficacy. Following is a list of them:

FOR THE COMPLEXION.

"ANTISEPTIC CREAM." For soothing irritated skin conditions. Per jar, 75c. and $1.50.
"SKIN FOOD OF JACK ROSE". For toning sluggish skin conditions. Per jar, 75c. and $1.50.
"BALM OF PEACHES." For summer use in cases of sunburn, redness, etc. Per bottle, 75c.
"EMMAM CARUS FACE LOTION." For delicate skin and as a protection against the trying effects of sun and wind. Per bottle, 75c.
"ROUGE PAR EXCELLENCE." Perfect and harmless. Jar, $1.00.
"STRAWBERRY ROUGE". In liquid form for evening use. Per bottle, 50c.
"RASPBERRY ROUGE." In liquid form for daytime use. Per bottle, 50c.
"FACE AND HEALING POWDER." The perfect Face Powder in five shades. Per box, 50c., $1.00 and $3.50.
"CAMPHORATED CREAM." A perfect skin food. Per jar, 50c.
"MENTHOLATED CREAM." For use on returning from an outing. Per jar, 50c.
"FRECKLE LOTION." To remove freckles and tan. Per bottle, $1.50.
"BALM OF ROSES." For chapped hands. Per bottle, 75c.
"ANTISEPTIC LOTION." Use instead of washing the face with soap and water during the day. Per bottle, $1.
"CREAM DE LATIQUE." To be applied to oily skin. Per Jar, 75c. and $1.50.
"SPECIAL G. LOTION." Use only for flabby and sluggish skin. Per bottle, $2.00.
"SUEDE CREAM." for shiny nose. 50c. jar.
"PERMANENT EYEBROW DARKENER" for eyebrows. Bottle, $1.

FOR SCALP AND HAIR.

"SCALPENE." A scalp food and hair promoter, and a cure for dandruff and other scalp ailments. Per bottle, $2
"SULPHUS CREAM FOR THE SCALP." For the prevention of baldness and for remedying irritable conditions. Per jar, $1.
"ANTISEPTIC SHAMPOO." A cleansing, healthful, healing shampoo, which softens the hard city water and destroys the elements in it which are harmful to the hair. Per bottle, 50c.

CITY AND COUNTRY

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Thursday instead of Good Friday. The President, Mrs. Gibson, occupied the chair. Mrs. Hurst, the Vice-President, read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. (Dr.) Scott presided at the piano. The educational half hour was devoted to an animated discussion of the coming election, showing that a few of the women are alive to the importance of the women voting. If only all Christian women were as serious over their new citizenship. Plans for the County Convention to be held here the fourth week in May was discussed, also other phases of the work, mothers' meeting, etc. Several availed themselves of the opportunity to secure enamel pins (the white ribbon bow), the badge of the organization.

DANCE AT HASTINGS

The ladies of the Village of Hastings, Chapter I. O. D. E., have issued invitations for a social evening to be held Friday evening, May 2nd. The event will be held in the new building which has just been completed to replace the tannery buildings which were destroyed by fire some time ago. The event promises to be a very delightful affair as Strathdee's seven piece orchestra of Toronto, has been engaged for the occasion. The flour space available is very large with splendid floors which will surely suit the most fastidious. The first part of the program will consist of a short musical program. It is expected that the members of Parliament for the county will also be present. Dancing will commence at 10.30.

Well Satisfied With Baby's Own Tablets

Mrs. Edmond Gagne, Tikuape, Que., writes:—"I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets. They are absolutely necessary in homes where there are little children. They cured my baby of constipation and I would not be without them." Thousands of mothers always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand as a safeguard against constipation, colic, colds, simple fevers or any other of the minor ills of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Wiliams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NO MEMBERS PRESENT

A meeting of the Board of Education was called for last evening, but only the secretary-treasurer of the Board put in an appearance.

FRONTENAC CHEESE BOARD

At the inaugural meeting of the Frontenac Cheese Board at Kingston Thursday 120 boxes of white cheese were boarded, but no sales were made.

TWO ARRESTS MADE

Since Thursday there has not been much activity in the police circles. Two arrests were made last night, both being young men charged with an infraction of the Ontario Temperance Act.

CAUGHT WITH ALCOHOL

Two whiskey runners, John Lohli, of Belleville, and W. Shizka of Oshawa, were caught at Brockville by inspectors returning from Montreal with 11 gallons of liquor. They each paid fines of $200 and costs for a violation of the O. T. A.

CARCASE OF SHEEP IN RIVER

Mr. Warren, who conducts a garage on Mill Street, reported to the police yesterday that the carcase of a sheep was lying in the river near his place of business. The proper authorities were notified and had it removed.

UNION SERVICE

Under the auspices of the evangelical churches of the city a union service was held on Good Friday morning in St. Andrew's Church. There was a good congregation and the preacher was Rev. Dr. Dyde of Queen's Theological College, Kingston, whose discourse was in keeping with the occasion.

CAR RAN INTO WINDOW

Between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock last night a Ford car was being driven down Front street, when something went wrong with the steering apparatus, with the result that the car ran up on the sidewalk and into the plate glass window in Mr. George Thompson's store. The large plate window was virtually demolished. Fortunately the occupants of the car escaped injury.

BILLY FERGUSON, SPELLBINDER

Lieut. W. G. Ferguson, of Smith's Falls, who went overseas with a draft from the Railway Construction and Forestry Depot here, is assisting the United States in the fifth Liberty Loan campaign. He is accompanying the Ottawa G.W.V.A. band and will deliver two addresses each day of the campaign.

PLEADED GUILTY TO INTOXICATION

Joseph Henry Parks and George A. Robins, two young men, strangers in the city, were this morning before Magistrate Masson charged with intoxication. They pleaded guilty and judgment in the case was reserved until Wednesday next as the police officers desired to make investigation in the matter.

PETITION FOR PARDON

It is likely that a petition will be presented to the Department of Justice asking that Major W. J. Sharpe, former casualty officer of the third military district sentenced to a year in prison at Burwash for absence without leave, be pardoned. It is felt that the sentence is too severe for an officer who served at th front and was wounded.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Mrs. Fred Kelusky and two children of Monteagle, had somewhat an exciting adventure on Monday morning last. While driving out from their farm to Mr. C. Ballar's store, a neighbor's dog ran out into the road frightening the horse so that it became unmanageable. In loosing control of the animal Mrs. Kelusky and children were thrown from the buggy and in the mix-up, were more or less seriously injured. The oldest child, a little girl, was badly bruised about the skull and there is very little hope held out for her recovery. Mrs. Kelusky and the other child were badly shaken up, escaping with a few small cuts and bruises. Dr. Embury was summoned and administered medical aid to the injured.—Bancroft Times.

VOICES OF THE NIGHT

A young man acting in a boisterous manner in a Chinese restaurant last night, caused a police call to be sent in. The appearance of the bluecoat changed the fake lion into a very tame lamb and the noisy youth was glad to lick his chops in silence thereafter. An argument over a game of pool grew so warm that the police were asked to arbitrate and did so with great success, active hostilities being avoided. With these exceptions the night passed quietly in police circles.

ARRESTED FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Charles Benson Bonisteel, a yeoman, residing on the Front of Sidney Township, was this afternoon placed under arrest upon a warrant which charges him of selling liquor contrary to section 40 of the Ontario Temperance Act.

DANGEROUS ANTISEPTICS AND GERMINCIDES ARE UNNECESSARY

A dependable antiseptic has come to be considered a necessity in most homes. Especially is this true since Absorbine, Jr., has had such a wide introduction, because this liniment is not only a powerful antiseptic and germicide but it is absolutely safe to use and to have around the house. It is not poisonous and it cannot do harm even if the children do get hold of it. That is a big point to consider.

Absorbine, Jr. is concentrated and is therefore economical. It retains its germicidal properties even diluted one part Absorbine, Jr. to 100 parts water—and its antiseptic properties, one part Absorbine, Jr., to 200 parts of water.

The antiseptic and germicidal properties have been repeatedly tested and proven in many prominent chemical laboratories. Detailed laboratory reports mailed upon request.

Absorbine, Jr. combines safety with efficiency. $1.25 a bottle at most druggists or postpaid.

The Market

It was anticipated that there would be a large Easter market today and such proved to be the case. The attendance was far in excess of that of any other Saturday for some weeks. While much farm produce was offered for sale prices did not in any way decrease. Fresh dairy butter sold readily at 58 and 60 cents per pound; fresh eggs from 42c per basket lots to 44c per single dozen. Dressed chickens were scarce and commanded high prices. Maple syrup sold at 65 cents per quart. Our quotations are as follows:

Eggs	42 to 45c
Butter	58c. to 60c.
Apples	50 to 60c
Potatoes	$1.40 to $1.50
Chickens	$1. to $1.50 each
Geese	$3.00 to $5.00 each
Ducks	$3.00 to $4.00 pair
Cabbage	5c. and 10c.
Cauliflower	10c. and 20c. each
Celery	5c. and 10c. head

CANADA IN PICTURE

A fair-sized audience was present at the City Hall Thursday evening to see the Canadian Government moving pictures given under the auspices of the Belleville Canadian Club. Mr. Johnson, the lecturer, who explains the pictures presented, was unavoidably absent, having been called to Ottawa, where his wife is very ill. However, Mr. Ross, the operator, provided a most interesting evening with marvellous motion pictures of scenes in Northern Quebec, showing the rivers, lakes, forests and mountains, including some very vivid pictures of shooting the rapids in canoes, also fine specimens of the moose family, swimming in the water, running on land or staring impudently at the camera man. Beautiful pictures were shown of western mountain scenery, also shipbuilding from forest to completion. The advance in agricultural machinery in late years was shown in the giant tractors doing the work of many men and horses on the western prairies. The program concluded with splendid pictures of Canada's sea fishing industry. A vote of thanks was moved by Rev. Dr. Scott, seconded by Mr. J. O. Herity and warmly endorsed by the audience. Dr. Yeomans acted as chairman.

THE EASTER CELEBRATION

By Rev. A. M. Hubly

Everyone is more or less interested in public celebrations of great events turning points and epochs in history. It is, however, the scenic and theatric that attracts the larger number. Too often, attention to the spectacular is given, rather than to the unseen moral value of that which it celebrated. It is to the transient pagentry and the beating of the drums that the eyes and ears are open, while the ideals struggling to ward realities are forgotten.

We are pleased to see occasionally [illegible] of this all too general rule. One striking incident of this occurred twenty-two years ago. The world, as it were, had gathered in its great metropolis to celebrate the diamond jubilee of the reign of England's Queen, "Victoria, the Good." A great religious service was provided for in the open. The imposing procession wound its way along the streets of the crowded city, lined on either side by multitudes of spectators. Never, since the days of King Solomon did eyes behold such display of wealth and splendor marshalled in honor of earthly monarchs. All Kingdoms and republics were represented by men and women of national honor, resplendent in varied colored robes of office, rank and social office. Lord's and Dukes, and noblemen, men of high renown, statesmen and warriors, mounted on richly caparisoned steeds. Diplomatic corps glittering in full military uniforms. Royal equipages filled witch church dignitaries in their white, crimson, purple and scarlet ecclestiastical robes, and with scores of ladies richly gowned and sparkling with jewels. With bands of music, and with banners flying, the magnificent pageant swept along, admired by the world as represented until an unportentous looking open carriage with a little, aged woman, dressed in plain black, seated therein. Then, (in the words of the late Mark Twain,) "the world rose and lifted its hat to the Queen of England—she was in the procession"

The event of history was the coronation of sixty years before. It was Victoria, noble Queen of England, and Greater Britain, and Empress of India, that the multitudes had gathered to see. All else in relation to the auspicious occasion were but the fringes of the royal garments, or as the frame of the picture, or as the vase that holds the lily.

On Easter, multitudes will gather to celebrate one of the greatest events of all history. The element of the ideal in this celebration is spiritual. Without eyes and ears open to the things which spiritually discerned, there will be no celebration of the Resurrection. Thousands may gather. The processions may form, the singers go before, the musicians follow after, the trumpeters may blow their loudest blast, processionals and recessionals may march and counter march, gorgeously robed priests, with white-gowned acolytes, may perform the most ornate ritualistic ceremonies, with altar and chancel banked with flowers, palms and lilies, but for those who see not the Royal personage how vain the show.

Only as we watch for the Risen Lord, and listen for His quickening word can the Easter celebration be to us anything more than a passing show.

The old grey Abbey in London, the crowning place of British monarchs for the past eight hundred years, and where the great men of the empire and their doings are commemorated by costly demonstrative celebrations, and is called the "burial place of England's mighty dead.,

We may celebrate in a far greater yea grander temple that Westminster Abbey. Our feet press not the ashes of dead men, nor are we surrounded by mementos of death and decay. The fame and glory we would honor are not transitory. We celebrate in the Temple of the Lord, among the living in communion with saints, and identified with many gone on before us, but for whom we look not among the dead. More than ever, may we celebrate with gladness the day of Resurrection this year, because of many separations of loved ones by the viel that hangs between.

In the Easter light, the children of sorrow may catch the glow of that land of the loved of God, where there is no parting and where sorrow and sighing will flee away.

Break, O, morning of the Resurrection, upon our souls too often overwhelmed by sordid doubts and fears. Shine upon the sorrowful war-scarred nations, that weeping faces may be lifted from the new made graves, that tear-dimmed eyes may behold an open heaven.

Let there be no dead past. All is life, and life more abundant through Him whose resurrection we celebrate.

Canadian Woman's Amazing Courage

Captured, Bayoncted, Persecuted, Freed, Thrice Shell-Wounded and Gassed.

NEW YORK, April 16—Mrs. Ellena V. McCormick, and her sisters, Mrs. Dorene Drinkwater whose maiden name was Marsden, said to be daughters of a prominent hotel man of Saskatoon, Sask., were two of forty-seven war brides of soldiers and sailors who arrived here on board the transport Plattsbug.

Mrs. McCormick, who went to England in 1914 with a Canadiain stenographic corps, tells a story of brutalities inflicted by the Germans upon women prisoners. After a period in England, she was sent to general hospital No. 43, near Rouen, France, on March 4, 1917. Shortly afterward the hospital was the centre of simultaneous air and land attacks by the enemy, and the young stenographer, with about 100 others, mostly nurses, was taken prisoner. She says that the Germans prodded the young women prisoners with their bayonets, and that as the result of such an attack on herself her left breast was severed.

After four months' experience of brutality and humiliation, which the young woman describes as unspeakable, she was released and went back to France. While in a convalescent camp she was under shell fire, and splinters of shell lodged in her body. Previously, at the general hospital, she had experienced several air raids and had sustained some injury as the result of each. Twice she was struck by shell fragments and once was gassed.

She went to England to recuperate, and while there met her future husband, Sergeant Franklin G. McCormick, of the First Army Corps.

The young sister of Mrs. McCormick and the physicians on the Plattsburg confirmed her story. The doctors said that she was one of the most marvellous specimens of womanly courage and fortitude that they had encountered.

Mrs. McCormick is on her way to the home of her husband in Maffey, Pa., while Mrs. Drinkwater, who would not give her husband's first name was bound for Petersburg, Va., to the home of her parents.

He Was a Hero Till His Pipe Went Out

Robert William Gunter, arrested and convicted at Ottawa for falsely representing himself as a British officer and wearing various decorations for valor to which he was not entitled, cut a wide swath in Montreal before his pipe went out in an Ottawa police court.

Passing himself as Major Campbell D.S.O., of the British Army, he made himself prominent about theatres and hotels, where his war stories excited much interest and some doubt. Two months ago he visited Montreal as the representative of a European booking agency, with a mission to engage talent for Australia. He had credentials which appeared to be correct to the local theatrical men, and he went so far as to "engage" Miss Muriel Window, playing that week at the Princess Theatre, to go to Australia, and actually signed a contract with her in the presence of a lawyer to that effect.

The second time he came in all the glory of a major's uniform with nine decorations, and gave his name as "Major Campbell," of the British army, attached to the Canadian Civil Re-establishment Board to which he was giving his services free. He called on Manager Wright at the Princess, and apologized for misrepresentation on his first visit saying that he had come as a theatrical agent as a disguise, as he was at that time employed by the British secret service, and was engaged in tracking down an actor whom he said was a German spy. He mentioned the name of a well-known vaudeville actor as the man whom he said he had landed in Atlanta prison. In order to do his work quietly, said he, he had come to Montreal the first time as a theatrical agent.

"Major Campbell" got along swimmingly in Montreal. His honors helped him much, and he was a good story teller, and had much to tell of the part he had played, so he said, in the great war. He wore the decorations of the D. S. O., the M.C., the Belgian and the French Croix de Guerre, an Italian order nine decorations in all. He told a number of people that he had been the man who had had charge of Carl Lody, the first German spy to be shot at the Tower of London during the war. The "Major" said that on the evening before the sentence was to be carried out he had taken Lody out to the Carlton Hotel, London, for dinner, and then brought him back to the Tower to be in readiness for shooting the next morning. Morning dawned, and he, the major, was also in charge of the firing squad.

As Lody was about to be shot, the "major's" story ran to a credulous audience, Lody had said to him: "Just a moment, major. I have one request to make. Allow me to give the word of command," so the "major" consented. Lody then asked for a cigarette, the major handed him his cigarette case, and the doomed man, lighting it, walked to the wall, puffed several times, and then said: "Fire."

"He was the bravest man I ever knew," commented the "Major" in telling that story.

The "Major" found himself at times without funds, but this did not embarass him, for there were a number of people, including a military officer, who were ready to help him.

Among other distinctions claimed by "Major" Campbell was that he had been private secretary to Viscount Grey, the former British Foreign Secetary of State. For all these reasons coupled with the honors that blazed upon his bosom, and which he did not hesitate to speak about, the "major" received a good deal of attention in Montreal.

SAD DEATH OF A BRIGHT STUDENT

LINDSAY, April 18—A sad and distressing fatality occurred at the Collegiate Institute after school hours and a number of the students were playing at basket ball in the gymnasium. Thos. J. F. Howe, a Janetville lad, who familiarly known as "Fred," was exercising in the basement of the gym., playing baseball with himself, by batting the ball up against the wall. After eight minutes in the Gym he went to the cloak room on his way home and complained of illness. In the cloak room he was found a few minutes later by Mr. Murtagh, caretaker, who immediately summoned Physical Instructor A. Johnston. His death resulting from an internal hemorrhage.

If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to a tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Druggists sell it in liquid or tablets. Send 10 cents to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package. Then, for the liver and bowels nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground.

CHATHAM, ONT.—"As a girl I was wonderfully helped by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had become all run-down, weak and nervous. I suffered with terrific backaches. I also suffered from suppression and pain. My mother gave me 'Favorite Prescription,' and it so completely regulated my condition that I have never had any trouble since. There is nothing so good for girls or women who suffer as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—MRS. WM. MASON, 126 Wellington Street, E.

Bogus War Hero Unmasked On Eve Of His Wedding

After some crowded years of adventure, a V.C. impostor who threw away his crutches and took to his heels with the police in pursuit, was sentenced at Liverpool for fraud.

The man, Thomas Wilson, 27, wore Australian uniform, but was stated by the chief constable to belong to Staffordshire. Wilson pleaded guilty to illegally wearing the V.C. ribbon, the Mons Star in minature, three wounded stripes and chevrons, also to obtaining money by false pretences, giving false information on a registration form and being an absentee from the army.

Evidence showed that the prisoner reached Blackpool on March 4 He had crutches, and during his journey in the train he represented himself to a lady as a wounded soldier and gave details of the services he rendered in the battle, and the lady introduced him to her daughter, who eventually became engaged to him.

They were to have been married on March 17, but information was forthcoming which caused the engagement to be cancelled. The prisoner was arrested in the Winter Gardens at Morecambe, but on the way to the police station he discarded his crutch and stick, and, saying, "Here goes; Good night," took to his heels. A police inspector, after running a quarter of a mile, caught the prisoner attempting to scale some spiked railings. Wilson then said, "The game is up."

While at Blackpool he had obtained several sums of £5 by stating that he was a V.C. to whom £50 was due. He had vistied the King's Military Convalescent Hospital, and asked for a crutch to be changed. While there he autographed a photograph of himself.

He had obtained goods by fraud from tradesmen in the potteries, had given theatrical parties, hired taxicabs and run up other bills which, to shield his disgrace, his parents paid. At New Brighton he got in touch with an army chaplain who introduced him to people staying at the Queen's hotel. He was lionized as a V. C. for some time, invitations to be the guest of well-to-do people were showered upon him, he was taken to theatres and for motor drives and lived everywhere as a real hero, being feasted by officers, "non-coms" and civilians. While at Chester he addressed a large recruiting meeting in the Royalty theatre.

He had a highly agreeable experience as a V. C. at Liverpool and Bickenhead before going in March, 1915 to Leeds, where he was also honored. Disappearing from Leeds, he went to Rotherham, then to Mexborough and Barnsley. At the last named place, however, his frauds were discovered and he served a term of imprisonment.

Wilson subsequently arrived in Leicester, where, representing himself as a wounded Australian and son of a very weathy man, he married the daughter of a Leicester resident. After living a month with her, he took her to London, where he abandoned her.

On the prisoner when he was arrested was a notebook showing that he had obtained sums by posing as a dumb man.

Sentence of 12 months' hard labor was passed on Wilson.

CUTS THROAT WITH SCISSORS

PORT COLBORNE, April 18—Mrs. John Anderson, wife of John Anderson committed suicide by cutting her throat with a pair of scissors, it is supposed while temporarily demented. She breakfasted and then went to the bathroom, carrying a sheet and scissors. After committing the act she lived a few hours, suffering intense agony. She leaves besides her husband three young children.

NO VOTES FOR DEFAULTERS

Defaulters under the Military Service Act are not to be allowed to enjoy the rights of full citizenship in Ontario. A bill to disqualify such persons was one of the late Government measures brought down in the Legislature by Hon. I. B. Lucas. In addition to military defaulters the bill strikes at all persons convicted under the Criminal Code or orders-in-Council passed under the War Measures Act for offenses of a treasonable or seditious nature. They too will be disqualified from voting.

"You Will Have to be Careful, John, the Doctor Says Your Heart is Very Weak"

"I DON'T see how that is."

"Well, he says that the great majority of people who had the 'flu' have suffered afterwards from weak heart action."

"I never had heart trouble."

"No, but the way the doctor explains it is that the nervous system is so weakened by the 'flu' that there is not enough nerve force left to drive the machinery of the body."

"That is about the way I feel, for I have no appetite, and do not feel able to stir."

"No, and you do not seem to digest the little food you do eat. So you cannot expect to gain strength. Why not try some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"Oh, I do not see how that would help me."

"Now, John, I think that is exactly what you need. It always helped me when I got run down in health, and I hear so many saying the same thing that I think you should give it a trial. You know yourself that you are not gaining any these days."

"How would that help my heart?"

"Because it enriches the blood and increases the nerve force. Anything that strengthens the nerves will naturally strengthen the action of the heart, for the heart, like the stomach and other organs, is dependent on the nervous system for operating power."

"Well, you talk as though you knew. I guess your training as a nurse is coming in useful."

"Will you try the Nerve Food, then?"

"Yes, I will give it a good trial, for I want to get around, and not sit here like an invalid."

"I am so glad, for I feel sure it will soon get you feeling all right again."

You can obtain Dr. Chase's Nerve Food from all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto, 6 boxes for $2.75. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

Economical—
Because It Covers More

EVEN if this paint were sold at a price half as high again as any other—it would still be the economical paint to use on your house. In sheer covering capacity it has no equal. A gallon of it goes so far that you'll buy less of it and yet do more with it.

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT 70% Pure White Lead 30% Pure White Zinc 100% Pure Paint

This paint is guaranteed to possess as its important basis the above formula which we inscribe on every can.

The result of such a formula is all that you could ask in brilliance of color and in proper "body"—a paint which gives a fine lasting finish, excelling all others in "covering capacity" and in durability. Paint with B-H "English" Paint—and your house is protected for years, where a coat of ordinary paint will last but a few months.

For Adolescents

"One of the best adolescent school attendance laws in the world, one that will place Ontario in the forefront of the most progressive countries of the world," is the estimate than Hon. Dr. Cody places upon his measure to provide for part-time education of boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 years. The bill was given third reading in the Legislature after a lengthy debate, and will become law this session though, necessarily, it will be some time, possibly two or three years, before the Province begins to reap benefit from it.

Hon. Dr. Cody, in moving the second reading of the bill, reviewed the arguments in support of continued education after the present maximum compulsory school age. To attempt to crowd more instruction into the present years was an obvious impossibility if the boy or girl was to be properly fitted for life work. Then there was the fact that the child of fourteen needed control and discipline probably more than at any other period of life, and the further fact that at fourteen the child was not able to choose a life work and vocation, lacking as he did knowledge of himself and of the world activities. It was recognized that the skilled trades and the professions had no openings for boys much under sixteen, and consequently boys of from fourteen to sixteen on going to work got into what were called "dead end" occupation, where they were not able to make the best of the gifts the Creator had given them. Statistics in the possession of the United States Bureau of Labor showed than 90 per cent. of the persons who left school at 14 or under were in industries in which the wages of adults were not more than $10 a week.

EXTEND COMPULSORY PERIOD

"The only solution of this problem," continued Dr. Cody, "appears to be in the extension of the period of compulsory education beyond the age of 14."

The Minister referred to the fact that there was an adolescent school law in the statute books of the Province, but that it was an optional measure. Only one centre had tried to put it into effect—the city of London—but the attempt had not been crowned with success, of fact that was not at all a reflection upon the school authorities in London, since in only one city in the world, Boston, had an adolescent law, applied locally, secured the hoped for results.

"I had the pleasure not long ago of visiting nearly all the schools in the City of London," said Dr. Cody "and I would like to say here in my place in the House that Ryerson Elementary School, a one-storey school building, is one of the most completely equipped, most up-to-date buildings you will find in the whole North American continent, and London might well be proud of what she has done."

Hon. Dr. Cody then proceeded to explain the provisions of the bill, going over them in detail. The first classification dealt with the education of children of from 14 to 16 years, and the principle adopted was that every child between those ages should either be in receipt of full-time education or be employed. In the latter case the child was required to take part-time education wherever special courses were provided of not less than 400 hours a year. The Minister admitted that there might be some who would take issue with the provision for part-time education, contending that every child should be compelled to take full-time education up to 16, but until the State made provisions for orphans and widows with children there was a real necessity for certain adolescents working between the ages of 14 and 16.

"There is another reason," he said, "and that is that a reasonable amount of work in agricultural or industrial employment under proper conditions might be made to contribute definitely to the development of the youth."

PART TIME SYSTEM

The second board division, said the Minister, covered those between the ages of 14 and 18, who were required to attend part time courses of instruction for an aggregate of 320 hours a year. In this connection Dr. Cody spoke of his investigations in England, where the part-time system had been adopted. The Minister of Education in England, although industrial conditions forced him to adopt part time education, believed that full-time education up to 16 years was preferable, but the head of the Educational Board in London had favored part-time education because the youth going back to the books after being at work realized the practical value of book learning in a way that the lad who had not gone into the shop or factory could not.

The English authorities believed that it would take seven years to get the schools, and to get qualified teachers for the specialized training that part-time education would necessarily cover. He was not prepared to hazard an estimate of how long it would take to get ready in Ontario, and for that reason the Act was framed so that operations could be started under it by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

The Minister said special teachers must be supplied, the courses prepared and the teachers must be provided before such compulsory attend-

"Otherwise bringing such a measure into operation would [illegible] disturb the established order of employment, and a host of children be taken from industries and handed to school authorities that have made no proper provision for dealing with them."

"The policy of the Department of Education," he said, "is to stimulate rapid development of schools with adequate academic and vocational courses, and to require attendance where satisfactory classes are established."

The Minister said the Government hoped the Dominion would assist, but that in any event the province was going ahead with it. Finally, he stated that the bill was not necessarily the final word upon the matter. Probably before it was proclaimed further information might point to the advisability of some changes.

Allan Studholme, the Labor member, endorsed the bill in principle, but objected to the lack of definiteness in regard to its coming into effect. He also found fault with the fact that children under sixteen were to be allowed to go to work. It was all right to say that a child must either go to school or be at wrk, but that meant that the child would be sent to work, the very thing the workingmen of the province had been agitating against.

The bill was sent on to committee and went through with hardly any discussion. It was at once given the third reading.

Alarming Extent Of Drug Habit In New York Exposed

A conference to discuss the scope of the drug evil and to devise means of fighting it was held in New York city one day this week in the office of Health Commissioner Copeland, while by twos and three unfortunate victims of the traffic came to the commissioner's office or to a relief station at 217 east Twenty-second street, seeking the opiates last Tuesday's raids had deprived them of.

Those at the meeting were the members of the public health committees of the county medical societies of New York, Bronx, Richmond and Queen's Boroughs, all under the chairmanship of Dr. E. Elliott Harris, of the New York organization; Major Daniel L. Porter, directing the fight for the Government and ex-State Senator George H. Whitney, deputy commissioner of the state narcotic commission.

According to Commissioner Whitney, the records of his organization disclosed that in the last thirty days, aforty New York physicians had applied for 160,000 of the triplicate forms which the commission requires to be used in issuing prescriptions of drugs. One of the blanks is retained by the physician, one is kept by the druggist, and the third is forwarded to the state so that in regular practice a watch can be maintained.

1,500,000 Illegal Orders

An amplification of the statement published to-day that 1,500,000 illicit prescriptions had been filled was offered by Major Porter. He made the flat statement that in less than six months, three physicians had written more than a million illegal orders. One doctor, he said, had prescribed 271 addicts in two hours, this physician's professional equipment consisting "of a box and one chair." Major Porter characterizezd the drug habit as "the biggest problem of the nation." It was ascertained that Major Porter's present duty is merely preliminary, and that he has already been chosen to enforce the bone dry amendment in this city.

"The druggists who are under arrest," said Dr. Copeland, "were getting from $80 to $100 an ounce for cocaine and about $65 an ounce for heroin. That figures about 500 per cent profit. An after result of the raids came to me this morning when nine persons called at my house in an effort to obtain drugs. They were what I may call the 'high grade' addict, those who make every effort to conceal their affliction and continue at work.

"One of the purposes of the conference was to define what constitutes a drug addict. The conference finally accepted this definition:

"One who requires or demands the daily administration of a narcotic for a longer period than three weeks. The average addict takes from 10 to 20 grains a day, of course there are some who take as high as 60 grains a day. Having defined, for purely administrative purposes, what constitutes an addiction, the state narcotic commission can go ahead and determine how and when to deal with them.

"Those who still think that the practice of taking habit-forming drugs is a small thing, and greatly exaggerated, should know that in last January alone the demands upon the wholesale drug dealers was more than the demand for the entire years of 1918. In February the demands took such a leap that the wholesalers were compelled to put in effect restrictions limiting the amount to be sold to each person.

"One thing I would like to emphasize," he continued, "and that is that the legitimate practitioner has nothing to fear. In fact, we want him to co-operate in treating these persons who now find that they can no longer have recourse to the illicit and unscupulous physicians."

Dr. Copeland said that the police department had informed him that the drug peddlers, for a time practically extinct, were again reappearing on the streets. He said that apparently these men knew that the illicit prescriptionists were running to cover and that they could reap a harvest on the streets. He disclosed that great quantities of opiates were being smuggled into the country.

One thing that impressed those at the health clinic and at the clearing house, was the number of young men who declared they had formed the drug habit at dance halls, taking the stimulant in order to have "more pep" as they expressed it.

Wake Held For Mr. John B. Corn By Hilarious Newspapermen

ANNUAL PRESS DINNER AT ALBANY FRESCOED WITH BONE-DRY STUNTS TO MARK APPROACH OF PROHIBITION —NOVEL FEATURES OF INTERESTING EVENT.

New York Etate officials, headed by Governor Alfred E. Smith, members of the legislature, political leaders, and others prominent in public affairs, were on hand at Albany for the "Bacchana l of 1919" a dinner and cabaret staged by the Legislative Correspondents' Association. The passing of John Barleycorn and the rapidly approaching era of bone-dry prohibition furnished the main theme of the entertainment, but other phase of legislative activity were not overlooked, and the law-makers and officials of the new state saw themselves and their pet hobbies good-naturedly satirized.

The banquet room nad been transformed into a saloon. The president of the newswriters' organization, garbed as a bartender, presided behind a real bar, equipped even unto the traditional brass footrail. A bungstarter served for a gavel. The only decoration were white draperies suspended from the moulding about the room.

After extending greetings to the guests, the president introduced a dignified professor of fine arts, who delivered a lecture on the mural decorations which were behind the draperies. As each picture was reached the draperies removed, revealing painting of heroic size, which conformed to the customary type of barroom art. Each subject bore the face of some state official or legislator. Among the twelve painting unveiled were "Diana's Hunt," "September Morn," "Nymphs and Satyr," "Vanity," and "Nymph at the Spring."

The room was then darkened and the raks of a spotlight piercing the gloom fell upon a spectral figure carrying a letter case. The spectre announced that he was the incarnation of the journalistic bromides "it is announced in political circles," "unimpeachable authority," "those in the confidence of the governor," and others. From his letter case he extracted correspondence alleged to have been gleaned from the desks and waste baskets of teh statesmen and giving information usually withheld from the public.

A correspondent, made up as

A correspondent made up as Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet, of the Assembly sang "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," in which he described the dissappointments encountered in aspiring to the governorship.

"Good-bye Booze, We're Through," a parody on a popular musical comedy air, was rendered by one of the correspoonts. A portion of it follows:

Woodrow Wilson we have lots of things to blame for,
A lovely league of nations he devised,
Then he sailed across the ocean and discussed his bloomin' notion
'Till he had the French and English hypnotized.
But Congress couldn't see the plan a darn bit,
In fact, they said they'd kiil it—or do worse;
And so to even up the score he ordered
The country to go dry July the first,
And so we all are gathered here
Now to sing a dirge for booze and beer.

CHORUS

Good-bye, booze, we're through; now, if we rush the pail
'Twill be for buttermilk or rare old
We have had our last wild fling, ginger ale.
We all will have our fill o' "near beer" sarsasparilla,
We have had our last wild fling,
Now graps juice
And soda!
Oh, death, where's
Thy sting?

THEN THE BITTER AWAKENING

At the conclusion of the song the lights were extinguished. When they were turned on again a transformation had taken place. The saloon had been changed into an ice cream and soda establishment. The painting of Old King Cole behind the bar in which the monarch was being served with intoxicants by his retainers changed into an Old King Cole, bearing the face of Govneror Smith, receiving nut sundaes from his serviters. The bartender became an angel with wings and halo. On the stage were a dozen "reformed" bartenders, who, with pious mier, sang a parody on the camp meeting hymn "Whiter Than Snow."

Taxation problems were ridiculed in an act by two wild outlaws, one representing Controller Eugene M. Travis and the other Senator Frederick M. Davenport, chairman of the joint legislative committee on taxation. One bandit held an open bag into which the other tosted money, jewelry, and other articles taken from the guests at the point of a revolver. The bandits hastily vanished when some one called out:

"Here comes William H. Anderson of the Anti-Saloon League, who will clean you up, as he did the legislature!"

The telephone service under government management was burlesqued in a skit between a blond and powdered "hello girl" and an angry gentleman who was trying to connect with different persons of prominence.

NEXT GOVERNOR SELECTED

A colored soldier, wearing khaki uniform, war Cross, Sam Browne belt, and telegraph messenger's hat hobbled across the room on crutches to the President's rostrum with a telegram in his hand addressed to "The Republican Candidate for Governor." Dozens of voices called out, "That's mine." After a discussion of the different gubernatorial possibilities the soldier said he knew for whom teh message was intended, and proceeding across the room he handed it to Colonel William Hayward, commander of the old Fifteenth Infantry of the National Guard.

RETURNED SOLDIER CAPTURES TWO BUSY BURGLARS

LONDON, Ont., April 18.—Two burglars, caught red-handed robbing the poolroom and cigar store of Mike Johns, at the corner of Horton and Clarence streets, at 2 'clock in the morning, were apprehended by Policeman James Oakley, a veteran of France. They gave their names as Lewis Harris of London, and William Hunt, formerly of Chatham. They pleaded guilty, and were sentenced by Police Magistrate Graydon to serve from three months to two years. Oakley found a basement window smashed and the front door open. As he drew his revolver and moved to enter the door was slammed in his face. He hurried to the rear as Hunt emerged, and after a hot chase, in which he fired three shots, cornered the burglar, who was unable to scale a high fence. He overpowered Hunt and hand-cuffed his arms around a tree, executing the move so quickly that Harris was still in the store attempting a hurried cleanup when the officer returned. Harris, too, attempted an escape, but was balked at the door by the officer's revolver, and the veteran bagged both men unaided.

BEVERELY ROBINSON'S ESCAPE

Toronto World

Rarely has a lecturer made his de but with such favorable acclaim, and still more rarely has the acclaim been so well deserved, as in the case of Lieut. Beverely Robinson, the R.A.F. man whose escape from prison in Germany was unique among the adventures of Canadian officer prisoners. Nothing but the highest praise has been lavished on the lecture, and the auspices under which it was given were of the happiest. Mr. Robinson has had real adventures, which he describes in an attractive and impersonal way and with considerable dramatic ability and much humor. He has a great deal to tell that is good for Canadians to hear, because he knows the Germans thorughly. The tour he knows the Germans thoroughly. The tour he purposes to make through the Dominion should win him golden opinions.

PASTOR PREDICTS WILLARD WILL BEAT DEMPSEY

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 17.—"Athletics by proxy" is the way the Rev. Dr. W. Gilbert Condi, characterized the championship bout to be fought July 4, in his sermon on "the Willard-Dempsey fight" in the Squirrel Hill Methodist Protestant Church here.

"Willard can lose only through his failure to train," Dr. Condit said. "He decidedly has not been taking care of himself. Jack Dempsey weighs 190 pounds. He has been fighting the best there are, while Willard has been making a tour of the vaudeville circuits. Dempsey's greatest hope can only lie in Willard's lack of preparation."

Aunt Jane's Bequest

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright, [illegible], by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Madge had talked it over with the station agent in fragmentary conversation during the hour that elapsed after the arrival of her train and the departure of the stage that was to carry her to the old Dunham estate. Madge wanted to find out what people around there thought of the will, so she did some tactful pumping without, of course, letting the station agent know she was Madge Dunham.

To be sure, old Miss Dunham had been an odd character, all the Dunhams were a little queer, she was assured by the station agent, but no one expected she was so pa'sley mean as all that. She looked good-natured enough in spite of her old age—and she was nearly a hundred when she died, and seemed to have her wits with her, too, in most things, though she surely had shown weak-mindedness in that will. She had left the entire fortune—and it was a lot more than folks ever thought—to her niece, Elizabeth, and Elizabeth Dunham already possessed property that brought her an income about ten times larger than she could ever want.

"Was there any one else who might have had it?" asked Madge with an air of only half-hearted interest.

To be sure there was—there was a grandniece and a grandnephew—lived a good ways off. Stanley Taylor was a professor and the old maid was a school ma'am, and they were both as poor as church mice. They ought to have come in for some of it, but the old lady had cut them off. People knew that, but they hoped she had relented. Might at least have given a little to the Old Ladies' Home.

"Didn't she give those poor relatives anything?" asked Madge.

The station agent chuckled. Well, yes, there was a sort of a provision for them. They had been left the old lady's library, a whole lot of old books that wouldn't sell for enough to pay the trip they'd have to take to get them. The books were to be divided equally between the two, and they had been sent for by Elizabeth Dunham now, who was executrix as well as practically sole beneficiary, to come and select them.

"I wonder," mused Madge, "whether there was any reason why the old lady left them out of her will?"

The station agent lowered his voice. "That there was. Most folks don't know it," he confided, "but the old lady had set her heart on having her niece and nephew married, and she couldn't get them to do it, and that rolled her up so she never had any use for them. She had them out at the old place some 15 years back and tried to make a match, but somehow the feller he wasn't of the marrying kind, and the girl—well, I guess she was cut out to be an old maid."

Madge colored slightly. It had taken an hour to get this much information from the local informant, and she took her seat in the stage to continue her trip to the home of her late great-aunt with an ever increased feeling of resentment toward her. What if she was cut out to be an old maid—hadn't Aunt Jane herself been an old maid and wasn't Aunt Elizabeth an old maid? Even a very little fraction of the fortune would have seemed like wealth to her, and instead all she got was a half of a lot of dusty old books, that would have to be haggled over with Stanley Taylor. Madge felt somehow that if Stanley were at all considerate he would waive his claim to the books. But no such good fortune was in store for her, as he had arrived the day before and was already established in the gloomy old book room in the Dunham homestead making up his mind as to which of the books he would claim.

The only hospitality offered to Madge when she came was that of an old housekeeper. Aunt Elizabeth might have come over from her near-by country place to have made matters a little more cheerful for Madge and Stanley, but she had merely left word with the housekeeper to provide for their temporal wants and to ask them to proceed with the division of the books and to say that the lawyer would be over the next day to settle any legal phrases of the arrangement."

And they got right to work at the books. They at least agreed, apparently, on a lack of disposition to sociability.

"I have been doing what I could without you," remarked Stanley as soon as they had got together in the back room. "I made a pile of books here that could not possibly interest you. I will take them, and over there are some that could not possibly interest me—"

Madge looked at the first pile. There was an old edition of Fielding, Smollett and Richardson, a stack of French poets and philosophers and some heavy tomes of history that had apparently never been opened to the light of day. In the other pile could be seen bound volumes of the Ladies' World for the past 25 years, a rather complete set of cookery books, the works of George Eliot and Maria Edgeworth.

"But I detest George Eliot—and the rest isn't worth the freight to take them home," insisted Madge, and Stanley was really embarrassed, for he had frankly thought that his cousin would find this second pile of books entirely to her liking.

Three days later, after hours and hours spent together in the book room, Madge called on Aunt Elizabeth Dunham, excusing herself from her cousin on the ground of needing a little diversion before going on with the selection.

"One thing we agreed on," she assured Aunt Elizabeth, "and that is on books, for every book that appeals to me appeals to him, and while he is perfectly gentlemanly about it, we both set our hearts on the same books. It really seems a shame to separate the collection. They are quite remarkable. I didn't realize that Aunt Mary Jane was so booky."

"I suppose Aunt Jane might have left them to a library," commented Aunt Elizabeth with a smile that puzzled Madge. "But she thought that you two school teachers might like them."

"We do like them—it's dividing them that makes it hard."

"Oh, well, perhaps you'll find a way," was all Aunt Elizabeth suggested."

Two days later Stanley Taylor, on the pretext of wishing a little diversion, made his call on Aunt Elizabeth. He had met her scarcely three times before in his life, but as one of the few surviving Dunhams he felt that she would be able to give him advice. Still, he was amazingly embarrassed when he got right down to the matter about which he wanted advice. However, he got to the point in short order."

"You know, it all started this way," Stanley began. "When Madge came back the other day she told me where she had been and she said that all the help you would give was to say perhaps we'd find a way. She told me that and then she laughed and turned her head away and blushed. Madge is very pretty when she blushes—she has improved immensely the last few years since that time Aunt Jane had us here to try and get us to fall in love. I think the Dunhams do improve with age." And Aunt Elizabeth said undoubtedly they did.

"What I want to know is what you meant, and what Madge meant," continued Stanley. "The more I have thought of that remark—well, the truth is it put an idea into my head that had been shaping itself ever since Madge got here. We have tastes very much in common—the very fact that we can't divide the books shows that, and of course the books wouldn't have to be divided if we—well, hang it all, Aunt Elizabeth, you're a woman. Do you think Madge would have me?"

Aunt Elizabeth wasn't at all sure, but when Stanley took his question to Madge that evening back in the dimly lighted library, Madge needed no urging. Her only regret, she said, was that it might seem that she was accepting him on account of the books, whereas she wanted him for his own dear self. Stanley had never realized what an ecstasy of contentment there was in being called a "dear self" by a woman before. In fact it was an entirely novel experience.

They hurried to Aunt Elizabeth with their good news and Aunt Elizabeth was ready then to play her surprise on them. Yes, Aunt Jane's fortune—really, my dears, quite staggering in size—had been left to her, but only until the match could be made. Really, old Aunt Jane was pretty shrewd, even if she was near the century mark. She had made up her mind a little while before she died that if the cousins could be brought together over a library of books that way they would do—exactly what they had done. So she sent to a book collector in Boston and told him just what she wanted. Of course, Aunt Jane had never had any books to speak of herself.

"And if we hadn't decided as we did then you would have had the money, or was there some other provision?" asked Madge, the full enjoyment of her good fortune marred a little by the thought that some one else might be robbed by it.

"I asked Aunt Jane what to do with the money if you didn't earn it, and she said there could be no if. She said she'd been an old maid nearly a hundred years and I had for fifty, and it was time some of the Dunhams got married."

Various Ways to Drink Coffee.

On the East side of New York there are eating places, or coffee houses, as they are known, for all nationalities. Each has a different custom for serving and drinking coffee. Take, for instance, the Arab; when he sips his beverage he makes the same noise as a man with a hirsute appendage does when he is wading through a plate of soup. And what's more, declare the men of the desert, those who do not make a noise like a drowning man, when sipping coffee, which they regard as a luxury, are absolutely ill-bred. The most popular dish served by the Arabs is called pilaf. It is made of olive oil and a few nut kernels mixed with rice. When one tackles a mess of pilaf the sensation is the same as one experiences when going from soup to nuts in a "red-ink" emporium, only pilaf is not quite so filling.

An Expedient.

Meeting him in an inn some weeks later, the army buyer walked up to the farmer and said indignantly:

"The horse I bought of you was a thorough fraud. It was of no use for the army."

The farmer was nowise abashed, but replied:

"Well, try 'im for the navy!"

The rights of womn have been rapidly protected by the war labor board with respect to questions of wages, health and general welfare. In all cases where women perform the same work as men they shall receive precisely the same rate of pay, and in no case be alloted tasks disproportionate to their strength.

By comparison of the calorific value of beer and flour, Prof. G. C. Higby, Ohio Wesleyan University, concludes that beer is a highly expensive "food." He says:

"A man would need to swallow daily twenty-seven quarts of liquid, containing twenty-nine ounces by weight, of absolute alcohol to supply himself with the necessary proteids, or about thirteen quarts to supply the carbo-hydrates, and to get the nourishment he needs from beer alone would cost him $5.40 per day. Neither beer nor bread contains fat so that the two ounces of fat required by the body must come from some other source but the necessary proteids and carbohyrates can be secured from bread at a cost of 6.8 cents per day."

Tests for vitamin prove that vitamins are non-existent in beer.

Beer propagandists make the assertion that beer has special nutritional properties and deserves, herefore, to be exempted from the regulations that relate to other forms of alcoholic beverages. The utter absurdity of the claim that beer is a "liquid food" is demonstarted by the above.

WOODSTOCK, April 19—At a mass meeting about sixty persons signified their intention of taking advantage of the Government housing plan

PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY

With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

"A Letter To Mr. Somebody"

By LOUISE OLIVER

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Philip sat thoughtfully down on the fire step of the trench. The German musketry had ceased for the time and all was quiet along the line. Three of the men in his platoon had been wounded and taken back to the first-aid stations behind the lines. But he hadn't a scratch.

Beside him, crouching in a variety of attitudes, were five of the boys playing cards. Someone had produced a dog-eared, muddy pack, and now they were having a round of jackpots. The entire crowd had an aggregate of less than a dollar, all told.

"Come on in, Pearson, the betting's fine," called Dorgan. "Sky's the limit."

But Philip shook his head. "It hurts my finer feelings to see my fellow beings risking their immortal souls. I can't be a party to the outrage. Besides, I'm broke."

"Poor Phil!" Dorgan drew three cards. "Lonely again."

"Who's he got to be lonely for?" Kearney, new to the company, didn't know Phil's history.

"Nobody. That's the trouble. We comes here think we're killed because we can't see our folks. But did you ever think what it meant not to have any folks to get homesick for? That's Phil's trouble. He just naturally hasn't got anybody. That's what he's thinking this minute. I'll bet a jitney. Never gets any mail—never hears from anyone. By George, here comes Bandy now with letters. Hurrah! The mail's in, Jimmy! All those for me, chaplain? Well, this is my day."

Philip sat stolidly on the fire step without moving. He knew the chaplain had no mail for him. All the other boys were busily tearing open letters and papers and hungrily devouring every word.

Then the chaplain stopped in front of him and put a hand on his shoulder. "My boy, I wonder if—" He put his other hand in his pocket and drew out a letter. "I don't approve of this—much. I don't have any idea what's inside, but I'm going to leave it with you."

Philip took the letter eagerly and scanned the address. It was written in a rather angular feminine hand on plain white paper and directed to:

MR. SOMEBODY,
American Expeditionary Forces,
France.

Puzzled, he slid his trench knife under the flap and drew out the closely written folded pages. The letter began: "Dear Mr. Somebody: Before you read my letter I'm going to ask whether or not you are getting mail from home and friends. If you are, will you please give this to someone who is not, for this is not your letter, then, but his. I am writing to a lonely man who has no one to care about him—not to you."

Philip paused. Strange that the chaplain had followed the directions so closely without divining the contents. He turned again to the letter. Surely the letter had reached its intended destination. Who else had a better right to it than he? Then suddenly a revulsion of feeling seized him. He didn't want sympathy, he didn't want to read a lot of Sunday school stuff about patiently bearing one's lot and being sustained by pride in what he was doing.

His eyes ran rebelliously over the next few words, then he read more eagerly, and before he knew it—but let us read the letter.

"First of all," it ran, "I'm going to wish a family onto you, Mr. Somebody—my family. And I'm going to tell you all about what we've been doing. Maybe you'll want to hear about them and maybe you won't, but I absolutely refuse to sympathize with your loneliness and write consoling things like that. And as I have to have something to put into a letter, you will just have to be patient. And I'm not going to introduce them. I will speak of them as though you'd known us all forever.

"To begin, Mr. Peabody finally came across and gave Dad the position as department head that he should have had years ago. Oh, you don't know what it meant to us! Or, I forgot, you do know, of course. When Dad came home that night and told us, Buddy stood right up in the middle of the dining-room table and started to recite Webster's oration, knocking over my vase of clove shrub, the first out of the garden, and ruining a bran clean tablecloth that had taken me forty-seven minutes to iron. But I was in a forgiving humor, of course, and merely kissed him and ordered him down. Lotty gave Dad a hug that nearly strangled him and marched right upstairs and returned with everyone—everyone—mind you, of her old dresses over her arm."

"'Now, Sis,' she demanded, 'can't I give these to the poor Harbisons right away, and get that pink-embroided voile and the Peter Tom suit tomorrow?'

I was ready to promise anything, my dear sir, but all the while I was thinking how fine it would be to have the money for the gas and milk and butcher and grocery man without Dad's having to sit up till midnight figuring how to make the money stretch.

"Well, that's that. Already Dad looks ten years younger, and last night when he was shaving I heard him whistling. Wasn't it wonderful!

"The Emerys next door are having their house painted with mahogany trimmings. It was a dear of a house before they bought it and looked so lovely white. But Mr. Emery had made a fortune in munitions and he's building a stone addition to it. Imagine! Some way I think houses are like people, don't you? I mean, they show what kind of people live in them. Our house looks like the home of poor genteel, as we're usually called. Vines and things growing up to hide places where we need a carpenter and painter. It's like shoe polish on an old pair of shoes. But I think if one's shoes are old, it's better to have them polished than not, don't you?

"But talking of the house and vines brings me to my hobby. My garden—I don't know whether you like flowers or not—but I just have to tell you about it. Just now I'm writing out here in an old green swing under a pink heaven of blossoms. The trees are all out and the birds are fairly bursting their little throats for joy.

"And the bed of white and red tulips over the fence is blooming so bravely—it is as good as a sermon on courage. And over by the shed—but of course you can't see the shed for the bushes. I'll just have to tell you it's there—the lilacs are coming out. Can't you smell that exquisite deliciousness away over there in your trench? Surely heaven will have hedges of lilacs. And the shrubs are out—the snowballs a lovely tender greenish white. How I wish you could see it, Mr. Somebody.

"And now, I'm going to tell you a secret. I hadn't intended to, but someway I feel that you are sympathetic, that you'll understand.

"I have a soldier, a lonely soldier. He must be away over in France, and it is my fault he is lonely, for we quarreled and he went away, and now I can't find out where he is. So after all, this is his letter you are getting. Oh, I wish someone would write to him—for he is lonely, I know. He had nobody but me. And, oh, if I only knew, so I could ask him to forgive.

"This is all for this time, Mr. Somebody. If you like my letter and send me your name and address, I'll write again.

"Faithfully yours,
"Elizabeth Downing,
"Somerset, Mass."

This was Philip's answer:

"Dearest Little Betty.—Mr. Somebody got your letter, and what do you think? It was I. You see God must have guided it here. So you want me to forgive you, sweetheart. Dearest, I'm not fit to kiss the hem of your dainty little dress. I adore you and always will. But since I got your letter I determined to live and go back to you. Before, I resented every crack the other fellows got instead of me. There, the post's going out and I must send this, but I'll write every day. Good-bye, dearest girl.

"Forever yours, Philip."

FINDS CALL STIRS HIM UP

City Conductor's Call, "Let 'Em Off First!" Acts Like a Tonic on This Writer.

That day does not start right when I do not go to work by public conveyance. I can motor to work, or I can walk, as I sometimes do, and hear all the sounds incident to busy streets—the honking of horns, the whistles of the traffic policemen and the shouting of newsboys. These all help in getting me in key for the day's work, but they do not take the place of the conductor's plea to the clamorous crowds on the railway platforms, "Let 'em off first!"

The command is given in a tone of authority that forces the people to stand back. You meditate upon what would happen but for the trainman's solicitude for his passengers. The little blond stenographer who sat beside you would without doubt be carried to the next station, or maybe a dozen stations beyond, and, being late, be fired. You yourself, for that matter, might be whisked on past your station and fall into a passion that would cause your breakfast to sour and make you surly all day. And there is always tragedy in that frame of mind, since a man has to be placid these days or lose his nerves, his job, and everything.

"Let 'em off first!"—the command affects one in another way, too. It carries a suggestion that one wants to get off, and that suggestion presently works itself into a command to you to get off—a sort of challenge to stay on if you dare.

You battle the suggestion manfully from one station to another, until, by the time you reach your stop, your mind is keyed up to concert pitch; you are thoroughly awake, and attack your day's work with an energy that is unknown to the man who, immersed in his morning papers, is lost to what is going on around him.—T. C. O'Donnell in Cartoons Magazine.

Particularly Cruel Murder.

An atrocious murder took place the other night in the village Bagundi in Bisirhat, India. It is reported that a married Mahomedan woman was ill for three days and her husband after obtaining all the available assistance without any effect sat by the side of his wife on the veranda when some unknown persons got over the boundary wall and one of them fired a gun toward the couple. The husband was shot in the chest and died on the spot and a bullet passed through the arm of his wife. Vigorous inquiry is proceeding but no trace of the culprits has yet been found nor the motive of the murder ascertained.

War Can't Start Again, Believes Gen. Maurice

ALLIES CONTROL MOST OF THE MUNITIONS, INCLUDING TWO-THIRDS OF THE HEAVY ARTILLERY OF THE WORLD—ENEMY STRIPPED OF MATERIALS.

"I don't believe," said Major-General Sir F. B. Maurice, K.C.M.G., C.B., Director of Military Operation on the British General Staff from 1915 to 1918, that the war can break out again, for the reason that the allies have practically all of the available military stores in their hands. Furthermore, we have absolute control of the air to-day, and were serious uprising or outbreaks to occur which might menace allied interests, we could send a squadron of bombing aeroplane. We also have in our possession two-thirds of the heavy artillery of the world. As it stands purely and simply, the other side has no material with which it could make war."

FINE TYPE OF OFFICER

The distinguished Britisher, now in Toronto, who is touring the American continent, as he aptly expresses it, "let the people know just how the war was won," typifies the finest example of keen British military men. He possesses a deep and subtle vein of humor and is likely at all times to provoke a general laughter by his apt quips and epigrammatic comments.

Although confessing some 52 years of age, General Maurice possesses a physique that might well evoke the envy of a man half his years but perhaps the most attractive feature of his entire personality is the expression of his eyes, of clear, unflickering grey which convey the impression, to anyone with whom he may be in conversation, of the utter inutility of pretence or shallowness.

FOCH PREPARING DRIVE

In response to the question of whether or not, the allies had made a mistake in granting an armistice and losing their chance to destroy the German armies in the field, the visitor made the following reply: "That is a question which is being asked very often and, as far as I have been able to ascertain, the facts are these: When the armistice was signed on November 11th, our armies had pushed forward very nearly as far as they could get, without calling a halt for a time, owing to the fact that the eGrmans had destroyed all the roads behind them, and the result was that we would have been compelled to halt and repair the roads in order that we might bring up the supplies for the troops.

PLANNED NEW DRIVE

"Foch had planned a new battle for November 14th down in orraine, not in the same front as Mons, but down to the south east near Metz. Had this been done, it would have meant that Lorraine would have become the theatre of destruction such as occurred in Belgium and Northern France. It is doubtless that the allied generals realizing this, and knowing equally well that Germany would be willing to surrender practically her entire strength, viewed the situation thus: "Would it be worth sacrificing allied land to try to get further forward. After consideration they decided against this view and favored the armistice. It is hard to judge as to whether this policy was absolutely right or wrong. Whether it would have been better for us to have reached Berlin is a question that has two sides. In any case, had this latter been done, it would have necessitated a larger army of occupation."

ROADS WERE WRECKED

General Maurice here digressed for a moment to further explain just what he means by the conditions of the roads over which the allies were advancing. "I entered Mons," he said, adding "just two days after the Canadians and counted no fewer than 17 mine craters in four miles of road. The railways had been destroyed to some extent.

He further declared than the situation in Hungary has generally been considerably exaggerated, and that Austria-Hungary is practically the most exhausted of our enemies. They may have riots and other demonstrations, but as to being able to fight, the authorities consider it out of the question.

Tells Of Genesis Of Depth Bomb

United States "General Order 27" Benefits the Canadian Railwaymen.

How the submarine depth bomb, familiarly referred to as "ash can," came into being to revolutionize anti-submarine warfare, was related by Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, Commander during the war of the American naval forces overseas.

Rear-Admiral Sir Charles Edward Madden, Chief of Staff to Admiral Jellicoe, was the author of the idea, Admiral Sims said, giving as his authority Admiral Jellicoe.

The idea came to Admiral Madden, he continued, while the British officer was aboard a cruiser which sighted a submarine. The cruiser gave chase, he said, but at it drew near the submarine submerged. Admiral Madden, chagrined at the cruiser's failure to get the submarine, exclaimed:

"Why wouldn't it be a good idea to work up some sore of a device to drop on these Huns?"

Other officers approving the plan the cruiser put back to port, where the idea was presented to Admiral Jellicoe. He approved the plan, and munition experts were put to work devising the "ash can."

The depth bombs evolved contained three hundred pounds of trinitroluol and were capable of wrecking a submarine.

Have You Friends Who Suffer?

You have friends who are discouraged, who seem to have lost all interest in life, and whose sufferings are acute—because they are afflicted with Kidney or Bladder trouble?

Here is your golden opportunity to be a real friend to your friends. Tell them about Gin Pills, what they have done for others, and about the thousands who have found relief by taking this remedy.

Persuade your friends to try them, if only a sample box. Mrs. James Harris of Port Rowan took the advice of a friend and wrote us for a free sample. Hear in her own words the result:

"My husband had suffered for some time with lame back and Kidney Troubles. He became so bad, work was almost impossible. So many remedies were tried without effect that he became discouraged. A friend advised him to give Gin Pills a trial, which he did, and to-day he is almost entirely cured."

The case of W. T. Baldwin, of Smithville, Ont., is similar in many respects. Mr. Baldwin suffered from a pain in the back for over three years. Finally on advice from friends he tried Gin Pills, with the result that he obtained relief from his pain after taking the first box.

There is no need for anyone to invest a cent in Gin Pills until they have received a sample free and tried them, as Mr. Harris did. Write to-day, telling us to send a sample box free to your friend's address.

A HOT SPOT Chalmers Never Cries For Gas

A GALLON of gas goes a long ways in a Hot Spot Chalmers. For the great engine in this remarkable car wrings every last bit of power out of gas.

As soon as it leaves the carburetor the gas hits the Hot Spot (one of two magnificent devices common only to a Chalmers) and there it is "cracked up" into "dust."

So "dry" does this gas become that once it reaches the cylinders and the spark plugs touch it off there is translated immediately almost every single bit of power that nature put into gas.

But to get the "dry" gas to the cylinders from the Hot Spot is no easy matter.

The great Ram's-horn was designed to do this work and it does the task well.

See this device and you'll never forget it. You'll wonder why it wasn't done years ago. But the common every day thing known as a pin, remember, was one of the last things the human mind devised.

One look at this Chalmers car of today and you'll want to sit behind the wheel. One ride there—and you'll want one.

Six months later you, too, will say that the Chalmers is really one of the few great cars of the world.

The difference in cost between an ordinary baking powder and the pure, strong, double-acting is trivial. It amounts to only a fraction of a cent on each cake you bake. Against this you risk your high-priced flour, butter, sugar, eggs and milk, and your reputation as a cook.

EGG-O Baking Powder

Spoiled bakings not only cost you money, but they waste food. With the heavy Government Standard flours in use to-day, the selection of a strong baking powder is absolutely necessary.

The double-acting strength of Egg-O is needed to make a baking of a light cake from a heavy flour. Try a can and watch your bakings improve. You can use sweet milk, sour milk, buttermilk or water with Egg-O—a different and better baking powder.

Each New Day Brings a Better Maxwell

MOST anyone would think that after building 50,000 motor cars on one chassis plan that close on to perfection would be reached.

That is true in a large measure; but it happens to be only the point at which the Maxwell executives began.

They decided to keep on building Maxwells better and better as each new day went by.

The locomotive engineer drives his engine better every day. The banker who loans money does so with more and more judgment. The man at the forge—likewise.

This is the principle on which the Maxwell is built. It is not new in the business world. But it is sound.

And to-day, with 300,000 Maxwells built on this plan, anyone will readily understand—

Why a Maxwell runs on and on and never quits with age;

Why a Maxwell seldom turns in at a repair shop;

Why a Maxwell is so eagerly sought for in the second hand market.

One of the last of more than 1000 improvements made since the first Maxwell was built is the appearance.

Let your eyes glance over this present day Maxwell and you'll think the price $200 more than we ask for it.

TAKING A CHANCE

By LINCOLN ROTHBLUM

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Jiggers, the boss!"

And upon the heels of the whispered warning Mr. Joseph Q. Hattisbury, heavy-footed and always sober, entered the sanctum of his private office.

The "Q." it must be stated, had been added to his name coincident with his appointment to the vacant presidency of the Consolidated Metals corporation, marking a very gradual rise from his lowly beginning as errand boy for this same business institution some 40 years back. There was about as much logic to his belief that the "Q." which stood for nothing, added a unique dignity to his name, as for his idea, assimilated through the course of his career, that heavy-footed walking was an indication of a "dominant personality." Of course, Mr. Joseph Q. Hattisbury would not have characterized it so, principally for the reason that he seldom knew the meaning of or how to spell words of greater than monosyllabic length.

As the door, labeled in letters of warning size "Private," banged shut, a small, thinnish fellow, with deep-set eyes, looked up from the large sheet over which he was bent, and retrieving the lighted cigarette from his pocket, whistled relievedly. His thinning hair and the telltale crow's feet about the eyes seemed to vie oddly with his boyish mannerisms.

"If it hadn't been for your 'jiggers,' Helen, I'd 've been caught that time sure."

Helen rested her hands, with their network of blue-veined ridges, on the keys of her comptometer. Helen could no longer be called exactly young, but an indefinable happy turn to her lips reflected a never-absent sense of humor. She was conservatively and economically dressed in a dark serge skirt which eloquently testified by its sheen its fourth year of continuous service. Black, low-heeled shoes and a white lawn waist completed the businesslike severity of her costume, relieved only by a small amethyst brooch fastened to the throat.

"Right you are, Rodney," she replied, but her voice did not have its usual buoyancy. The man noticed it.

"What's the matter, old scout?" he asked consolingly, getting up from his chair and proffering her a bag of caramels. She refused the confection.

"Tired, Helen?"

"Yes, I am—tired to think that you've got to hide a cigarette in your pocket as if you were a little kid, and tired of that," pointing contemptuously to the door marked "Private," "old-maid teacher."

Rodney smiled. "Let up on the old maids, Helen. You're living in a glass house all your own."

"Oh, but I'm a woman and it makes no difference if I push the keys of this comptometer forever. But you're supposed to be a man and make a name for yourself in this world. Does the prospect of smoking when it pleases the other fellow appeal to you for the rest of your life?"

Rodney stood silent. This was a new Helen.

"Look here, Helen, we've been working together now for nearly ten years right in this office, and you've never talked this way before. You know I've never dared risk starting something for fear I'd fail. So I've been content to put up with the old man."

"Well, you've got to take a chance some time. Shame, that for the security of three meals a day you've been content to lodge in a rut! Don't follow my example. Here I am well along in the thirties, and still letting this thing think for me," and she gave the comptometer a vicious shove. "You get out, Rodney, and take a chance. A man at forty is still young these days."

Helen smiled at the unusualness of their conversation and her new role of adviser. She couldn't help smiling.

"Well, I'll tell you what," he answered, as he clapped his hands together to seal the bargain, "you suggest the venture, and I'll do it—or bust."

Rodney's mouth closed with a snap.

"Jiggers, the boss!"

And as Mr. Joseph Q. Hattisbury reentered the outer office he found his employees zealously performing those duties for which he never let them forget he paid them. He tramped noisily over to Helen's desk. Despite her dislike for him, she could never help but feel that he treated her just a little more considerate that he did the others.

"I'd like to see those totals, Miss Bently," he said in stentorian tones, and Helen shivered as he leaned his portly frame over her. He did not seem to be paying much attention to the figures as he nervously fingered his watch charm. "Come into my office," he ordered peremptorily.

Puzzled, she followed him into the room, and Rodney looked up as the door closed with its customary bang. "Here's where she gets it," he thought.

Perhaps Helen was "getting it."

"Miss Bently," her employed abruptly began. He cleared his throat with a rasping noise and Helen fortified herself for the worst. "I intend to make you my wife."

Helen reeled.

"You've been a good employee for the past ten years," he went on as if he were merely increasing her salary, "and I don't think you'll waste my money if I marry you."

He paused to cough. "Does the lady select the wedding day?" he cross-examined.

A hot and scathing refusal was on Helen's lips. Oh! The man's audacious arrogance! Was she nothing but another step in his upward progress? Did she have no choice? How long had she been under consideration? Was her position in jeopardy? The questions raced like flashes of lightning through her confused mind. Then as in a panorama there passed before her the years of confining hours, the toiling days and the nights without recreation—just work, work and more work—that one might live. The very whiteness of her waist semed to implore surcease from frequent washings and the shiny serge skirt silently pleaded honorable discharge from service.

"May I have time to think it over, Mr. Hattisbury?" she asked slowly.

He seemed puzzled as to what necessitated consideration. "Yes," he finally answered, "you may have a week."

As Helen returned to her desk Rodney looked up—and promptly down again. Helen was crying.

In the next succeeding days she was grateful that he did not question her. But Rodney was preoccupied in his own affairs.

It was the afternoon of the fifth day.

"Helen," Rodney called abruptly as he heard the last echoing footsteps of their employer down the hall, "will you marry me?"

Helen's hand went to her forehead. Two proposals in one week for a woman who had reached her thirty-eighth birthday without any. Rodney came over to her.

"Listen, Helen. I've been thinking a great deal about what you told me that other day—about making something of myself. You're right. I've been in a rut."

Helen shoved her comptometer to one side. This was a new Rodney.

"So I went and stuck the six hundred I've saved up in the cutest little delicatessen you ever saw. It's got cans of stuff on the shelves and cheeses on the counter and cakes in the case and flour in the bin, and," he ran on excitedly without stopping for breath as Helen grasped his coat sleeve in the contagious enthusiasm, "there is a good trade. It'll be slow plugging at first, lot and lots of work, but—but it's a go."

He leaned toward her with arms extended. "All it needs—all I need is a wife—that'll make everything complete."

Helen could not speak. Something was choking her.

"I'll be good to you," he pleaded, taking her silence for a refusal. "I'll do all the work. Honest I will. I just want you to encourage me. Won't you please? It means—oh, it means independence!"

Rodney stopped. Helen was crying—again. He sat down on her desk and with one hand about her shoulder he patted her head with the other.

"Jiggers, the boss!" he called as the door opened.

But they weren't in time. Mr. Joseph Q. Hattisbury had seen. He brought one foot down after the other with a ponderous thud.

"Miss Bently," he snorted in high indignation, "after my talk, what does this mean? I cannot give you a week to decide. Choose now."

Helen stopped crying and looked from her opinionated employer to Rodney with his deep-set eyes still pleading his cause. The one held promise of comfort and of submission; the other, work—and independence.

"Oh, I'll take a chance," she said. "I choose the delicatessen."

NOT SATISFIED WITH FATE

Most of Us Have Some Kind of a Grouch as to How We Have Been Used.

As a rule we all hold a grouch against life, because of the one thing that we think should have happened to us and did not. This is not a new idea; it has been worked over and over, but, just the same, if we take the time to look a little more deeply into our hearts than we sometimes like to do we are very likely to find there a certain degree of resentment against life, or fate, or circumstances because some one outstanding thing has not happened to us, something that we would have liked to have happened and which we believe would have contributed in large measure to our happiness. Of course, the something that we have in mind differs with each individual; it may be a blessing that we just missed or something that we never had the least idea of obtaining; it may have to do with our personal happiness or our personal success; it may have been the one thing necessary to round out a beautiful life or it may have been the one thing that would have brought us disappointment, but whatever it was we know that we longed for it with all our heart and because it never happened to us, and never will happen to us as far as we can see, we continue to want it and to feel hurt and injured because we have not obtained it. We may not look upon such a condition as a blessing in disguise because most of us prefer our blessings in plain view and beyond all shadow of doubt or misunderstanding.—Charleston News and Courier.

EELS, FREED FROM BOX, COVER RAILROAD TRACK

WATERTOWN, N.Y., April 19.—Live eels in a shipment of fish caused local employees of the American Express Company considerable trouble when the truck bearing the boxes of fish tipped over from the platform and landed upside down on track No 1 at the New York Central Station.

The fish were contained in boxes and barrels and the truck was piled high with them. When the crash occurred several boxes were smashed open and the fish covered the tracks.

Several eels in the shipment showed signs of life and the men clearing up the wreckage had considerable trouble before the fish wer finally boxed up again, ready for shipment.

WAS QUITE SURE OF SURPRISE FOR ELIZA

A Biddulph farmer, bringing his products to Lucan, had found the market high for the first time in several years, and when he was ready to go home his pockets bulging with coin. Then he recalled how his wife had goaded him to buy some new clothes and he had felt that he couldn't afford them. He looked at his worn shoes, his frayed trousers, his faded coat, chuckled and said: "I guess I'll surprise Eliza." Going in the general store, the farmer bought an outfit, put the bundle under the seat of his wagon and drove away, wearing his old togs. A mile from home he left the wagon where a convenient bridge crossed the creek, set the bundle of clothes down on the floor of the bridge and slipped under the structure to remove the old garments. One by one he threw them into the creek—shoes, trousers, coat and hat—and watched them float down current. Then he reached around the corner and over his head for the new togs. They were gone. A cloud of dust down the road suggested that they were not likely to return soon. The farmer waited until the sun went down, then climbed to the wagon seat in undraped humanity, and, as he cracked his whip at the horses, remarked: "Well, I guess I'll surprise Eliza, anyhow."—Toronto Times.

THE THIRTEENTH ROYAL HIGHLANDERS OF CANADA

Regarded as the doyen of Canada's kilted regiments and with the traditions of the Old Country's famous Black Watch linked up closely with their own, the Thirteenth Battalion, Royal Highlanders of Canada, were bound to make their mark and enhance their reputation in the war. They are now returning with their full share of honors gained, including four Victoria Crosses, and a proud record won in every action from Second-Ypres to Mons; but, alas, with very few of the originals, those splendid, keen warriors of the "Old Fifth," remaining. Some of their original officers have won distinction and one has gained promotion to command of a brigade. One commands a division. Many more, with names that are household words in Canada's commercial capital, have "gone West". Their places are filled by men who served under them, and I have been told that the Thirteenth has the largest percentage of men who gained commissions on the field of any Canadian battalion.

The mud of Salisbury was good training for what was in store for them in France and Flanders. In November the battalion was inspected by the King and Queen and by Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener. "Bobs'" admiration of the Highlanders was expressed in a special order issued the next day. Early in February, after a farewell by the King, the division embarked for France. A swift, business-like inspection by Lord French, then Commander-in-Chief, and they were swept forward to the brown line that was only just holding back the Huns. By March 3 their brigade was in the line, although the Thirteenth was in support for a time. On the 24th the Highlanders relieved a British battalion.

On the night of April 21st, the Thirteenth took over from the Fourteenth the Sector at Ypres immediately adjoining the right flank of the French line held by Algerian troops. As the Germans showed little signs of activity, the morning of the 22nd (a bright, sunny day), was spent in repairing the trenches. Suddenly at about 3 o'clock, a terrific German shell fire deluged the French and Canadian lines. A greenish yellow cloud floated along the ground towards the former, followed by German infantry in dense masses. The yellow cloud proved to be chloride gas, hitherto barred from civilized warfare, and under this new and terrible scourge the Algerian line broke, leaving the Thirteenth flank exposed. The position was in any case difficult to hold as it was traversed by the Poelcapelle Road, and the Germans actually penetrated to their rear. Ammunition ran short, but fortunately reinforcements arrived by dawn, when a skillful retirement was effected towards the right under heavy fire, so as to form a defensive flank between the village of St. Julien and the orignal front. A day of terrible shell fire followed, notable for deeds of magnificent heroism, including that of Lance-Corporal Fred Fisher, which won the first Victoria Cross recorded to a Canadian during this war. Three days of fighting had passed before British reinforcements passed through the sadly thinned but still unbroken lines of the gallant Thirteenth.

After a few days' rest in divisional reserve the battalion again went into the line, suffering very heavy casualties from the terrific shelling, and it was a very weak, though untamed unit that finally went out to refit and reinforce. Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan men sent over from England filled the gaps at that time.

At Festubert, next month, at the historic fight in the orchard, the Thirteenth were again in the thickest fighting. They came up under heavy shell fire from Indian village, followed through the Sixteenth who had won the fringe of the orchard in the afternoon charge, cleaned out the remaining machine-gun nests of the Huns and all through the night beat off fierce counter-attacks by troops that were identified later as the Prussian Guards.

Then came Ploegsteert and its comparative quiet, although the Thirteenth did some splendid work in occupying and consolidating four mine craters which straightened out the line.

Christmas, their first in the war, came and the Germans shouted over greetings to the Highlanders who were now in the Steenbeck sector. There was no fraternizing on the Canadian side. In the evening a party of the Thirteenth crept out close to the German lines to find out what was happening. They could hear the Germans singing Christmas hymns to the accompaniment of a wailing cornet which some homesick Hun was playing. Another party crept along the ditch of the Messines-Wulverghem road but was not so lucky. They fought a hard fight with a German patrol and were finally driven in by heavy machine gun fire. The Hun was not stopping the war to celebrate Christmas.

Rushed Into St. Eloi.

In January of 1916/ Lieut.-Colonel F. O. W. Loomis was promoted to Brigadier, and Major Buchanan was given command. Until June patrol fights and trench raids were the lot of the Thirteenth; then they were moved north into the fringe of St. Eloi and Hooge.

While holding battalion sports word came that the line had broken, and, hustling into their equipment, the Highlanders made a splendid forced march, reached Zillibeke, and although dead tired, volunteered for the battle, later digging in under heavy artillery fire at the famous Manor House. In the counter-attack of the next day the highlanders went further forward in Maple Copse and until June 7 held their posts in that wood of death against many attacks. After a short rest they again were in a great counter-attack, this time on June 13. The Thirteenth was held up for a considerable time and suffered severely, but finally won their objective near Hill 62. The battalion took hundreds of prisoners and killed many in hard bayonet fighting for which the kilties had become famous. After another tour of the trenches, this time at Mount Sorrel, the battalion, with its brigade, marched south to the Somme.

Their adventures there began with the capture of the ridge which ran north-west of Courcelette to the famous Schwaben Redoubt. To get to their positions through the fire-raked communication trenches was one of the most cruel and discomforting experiences the battalion ever went through. Those rainy nights under heavy shell fire in the brick-fields in front of Albert will never be forgotten by the survivors in the battalion. The attack on the Schwaben began on September 26. The Fifteenth and Fourteenth Battalions had taken the Kenora Trench, but it was not easily held, and the Thirteenth crowded up behind as support. It was on this night that Lieut.-Col. Buchanan was killed when a shell hit his dugout and exploded some gasoline left by the tanks. His second in command, his adjutant, and thirty others were also killed or burned to death after the explosion. Major G. McCuaig, just returned from leave, took over command.

In October the battalion went to the Warloy sector and were in the attack on the Below and Warloy trenches. Struggling through wire and shell holes, they were held up for a considerable time, but seeing that their failure would destroy the whole operation they made a heroic rally and gained their objective though at terrific cost.

Their Work at Vimy Ridge.

Vimy Ridge was to be the next adventure of the Thirteenth. For weeks up to that April day of Victory the battalion was hard at work practising the assault. On the night before the attack they marched to their positions. The Highlanders kept open the lines of communication, as the attack on the Swelfer Weg and Swischen Stellung progressed on schedule time. They cleaned out the enemy tunnels and gathered in thousands of dazed prisoners. Several companies were sent up to the help of the Fourteenth which found Bavarian Guards opposed to them and in that severe fighting they turned the scale to the Canadians. The rest worked like Trojans in the sleet and rain, making some semblance of road, that supplies might reach their brigade comrades who had fought so well and won. Next day, in Farbus Wood the Highlanders slewed round the captured German howitzers and had a merry picnic firing at sight against the fleeing Germans on the Douai plains. From Farbus they could see into Lens and Avion, where the battalion later spent many months in that great seige the Canadians kept against the harried German garrison.

In August the Montreal Kilties were again in a heavy attack and this time at Hill 70. The Thirteenth held the centre of its brigade. They went across No Man's Land in the wake of the barrage capturing many prisoners with very light casualties. Then they plunged into the little groups of workmen's cottages of the Cite St. Elizabeth and held on while other Canadians completed the victorious operation which gave us another mile of enemy defences and closed in tighter the pincers that gripped Lens. Four German divisions were put out of action in that fight and the enemy's later vain counter-attacks. The losses of the lucky Thirteenth were less than four hundred killed and wounded.

In the terrible fighting that resulted in the capture of Paschendaele the Thirteenth did not have the heavy share. They were continually in the support lines that ran through Langemarck just under the ridge and did fine work in keeping open communications over that morass of death.

On the third day their division went into the line to relieve the tired and battered Third Division. At Mooselmarkt and Valor Farm the Highlanders held on grimly against fresh German counter-attacks and rushed several of those terrible cement forts that were holding out. But the two other brigades of the First Division shared the bulk of the hard fighting and the Highlanders came out of that costly battle with considerable casualties.

In August of 1918 then, the battalion after several camouflaged moves took over from an Imperial battalion in front of the German positions on the River Luce. They swept through the surprised Huns taking advantage of the low thick mist that enveloped the battleground. Hundreds of prisoners fell to the Montreal men and the battalion with other units of its brigade had passed their objectives long before the time set and were well on the way through open country, towards Aubecourt. They rode forward in tanks and impetuously got ahead of the cavalry. It was fighting that suited the temperament of the Highlanders and their victory was complete. Twelve miles in depth had been gained. Other fresher battalions passed through them and the successful First Division was hauled out as though going to rest.

But there was to be no rest for the Division. Quietly and swiftly they were shifted back to their old positions on the Arras sector and again they were the spearhead. The Thirteenth were again in action in that September 1st attack that gained trenches almost in the famous Drocourt-Queant line. They plunged forward with a spirit that was undeniable and took their full share of the brigade fighting. On October 1st the Thirteenth were the centre of the attack on Blecourt and the railway line which ran towards Valenciennes. Cuvillers and Bantigny were taken with their comrades of Sixteenth; then came the terrific encounter at Abancourt where the Highlanders found the enemy massed ready for counter-attack. The Canadians gained the southerly end of the town but finally were forced out. The operation was, however, extremely useful as it enabled the gains made by the first brigade to the right to be consolidated. Late in the afternoon the Thirteenth repulsed a determined attack and followed up their success by driving the enemy from Abancourt, capturing many machine guns. The battalion marched to Vise en Artois on October 5th, and relieved a British Columbia battalion. October 11th, saw the Thirteenth taking their full share of a heavy attack across the Sensee River which ended in the capture of the high ground south of the Scarpe. Then came the plunge through that brought the victorious Canadians to Hamel and Estrees by nightfall. On October 19th the Kilties from Montreal took the famous Bois Amand, meeting with little opposition, although they overwhelmed an isolated German battery, which was firing with open sights. The Corps record in these actions had been the capture of 26 villages and the release of 31,000 French civilians. Then came the actual breaking of the Hindenburg line and the attack on Cambrai. It was the fortune of another division to gain the city but the Thirteenth drove through just to the North of the town and in a series of fights in the outskirts killed many of the enemy who had been thrown against them as a last resource. They were a good second in the race for the centre of the city. In these shows the Highlanders suffered somewhat severely, but they knew that at last they had the Hun on the run and they were not to be stayed. They followed up in the less fierce fighting that gained Valenciennes, and when, on the day the armistice was signed, Mons fell to the Canadians, the Thirteenth were still in the fray, thrusting forward on the left of the First Division.

Moderate winds, fine to-day. Tuesday, easterly winds, fair for the most of the day, then showery.

Express Strike Has Been Settled

MONTREAL, April 21.—The strike of the Canadian Express Company employes, so far as the public is concerned, came to a close Saturday afternoon. The men, or as many of them as can be notified, will return to work this morning, and business will be resumed under normal conditions. All points in dispute are to be laid before the Canadian Railway Board of Adjustment Number 1, and both parties to the controversy have agreed to accept the award of that body. This development came following a conference between Mr. John Pullen, president of the company; the strikers' representatives, and Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, who had come to Montreal for that purpose. The men had been on strike since Thursday, April 10, and a general strike of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes, as well as wider strike ramifications, had been threatened.

Munich Scene Of Hot Fighting

BERLIN, April 21.—Desperate fighting continues for possession of Munich, according to despatches received here late Thursday night.

Several regiments of Government troops were reported to have joined the Socialist forces outside the city, which are making preparations for a grand assault.

The Communist defenders while maintaining their artillery fire, are erecting barricades and barbed wire entanglements in the principal streets entering the town.

Plundering is said to have got beyond control of the Communist guards.

Railroad communication between Berlin and Munich has ceased.

Bamberg, which is still the seat of the Hoffmann Government, is also cut off from Munich.

Numerous rumors are current, but there is nothing to indicate clearly which party is in control.

The troops apparently have been successful in confining the insurrection to Munich.

Editor N. Y. Mail Must Stand Trial

NEW YORK, April 21.—Federal indictments were returned against Dr. Edward A. Rumely, former owner and editor of the New York Evening Mail and his attorneys, S. Walter Kaufmann and Norvin R. Lindheim, charging them with conspiracy to defraud the United States Government. It is alleged that Dr. Rumely and his attorneys conspired to conceal the ownership by the Imperial German Government of $1,451,700 of the capital stock of the S. S. McClure Newspaper Corporation which represented a controlling interest in the Mail.

The attorneys were specifically charged with advising Rumely to omit transmission of a list showing German ownership to A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian.

Dr. Rumely is now out on bail under Federal indictments charging him with perjury in New York city and failure to return German-ownership statements to Washington.

Hudson Bay R'y To Be Pushed This Year

WINNIPEG, April 21.—The speedy prosecution of the Hudson Bay Railway so far as is possible, was practically assured by the Ottawa authorities, announced Premier T. C. Norris. The premier has just returned from the east.

The sum of $100,000 will be placed on the estimates for this season, and in all probability this will be supplemented as the occasion requires, the Premier intimated. Hon. J. D. Reid, the Federal minister of railways, was very sympathetic towards the proposal, but a great deal depends upon the labor and material supplies, Premier Norris said.

SUMMER HOME BURNED

BROCKVILLE, April 20.—The cottage of W. E. Brough, situated on the St. Lawrence River, a short distance west of here was burned today with its contents, entailing a loss of about $5,000. Preparations were being made for its occupancy and workmen were there yesterday overhauling the plumbing, but what started the fire is not known.

Trenton Housing Commission At Work

TRENTON, April 21—The Housing Commission appointed last week by the Trenton Town Council is rapidly getting things in shape to commence operations.

Application forms have been prepared and may be secured from any member of the Commission, and it is urged that everyone who is interested in securing a home under this plan make application at the earliest possible moment.

Under the Housing Commission there are two plans by which a home may be acquired: First where a man owns a lot he may have a house erected on it and may pay for the house over a period of twenty years; or Secondly, where he does not own a lot, the commission will erect a house for him and give him the opportunity of paying for both house and lot over a period of twenty years.

The amount of the monthly payment will of course vary with the cost of the house but the following figures will give some indication to what is possible. On a house costing $3,000, the monthly payment will be approximately $20 a month; on a house costing $2,000 the monthly payment will be about $13.50; and on a house costing $1,000 about $6.65. It will be seen that those figures are substantially the same as what a man would have to pay as rent for the house, with this difference, that under the housing plan at the end of twenty years he owns the house, whereas in renting a house at the end of twenty years he is no better off than he was when he started. The commission consists of Mayor Ireland, H. S. Payne, C. Vanalstine, H. James and J. K. Fraser, any of whom will be glad to give further information to anyone interested.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

Canadian Press Limited

VIENNA, April 21.—Forces under Petlura, the Ukrainian peasant leader, have retaken Zhitomir and Proskurev, and also secured the adhesion of ten thousand Bolshevik troops, particularly those originating in East Ukrainian, according to a wireless despatch from Tarnopol. It would appear that Petluras pain of cutting behind the Bolsheviki advancing into Bessarabia and toward Odessa is succeeding.

Last Minute Telegraph Briefs

Peace Treaty Delayed

PARIS, April 21.—Grave doubts were expressed today whethr the perfected peace treaty would be presented to the German representatives this coming Friday. While the treaty will be communicated to them in substance it was said in well informed quarters that it would be physically impossible to prepare the document in its complete final form in the four days remaining.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Italian Parliament which was to have met on Wednesday will not convene until May 6, according to a despatch from Rome. The postponement has evidently been caused by the failure of the Couicil of Four to reach any solution of the problem raised by Italy's claims to Fiume and the Dalmatian coast.

WIDOW'S CLAIM DISMISSED.

MONTREAL, April 21—Holding that the evidence disclosed no negligence or want of care on the part of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Mr. Justice Maclennan dismissed the action of Blanche Valin, widow of Joseph Seguin, in which she sought $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, while working as a brakeman in the Hochelaga yards on November 30 last.

Sequin was fatally crushed between two cars, and plaintiff alleged the accident was due to fault and imprudence of railway employes "pushing back" a train without proper warning.

Against this, the company pleaded that the accident was due to the negligence of plaintiff's husband in jumping off a car and attempting to cross the tracks between two moving railway cars when aware of the danger of doing so, and not paying attention to the printed warnings of the company to its employes in order to protect them against the danger of accidents during the performance of their duties.

May Pass French Eight-Hour Bill

Hoped This Will Avert Possible "Revolutionary" Labor Strike.

PARIS, April 21.—The first hint of what is going to happen here on May 1 came when, simultaneously with the announcement that the Chamber of labor unions had decided to strike on that day as a demonstration in favor of the eight hour day, came the further announcement that the Chamber of Deputies intends to take up the eight hour bill, and that the Government is backing the movement to enact this bill into law.

There has been a great deal of talk in Paris since the Jaures demonstrations, that May 1 would see bigger demonstrations, wherein it wouldn't be a mere handful of police who got broken heads. There has been talk of "revolution."

If there should be labor outbreaks while the Germans are at Versailles, the effect would not be lost on them The strike, it is said, will embrace railroaders, miners, dockers, metal workers and subway and street car employees. Most of these workers now have the eight hour day, but the reason for the strike is said to be the desire of these men to show their solidarity with those who do not have it. Appeals have been issued to other unions to join in and make May 1 a universal strike.

Cooler heads believe, that despite all these warnings, with the conclusion of peace, the situation will immediately improve and the predictions of the pessimists will not be realized.

Rev. Ben Spence Was Warned Took Chance

TORONTO, April 19—The oft-adjourned case against Rev. Ben. R Spence, Secretary of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, charged with having published "The Parasite," a book banned by the Dominion censor, was begun Thursday before Magistrate Kingsford.

An order to prohibit the Magistrate from trying the case has been applied for to Mr. Justice Masten a short time ago in vain, and Thursday Mr. Spence's counsel, W. E. Raney, K.C., asked for another adjournment, which was refused. Mr. Raney urged that the he be furnished with a copy of the exact charges against the client, but the Magistrate ruled that he had already been informed thereon.

Rev. Ben. H. Spence testified that he had been sent to England by the Dominion Alliance in 1907 to assist conditions there and to assist the temperance forces in England. Arthur Mee's "Parasite" was then in manuscript, and it was understood that the book was to be published in Canada as well as in England. Upon his return to this city, he recommended to the Alliance that the "Parasite" be published. He had never refused to submit the book to the censor, he said.

Mr. Spence admitted that he had been warned by ythe Methodist Book Room not to publish the book without consent of the censor, and a few hours afterwards, he had given the printing of the book to the Attwell Fleming Company. The reason he did not wait on the censor, he said, was because the temperance convention was on and he had been instructed to have the book ready. He admitted that he knew he was running a risk in bringing out the book, "but we all run risks in war tim,e" he added.

The case was adjourned for a week.

Communists Fail To Gain Control

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

VIENNA, Saturday.—The Communists, it appeared late tonight, had failed in their attempt to seizez control of the Government. Most of Hungarian agitators in Vienna have been arrested and the arrest of Austrian agitators has been begun.

Stuck In The Mud, Goes Up In Flames

STOUFFVILLE, April 21.—Mired in one of the many muck holes that stud the roads at present, a large motor moving van from Toronto on the 9th concession three miles south of here, trying vainly to reach terra firma, became overheated and went up in flames. The van and its load of furniture were a total loss.

Olympic Docked At Noon With 5,500 Soldiers

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

HALIFAX, N.S., April 21.—The Olympic, with five thousand five hundred troops, including the First, Second, Third and Fourth Battalions of the First Brigade, First Division, Canadian Expeditionary Force, entered the harbor at eleven o'clock this morning, docking an hour later.

Reds Are Driven Back On Entire East Front

IN FIGHTING IN THE VIGOZERO REGION THURSDAY THE BOLSHEVIKI ARE DRIVEN TO THE SOUTH A DISTANCE OF EIGHTEEN MILES—REDS ARE REPULSED NEAR UFA.

LONDON, April 21.—A retirement along virtually all of the front in Eastern Russia is admitted by the Soviet Government in a wireless message dated April 16 and received here Saturday.

The message says: "Our troops have retired to new positions 100 versts (about 67 miles) southwest of Strelitamak. We have evacuated Bugurusian, in the Ufa region."

Other retirements "according to plan" are reported in the region of Bugulna, west of Ufa; Menzelinsk, Sarapul, Okhansk, Perm and along the upper Kama River.

On the Murmansk front, it is added, the Bolsheviki have reoccupied Lake Aros.

Pursued in Ice and Slush.

Archangel, Friday, April 21.—Russian and British forces early Friday occupied the village of Bolshe Ozerki and are pursuing the Bolsheviki as they fleet southward over the roads knee-deep in icy slush toward the enemy base on the Vologda Railway at Plesetskaya. The troops entered the village without opposition, the Bolsheviki having completed the work of evacuation during the night.

The reoccupation of Bolshe Ozerki, after months of fighting, restores the second line of communication between Oberzerskaya, on the Vologda Railway and Onega, to the northwest.

Commanded by Geo. Maynard.

London, April 21.—Russian troops under General Maynard, the British commander, crushingly defeated the Bolsheviki in the Lake Vigozero region Thursday, driving them twelve miles to the south, the War Office announced Saturday.

The allied attack, directed at a point along the south-eastern end of the lake, gave them complete control of the lake and the main road to the White Sea. The War Office denied the Bolshevik claims that they had retaken Urozero.

Reds Repulsed at Ufa.

Omsk, Siberia, April 21.—The Russian army repulsed a violent attack on Ufa by the Reds with their best forces and manoeuvred so as to permit the Russians to occupy Belebei and Sterlitamak.

The Reds were thrown completely into disorder. Towards the north the Kama was reached and various places taken as far as Sarapul. In the south Orla was retaken and the advance continues toward Orenburg.

Cossacks Still Fighting.

In the Ural region the Cossacks continue to fight. In the whole advance the people, liberated from the Bolshevist yoke which had been placed upon them by force, joined the Russian forces, adding largely to the number of effectives. The city of Ufa, which was subjected to a reign of terror by the Reds, now breathes freely again.

The workers in the factories of Bolchinsk and Ijevski, who in order to escape oppression by the Bolsheviki, took refuge by the thousands in our lines, have formed a detachment, the operations of which are directed by Col. Mermchanof. These have been remarkably successful in spite of the difficulties which have had to be overcome. The Reds in their retreat abandoned many of the supply trains in the mud as well as artillery and food supplies, these falling into the hands of the victorious Russians.

Hair Tonic In Lieu Of Whiskey

Two Men and Two Women in Flint Died After Debauch.

FLINT, Mich., April 21.—Two men and two women are dead here as a result of an all-night drinking party on Thursday, in which bay rum and some sort of hair tonic, the identity of which has not been established, were indulged in freely by all four The victims are: Mrs. Ada Mook, 34 years old: Mrs. Bess Nestle, 40; Harley Trimble, 35, and Robert Tedham, 37.

Simon Bateman, barber, and William Hicks, teamster, are being held on suspicion of having furnished the bay rum. Bateman was arraigned on the charge of prohibition violation. The prosecutor's office has ordered an analysis of the contents of the stomachs of the victims. The symptoms of all four are said to point to wood alcohol poisoning.

Brockville Woman Loses Valuables

BROCKVILLE, April 21.—Mrs. Albert Gilmour of Brockville was robbed of about $1,500 worth of diamonds and jewellery Thursday night while a guest at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. The thief gained entrance to Mrs. Gilmour's room while she was sleeping, through a door leading to another room, and made his escape without leaving any clue. The robbery is being investigated by the hotel management and the Toronto police.

AN AERIAL CHARTER.

C. P. R. Will Apply for Act Authorizing it to Maintain Services.

Notice is given in the Canada Gazette that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will apply to Parliament for an act authorizing it to establish, maintain and operate services by aircraft between such points within or without Canada as may be found desirable.

Kingston Policeman Died Making Arrest

KINGSTON, April 20—While taking Joseph Feeney to the police station about 4.30 Saturday afternoon Police Sergeant Samuel Arniel had a scuffle with his prisoner at the corner of Brock and Bagot Street, and died from heart failure. Feeney rushed to get into the rig which the police sergeant had called and grappled with him. The two went to the walk with Feeney on top. Police Chief Nesbitt came up the avenue at this juncture and took Feeney in charge, but Arniel did not rise and died a few minutes afterwards before a doctor arrived. Death was pronounced due to heart failure as a result of the scuffle. Arniel was in the best of health to all appearances. He was an old athlete and played with Queen's and Granite rugby teams in the nineties. He was a splendid police constable and local detective. Deceased is survived by his widow and several children.

Prof. W. T. Connell, of Queen's Medical College, later made a postmortem examination and found death was caused by natural causes. Sergt. Arniel's violent effort to hold his prisoner caused his heart to collapse.

Germany May Delay Treaty

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 21—The German reply to the ultimatum of the Council of Four that it will not receive any German delegation not fully empowered to conduct and negotiate peace is awaited anxiously in Peace Conference circles. The next steps toward peace depends on the German reply. Fears are felt in some quarters that this unexpected development may affect the program for the meeting planned for Friday at Versailles. If the German Government in reply to the ultimatum of the council raises a controversy regarding the status of their delegates and procedure to be followed, it is conceivable that the arrival of their delegates at Versailles may be postponed.

Charge Frame-up On Fake Oil Stock

Four New York Men Indicted on Charge of Conspiracy to Defraud.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Indictments charging conspiracy to defraud were returned Thursday by a Federal grand jury against Louis Roumagnac, Benjamin Hurtado Mendoza, George Breen and John Y. Brant, promoters of the Tuxham Star Oil Corporation which had an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, made up of 1,000,000 shares with a par value of $1 a share.

It is charged in the indictments that to promote sale of its stock the company represented that it owned oil-producing lands in Mexico which were earning large returns. The allegation was also made that the promoters used the mails in their selling campaign.

The indictments assert that the defendants intended to have their stock dealt in on the curb markets in New York and Boston, causing the price to advance fictitiously "and then appropriate the proceeds of such sale to their own use."

The four men accused will be arraigned Monday.

Express Employees Won Their Demand

Obtained One of Alternative Requests Hitherto Refused.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 21.—A. R. Mosher, Grand President of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees Friday confirmed the report given out at Ottawa that the Canadian Express strike had been settled. Mr. Mosher stated that the men had been granted one of the alternatives they had demanded, and which had hitherto been refused by the company. He quoted the following despatch received from A. Scholey of Montreal, Chairman of the Canadian Express Employees' General Grievance committee.

"Strike called off. Start work immediately. Legal holidays, eight-hour day and mileage to be decided by Railway Adjustment Board Friday."

BASEBALL MEETING

Tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building a meeting will be held to organize a City Baseball League. All local teams should have representatives present.

Price of Coal Here And Else Where

BROCKVILLE, April 21.—The local merchants have submitted to George K. Dewey the prices of coal to be sold in Brockville from now until April 1, 1920. They have met with the approval of the fuel commissioner. It might be pointed out that these prices will obtain unless something very unforeseen happens in the interval that might cause the price of coal at the mines to advance. Nothing of such a nature is anticipated and the prices outlined below will in all probability be adhered to.

The prices are: Egg coal, $11.75 per ton; chestnut and stove coal, $12 per ton.

For the past year Brockville fared well in so far as coal prices were concerned in comparison with other places. The price here was $11 per ton for all sizes of anthracite. A review of the cost of coal in Brockville and some adjacent municipalities for last year is interesting, being as follows: Gananoque, $12 any kind; Prescott, $11, $11.25, $11; Cornwall, $12 any kind; Perth, $12.50, $12.75, $13; Smith's Falls, $12, $12.50, $12.50; Ottawa, $12, any kind; Belleville, $12.50, any kind; Peterborough, $12.25, $12.75, $12.25, and Kingston, $11.50, any kind.

Easter Day At St. Thomas

The "Queen of Festivals", Easter Day, was fittingly celebrated in the Parish Church of St. Thomas. The rain did not keep away the hundreds that attended services at seven, eight eleven, three-thirty, and seven. In all there were upwards of three hundred communicants who received at the three celebrations, and the offerings exceeded anything in the previous history of the church, amounting in all to over $425.00.

The rector, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish conducted all the services and gave a short Easter address at the Choral celebration. In the evening he preached a short Easter sermon from 1 Cor 15th Chap. and 14th verse, "If Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain and your faith is also vain."

The musical portions of the services were most fittingly and admirably rendered by a very large choir under the able direction of Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., A notable feature both morning and evening, before the procession started towards the Chancel, was the singing of an "Easter Salutation," with solo and chorus. Mrs. Wheatley rendered the solo portions with sweetness and marked expression. A solo was also rendered by Mr. James Booth, at the close of the Choral Celebration, with much power and feeling.

St. Thomas Church people have reason to feel proud of their talented organist and choirmaster and thankful for the beautiful rendering of the services yesterday.

Emmanuel Church Easter Services

The Rev. A. M. Hubly for fourteen years Rector of the parish, recently resigned, and is now rendering valuable assistance to Bishop Brewing at Christ Church, Toronto. The Rev. George Marshall, the newly apointed Rector, previous to his appointment was Associate Rector of Emmanuel Church, Ottawa, and was for upwards of thirty years well known as a preacher in the Counties of Warwickshire, Sussex, Herefordshire and Kent, England. It will be readily understood how much was missed the familiar voice and service of the late rector, but that did not hinder the familiar ter celebrations which were well attended and in every way successful. The congregations at both services were large and appreciative.

At the celebration of Holy Communion there were more than the most sanguine expected. There were many and generous Easter offerings, among others, seventy-five dollars from the Ladies Aid Society; Fifteen dollars from the Sunday School, new vestibule doors, floral decorations from the Society of Christian Endeavor; a baptismal font, the bowl being borne by three eagles on a stand which is secured to an ornamental pedestal, from Mrs. Santer of Emmanuel Church, Ottawa. This lady was one of the Rector's English friends.

The musical arrangements for the day were in the hands of Miss Wilder, the organist, and the choir. In addition to the usual Easter Chants and hymns, two pretty anthems were rendered with great taste and well merited appreciation was freely expressed.

The sermon in the morning was from Col. 3: 1: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek these things which are above where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God." In the evening the subject was from 1st. Cor. 15: 35: "How are the dead raised up and with what body do they come."

The vesper formed a fitting close to another blessed Easter day.

Principal Dyde At John Street

At John Street Presbyterian Church yesterday the pulpit was occupied by Principal Dyde of Queen's Theological College, Kingston, and his discourses were in keeping with the occasion and were of high order. In the evening his text was from 2nd Kings, 6th chapter and 17th verse:

"And Elisha prayed and said Lord, I pray Thee open his eyes that he may see. An the Lord opened the eyes of the young man, he saw, and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire around about Elisha."

The theme of the discourse was a challenge to action in the various walks of life. We should have the seeing eye, and seek to understand life. Jesus had the seeing eye when He was about His Father's business. His crucifixion, death and resurrection cast a new life over the world and it floats in upon us all.

During the service the choir rendered two anthems, entitled "O, Death Where is Thy Sting," the solo part being taken by Mrs. D. M. Clarke, and "I Declare Unto You Good Tidings," the solo being taken by Mrs. Singer. Both ladies were heard to good advantage.

WHISKEY SCARES SPOTTERS

TORONTO, April 19—In giving his evidence before the Meredith Royal Commission, George Morrison, for fourteen years a provincial license inspector, said that conditions surrounding the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act were getting very bad.

"The viloations of the law are now greater than ever," said Mr. Morrison. "The traffic is being carried on in private residences, and it is almost impossible to trace the offenders. Besides, it is a difficult thing to get men to act as detectives on account of the brand of whiskey served. This whiskey is dangerous, in fact poisonous."

I WONDER?

I wonder just how many people came away from the Easter services with more Kindness and Charity in their hearts?

I wonder how many just turned that old HATE over and camouflaged it with loud prayers and singing, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love"?

I wonder how many had their batteries recharged with love and charity and forgiveness for all real and fancied slights and injuries, as the result of their Easter devotions?

If the Eastertide with its wonderful memories of divine compassion and supreme sacrifice does not blot out the HATE from our hearts, what hope have we for mercy for our own sins and shortcomings?

Lest the Easter services be in vain let us try and blot out the past and start a new page devoted to helpful ministry, unselfish devotion to the cause of humanity and a realization that We are our Brother's Keeper in Spirit and in Truth and in Fact.

SCATTERING THE EMBERS OF WAR.

That grave perils menace the peace and prosperity of the whole world is the solemn warning of Premier Lloyd George, than whom no man is better informed as to the significance of the troubles which are cropping up in all parts of the world. Central Europe has its Bolsheviki problem, Egypt is in a ferment of unrest, India is seething with rebellion, Iceland has its Sinn Fein disease, and in every part of the world there are labor disturbances and more or less violent class agitations. Even the Peace Conference is not the happy family it might be and the greatest war of the ages instead of being over appears to be merely scattered..

Germany planted the seeds of discontent in every quarter of the Globe wherever men are gathered together in communities and nations and the harvest is being reaped in blood and tears, sorrow and suffering, while the author and instigator of much of the world's unrest, the ex-Kaiser, is to be a glorified royal exile, protected from his victims and practically pensioned to a life of secluded luxury.

As usual Great Britain is the rock of safety to which all nations look as the greatest force available to bring order out of chaos.

It is a time for big men of infinite tact, superhuman patience and the utmost unselfishness.

Petty politics and the old-world diplomacy of other days must be swept away if the reign of blood and terror is to be succeeded by a peace worth fighting for.

CANADIAN SOLDIER IN THE GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE.

The Easter season has a new significance this year on account of the many wonderful happenings since Eastertide one year ago, with the red tide of war flowing even over historic Bible lands and right up to the gates of old Jerusalem ,and along the highways and byways where the Master, the Prince of Peace, walked and worked for the world's salvation. With the benediction of the Saviour of the world's holy presence still hovering over that land of reverent memories no other result could have been expected than the utter defeat and expulsion of the cruel and filthy Turks and their bestial companions, the Huns, by the Soldiers of the Cross.

Many soldiers of the Allies fortunate enough to serve under Generals Maude and Allenby will have priceless memories of their experiences in that land of mystery, romance and religious history. One such, a soldier from Cobourg, writes the following interesting letter from Jerusalem, where he is a member of the Allied army of occupation, telling of his visits to the wonderful historical places forever sacred, and of especial interest and veneration at this Easter season:

> "I went to the Garden of Gethsemane. Inside an enclosure built by the Latins are the oldest olive trees probably to be found. It is said that an olive tree never dies. When old branches are cut off new shoots spring from the roots. As we looked at these old trees we could easily imagine that they were the same that sheltered our Lord on many occasions, as well as during Passion Week. Outside the entrance there is a certain spot which is pointed out as the place where Jesus left Peter and James and John, telling them to watch while He went to pray, and coming back found them asleep. Then as you go a little to the right there is the fragment of a column, said to mark the very spot where Judas betrayed his Master with a kiss.
> "Going a little further up the mount we came to the Green Garden of Gethsemane, surrounding the Church of St. Mary Magdalene with its seven gilt domes. Then midway between the church and the top of the mount, is a ruin by the side of a clump of trees, and a Latin inscription told us that this was the spot where 'when He came near He beheld the city and wept over it.' The scene today is one of great beauty. From it a magnificent view of the valley and the city is obtained, while all around are towers and mosques, synagogues, churches and other buildings.
> "Upon the summit of the Mount of Olives is a modern squalid village with a large Moslem building, in the courtyard of which is a small chapel, called the Chapel of the Ascension, and containing a rock said to bear the footprint of Christ. From this spot early traditions state our Lord ascended into heaven. The impress of the footprint is plain enough, but that it was that of Jesus is an improbable tradition.
> "There was pointed out to us also the building that marks a spot where Jesus is said to have taught His disciples the Lord's Prayer. In the walls are inserted panels on which is inscribed this prayer in some forty-four different languages."

.·. CRISP COMMENT .·.

The Picton Gazette is to be congratulated upon the excellent War Memorial number recently issued. The memorial special carries many fine half-tones of soldier boys from Picton and vicinity who took a gallant part in the great war, and has also much interesting reading matter of a local historical nature.

Many a man has visited the Old Country with a thousand dollars and returned with an overdraft, but it remained for Hon. Dr. Cody, Provincial Minister of Education, to go overseas with one thousand dollars and return with $875. A trip to Europe on Government business with all expenses paid and one thousand dollars to go and come on and to do the whole thing on $125—the genial doctor must have visited his wife's rich relations.

Not Destroy Kiel Defense

Present Fortifications of Military Waterway to be Preserved.

PARIS, April 21—The naval terms to be incorporated in the Peace Treaty concerning the Kiel Canal and Heligoland have been revised in several important particulars. It was the original plan to destroy the fortifications of the canal, making it a strictly commercial waterway without defenses. The changes that now have been made leave the present fortifications in existence, and provisions have also been inserted permitting of the continuance of the present coast defenses, all of which were to have been destroyed according to the original plan.

The changes concerning Heligoland leave intact the present large basin constructed for the use of submarines during the war. It was concluded that the use of submarines had now been so restricted that the basin no longer constituted a menace, and its continuance was decided upon as providing a useful haven for the North Sea fishing fleet in case of distress. The fortifications of Heligoland are to be dismantled, so that the basin is the only thing retained.

The final disposition of the German fleet is one of the subjects still undecided, and even the highest naval authorities are not aware how the question stands since it passed into the hands of the Council of Four. The disposition to be made of the battleships and battle cruisers is one of the chief things to be determined under the head of naval terms, and the decision will affect the large number of capital ships held under the terms of the armistice.

KISSED WRONG SOLDIER BUT HE DIDN'T MIND

ORANGEVILLE, April 19—There was a big and enthusiastic crowd at the Caledon Station to meet the evening train carrying returned soldiers, several of them local boys. The girls had done some decorating and headed the parade. Several of the young ladies boarded the train, and one of them, seeing the khaki-clad figure she believed to be her objective, threw her arms about him and bombarded him with kisses. He was a soldier, and it is suspected he launched a counter-attack.

Then came the revelation. When then enthusiastic "sister" realised her mistake she was covered with confusion and nearly fainted. There were those who were inclined to enjoy her predicament.

Not so a white-haired mother who had lost her "baby-boy" over there and was down to meet her returning first-born with his Military Medal.

"Don't feel badly, dear,," she said to the embarrassed girl, "they are all worth it—every one of them."

German Fired U.S. Troopship

Allowed on by Allies' Permission, Sets Vessel on Fire.

BOSTON, April 19—A German agent allowed on the transport Patricia, to look out for German property, attempted to set fire to the vessel Wednesday night as it was nearing Boston with more than 2,000 American soldiers, according to Major Frank W. Cavanaugh, of the 102nd Field Artillery, one of the officers on board.

The man had been locked in a stateroom because of his actions. When a guard left the room, the German, whose name is Fisher, is alleged to have manipulated electric wires in such a way as to start a blaze in the stateroom. The guard found a lively fire burning when he returned.

Members of the crew extinguished the fire and Fisher was placed in irons. The German was one of five of his countrymen placed on board the Patricia by consent of the Allied governments to watch the Hamburg-American line's property. He was formerly a second officer on a German merchant ship.

The Patricia, which hails from Hamburg, is one of the first German merchant ships turned over to the Allies, ad she was put into the transport service at Brest.

Jury In Chicago Convicts "Keough"

Desperate Struggle Continues in Bavarian Capital.

CHICAGO, April 21—Harry Harris, alias "Christmas Keough," whose swindling of jewelers during the week preceding Christmas Day for several years had earned him a national police record and his sobriquet, Friday was found guilty of operating a confidence game by a jury which deliberated but minutes. Harris refused to offer a defense.

"Christmas Keough" had eluded the police for several years until last Christmas when he was arrested in Pittsburg. He is said to have passed so many forged traveller's cheques for $200 each drawn against the Canadian Bank of Commerce, that that institution at one time ceased issuing cheque of that denomination. He had a reputation of operating for one week, obtaining jewelry and money in exchange for forged cheques, afterwards sojourning in London. The police credit him with obtaining nearly $500,000.

MRS. DOOLEY'S ADVICE TO WORKING GIRLS

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I wish all girls who work and suffer from functional disorders would profit by my advice and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I was married, when I came home from work at night, I would be just worn out with pains which dragged me down. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel like a new woman. I can work from morning until night and it does not bother me, and I wish all girls who suffer as I did would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. H. Dooley, 1135 25th Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Working girls everywhere should profit by Mrs. Dooley's experience, and instead of dragging along from day to day with life a burden, give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It has overcome just such conditions for thousands of others, and why not for you? For special advice, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

Illegitimate Child Of Prussianism

Laid on Doorstep of World, Says Rev. Chas. Eaton, of Bolshevism.

TORONTO, April 19—Rev. Dr. Chas. A. Eaton told the Empire Club Thursday that he does not believe in sprinkling the Germans with rose water. "They assassinated the peace of the world,," he declared, "and instead of patting them on the back and making a pious peace, let them have their medicine."

Dr. Eaton handed out a few "bouquets" to the Bolsherists.

"Bolshevism," he said, 'was born in the bowels of Prussianism; It is the illegitimate child of Prussianism laid on the doorstep of the world."

Further he said: "Bolshevism will fail because it is distinctly and essentially a class movement No civilization founded on one class ever succeeded. Bolshevism is Prussian autocracy turned upside down."

To Bolsherists he would say:

"The universe is against you. God is against you. Nothing is permanent but that which is founded on the principles of justice."

Gosh! How my back aches!

After influenza or colds the kidneys and bladder are often affected—called "nephritis," or inflammation of the kidneys.

This is the red-flag of danger—better be wise and check the further inroads of kidney disease by obtaining that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's known as "Anuric" (anti-uric), because "Anuric" expels the uric acid poison from the body and cures those pains, such as backache, rheumatism in muscles and joints.

Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists; or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

Dr. Pierce's Anuric is many times more potent than lithia and often eliminates uric acid as hot tea melts sugar.

Port Hope, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Anuric is the best kidney remedy I have ever taken. For many years I suffered with my kidneys. I would have backaches, my eyes would puff, and I would have dizzy spells. I also suffered with my bladder, would have scalding, and secretion would be thick and full of sediment. I have taken nearly every well-known kidney remedy on the market, but I have received more relief since taking Anuric than ever before. My back does not bother me and the secretion has cleared and does not smart or burn. I am better in every way than I have been for years.—[illegible], Box 66.

Beautiful Easter Services At Bridge St.

The music at Bridge Street Church yesterday was especially of a festival character. The very efficient choir sang the anthems, carols, hymns with fine spirit and finish. Two ancient carols, Flemish and Norse, "On Easter Morn," and "Let the Song be Begun" were most attractive, and the anthem "O Death, where is Thy Sting" by Turner, a joyful song of triumph, was magnificent in its dignity and notes of hopefulness; it contained the solo, "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" which is a little gem and was well rendered by Mrs. McKinnon, who always delights by her unaffected manner and sweet quality of voice.

Mrs. Wilmot's solo, "Alleluia! Christ is risen," was undoubtedly the outstanding number of the morning service. Seldom has Mrs. Wilmot been heard with greater delight, her clear, ringing, soprano voice filling the church, the closing cadence of the beautiful song was most impressive. "Christ is Risen; God of Love." Miss Helen Hunt in the violin obligato to this song played in a faultless manner and the violin seemed to pulsate with the spirit of the message of the song.

Miss Helen Simpkins sang at the evening service and although suffering with a cold, sang beautifully, her solo being a fitting conclusion to the joyful service.

Mr. Sam Anglin has never been heard to greater advantage than in his interpretation of Granier's "Hosanna," the song par excellence for Easter, which was most satisfying.

The organist, Mr. V. P. Hunt, certainly excelled himself in the direction of the music and the organ offertories and accompaniments were beautiful compositions.

The sermons by Rev. Dr. Scott fitted into the occasion perfectly and harmonized with the beautiful Easter music, breathing a message of hope and love and helpfulness, sermons aimed at the heart more than the head with something to help everybody.

Music And Drama

LAUGHTER AND TEARS

Millions of people have laughed and cried with Father Kelley, the chief figure in "The Rosary," and millions more are destined to do so again, as this striking and gently wholesome play has been revived by Messrs Rowland and Clifford and is now being sent out on its mission of cheer and happiness. This play, which is from the pen of Edward E. Rose author of a large number of successful plays, has been retouched here and there and comes back to the footlights after a short respite, more appealing and more powerful in its lesson than ever before.

"The Rosary" which will come to Griffin's Opera House tomorrow night tells a story that is fascinating in every way. The central and guiding figure is that of Rev. Father Brian Kelly, Catholic priest, played by Oscar O'Shea whose great aim in life is to do all the good he can for his fellow men, of whatever creed or lack of creed. But while the play and story drive home a great moral lesson, the play and story are not sermons, and the lessons are not driven home with long faces and hypocritical palaver.

"THE GHOSTS OF YESTERDAY"

Norma Talmadge ranks high in the estimation of film fans all over the country. She is a player of genius whose remarkable versatility has evidenced itself in a series of roles as antipodal in conception, methods and execution as it is possible to conceive, but in each portrayal, light or heavy, tragic or humorous, her artistry never is at fault. In her recent success "De Luxe Annie" she had a role of unusual dramatic power, but in "The Ghosts of Yesterday," in which she is appearing at the Palace tonight to Wednesday, matinee daily, she will be seen in a characterization that will stamp her as an actress second to none in the silent drama. A very funny Luke comedy and Pathe News will also be exhibited.

SKINFLINT ROUTED BY BEAUTY AND WIT

Corinne Metrose, beautiful and accomplished, but unfortunate enough to be stranded in a small town, when her show goes on the rocks, put her beauty and wit to a good account when she succeeded in entangling Deacon Simpson so that he was forced to act like a white man in regard to his mortgage on the little home of Aunt Tiny Colvin. This incident forms the central idea of the story of Dorothy Dalton's new picture "Hard Boiled" which will be screened at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night. Miss Dalton as the prima donna, does some of the finest acting of her career. The country town types are well presented and the manner in which the clever girl outwits the shrewd and rascally old Deacon will prove highly edifying to the spectator. "Beware of Boarders," a very amusing Mack Sennett comedy and a Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoon forms the balance of the photo play program. Tonight marks the introduction of quality vaudeville at the popular playhouse, the management announcing that vaudeville will be presented the first three days of each week in future. Smith and King in a study in black an tan, and Winnifred Evans, concert soprano, will be seen at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night.

APRIL 21 TO 26
CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC
Inseparably Associated with
EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul; but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

Buy a piano, a player piano or a phonograph and celebrate this Easter with music in your own home and provide the means whereby music may be an ever available friend and companion.

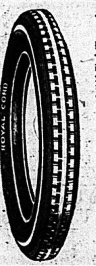
Royal Cord

The Master Creation of Canada's Leading Tire Builders



WERE ease and comfort their only superior qualities, they would still be the choice of every car-owner who could afford them.

But they are more than a luxury, they are a delightful economy.

Their marvellous construction of tens of thousands of cords, each imbedded in pure rubber, makes a tire that is practically proof against blow-outs. Yet so yielding and resilient is the tire-structure and tire-wall that the shock of most road obstructions is absorbed. It also relieves the non-skid tread of a portion of its strain, and reduces side-slipping without impairing the ease in steering.

Careful tests show that a car equipped with "ROYAL CORD" TIRES makes more miles per gallon of gasoline than the same car can make on fabric tires. This saving alone pays the difference in cost.

With blow-outs reduced to a minimum; and a practical saving in gasoline; there is ample proof of the sound economy of "ROYAL CORD" Tires.

Then, too, there is the luxury of easy riding, and the assurance of having the finest tires that can be made.

"DOMINION" INNER TUBES

are made expressly to fit "Royal Cord" Tires, as well as the other five treads of "Dominion" Tires. Be sure to have your tires fitted right—with "Dominion" Inner Tubes.

DOMINION TIRES and ACCESSORIES are distributed through DOMINION RUBBER SYSTEM BRANCHES and sold by the best dealers throughout Canada. 157

CITY AND COUNTRY

AWARDED THE D. C. M.

Sergt. W. K. Somers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Somers, of Mountain Grove, is visiting relatives in this vicinity. Sergt. Somers has just returned from overseas, after being in the service for three years and six months. He enlisted as a Stretcher-Bearer in the 9th Can. Field Ambulance at Montreal. Going to France he was in some heavy battles and was severely wounded. He received the D.C.M. for carrying a wounded soldier 2½ miles on his back to a dressing station when there was no other means to carry him. Just returning from overseas about two weeks ago, he is visiting relatives and friends.

A FORGER WANTED

Last week a man representing himself as G. L. Cousins, a traveller for the Dominion Abrasive Company of Niagara Falls, put over a worthless cheque for $35 on A. E. Wood, proprietor of the British Hotel, Cobourg, on which he obtained an advance of $10. When the cheque was presented it came back marked "no funds." Cousins, alias George Walker, is described as a man, 30 years of age, about five feet nine inches tall, about 155 pounds in weight, clean shaven, reddish complexion, rather sandy hair, black overcoat, chamois gloves, carries a light colored cane and a grip. Chief Ruse has sent out his description to the police of the province, asking for Cousins' arrest.

ACCEPTS TRENTON CALL

Captain (Rev.) W. G. Clarke, who went overseas as Chaplain of the [illegible] Battalion, will return, it is said, some time in May, and has cabled his intention of accepting the pastorate of the King street Methodist church at Trenton. RCaptain Clarke was invit-Trenton. Captain Clarke was invitnacle, Belleville, where he closed a pastorate several years ago before accepting the pastorate of Bowmanville Methodist church.

COUNCIL MEETING POSTPONED

Owing to to-day being a public holiday the City Council meeting has been postponed until to-morrow evening.

FAILED TO FIND ADDRESS

Mr. John Brennan, a farmer, left with the police here the price of a bag of potatoes which he sold to a lady on Saturday and was unable to find her address.

DEATH OF AGED YEOMAN

Mr. Marshall Burr, of Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, died on Sunday morning. Deceased was 79 years of age, and had been a life long resident of the county. A brother, Mr. Peter Burr of Bloomfield, survives.

BURGLARS AT GANANOQUE

Burglars broke into the store of Stuchen Bros., Gananoque, prying open the front door. A case of jewelry was stripped, while boots and clothing were also taken. The "Fair," corner of King and Charles Streets, was also entered by forcing the front door tobacco and other articles being taken. The police were notified at once and are on the job.

AUTO TIRES RECOVERED.

About a month ago four large times, nearly new, were taken off cars the property of Ald. Bone, Mr. George Graham and Mr. J. G. Moffatt, of this city. This morning Police Officer Deshane recovered the stolen tires. They were found secreted under some bushes on the north side of College street.

PTE. SHEA ARRIVES HOME.

Private John Shea of this city arrived home at an early hour this morning and was warmly greeted by relatives and friends. He enlisted with the 59th Battalion and was transferred to the 13th Highland Battalion. Pte. Shea was in a number of battles but fortunately escaped being wounded.

CAPT. H. G. MORROW, M.C.

The name of Capt. Herman Gladstone Morrow, M.C. with Bar, of the Fourth Battalion, has appeared in the new list of those invested by King George. The M. C. was won at the Drocourt-Queant line in September, and the Bar at the battle of Cambrai. Capt. Morrow enlisted as a private in the Q. O. R., 19th Battalion, in Oct. 1914, and has won his honors and promotions on the field, his lieutenancy at St. Eloi, and mentioned in despatches after the Somme. He is returning with the Fourth Battalion on the S. S. Olympic. Capt. Morrow, now of Galt, is well known to many in Belleville, where he lived for some time with his parents. His father was a former teacher in Belleville High School.

JUSTICE TEMPERED

Saturday afternoon a young returned soldier appeared before His Honor Judge Wills on a charge of theft of a pocketbook under peculiar circumstances. He was delivering a parcel at a house in the city in company with another boy. The accused's story was that he did not steal the pocketbook or see it but sent the other boy in the house with a parcel and sometime afterwards the other boy gave the accused a pocketbook, and a small sum of money much less than was missed by the lady living in the house. While technically the accused was an accessory after the fact His Honor decided to be merciful to the accused who though only eighteen years of age had been so patriotic as to enlist three times, twice being discharged as under age and the last time taken to France where he was gassed and sent home. The lady who lost the money stated that she did not wish to pursue the charge and His Honor let the accused go suspended sentence. W. Carnew for the Prosecution; W. C. Mikel for the accused.

WILL ARRIVE HERE WEDNESDAY

It was expected that the Belleville and Hastings County boys who are members of the 2nd Battalion would arrive here tomorrow, but as the steamer Olympic which conveyed them across did not dock at Halifax until noon today they will not be due here until some time Wednesday afternoon. In order to give citizens notice as to the arrival of the train here, Ald. Hanna has arranged to have bells ring and whistles blow fifteen minutes before its arrival. A reception in accordance with the plan outlined in Saturday's issue will be carried out.

APRIL 21 TO 28
CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC
Inseparably Associated with
EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for commemorating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

Mrs. Cairns Was Almost In Despair

Nothing She Did For Her Troubles Helped Her Till She Took Tanlac

"I had suffered so long without being able to get anything to help me that I was almost in despair," said Mrs. Bessie Cairns, of 81 Sherbourne St., Toronto, Ont., recently.

"For five years," she continued, "my stomach was out of order, and I couldn't digest by food properly. I had such a tight feeling in my chest that I could scarcely breathe, and at times the gas would press on my heart so that I felt as if I were smothering. I had attacks of acute indigestion so often that I was afraid to leave the house for fear one of these awful spells might come on me and I felt miserable and wornout all the time.

"My first bottle of Tanlac helped me so much that I kept it up and now I can eat anything I want without having these terrible smothering spells afterwards. Every sign of indigestion has gone; my nerves are calm and I sleep like a baby. Tanlac has done so much for me that I feel I am only doing right in telling others about it."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling, by J. S. Morton, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Easter Services At Christ Church

"Christ, our Passover is slain for us—then let us keep the feast with sincerity and truth;" that these words from the Easter Passover had a decided effect on the congregation of Christ Church was evidenced yesterday by the large number that assembled to celebrate the passover of the greatest of all victors.

The morning service was of an Eucharistic nature, and three hundred and six communicated.

The offering far surpassed any in the history of the church. The Choral Communion was sung by the choir, as also were two anthems, "Why Seek Ye," the solo part being taken by Mrs. Lang, and "On Wings of Living Light."

In the evening in addition to the regular service there were special psalms and hymns. The familiar words of the Cantate "With His own right hand and with His Holy Arm hath He begotten Him the Victory, reminded the congregation that this is the first Peace Easter and that the gloom of the last four years had been lifted by the same mighty victor. The beautiful anthem "Hosanna," by Granier, was sung by Miss Anna Ponton soprano soloist, in excellent voice, and during the offertory "They have taken Him away," by Stainer" was taken by Miss Ponton and Mr. Hall. The singing by the large choir was rendered with spontaniety and dignity and reflected great credit on Miss Eva P. Lavoie, choir director. Mrs. Campbell presided at the organ in her usual experienced manner and at the close of the services played the Hosanna from the Messiah. The rector, Rev. G. Swayne, preached excellent Easter sermons.

The altar was lavishly decorated with Easter and Cala lilies, and as one looked at the place over which hangs the British, French, Belgian and American flags, it was with perhaps a tinge of regret that this was the last festival in which the altar would share, for this untiring congregation will soon erect a magnificent hand-carved altar as a memorial to the splendid church goers who answered the call of King and Country and some of whom celebrated their first Peace Easter in the "Great Beyond."

Buy Your Home NOW
All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

TIGERS 19—MAPLE LEAVES 6

A very exciting ball game took place on Friday afternoon,, April 18th on the play grounds of "Anne Street School." The game was between two city league teams namely the "Tigers" and the "Maple Leaves." The game proved very interesting to the few spectators and the base ball fans who failed to witness this game should be on hand for the next one. Although it was only an exhibition game and not a league game the young ball players who compose the team of the Tigers show some excellent ball playing and after a little more practice and the pitcher who had an accident a few weeks ago regains his strength should be able to compete with any team of their own size in the city. The Maple Leaves are quick and energetic and only need more practice when they will make things very hot for the Tigers. The game started at two-thirty and the boys played for two hours. The game ended with a score of nineteen to six in favor of the Tigers.

Germany Will Take a Vote On Peace Terms Acceptance

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

BERLIN, April 22.—Appurtenances for an election, such as voting booths, lists and clerks, are all in readiness for an immediate plebiscite on the peace terms, which can be completed all over Germany in forty-eight hours, according to information secured from sources close to the Government. Preparations have been going on secretly for several days, it is declared, and if terms are published one morning the referendum can be taken the next day and the answer can go to the Entente forty-eight hours later. It is asserted that the only probable chance of an affirmative answer would be in case there is an agreement to negotiate the details of terms. Thus, if an indemnity is fixed Germany cannot hope to dispute the total, but must be allowed to send experts to discuss ways and means of payment, it is said.

Rounding Up Ontario Moonshipers

PORT ARTHUR, April 22—What is believed to be the largest still ever operated at the head of the lakes was discovered and destroyed by License Inspector A. R. Elliott and Dominion Inspector McKirdy on Friday. The officers had a thrilling experience traversing the roughest of northern country, finally locating the still, built into the side of a hill and approached by an underground entrance.

The two inspectors had a hazardous trip. For five fruitless hours they were lost on the trial. At times they had to stop and thaw out their feet. Eventually, however,, a "ski trial" gave them a clue. Through a subterranean channel, guns in hand, they finally broke into what resembled a huge room.

There they found two stoves, two forty gallon barrels, one half hogshead containing about forty gallons and a complete and well constructed plant was in operation.

Everything was ready for a "big brew."

The mash is estimated to have cost approximately $1,500. The liquor which would have been made from it would have been valued at between four and five thousand dollars.

The "house" in which the still was found was set fire to. The contents were totally destroyed and the worm and boilers brought into the city and handed over to the inspector of inland revenue.

Seeks To Divorce Ex-Crown Prince

"Little Willie" is Brutal Husband and Beat His Wife.

ZURICH, April 22.—The former German Crown Princess Cecile has taken steps to divorce her husband, Frederick William, according to a statement given to Swiss newspapers by the former Grand Duchess Anastasie of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, mother of the former Crown Princess. The statement says that it long has been the desire of Cecile to divorce her husband, but that the pressure of the Hohenzollern family up to this time had prevented her from carrying it out. The statement of the Grand Duchess charges Frederick William with cruelty to his wife, saying: "On one occasion some time ago the situation became so unbearable that my daughter actually fled from her home. She almost succeeded in reaching Switzerland. Orders were sent from Berlin to intercept her, and she was captured at the German frontier like a common criminal and taken to Berlin under arrest.

"My daughter will be able to place before the German court overwhelming evidence against her husband and will be able to prove many instances of the grosses cruelty against him. His infidelities were numerous, and there is abundant proof of them. His brutality was atrocious. On more than one occasion my daughter was treated with actual violence. She was bruised and her face was disfigured by her husband's blows."

MESSAGE FROM SKY

WASHINGTON, April 22—From an airplane flying 2,000 feet overhead an army officer yesterday read a Victory Loan message from President Wilson to a throng of 15,000 people assembled at the Treasury building, by the use of the wireless telephone and a newly invented sound amplifier. This was the feature of the capital's opening demonstration for the $1,000,000,000 loan. The message as spoken through the air was enunciated distinctly to those below.

Part Of India Under Martial Law

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited

SIMLA, India, Sunday —Martial law has been proclaimed in Gujerat district. Gujerat is in the northern part of Bombay Presidency, the principal cities being surat, Ahmedabad and Baroda. It has a population of over nine million.

QUEBEC VEAL SEIZED AS UNFIT FOR USE

QUEBEC, April 22.—The seizure of 2,300 pounds of veal, which is unfit for consumption, was made at Isle Verts by Dr. E. M. A. Savard, an inspector of the provincial board of health. The meat was consigned to one of the largest firms in this city, and Dr. C. R. Paquin, city health officer, speaking Saturday night, said that there was a big movement on by wholesale dealers and manufacturers of sausages to get this meat in different parts of the province. He said the practice was dishonest and, besides, was dangerous for public health. He said that thirty carcasses of veal had been confiscated yesterday and fifteen were taken to-day.

Young Murderer Reprieved At Last

MONTREAL, April 22—After spending more than ten months within the shadow of the gallows, and with only six more days to live Aurele Veuillette the man who murdered Paul Morin and his son Paul at Snake River in the fall of 1917, has at last received executive clemency and will not hang, although he must pass the remainder of his days within prison walls.

News of the commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment was received by Dr. L. J. Lemieux, sheriff of Montreal, from Thomas Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State.

Veuillette was to have been removed from Bordeau jail to Bryson, the county seat of Pontiac, where he was condemned to death on June 28, 1918, and where the execution was to have taken place next Friday.

The crime for which Veuillette was sentenced was committed in a fit of anger against Morin because the latter had refused Veuillette permission to pay addresses to his daughter.

Following his conviction by a jury at Bryson, W. K. McKeown, K.C, lodged an appeal with the Court of Appeal, which was dismissed. A stay of execution was then secured from the Supreme Court, pending an appeal before that Court. This appeal was dismissed on April , and in accordance the date for execution was fixed for Friday of this week. Meanwhile, however, a petition was drawn up in which the Governor-in-Council was urged to extend execution clemency on the account of the extreme youth of the accused—Veuillette being only 18 years old when the crime was committed—which was finally heeded at Ottawa.

"ON THE JOB" —THAT'S ALL

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 22—In a Niagara Falls, N.Y., theatre the other evening there was a clever bit of repartee. Pictures of the American troops in France were being shown on the screen.

"Where are the Canadians?" somebody in the audience called out. Immediately there came in a well-modulated voice from a back seat:

Credits of $75,000,000 have been established in Europe by Canada and $25,000,000 more is likely, but according to the C. T. C. this only touches the fringe of the world-wide trade openings.

Two Week's Repreive For Charles Cooper

TORONTO, April 22—Charles Cooper, who was to have been hanged on Friday for the murder of an old man named Taylor at Tomstown, Temiskaming, had been granted a reprieve of two weeks on further evidence having come to light. On the doomed man's last day the message of reprieve was telegraphed from Ottawa to Mr. Justice Logie who could not be found at Osgoode Hall and it was not until eight o'clock at night that the authorities and the prisoner at North Bay were informed of the reprieve.

George Mitchell, of Cobalt, appeared before Mr. Justice Logie at Osgoode Hall this morning, on behalf of the prisoner and laid before his Lordship a statement of the new evidence in the case. This will be submitted to the Minister of Justice.

The murder of Taylor, which took place on May 24, occurred when Cooper and two companions broke into the victim's house. A tussle ensued, in which Taylor received fatal injuries. Cooper's accomplices were released largely on medical evidence but now, it is stated, the theory is that the fatal blow was administered by one of the companions.

Wood Alcohol Killed a Soldier

KINGSTON, April 22—Private Edward Quinn, a returned soldier patient at Queen's Military Hospital, died as a result of wood alcohol poisoning, according to a medical enquiry which was conducted by Dr. S. E. Mundell, coroner. It is supposed that Quinn took the alcohol in mistake for "high wine," and that he secured the poison in Ottawa while on leave last week. He gave some of the liquid to a companion, but the doctors were able to save the latter's life.

Quinn went overseas with the 146th Battalion and was returned to Canada suffering from a gunshot wound in the jaw. He arrived at Queen's Military Hospital on March 8th and had since been undergoing treatment.

WANT BIG GRATUITY

SYDNEY, N.S., April 22—A demand for a gratuity of $2,000 for each man who has served in France is embodied in a resolution passed by the Sydney branch of the Great War Veterans' Association and forwarded to other branches and to the provincial command for endorsation before being presented to the federal authorities at Ottawa. The resolution disparages the Dominion Government's land settlement scheme, pointing out that only a very small percentage of the returned men have any desire to become farmers, hence the demand for ready cash.

ACTOR SAVED SITUATION

TORONTO, April 22—What might have been a panic was averted on Saturday night in the Grand Opera House, through the presence of mind of Oscar O'Shea, who appeared during past week as Father Kelly, in "The Rosary." At a moment when a strong odor of burning clothing filled the theatre and a rattle resembling fire apparatus vibrated through the house the actor made a neat little Irish speech. The orchestra played on unconcernedly as he told the worrying audience that if there was any danger, "devil the actor would be seen about.' In the cloak-room at the time members of the fire department were hunting out the trouble. It was found that some man, before checking his coat, had placed a lighted pipe thoughtlessly in a pocket. The damage was estimated at $5.

FOCH GIVES INTERVIEW

LONDON, April 22.—Marshal Foch in an interview with Ward Price, Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail, predicted that fifty years hence the Germans, if given the opportunity, will make another assault on France and Great Britain.

"Now that we have reached the Rhine we must stay there," Foch was quoted as saying. "It is our only safety. We must have it as a barrier and we must double lock the door.

"Remember those 70,000,000 Germans will always be a menace to us. They are a people both envious and warlike. Their antural characteristics have not been changed by the events of the last four years. Fifty years hence they will be what they are today. The net time the Germans will make no mistake. They will break through northern France and seize the channel ports as a base of operations against England."

Revolution Breaks Out In Turkey

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 22.—A revolution has broken out in Turkey and a Soviet Government has been declared. The revolutionary committee has been established at Constantinople, according to a telegram received here from Kiev, quoting the Bolshevik representative at Odessa, who says that the Turkish consul there has received official announcement of the change in government.

Rumanian Troops Defeat Hungarians

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

AMSTERDAM, April 22.—The Hungarian Government, headed by Bela Kun, has resigned under pressure of Rumanian troops, according to a despatch to the Central News Agency from Vienna, quoting reports received in that city by aerial mail from Budapest. Chaos is said to prevail at the Hungarian capital. It is reported that Czech forces have joined the Rumanians expedition and have defeated the Hungarian Soviet troops. It is said that a Social-Democratic government headed by Sigmund Kunfi, the present commissioner of education, may succeed to control.

Eighteen Months For Bogus War Hero

OTTAWA, April 22.—For unlawfully wearing a major's uniform, wound stripes to which he was not entitled, and a military medal, Robert William Gunter, alias Major Robert William Campbell, was sentenced to a fine of $900 or 18 months in jail, the judgment being $300 fine or six months in jail for each of the three offences. He went to jail.

Before eh was sentenced, Gunter told the court he had been to the front and was wounded twice. On these grounds he asked for mercy. The magistrate said he should not be shown any mercy. "It seems to me," he continued, "the punishment is very light and I have no hesitation in passing this sentence."

Gunter was arrested two weeks ago by Captain Stuart Bate, assistant deputy adjutant provost marshal. He pleaded guilty to all three charges and was remanded for sentence last week. In Montreal the accused told many tales of his exploits overseas, including one concerning the execution of Karl Lody, the German spy, shot in London Tower. He said he had Lody out to dinner the evening before he was put to death.

PETERBORO' SECURES FACTORY

Peterborough, April 22.—Announcement was officially made Monday of the establishment in Peterborough of the Stickney Motors, Ltd., a concern capitalized at $1,500,000. Negotiations that have been carried on between Mr. Charles A. Stickney, of St. Paul, Minn., and the City Council resulted in the new industry securing a fixed assesment of $10,000 for ten years except school taxes and local improvements. The new company will take over the plant recently vacated by the Renfrew Mfg. Co., and originally built by the Canadian Cordage Co., and will manufacture motor trucks, tractors and gasoline engines.

Famous Aviator Falls To Death

PARIS, April 22.—It was announced at Vallacoublay Monday, that aviator Vedrines had fallen about 10.30 o'clock at a place called Les Fouillouses, near the town of Strambert-D'Albon, in the Department of Drome, on the Rhone River, south of Lyons. Vedrines and his mechanician were killed and the machine smashed to pieces.

Vedrines left Villacoublay with the intention of making a non-stop flight to Rome. The airplane he used was built to bombard Berlin and weighed 5½ tons. He had strong wind at his back when he left Villacoublay at 8.30 a.m.

It is believed the accident was due to the machine collapsing in the air. The aviators fell from a great height and the death of both of them was instantaneous. The mail sack which Vedrines was carrying to Rome was found among the debris of the machine.

We imported over $400,000,000 worth of goods or products from the United States last year. The C. T. C. thinks that by a little extra effort these could be produced in Canada.

Belleville Soldier Committed Suicide

Took His Own Life While Despondent —Recently Returned from Overseas.

While in a state of mental aberration brought about by despondency, through illness George E. Eves, a returned soldier, yesterday afternoon ended his life by sending a bullet through his heart from a revolver. The deed was committed in a shed in the rear of the family residence, 9 Ridley Street, city, and while all members of the family were absent. The unfortunate man left a note to his mother stating that he was despondent and asked her forgiveness for the rash act.

The mother left George home alone while she came down town to do some shopping. Upon her return she found the body lying in the shep and at first she thought he had been the victim of a fainting spell. Neighbors were summoned and the truth was revealed. Near by lay the revolver, and a wound on left breast indicated the course the bullet had taken.

The note to the mother was found on a table in the house.

Dr. Yeoman, cornoner was summoned but after making a few enquiries it was decided unnecessary to hold an inquest.

Deceased was the fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eves and was 27 years of age. He was born at Kent, England, and came out to Canada some nine years ago. He was formerly a lineman for the Hydro Electric Power Commission, but recently, when working, had been employed at the G. T. R. round house. In January 1918 he signed up with the Cobourg Heavy Battery and was overseas for some time. He subsequently received an honorable discharge and was sent home. Eves was a member of the I.O. F. Society and a member of the Great War Veterans' Association. His untimely death is sincerely regretted by his many friends.

In addition to the parents, four brothers and three sisters survive. The brothers, Albert and William of Belleville, Harry and Alfred overseas. A brother, Charles, was killed at the battle of Ypres. The sisters are Mrs. Wm. Michand, Mrs. John Noakes and Miss Ada. To the grief stricken family will be extended the sympathy of many friends.

Many Soldiers Came On S.S. Olympic

HALIFAX, April 22.—The Olympic, with 5,500 troops, including the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Battalions of the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, Canadian Expeditionary Force, entered the harber at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, docking an hour later.

The Units Arriving.

The units arriving on the Olympic were debarked and entrained in the following order:

6th Field Battery, Halifax; 3rd Battalion, Toronto; 4th Battalion, Toronto; 3rd Tunneling Company, Toronto; 1st Battalion, London; 2nd Battalion, Kingston; 3rd and 4th Field Batteries and 1st Field Ambulance, Kingston; 5th and 6th Batteries, Montreal.

Brig.-Gen. McCuaig, C.M.G., D. S. O., and bar, was the senior officer aboard the Olympic. He stated that the troops had had a pleasant trip across, although a great deal of fog had been encountered. The spirits of the men never dampened, however, and the conduct of the troops throughout the voyage was exemplary.

British Premier Will Meet Irish

PARIS, April 22.—David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, has agreed to receive former Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois; Frank P. Walsh, former Chairman of the National War Labor Board, and Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia next week. The Americans were chosen by the Irish societies in the United States to appeal to the Peace Conference on behalf of Ireland.

The arrangement for the meeting was made by Col. Edward H. House of the American peace delegation at luncheon today at the residence of the British Premier. Mr. Lloyd George said he was unable to receive the Americans this week owing to the pressure of business connected with the Peace Treaty, and requested them to remain over for a conference until next week.

It is expected that the Americans will take up with Mr. Lloyd George the question of his receiving the delegates from Ireland who are coming to Paris.

C. N. R. Express Left The Rails

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, April 22.—The Canadian National train of the C. N. R. was derailed at five a.m. at Elgin, sixty-four miles west of Ottawa. Six of the eleven coaches left the track but nobody was injured. Among the passengers were Sir Thomas White, Hon. S. C. Mewburn and D. B. Hanna, president of the road. An extra train was made up and left Elgin for Ottawa at nine-fifteen.

Two Babies On S. S. Grampian

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 22.—Chaperoned by babes, happy mothers and brave fathers made up the passenger list of the C. P. O.'s Grampian, which docked here following an uneventful voyage from Liverpool. All the soldiers who returned were married men, and bringing their wives and children. There were in all 354 men, eight officers, 1,179 civilian adults and 288 children. There was also a party of nine Americans on their way home, in addition to a party of five Newfoundland ship-wrecked seamen. There were two births on the voyage, both girls, one to Mrs. Germaine Durand, who is on her way to Ottawa, and one to Mrs. Susan Riddle, going to Quebec. The mothers are coming to this country for the first time.

One of the most interesting of the Grampian's passengers was Miss Annie Jones, now on her way to far-off British Columbia, where she, with her mother, is going to settle. She is said to be one of the very few women of the British army who has fallen a victim of German gas. Miss Jones was a member of the British Red Cross and persisted in going right up to the front lines under heavy fire at the memorable fight of St. Julien, where the Germans used their gas to such deadly effect.

BREAD BAKED ROUND TINS CONTAINING ALCOHOL

TORONTO, April 21 — Something new in the way of camouflaging liquor was introduced into Toronto by John Belyk, a foreigner, who paid $300 and costs for his breach of the Ontario Temperance Act. Belyk stepped off the train and plain clothesmen McMahon and aWterhouse thought there was something suspicious about the grip he carried. Belyk declared the contents to be bread, and the officers on opening the grip found two large, nicely browned loaves. The weight of the loaves roused further suspicion, and on the crust being broken a tin of alcohol in each loaf was exposed to view. The bread had been baked round the tins. Belyk denied ownership of the grip and the contents, which he stated had been given him by a St. Catharines man on the train to carry.

SYRIAN LEPER AT LARGE: FLEES FROM PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, April 22—Jacob Faan, a Syrian leper found in a Syrian boarding house at 247 North Sixteenth Street, on Saturday afternoon disappeared before the arrival of an ambulance which was to convey him to the Leprosarium of the Municipal Hospital.

Twelve hours after the leper's escape was discovered, a quarantine was placed upon the house by the police. It was removed five hours later when the health authorities were satisfied that the leper had fled to New York.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE.

The Locomotive Firemen and Engineers held a very successful dance in Johnstone's Academy last evening. The attendance was very large and the manner in which the affair was handled reflects great credit on the committee. Music was supplied by Sprague's Orchestra, which responded willingly to the numerous encores, which were highly appreciated by the merry-makers.

STOLE MILK MONEY.

At Deseronto yesterday before Police Magistrate Bedford, John Stewart, Fred Wilkins and a youth under fifteen years of age were found guilty of stealing money from milk pails and milk bottles. The two former were sent to jail for 21 days and the latter was made a ward of the Children's Aid Society. It was shown that the trio had made a systematic patrol of the town at a late hour and extracted money which had been placed in receptacles for milk. Mr. Carnew represented the Crown.

GUILTY OF ASSAULT.

David Brant and Jacob Green were yesterday before Magistrate Bedford of Deseronto convicted of a charge of assaulting Mrs. Margaret Woodman, a sister of Brant, and were fined $10 and costs each. The offence was committed at a dance held on the evening of the 14th inst. Mr. Carnew for Crown and Mr. W. J. Grange of Napanee for the defence.

NOTED INDIAN DEAD

The Mohawk tribe at Tyendinaga lost a worthy member and the Anglican church there a loyal supporter in the death of Joseph Picord recently. Mr. Picord was born on the Oka Reserve in 1839, and for some years was engaged with the Hudson Bay Company conveying provisions and supplies up the Ottawa and French Rivers, and also in lumber camps along the Ottawa. In 1866 he came to Deseronto with a number of Caughnawaga Indians to work in the Rathbun Lumber Company. Although brought up in the Roman Catholic faith he identified himself with the Anglican church on the reserve, and was for a number of years warden of the congregation and treasurer. His good works so impressed the chiefs of the Mohawks that they passed a resolution adopting him as a member of the board.

In Memoriam

WHITEMAN—In memory of brother and two sisters, who died in Belleville, March 22, 1916, from Willie and Myrtle Whiteman, Toronto, Ont.

This Easter Day bring back memories fresh
Of dearest brother Frank and sister Pearl and darling little Nellie,
Love and remembrance will last forever.

The moon and stars are shining
On a lone and silent grave;
Beneath sleep three we love,
But three we could not save.

Their weary hours and days of pain,
Their troubles all are past;
Their ever-patient worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.

Husband Obliged To Pay Wife's Debts

Although Living Apart, Husband Still Liable for Debts of Wife, Decides Judge.

An important decision was rendered by His Honor Judge Wills on Saturday involving the liability of a husband for debts contracted by his wife for necessaries for herself and child whilst living apart from him.

The case arose over an action brought by S. M. Sprague against Prosper Frechette and his wife for a grocery account and was tried by His Honor on the 16th inst.

There was not much difficulty for Plaintiff's counsel in proving the claim but a long argument involving much law was presented by the two defendants, the defedant, Prosper Fre-Frechette, contending that he was not living with his wife and that she had failed to recover alimony in an action brought by the wife in the Supreme Court, the wife was stopped from setting up any case for liability on his part.

Defendant's counsel argued that although prima facie the husband was not liable by reason of the parties living apart, yet the circumstances surrounding the separation as well as the act of the husband in publishing a notice forbidding credit and then publicly withdrawing it rebutted the prima facie assumption.

And further where the wife had no means and did not get interim alimony it was presumed she had authority to pledge her husband's credit, and the party who gave the credit was entitled to assume husband's authority until he had notified the creditor to the contrary.

Judgment was given for the Plaintiff against her husband, Prosper Frechette for the full amount of the claim with costs, and as against the wife, Minnie Frechette was dismissed.

Wm .Carnew, Esq., for the Plaintiff; W. C. Mikel, K.C., for Prosper Frechette; E. J. Butler, Esq., for Mrs. Frechette.

Buy Your Coal Says Official

TORONTO, April 22—"Toronto and Ontario will be face to face with a coal famine next fall and winter unless the people take time by the forelock and get in their supply at once. Because of the mild weather during the last winter, when the normal amount of coal was not burned, people seem to think that a coal famine is an impossibility.

This was the emphatic and none too optimistic statement yesterday of the Deputy Fuel Controller for Ontario, Mr. H. A. Harrington. He stated further that people would not only have difficulty in getting sufficient coal for next winter, ,but that they would pay between $2.50 and $3 a ton extra next fall. The present price of anthracite coal is $11.50 and the increase, which he declares is a certainty, will mean that the consumer will have to pay $14 or more a ton for next winter's fuel.

In support of these statements Mr. Harrington makes public many figures and tells of conditions to show that there is at the present an actual shortage of coal. Yesterday he completed a survey of 850 cities and towns in Ontario, and the returns showed that in 125 of these municipalities the coal dealers did not have one ton of anthracite.

TREATY FAVORS FRANCE.

Agreement Made in 1907 Operated Wrong Way.

While the Canadian Ministers are busily engaged in terminating the work entrusted to them as Peace Conference delegates, the economic future of Canada is occupying their attention and is being discussed at daily meetings. The successful results which are anticipated as the outcome of Canada's brilliant participation at the Lyons' Fair have awakened the interest of French industrial leaders towards Canada.

The recent visit to Paris of delegates of the Federation of British Industries, representing a membership of 17,000 firms, and the speeches delivered at a banquet presided over by M. Clementel, the French Minister of Commerce, mark the preliminaries of a direct and durable accord between the British and French business men and producers. Canada is no less interested in such co-operation, and the comments of the French press show signs on the part of France of a policy with more advantageous cooperation for the conquest of foreign markets.

Le Journal Des Debats notes that before the war Great Britain was the best client of France, and this paper insists that in the interest of both countries such good relations should not only be maintained, but extended.

Are Canadian producers satisfied with the facilities extended them through the Franco-Canadian treaty for trade with France? There seems to exist among Canadian business men here and those who participated at the Lyons Fair an impression that the Franco-Canadian treaty of 1907 was much more favorable to France than to Canada.

Statistics would appear to justify this conclusion, as from 1909 to 1914 imports into Canada from France increased $6,079,100, while exports of Canadian products to France only increased $1,290,931.

The commercial treaty between the United Kingdom on behalf of Canada and France, signed Feb. 5, 1893, went into force Oct. 1, 1895. Under the terms of this treaty France extended to Canada a minimum tariff on a limited list of Canadian products, and Canada accorded certain products of French origin a special rate of duty lower than the ordinary tariff rate. On September 19, 1907, the United Kingdom, on behalf of Canada, concluded a new commercial treaty with France for the express purpose of improving still further the commercial relations between the two countries. The new treaty includes a much larger range of goods than was covered by the treaty of 1893. The new treaty was ratified at Paris, Feb. 1, 1910, and, accordingly, went into force on that date.

The Franco-Canadian treaty of 1907 has undoubtedly had the effect of stimulating the exchange of commodities between the two countries. Prior to the war the balance of trade was largely in favor of France and the treaty of 1907 appears to have further assisted the imports of French goods into Canada without materially increasing the exports of Canada to France.

Since the outbreak of the war and under the stimulus of war orders the exports of Canada to France have largely exceeded the imports from France. During the year 1909, just prior to the coming into force of the Franco-Canadian treaty, the imports into Canada from France were valued at $8,197,439, the dutiable imports amounting to $6,978,938 and free imports to $1,218,497, while for the fiscal year 1914, just prior to the outbreak of war, imports to Canada were valued at $14,278,335, dutiable imports amounting to $11,914,089 and free imports to $2,362,446.

The exports of Canadian produce in the year 1909 amounted to $2,341,507 and in 1914 to $3,632,444.

Canada's War Trophies.

It will require a building of heroic dimensions to house the war trophies and records of the Canadian army in the great war. Dr. A. G. Doughty, public archivist, has returned from Europe after looking over the material now held in England and France. Dr. Doughty says there is a vast collection of trophies, records, pictures, photographs and historical papers awaiting shipment to Canada. Apart from any question of shipping facilities, these trophies cannot be transported yet, because of the lack of accommodation in Ottawa for such a collection. The Canadian relics and records will be among the largest and most complete of any of the fighting nations.

Women's Club Markets Own Products.

The women of a Tennessee home demonstration club are marketing their own vegetables, small fruits, eggs, poultry, butter and cottage cheese with the help of the local home demonstration agent. A table has been secured for them at the entrance to the market house, where the products are attractively displayed. Since none of the women had experience in dressing fowls for market, the agent called a meeting at one of the homes and showed them the proper way to kill and dress poultry. The club members are making a specialty of week-end baskets. Ordinary peck baskets are used and are filled to order to meet the tastes of the purchasers.

THE HOME-COMING.

It is desirable that the return to Belleville and district of all soldiers from overseas be chronicled in the public press so that friends and well-wishers far and near may be apprised of their safe return. As soldiers are returning on the many trains at all hours of the day and night it is impossible to accurately record their arrival and The Intelligencer will be pleased to receive notification from relatives and friends of the return of soldier boys with records of service, as the public is very much interested. Phone, write or call.

ZAM-BUK MAMA!

Mothers who have used Zam-Buk say it is so fine for the many little accidents of daily occurrence in the home—and especially where there are children—that they would not be without it. Not only so, but children who have had Zam-Buk applied to an injury or sore when again injured, cry for Zam-Buk to be applied. They know that Zam-Buk stops pain. Nothing ends the pain of a cut, bruise, burn, or skin disease like Zam-Buk, and nothing soothes, draws out the soreness and heals so quickly.

Mrs. I. Wilson of Sarnia, Ont., says: "I could not do without Zam-Buk for my children. It is the best ointment we have ever used for burns, sores and cuts."

Mr. L. B. Andresen of 1407 E. 22nd St., Minneapolis, Minn., writes: "When any of the children, my wife or self meet with an accident, we immediately apply Zam-Buk. It has saved us many a doctor's bill."

Mrs. C. B. Ritcey of Riverport, N.S., writes: "My baby had sores on her face, caused by teething. Zam-Buk completely healed them."

Zam-Buk is equally good for eczema, ringworm, running sores, blood-poison, ulcers, abscesses, piles, boils and pimples. All druggists, 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Send 1c. stamp for free trial.

AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT.

Alognquin Park, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa, is known to thousands who have enjoyed the attractions that are offered in this wonderful Government Reserve. At an altitude of 2000 feet above sea level the air is pure and bracing. Speckled trout, salmon trout and black bass abound in the lakes and streams of this Park. The Grand Trunk operate hotels and log cabin camps in the Park. The Highland Inn on Cache Lake, Algonquin Park Station, with accommodation for 150 people, opens for the reception of guests this year on June 14th, and Nomingan Camp on Smoke Lake with accomodation for 75 people opens on June 28th.

Indications are that there will be a large influx of summer visitors to this Park this year ,and patrons are advised to communicate early and reserve their accommodation for their summer outing. GOOD PROGRAMS AT THE PALACE AND GRIFFIN'S

Dorothy Dalton at Her Best in "Hard Boiled" — Norma Talmadge in "Ghosts of Yesterday" — Vaudeville Well Received.

Dorothy Dalton forcefully demonstrated her dramatic ability in her latest photoplay "Hard Boiled" at Griffin's last night. This charming young actress has firmly established herself as a dramatic actress and proves in this latest picture that she is capable of sparkling light comedy work. Just as she has been admired in her heavier roles so she will be loved as Corinne Melrose, the stranded prima donna in the hick town of Nilesburg. She plays the part of a girl called upon to use her wit to extracate herself and a benefactress from an embarrassing situation and she does this with much charm and cleverness. A Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoon and "Beware of Boarders," a two-act Sennett comedy were also scheened and proved very funny. The vaudeville portion of the program was also well received being in the capable hands of Smith and King who offer an amusing study in black and tan, and Winnifred Evans who sings some popular illustrated songs.

NORMA TALMADGE AT PALACE

One of the photoplay treats of the year is being offered at the Palace tonight to Wednesday where Norma Talmadge is appearing in her latest starring vehicle, "The Ghost of Yesterday." "That's Him," a new and very funny Luke comedy and Pathe News will also be exhibited.

What the Press Agents Say

THE ROSARY AT GRIFFIN'S TONIGHT

As much a part of stage characteriation as "Rip" in "Rip Van Winkle" is Father Kelly in "The Rosary", the play by Edward E. Rose which will be seen at Griffin's Opera House tonight. This humorous and kindly priest, as played by Oscar O'Shea, with his Irish wit and his Irish insight into character and the working of the human heart has endeared himself to millions since he first began his ministrations in modern drama. He has caused any number of people to laugh and to weep, and he has taken his place in the galaxy of real, human characters to remain for all time.

With the cessation of the war and the decline of popular taste in unclean and unwholesome drama, there has been a return to the cleaner and the more wholesome. With this end in view, Messrs Rowland and Clifford have revived "The Rosary" and have provided a splendid acting company and a new and handsome production. The author has gone over the drama, adding a touch here and there and the play emerges from its short rest, bigger, better and more brilliant than ever.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM AND MAXIME ELLIOTT AT KINGSTON GRAND

The most important event of the theatrical season will be the appearance at the Grand Opera House, Kingston, on Thursday, May 1st, for one night only of the all-star production of R. C. Carton's sparkling comedy, "Lord and Lady Agly," with William Faversham and Maxime Elliott in the leading roles. This company and production come from the Broadhurst Theatre, New York City. Prominent in the cast are Frederick Lloyd, Maud Hosford, Mary Compton, Robert Ayrton, Philip Leigh, Harvey Hays, Perry Waram, Erville Alderson, Emily Fitzroy, Franklin Fox, Herbert Belmore. Faversham made his last tour in "Getting Married," by Bernard Shaw, but in "Lord and Lady Agly" he is seen in a role in which he won his earliest popular sucess. Miss Maxine Elliott has never appeared to better advantage and she is said to be more beautiful than ever.

Vestry Meeting Of Christ Church

Church in Very Healthy Condition, Spiritually and Financially.

The annual vestry meeting of Christ Church was held last evening in the Parish Hall. In accordance with the request of Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, there was a large attendance, especially among the men. Reports were presented by the officers of the various societies of the church. The reports were all received and adopted and ordered written in the minutes. They showed that the various organizations have been active throughout the year and had accomplished a great deal, not only in the work done but in the amount of funds raised. All financial statements submitted showed a substantial credit balance. The moneys raised exceeded the expectations of the members of the vestry and amounted in all to the splendid sum of $6,337.43 after an Easter offering of $454.17 from all sources, which together with the special offerings from Lenten services made $501.12.

Votes of thanks were passed to all the officers of the various organizations and the Wardens were instructed to pay an honorarium to the organist, choir leader and sexton, also to make provision for the banqueting of the choir and S. S. teachers for their faithful and efficient services.

That the Rector, Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, is winning his laurels was evidenced by the fact that the vestry unanimously by a standing vote increased his stipend to $2000 per annum.

A committee was also appointed to immediately take up the question of a rectory and report to the select vestry at an early date. The committee on the new altar reported that the altar was completed but it would be a month before the reredos was finished and ready to be installed.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the following being appointed:

Rector's Warden—Mr. Geo. Turner.

People's Warden—Mr. Oswald H. Scott.

Synod Representatives—Mr. G. B. Smith, Mr. John Newton, Mr. Oswald H. Scott.

Clerk of Vestry—A. Harman.

Missionary Secretary—T. P. Thompson.

Select Vestry—Messrs. E. T. Austin, W. Wilkins, John Downey, John Newton, L. Carre, Geo. W. Kerr, A. R. Symons, F. O. Diamond, H. Mouck, T. H. Marshall, G. B. Smith, J. Neate, Geo. Watkins, W. H. Spencer, J. M. Christie, W. H. Nugent, L. B. Cooper, Jas. Reid, F. J. Palos, W. H. Bottum, R. H. Bachus, C. I. White, W. J. Boyes, W. B. Gorton, F. P. Thompson and the wardens.

Sidesmen — C. F. Bishop, Wm. Chrysler, J. M. Christie, L. Carr, Wm. Harden, W. Symons, Geo. Thompson, B. Bottum, E. A. Geen, R. B. Cooper, D. Rowe, F. G. Mills.

The meeting then adjourned after the singing of the Doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction.

Emmanuel Church Vestry Meeting

The vestry meeting held last evening in connection with Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church was well attended and was presided over by the Rector, Rev. George Marshall. The various reports presented showed all branches of the church work to be in a flourishing condition. Officials selected were as follows:

Minister's Warden—Flay Weese.

People's Warden—E T. Thompson.

Vestry Clerk—J. W. Barlow.

Vestry—Mr. W. Cook, H. Thompson, G. Thompson, T. Thompson, W. Ridley, R. H. Ketcheson, G. J. Naylor, J. Worrell, H. Clark, C. Kline, H. E. Barlow, G. Warham and W. J. Rigby.

Delegates to Synod—J. W. Barlow and G. J. Nayler

CAPT. ABBOTT DEAD.

Brockville, April 22.—Word was received here Monday of the sudden death in Ogdensburg, N.Y., of Capt. G. N. Abbott, one of the best-known mariners on the river and lakes. He started from his home for the Sherman, of which he was commanding officer, and dropped dead on the street. He was a skilled mariner and trusted employe for many years of the Hall Company of Ogdensburg, where he made his home. Captain Abbott had been ailing for several years. He leaves a widow and one child.

The Most Artistic Roof

is the one that completely harmonizes with the design and finishing of the house. For this reason there is a steadily increasing demand for Brantford Asphalt Slates for the modern style of homes.

Brantford Asphalt Slates have a surface of crushed slate embedded into our asphalt coating, the base of the roofing being felt saturated with asphalt. They are cut the size of shingles, and their beautiful soft colors of reddish brown and dark green give a roof a most artistic appearance. The colors are the natural shades of the slate as it comes out of the quarries. Brantford Asphalt Slates are, therefore, unfadeable—never require painting.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are accurate in size and pliable, which makes them very easily handled and quickly laid, saving time and labor, and therefore costing less to lay.

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE.

Lindsay Crawford, author and finisher of "The Statesman," mouthpiece of the politics-before-patriotism section of the Liberal party, sometimes known as "The Rump," has been seeking the spotlight again with results not creditable to himself or the ambitions of the periodical which he issues every week in the fond hope that it may be the foundation stone of a new and victorious misnamed Liberal party. Crawford, in an address in Toronto, violated the trust reposed in him as an honorable journalist by reading confidential documents, sent to all Canadian newspapermen during the war from the censor's department at Ottawa.

When the Union Government was being organized to consolidate Canada's war effort Lindsay Crawford was a member of the Toronto Globe staff. The Globe courageously fell in line with the Union Government proposition and subordinated partyism to patriotism. Not so Lindsay Crawford, who went to Montreal and in a public speech denounced the Union Government and all of its works. His address received considerable publicity on account of his connection with the Globe, but that connection was so thin that it immediately ceased, as a reminder that the views of Lindsay Crawford were not necessarily the views of the Globe, and that his services were not so essential that the veteran organ of Liberalism could not get along without him.

Then was born "The Statesman," which was to redeem Liberalism from the error of forgetting partyism even in the midst of war.

The voice of The Statesman not proving penetrating enough, its editor has been gaining more or less notoriety by radical speeches on the woes, real and imaginary, of Ireland, the "crimes" of Union Government, and the "rights" of labor, capping the climax with the public reading of confidential documents in an effort to prove that organized labor had been insulted by an intimation from Ottawa, not for publication, that German emissaries were seeking to injure Canada and the Empire through the labor unions.

Of course the Huns wouldn't stoop to such a thing in Canada, confining their efforts to the United States where the field was larger.

Organized labor is too wise to be deluded by smooth political hacks like Lindsay Crawford who seek to make political capital by mean insinuations against the good intentions of Canada's win-the-war government.

Too Much Freedom.

"The Freedom of the Press" was the subject of The Statesman's editor, and he certainly used and abused the freedom of speech in Canada in the good old Irish game of hitting every head in sight. The press of Canada, with the exception of The Statesman, is an abomination in Lindsay Crawford's sight and "universally condemned by the man on the street" whom he consorted with—he didn't say what street. Lloyd George is the "autocrat of the breakfast table," while the four great powers trying to make the world forever safe for democrats like Lindsay Crawford were, with the exception of President Wilson, enemies of democracy. Why except Woodrow, whose demoerack may not be any deeper than that of Lloyd George?

"The Canadian government is autocratic and despotic and the game of the press is to deface facts and present the distortion of facts, and then you labor men wonder that you are hounded down as enemies to the country and you foreigners who were lured to this country (Who lured Lindsay?), you are also hounded down as dogs. Why? Because there is no free press that stands for the rights of humanity. Canada is left in the dark as to events as happening in the outside world," etc., etc., said this curious individual, who came over from Ireland not long since with the evident intention of making some important changes in the government of Canada. Query: Why did he leave Ireland when there was so much more scope for his radical ideas among the noisy Sinn Feiners?

Another amazing statement of Crawford's was that there is no more distinction between the relations that exist between England and Canada than there is between Turkey and Armenia.

Blindness of Politicians

The trouble in Canada is that there is almost too much liberty of speech and the press is too free for the exploitation of demagogues. The blindness and insanity of politics has led to a determined movement seeking to extend the franchise to foreigners, regardless of intelligence, including alien enemies, and herd them into one compact voting machine for one party. To aid this movement agitators are inflaming the minds of the foreign population with a sense of injustice, a dangerous proposition which may lead to disastrous results. The franchise should not be extended too freely at the insolent demand of every newcomer to Canada with a loose tongue and looser brains—Canadians are big enough and able enough to govern this country wisely and well without the half-baked theories of those who left their native countries no better than they found them.

If the expressed opinions of Lindsay Crawford and The Statesman represent the Liberal parliamentary party at Ottawa the "light in the window" will surely go out before the patriotism-before-party Liberals will consent to associate themselves with such an un-Canadian organization.

CRISP COMMENT

If anyone has the idea that there is no housing problem in Belleville let him look for a vacant house at reasonable rental. He will be astonished at the company of house hunters he will encounter. And yet there is a large government fund provided to help solve the housing question—if the municipalities will only take advantage of it.

Now that the Opposition leader in the Legislature has been voted a salary of $5,000 per year it will be interesting to know if William Proudfoot will go fifty-fifty with Hartley Dewart. Proudfoot is the nominal leader, but Dewart seems to be the actual leader—a sort of Siamese Twins leadership, as it were, but the union was not of Mr. Proudfoot's seeking or to his taste, apparently.

OTHER VIEWS

ESCAPED THE DROUGHT
(New York Herald)

Approach of July 1 ought to make it easy to recruit that volunteer army of 50,000 for service in France.

CHESS
(New York Sun)

It was in a statement by Von Herting that Belgium was compared to a pawn: the analogy still holds true; the pawn makes the last move and the king is checkmated.

NOT ENOUGH TO GO ROUND
(Portland Press)

The plans of the peace conference seem to be stalled for the time being at any rate by the fact that they haven't enough seaports for all of the new countries that have been organized.

HANG THE KAISER
(Baltimore Sun)

The Paris Conference is constructing a new international code and is creating new principles and precedents. Not the least important is that of official responsibility. That principle was asserted in the case of Napoleon. Why should it be abandoned in the case of a far worse international criminal? It may be that the purposes of justice will be substantially subserved by leaving to Belgium the trial of the former ruler of Germany. But his crimes were against every civilized nation and every principle of civilization and logically he should answer for them before the bar of mankind.

THE GREAT OIL WAR
(London Daily Chronicle)

Perhaps some day a brave and impartial historian will record for posterity the story of the great oil war which seems to have come to an end at last at a meeting in New York. It will be an extraordinary story, for the battle has been waged with unrelenting ferocity all over the world. It has produced some vast fortunes, notably that of the Rockfellers; it has been stuffed with strange disclosures and unpleasant scandals. It has attracted some of the cleverest financiers of the modern era; it has made poor countries rich and it has provided us with that rare thing, a modern proverb in "striking oil."

NO CHARGE ACCOUNTS PLEASE

Judge—I understand that you are preferring charges against his man.

Grocer—No, sir, I prefer cash, and that's what I had him brought here for.

PROOF

"So you think you have a forgiving nature?"

"I must have. I always go back to the same dentist."—Washington Star.

HIS BRIGHT IDEA

"Please can you give a poor man a little something to eat? But I don't want no bread, please."

Woman—You don't want no bread, eh? I guess you ain't starving. You can jest get along out of here.

"Wait till I explain, madam. You see, the woman next door just now give me a piece of paving stone for bread and, as she said she was the best bread maker on the street—"

"The best bread maker on this street! Just come right in here, my poor man, and I'll show you what good bread really is. Lor', how some people does brag!"

AN OLD INSTITUTION

Mrs. Knicker—"Statesmen have discovered that food is propaganda."

Mrs. Bocker—"Huh! haven't we always cooked our husbands good dinners if we wanted something from them."—Judge.

ART'S DEGENERACY

Laurence Journal—"It is reported that bloodhounds are going to be discarded in 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' The next thing we know someone will stand on the edge of the ice and throw confetti at Eliza. Art isn't what it used to be."

ONE MORE

Before the lists are closed for cootie stories we wish to pass along the one about the man who wrote to his wife about his adventures with the insect life in the trenches. Only he was weak of spelling and when his wife saw, in his own handwriting, the statement that he had "picked up quite a number of these French cuties," she sued for divorce.

SAVING EXPENSES

"That publisher won't bring out an edition of my poems, but he's bringing out one of Poe's."

"Well, old man, perhaps Poe was a better poet."

"I'll admit that. Also the copyright of his stuff has expired."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Poet's Corner

SIGNS OF SPRING

The beechen trees all greyish white,
  Like sheeted ghosts of old,
Their towering lattice across the light
  Throw shadows on the mould.
There's a robin on the apple tree,
  A grey bird on the oak—
A black bird on the willow tree
  Is whistling out a joke;
Kerchee! kerchee! he sings to me,
  The spring is here—get busy-ee.

The blue bird on the old rail fence
  Is fluting out his song;
An old black crow on the half-dead pine
  Is cawing all day long.
An oriole on the maple tree
  That's sheltered by the hill,
Is tuning up his concert pipes
  To fill the season's bill.
Tuleep, tuleep, he says to me,
  The spring is here get busy-ee.

There's a ruddy tinge on the elm top,
  There's a deepening in the pine;
There's a radiance on the birchen tree
  And a glow upon the vine.
In golden lines the willow trees
  Gleam brightly to the eye,
And poplars waving in the tree
  Across a cobalt sky.
  The robin in the apple tree cheerup, to me
The spring is here get busyee-ee.

There's a humming in the marshy pond,
  And a greeting on the plain,
And a feeling in the southern breeze
  That tells its spring again.
The catkins on the willows are
  In golden radiance spread,
The scarlet buds on the maple trees
  Gleam brightly against the shed.
The kildeers run across the sands and bob and tilt to me,
  The spring is here, get busyee-ee.

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

60,000 GREEKS ARE RETURNED TO HOMES

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Repatriation of nearly 60,000 Greeks who were removed from their homes during the war by the Bulgars has been practically completed. Reports received at American Red Cross headquarters here said the Bulgars tried in every way possible to impede the repatriation work and endeavored to conceal the fact that thousands of the Greeks died during their interment from starvation and exposure.

The Bulgars tried to avoid responsibility for the deaths of many thousands of the Greeks, according to the report, by claiming that only 60,000 Greek civilians and 11,000 Greek soldiers were interned. The Greeks place the number of Greek civilians at 100,000 and Greek soldiers at 32,000 and assert that the difference between the figures represents the number who died from neglect and mistreatment.

PORT ARTHUR LAD KILLED

PORT ARTHUR, April 22—Lonie Hill, aged twelve years, was killed when run over by Provincial Police Inspector McKirdy's automobile. Mr. McKirdy's car was following another car and the boy was riding a bicycle beside the leading car, which suddenly slowed up. McKirdy's swung to avoid a collision, and in the mix-up the lad was thrown under the wheels.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Allies Prepare For A Possible German Refusal

PARIS, April 21— Military experts, under the direction of Marshal Foch, have been charged with the drafting of a report on what should be done in the event that Germany refuses to sign the treaty of peace.

It is indicated that the methods of coercion which the Allies would adopt may include the occupation of more German territory, the blockade of enemy ports and the discontinuance of the despatch of food supplies to Germany.

THE STUMBLING BLOCKS

PARIS, April 21—With every preparation being made for reception of the German peace delegates April 25 the Italians and Japanese continued to-day to present possible barriers to complete agreement on the terms of the treaty.

No official information could be obtained regarding the present status of the claims of those two countries, but it was generally understood the Italians were still holding out for ratification of their entire expansionist program, while the Japanese were preparing to re-introduce their racial equality amendment to the League of Nations covenant at the plenary session next week.

The Italians were said to be standing pat on their threat to withdraw from the conference unless their claim was granted.

The Japanese, while still apparently without specific instructions from Tokio, were reported to be ready to announce their refusal to accept the covenant if their amendments were to be again turned down.

Guests in the Hotels Vatel and Des Reservoirs at Versailles, were being ousted to-day to make room for the German delegates. It was believed that quarters in other hotels might also be requisitioned.

According to the latest report, the enemy representatives will be met only by the "Big Four"—President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau and Premier Orlando—who will formally present the treaty, after which the German delegation will return with it to Weimar, where it will be discussed by the National Assembly.

Turn Girls Adrift From Turk Harems

NEW YORK, April 21.—Despatches from Constantinople received Thursday by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief reporter that the problem presented by the release of thousands of Christian women and children from Turkish parents in Asia Minor is constantly growing.

Many have been given shelter by the relief workers but there remain a large number wandering about the county utterly destitute, some of them crazed from hunger and exposure.

According to the dispatches, no doubt exists that the release of the women and children was part of a general movement, which is described as startling in its sweep across the country.

Telegrams have been received in Constantinople from Cregorian Bishops pastors, and leading business men in various parts of Asia Minor appealing for help for these women and children. The Turks, the message said, were casting adrift the Armenian girls they had taken into their homes and orphanges for the purpose of bringing them up as Moslems, believing that by thus setting them free they themselves might be able to escape punishment.

One of the dspatches said:

"Under normal conditions this would be glad news indeed, but with members of their families killed or deported in most instances and the remaining people reduced to the severest poverty, it will be impossible for the Armenians themselves to find shelter, clothing and food for hundreds of thousands of children and ten of thousands of women thus thrust upon them suddenly."

The relief workers the despatch added, had hastened the departure of a special train of supplies and had set aside a special appropriation to meet the immediate emergency.

Some of the local bicycle riders are displeased with certain conditions now existing and threaten to form an organization in opposition to the C.W. A.

Will Feed Russia If Soviets Will Stop Hostilities

PARIS, April 21.—The Allied and Associated Powers are prepared to aid in the relief of Russia with foodstuffs, medical supplies and other necessaries, provided there is a cessation of hostilities "with definite lines in the territory of Russia." This fact became known in correspondence which has passed between Dr. Frietjof Nansen, head of the commission appointed to feed Russia, and Premiers Lloyd George, Clemenceau, and Orlando and President Wilson.

Dr. Nansen in his appeal to the Council of Four for aid in bringing relief to Russia where he said thousands of persons were dying monthly from sheer starvation and disease, suggested a neutral and "purely humanitarian committee" for the purpuse.

The Council of Four in reply recognized with sympathy the situation in Russia and give assurance of its readiness to succor the stricken people of Russia along the lines that Belgium was fed and ministered to, but with the fundamental proposition that a cessation of hostilities would be brought about.

Premier Clemenceau withheld his approval of the proposition temporarily, but added his signature to those of Premiers Orlando and Lloyd George and President Wilson, thus practically assuring the immediate economic relief of Soviet Russia, as Lenine is known to be willing to accept food on the conditions outlined by Dr. Nansen and discussed with the Bodshéviki by various neutral representatives at Moscow.

While the plan is devoid from politics it is generally believed by the Entente Powers that it will eventually restore order and enable the Russians to banish chaos.

DECLARES SPEECHES TERRIFIED YOUTHS

Startling Testimony Given at Trial of Draft Evaders in Quebec.

Quebec, April 21.—Testifying under oath at the trial of certain draft evaders of Bonaventure County before court martial here, Mr. Phillippes Furois made some sensational statements regarding the speeches delivered in that county by Hon. Charles Marcil and Hon. John Hall Kelley.

The case before the court was that of a draft evader named Le Blanc, for whom his lawyer, Mr. Auguste Sirois pleaded insanity.

Mr. Furois, called upon to testify, declared he believed that young men of Bonaventure County were driven to exasperation and even to insanity by the speeches of Hon. Charles Marcil, Hon. John Hall Kelley and others in connection with the Military Service Act. He said these speakers depicted the situation in such a terrifying manner that at the time of a meeting held by Mr. Marcil at Paspebiac, on Nov. 16, 1917, two young men named Dela and Rosbil, were taken violently insane, and had to be removed to the asylum at Beauport, where one of them died since then.

New Triple Alliance May Be Formed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 21.—The announcement by Con Von Brockdorff-Rantau, German Foreign Minister, that his government would send delegates without full powers to receive the peace treaty and transmit it to the German government has contributed greatly, newspapers say, toward the alliance between Great Britain, France and America. The French press insists that negotiations looking toward such an alliance are still in progress.

PRESS OF GERMANY IN WILD CLAMOR

BERLIN, April 22 —Insinuations that Germany will refuse to sign the Peace Treaty unless the terms are acceptable to her continue to be made in the German newspapers.

"We must make up our minds even for the extreme step," saysy The Tageblatt. "If the Entente sends us conditions which are in contradiction to the principles we accepted and the Entente approved, counter proposals must be made which can be reconciled with President Wilson's fourteen points. If the Eentente refuses to negotiate these counter proposals, and demand that we simply submit, there will be nothing for us to do but to declare that we will not sign."

The Vorwaters, the Socialist organ, says it is unthinkable that an international conflict can be satisfactorily concluded without negotiations and simply by dictation from one side.

The Lokal Anzeigre, referring to the invitation to the Germans to come to Versailles, says it does not exclude negotiations.

The Taeglische Rundschau insists that peace is only possible by negotion and urges the nation to be firm in which case, it says, "peace negotiations begun in such an unfriendly way may yet led to a tolerable end."

Germania also talks of the possibility of the Germans refusing to sign, while The Deutsche Tage Zeitung and The Kreuz Zeitung declares it will be impossible to sign a treaty which goes beyond President Wilson's fourteen points.

JUDGE QUASHES LONDON D. S. BY-LAW

LONDON, Ont., April 22—London's daylight-saving was quashed by Mr. Justice Logie at the Weekly Session of the Supreme Court, but it remains to be seen if his action will have any actual result locally.

In the opinion of Mayor Somerville, the people are at perfect liberty to set their watches and clocks as they please, and it is believed to be probable that the majority will follow the example of the railways. It is possible, however, that some of the objectors to daylight saving, who are employed in factories, will raise objection and that as a result confusion will again arise.

The grounds on which Mr. Justice Logie quashed the city by-law could be used with equal reason in any city in Ontario that has adopted daylight saving, and as a result the decision is viewed as an important precedent. The Judge held that a municipality cannot over ride the laws of the Province, which fix stndard time as legal. Moreover, the local by-law was branded as "bad" in that it only requested the people to adopt the new time, and no penalty was provided for action against those who took any other course. But in that respect it is said that the Provincial law is in the same position, and that if the people wish to continue daylight saving no one can prevent them taking such a course by common consent.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY. $25 MONTH RAISE

HALIFAX, April 22.—An eight-hour day, effective May 1, a wage increase of $25 per month, effective as to February 1, 1919, on the rates paid January 1, 1918, overtime from eight to ten hour pro rata, upwards of ten hours time and a half, and mileage of one and one-quarter cents for messengers travelling upward of 6,000 miles per month, were the features of the award given out by the Railway Board of Adjustment No. 1, which had been charged with the task of mediating between the Canadian Express Company and its employees, members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, following a seven days' strike precipitated by the company failing to abide by the decision of the Board of Conciliation appointed under the Industrial Disputes Act for the purpose of investigating the dispute.

The award, which was received at the headquarters of the Brotherhood follows in the main the majority judgment of the Conciliation Board. Grand officers of the Brotherhood here express themselves as being very much pleased with the fight put up in which they conducted themselves during the strike, not a single defection from their ranks being reported.

Many women's organizations have promised their support to the Canadian Trade Commission's campaign to "Buy Canadian-made Goods" only, if possible.

"It's dood for me"

Children's Diseases Are Not Necessary

They Add Nothing to the Well-being of the Child and Invariably Leave the System in Worse Condition Than Before They Came

IN fact, they often sow the seed which, in adult life, develops into disorders of the heart and blood vessels and degenerative diseases of the kidneys.

So if children escape any child's disease they are the gainers in general health by just that much. It may be that years are added to their lives or chronic invalidism avoided. Then there is the enormous risk which every child runs who has measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, or other diseases.

Perhaps this does not agree with your idea of letting your children have these ailments when young, with the belief that they must have them some time. This old idea has cost many thousands of lives. It is time to forget it, and to put forth an effort to save the children from these ailments.

All these children's diseases are known as germ diseases, and germs are harmless to a body strong enough to fight them.

Rich blood is the greatest of germicides. Therefore, seek to keep your children's blood rich and pure by giving them wholesome, nourishing food, and by allowing them to exercise freely in the open air.

If they grow pale and weak and languid—if they fail to derive proper nourishment from the food they eat—if their nervous systems get run down from the tax of school work—use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as the best means which medical science affords to enrich the blood and build up the exhausted system.

Children whose blood becomes thin and watery are helpless before an attack of measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, or other contagious disease. They seem to "catch" everything that is going. They are always "catching" cold. Their resisting force is nil.

But their young bodies soon respond to the nourishing, invigorating influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As their blood is enriched they become healthy, robust and rollicking—they enjoy their food—their play—their work at school, and grow into strong, healthy men and women.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box is the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

Vitriol Throwing Started In Cairo

Death Penalty Decree for Egyptians Caught With Acids.

CAIRO, April 22.—Threats were made recently by terrorists to throw vitriol on all strike-breakers as they were leaving work and the official communique dealing with the current disorders reports two cases of vitriol-throwing on Tuesday, one man being totally blinded.

In consequence of the vitriol-throwing incidents an order has been issued that persons who throw corrosive substances or cause them to be thrown are liable to the death penalty. The order also provides that persons possessing corrosives without legitimate reason are liable to 15 years' imprisonment, and that those who sell such substances are guilty of a criminal act.

Curious scenes occurred in the streets recently when several days' accumulation of garbage was being cleared away by gangs of convicts protected by troops.

The sentences of persons convicted of rioting during the past few days ranged from three years to fifteen years penal servitude. Forty arrests have been made in Keneh, on the Nile in Upper Egypt, according to the official communique, which also reports that minor disturbances occurred in Suezz on Monday.

Indian Situation Has Not Improved

Strike Continues at Delhi, People Maintaining Sullen Attitude.

LONDON, April 22.—The latest review of the situation in India received here Saturday shows no improvement in the Punjab and the region of Delhi.

The strike continues at Delhi, the Indian capital, and the shops remain closed. The people are reported to be maintaining a sullen attitude. The "prevention of seditious meetings act" has been put into force at Multan, southwest of Lahore, and at Jellundur, east of Lahore. Communications with the northern Punjab has been interrupted. A serious outbreak occurred early in the week at Chukarknan in the Gujranwala district, north of Lahore, and a railway station was wecked.

Mrs. Annie Besant, theosophical and nationalist leader, it is added, has issued a statement condemning the extremists.

FARM EMPLOYEE MUST FACE CHARGE OF ARSON

LONDON, Ont., April 21—Evidence that the accused had first threatened to burn the barn of his employer, and that later he had admitted having done so, caused County Magistrate W. H. Chittick to commit Timothy Carroll yesterday for trial on a charge of arson. He is accused of having set fire to the barn of Patrick Lampheir, of Biddulph Township, which was burned to the ground, together with their contents, on the night of April 18. The loss eceeds $4,800.

Luigi Bucci, employed by Anthony Lampheir, a brother of Carroll's employer, testified that Carroll told him that the only way he could lessen his chores would be to burn the barns. Later he is alleged to have said that he would do so when the first thunderstorm came on, while Bucci alleges that Carroll advised him to burn his employer's barns if no prosecution followed the first fire.

Provincial Detective Stringer, of Sarnia, who arrested Carroll after an investigation, testified that Carroll had confessed to him that he applied a match to straw in the buildings. Another fire was discovered in the buildings on April 6, but it was extinguished without serious loss.

NOVEL TIMBER SHIP

LONDON, April 22.—Vickers' office at Westminster, contains a model of a nine-thousand-ton novel ship being built in British Columbia of 5,000,000 briad feet of timber. The ship and cargo form really a huge raft, which will have ample accommodation on the deck for the crew, and will have motor engines to assist the sails. This strange ship will make the voyage to England through the Panama Canal, and on reaching its destination will be dismantled and the timber distributed.

QUIET RESTORED IN INDIAN CITIES

LONDON, April 22—An official announcement received by the Viceroy of India Sunday reported Lahore quiet and the shops opening again. Delhi and Bombay also were reported quiet.

Ayra Samaj and Mohammedan emissaries from Delhi are trying to stir up trouble in the neighboring district of the Punjab.

SIMLA, British India, April 22—A mob at Amritsar made another violent attack against the authorities on Monday last. The rebels were repulsed by the military, with a loss of 200.

Order was restored at Ahmedad after 200 casualties had been inflicted on the rioters, and the telegraph and collector's offices burned.

FIRST NON-STOP FLIGHT NEW YORK TO CHICAGO

MINELO, N.Y. APRIL 21—Flying at an average speed of 106.36 miles an hour for six hours and fifty minutes, Captain E. F. White, an army aviator, completed the first non-stop flight between Chicago and New York at 5.40 o'clock Saturday afternoon landing at Hazlehurst field.

The distance covered was 727 miles. Most of the flight Captain White said was made at altitude of 12,000 feet.

CHURCH BELLS RING AT MANY HOURS

MARKHAM, April 21—Trying to compromise on daylight saving, the three Markham churches have become more or less mixed up. The Presbyterian church goes in at 7.30 in the evening (new time), and the Methodist and Anglican churches at 7.00 (old time.) The three churches are within a hundred yards of each other. All have bells and all three ring them half an hour before service and at service time. In the morning all three denominations worship at 11.30 (new time.)

APPRECIATED LECTURE

Boys and girls of the High School of Montreal, to the number of 1,000, had the privilege of listening to a lecture by Lieut. Beverley Robinson, which will be long remembered by them. Lieut. Robinson has an undoubted knack of speaking to young people. His audience was made up of pupils from the junior school as well as from the seniors, and it is no exaggeration to say that all who listened to him during the hour and a quarter would have gladly listened longer. His story so simply and charmingly told captivated everyone, so that there was not a dull minute during the whole of its telling. Seldom have I seen such en rapport between speaker and audience. I have no hesitation in saying that the whole spirit of the address was well calculated to inspire young people with ideals of a courageous, unselfish and desirable sort.—Wellington Dixon, B. A., Rector.

Before Police Magistrate Masson this morning Charles M. Bonisteel of Sidney, pleaded guilty to the charge that he did sell liquor without a license, contrary to section [illegible] of the Ontario Temperance Act. A fine of $700 and $14.85 costs was imposed, or in default four months in jail. The fine was paid. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, represented the crown in the case.

APPRECIATED LECTURE

Boys and girls of the High School of Montreal, to the number of 1,000, had the privilege of listening to a lecture by Lieut. Beverley Robinson, which will be long remembered by them. Lieut. Robinson has an undoubted knack of speaking to young people. His audience was made up of pupils from the junior school as well as from the seniors, and it is no exaggeration to say that all who listened to him during the hour and a quarter would have gladly listened longer. His story so simply and charmingly told captivated everyone, so that there was not a dull minute during the whole of its telling. Seldom have I seen such en rapport between speaker and audience. I have no hesitation in saying that the whole spirit of the address was well calculated to inspire young people with ideals of a courageous, unselfish and desirable sort.—Wellington Dixon, B. A., Rector.

CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC

Inseparably Associated with

EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

THE RITCHIE COMPANY LIMITED

The two main ideas promoted by the Canadian Trade Commission at present are: "Buy less abroad and made more for export."

Our national debt has run from $43 a head in 1914 to $270. The C. T. C. suggests the best way of meeting obligations is by exporting more and importing less.

Commissioner H. B. Thomson of the Canadian Trade Commission has gone to London to consult with the Canadian Mission for the better linking of Canadian trade promotion work.

The value of the British trade preference to goods from within the Empire, now actually working, means millions of dollars to Canada. The Canadian public apparently have not grasped the significance of this, yet is one statement made to the Canadian Trade Commission.

Heroism and Suffering Of Prisoners of War in Germany

FLIGHT-LIEUT. BEVERLY ROBINSON GIVES GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF PRISON CAMPS IN GERMANY, THROWING STRONG LIGHT ON PECULIAR CHARACTER OF HUNS—CRUELTY OF CAPTORS COULD NOT BREAK UNCONQUERABLE BRITISH SPIRIT — SHOW NO MERCY TO THOSE WHO KNEW NOT MERCY, SAYS LIEUT. ROBINSON.

"Any peace that favors Germany, to my way of thinking, will be a peace that passeth all understanding," declared Flight Lieut. Beverley Robinson, the only Canadian-born officer to escape from Germany during the war, to an audience which sat entranced in the City Hall for more than two hours last evening, while he told the illuminating story of life in German prison camps for a period of two and a half years, of the knavery and brutality of commandants and other officials, of the atrocities perpetrated upon prisoners of war and especially the privates; of the unquenchable spirit and dauntless courage of the Canadians, and of stirring episodes in connection with attempts to escape.

It was a thrilling story, a heroic story that was told, a story revealing heartrending glimpses of tragedy, but never for a minute was it permitted to be a sombre story. Always, just around the corner of a sentence, there was a laugh lurking, a humorous incident to throw upon the screen in sharp contrast to one of pathos or horror; a nonchalant understating of a difficult situation, typically English and irresistibly mirth-provoking.

Hesitates to Speak

"Whatever the discomforts and sufferings of the officers taken prisoners of war may have been, I hesitate to speak of them," said the lecturer, "because they were as nothing compared with what the men were called upon to endure. The lot of the officers improved after the first year, that of the men grew steadily worse. Some of the worst cases of abuse of the men occurred within the last six weeks of the war. Think, if you can, what it would mean to live in the midst of pestilential filth; during a hard winter with no fuel, or only sufficient fuel to burn about one hour a day. What would you think of working in salt mines twelve or fourteen hours a day, beaten to work and beaten back again? How would you like to be strung up by the wrists, feet scarcely touching the ground.

"I ask you not to forget the men who have been prisoners of war. With all they endured, they stuck it out and kept hopeful all the time.

Brave Deeds in Action

"As a rule, brave deeds are done in the heat of action. Every good Canadian knows the gallant history of the Canadian corps in the war. But everyone does not realize that some of the bravest men of all were taken prisoners. The spirit that endured insults, bullying in prison camps, and came through smiling, was just as brave as any that impelled to brave deeds in action. Canadian officers and men taken prisoners of war took the offensive spirit with them, and retained it until the last."

The face of the speaker glowed with pride as he declared with zest: "It was admitted everywhere that Canadian men gave more trouble, did less work, took more guarding, and raised more general hell than those of any of the other allied countries."

Just before being taken prisoner of war Flight Lieut. Robinson was on a special mission. It was intended to drop the largest bomb that had been put over, up to that time, on Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, in command of the German corps opposite the Canadians. Only the squadron commander and Lieut. Robinson knew of this, and even behind closed doors they had not mentioned the name of the Bavarian commander, calling him "The Man of Evil Habits."

Not suspecting that Lieut. Robinson was the British officer involved in the plot, the commander of the first prison at St. Quentin boasted to him that he knew about it, and that he hoped it would be pulled off, as the Germans had prepared an effective answer.

Within record time, the Canadian-born officer prisoner got back word to his commandant, through writing a card to his mother, stating on it that "The Man of Evil Habits" had changed his address."

Tells of Hallucinations

One point to which the lecturer drew special attention was an experience which had been his own in his attempt to escape from Strohen, one shared by numbers of other prisoners under similar circumstances, and which he believed explained the "angels" and "visions" said to have been seen at Mons. Hallucinations took the form of imagining he saw marching armies, which disappeared as he approached them, villages on either side of him, and wierdest of all, strange faces in the trees. He was almost caught in one village by mistaking a real German for one of his visions.

Finally, with a friend, he escaped from a prison camp, 20 miles over the border into Holland.

Modesty—An Added Charm

A notable feature of Lieut. Robinson's address was the extreme hesitancy manifested in speaking of his own personal adventures, emphasizing rather the exploits of others and only referring to himself incidentally in rather an apologetic vein to link up the various incidents of his exceedingly interesting story of the sufferings and unconquerable spirit of the prisoners-of-war in Germany who endured every hardship and punishment and never ceased in their efforts to escape and return to active service. Lieut. Robinson's extreme modesty in regard to his own achievements lends an added charm to his recital of the thrilling events it was his privilege to pass through and live to tell about.

To the Great War Veterans Association Belleville citizens owe a debt of gratitude for the prvilge of hearing Lieut. Beverly Robinson, and the large audience present will welcome another opportunity to hear the gallant aviator on some future occasion.

Major R. D. Ponton, President of the G. W. V. A., presided in his customary happy manner, and the appreciation of the audience was very eloquently voiced by Col. W. N. Ponton, who referred to the British Empire Loyalists, ancestors of Lieut. Robinson who through loyalty to the British Crown gave up everything they possessed and began life anew in the forests of the Bay of Quinte district, where their indomitable courage conquered every obstacle and made the wilderness blossom like a rose.

Lieut. Robinson has an almost inexhaustible store of interesting incident of prison life in Germany, more than could possibly be compressed into one address.

Taming the Lion Tamer

One incident which appealed to Lieutenant Robinson as very amusing, concerned a commandant who had been accustomed to Russian prisoners, suddenly confronted by a new problem, 200 Canadians. Hopeful that he might find among them some experienced farmers, he asked them in turn what they had done before becoming soldiers. One said he had been an acrobat; another a supreme court judge; a third, a trombone player, and so on, until the last, six feet four of brawn and muscle, who announced he had been a lion tamer. The lion tamer and others played sick until the puzzled commandant was replaced by a more experienced one, who insisted that the lion tamer should go digging potatoes. The lion tamer, instead, insisted upon digging his own grave, which he was required to fill in again, whereupon he nailed up two sticks in the form of a cross, set it up, and delivered a funeral oration for himself.

Composed as it is almost entirely of men whose homes are in Ontarian points east of Peterboro, the history of the Second Canadian Infantry Battalion, which returned to Canada on the Olympic under the command of Lieut.-Colonel L. T. McLaughlin, D. S. O. with two bars, inseparably bound up with the story—than which there is none more heroic—of the war effort of Eastern Ontario as directly evidenced by its representation on the battlefront. Of such distinguishing sobriquets as are applied to other Canadian Infantry units, such as the Princess Pats, the Little Black Dev the White Ghurkas, the Mad Fourth, the Mooseheads, etc., the Second has none; it is nevertheless entitled to just as much credit and has a record which displays just as praiseworthy accomplishments as any of these other battalions. Bearing the commonplace title of the 2nd Battalion, Eastern Ontario Regiment, C.E.F., it will, however, pass into Canada's military archives, unless, indeed, its reorganization as a militia regiment is brought about (as has been suggested and it is then granted some mark of distinction which so many would be glad to see conferred upon it.

The Second is returning after almost four years close connection with relentless trench warfare and all that the term implies. During that entire period its colors have sustained no blemish through the conduct of its members on the battlefield. The total casualties suffered by the unit and the number of the decorations awarded the officers and men are sufficiently indicative of the nature of the fighting through which it has passed, did not official records tell the story of its triemphs. The same broad statement may be applied to every unit of the war-torn first division, for to this formation has fallen the lot of bearing the brunt of the fighting on innumerable occasions and many were the times upon which it was called upon to act as the reserve for equally strenuous fighting in which other Canadian divisions were engaged.

FORMED IN AUGUST 1914

The formation of the Second Battalion goes back to the days of August, 1914, when the call for volunteers for the Canadian Expeditionary Force was answered by fully 10,000 more than were required. It goes back to the time when the militia system of Canada had an opportunity to prove its worth and rose nobly to the occasion to the time when every armory in the country became a recruiting centre and militia officers, who were in the lead in offering their services, received their first acquaintance with mobilization for an overseas contingent. Troop trains bearing soldiers clad in all varieties of militia garb, and carrying field piece after field piece passed through almost daily, while the overseas despatches told of the apparently unimpeded advance of the Germans upon Paris and pessimists could see nothing in view but the abject surrender of the Entente after only a few weeks fighting.

The Canadian destination of these troops was Valcartier, the hastily-improvised mobilization camp near Quebec, from which the division, without news of the outer world, quietly moved away, arriving, with equal mystery in Plymouth Sound on October 1 The battalion entrained on August 22, 1914, and on reaching England were stationed at Bustard Camp, Salisbury Plains. The indescribale weather conditions which prevailed in this and in other Canadian camps on Salisbury Plains. Indescribable wealth basis of parliamentary enquiry had they been repeated in later and less strenuous times.

INSPECTED BY THE KING

After an inspection by H. M. the King, the First Division marched off Salisbury Plains on February 5 1915 and entrained for their port of embarkation under command of Lieut. Gen. Alderson. They were soon to show that what was expected of native Canadian resourcefulness and equally characteristic grit and gallantry that was not underestimated.

The first acquaintance the Canadians had with battle was during the British onslaught on Neuve Chapelle in March, 1915, when the division held a part of the line alloted to the First army, and although not actually engaged in the main attack, "rendered valuable help," according to Sir John French's despatch, by keeping the enemy actively employed in front of their own trenches. Late in March the division was withdrawn to rest camps.

THE BATTLE OF ST. JULIEN

The Canadians took over on April 17, from the French 11th division, the line from the Ypres-Roulers railway to the Ypres-Poelcappelle road. The 2nd and 3rd infantry brigades occupied the line and until the attack by the enemy which was to first test the fighting qualities of the Canadians, the First Brigade, of which the 2nd Battalion was a unit, was in reserve. The discharge of poison gas by the Germans and the disorganized withdrawal of the French Colonial troops, left the 3rd Brigade "in the air," without support on its left flank. This necessitated the realignment of the Canadian front and the ultimate throwing into the fight of the 1st Brigade in support of the 3rd Brigade. In the confusion of the readjustment of the line, the enemy had captured a small wood to the west of the village of St. Julien, together with four British 4.7 guns, lent by the British to support the French. This position and these guns the Canadians determined to recapture, the task being alloted to the 3rd Brigade, reinforced by the 1st and 2nd Battalion, the latter under the command of Lieut-Colonel (now Major-General) David Watson, a Quebec newspaper editor. In this and in the subsequent fighting the 2nd Battalion lost heavily but bore its share of the battle with infinite credit to officers and men alike. It formed one of the units of the force which effectively withstood the onslaught of enemy forces vastly superior in numbers and successfully barred the way to Calias.

DUG TRENCHES IN OPEN

On April 28 the 2nd Battalion, which had that morning received a craft of five officers and 112 men from England was chosen to advance and dig a line of trenches to link up the French and British position. This difficult and dangerous task was carried out in the face of heavy fire from the enemy, two companies acting as cover to the other two companies which actually did the digging. The battalion struck the last blow in the Canadian participation in the second battle of Ypres.

BATTALION LOST HEAVILY

Of the part taken by the 2nd Battalion in the battle commonly known as that of St. Julien, "Canada in Flanders" has the following to say:

"On April 24 Colonel Watson was called upon to perform as difficult and dangerous a task as fell to the lot of any commander during all these difficult and bloody days.

"About noon, the General Officer Commander the 3rd Brigade telephoned to Colonel Watson to ask whether in his opinion, the line of which he was in charge, could still be held. Colonel Watson, though the position was precarious, said that he could still hold on; and he was then instructed to regard as cancelled an order which had been telegraphed him to retire.

"Matters, however, grew worse and at two o'clock the General Officer Commanding sent Colonel Watson a premptory order to fall back at once. Unfortunately, this message was not received until about a quarter to three, when the position had become desperate.

"The Battalion, apart from many dead, had by this time upwards of 150 wounded, and the Colonel first saw to the removal of all these. Then leaving his battalion headquarters, he went up to the front line in order that he might give, in person, his instructions to his company commanders to retire. When he reached the front line, Colonel Watson made the most careful dispositions so as to avoid, even at that terrible moment, any excuse for disorder and undue haste in the course of the most perilous and intricate manoeuvre which had now to be carried out. He began by sending back all details, such as signallers and pioneers, and then proceeded to get the companies out of the trenches, one by one—first the company on the left, then the centre company and lastly the company on the right.

"It was from the angle of a shattered house, which had been used as a dressing station, that Colonel Watson and Col. Rogers, the second in command of the Battalion, watched the retirement of the three companies, together with the details of the 14th Battalion, which had been atached to them since morning. The men were in extended order, and as they passed the officers the enemy's fire was very heavy, and men fell like wheat before a scythe.

"When the last company was well on its way to safety, the two officers after a brief consultation, decided that it would be best for them to take separate routes back to the battalion headquarters line. The reason for this was simple and poignant—it increased the chances of one of them getting through; not, for that matter, that either had very much hope for escaping the enemy's pitiless fire. They never expected to see each other again, and they shook hands in farewell before they dashed out on their separate ways, which lay through a spray of bullets and flying shrapnel. When he had gone about 300 yards, Colonel Watson paused for a moment under the cover of a tree to watch the further retirement of the company he was following. It was at this moment that he noticed one of his officers lying on the ground about 60 yards to the left, in the direction of the enemy's attack. Without a moment's hesitation, Colonel Watson went back to him, thinking that he was wounded, but on asking him what was the matter, Lieut. Hugill told him that he had simply been compelled to rest and recover his breath before he could make another rush.

"Also at the same moment, Pte. Wilson, also of the 2nd Battalion, was passing near by when he was shot through the leg. The man was so close that Colonel Watson felt impelled to endeavor to rescue him, and suggested to Lieut. Hugill that between them might be able to carry the wounded man back over the eight or nine hundred yards—nearly half a mile—which still separated them from a place of comparative safety. Lieut. Hugill immediately agreed, whereupon Colonel Watson knelt down and got Wilson on to his back, and carried him several hundred yards until the original battalion headquarters was reached; and all the time that Colonel Watson staggered along with his load the air was alive with bullets, which grew thicker and thicker as the enemy was now rapidly advancing.

The various companies had not already retired beyond what had been the battalion headquarters, so that Col Watson and Lieut. Hugill had no opportunity of calling for aid. They rested for a few minutes and then started off once more and between them they managed to get the wounded private across the 700 yards of fire-swept ground which still had to be covered. But in spite of the fact that the ground was ploughed up with shells all around them during their desperate and heroic retreat, Colonel Watson and Lieut. Hugill retrieved

AT FESTUBERT AND GIVENCHY

After the second battle of Ypres the 2nd Battalion retired into billets and rested until May 14, when it advanced towards the firing line once more. During this period additional reinforcements had arrived from reserve battalions in England. On the night of May 24 it took over a portion of the trenches captured by the 5th Battalion at Bexhill redoubt and salient Festubert at such heavy cost. This position the Cavalry Brigade and the 2nd held until May 27, on May 31 withdrawing from this area.

The second Battalion did not long remain out of action. On June 15, 1915, the battalion was holding the line opposite the fortified enemy position known as Stony Mountain, Givenchy. This position was carried successfully by the 1st Battalion, with the 2nd Battalion furnishing working parties, only to be relinquished because of the non-arrival of expected British supports. After several days of heavy artillery fire, the Canadians were relieved and moved to the north. The remainder of the summer was spent by the First Division on a sector the right of which rests on the northern edge of Ploegstreert.

IN MANY ENGAGEMENTS

Thereafter the movements of the battalion were as follows: Hill 60, third battle of Ypres, Courcelette (on the Somme), Vimy Ridge, Fresnoy, Hill 70, Lens, Passchendale, Arras, Amiens, Monchy-le-Prieux, Cambrai and Mons, to which historic city the unit moved on the signing of the armistice.

Of the engagements in which the battalion took part since 1915, the major were the third battle of Ypres when the Third Division was badly cut up and the train lost by it regained by the First Division and remnants of the Third Courcelette, when the Canadians captured the Sugar Refinery; Vimy Ridge, the first big Canadian advance; Hill 70; Paschendale where the battalion assisted in the capture of Bellevue Spur; Monchy, when the Hindenburg line was broken; and Cambrai, one of the closing battles of the war.

During this period the battalion lost its strength several times over and was frequently reinforced by drafts from the 38th, 59th, 80th, 154th, 155th 156th, 240th, 253rd battalions and latterly by drafts from the Eastern Ontario Depot Battalions. One of the largest drafts was that furnished by the 156th Battalion, leaving Witley camp on May 23, 1917. Of this draft there are few now remaining with the unit and nearly all have suffered wounds or other casualties. There are now only a score or so of the old "originals" with the unit.

WILL BROADEN EDUCATION.

Some Points Suggested by Hon. Dr. Cody.

Although education is one of those subjects which, in Canada, have been discussed "right through the war," still, now that the fighting is over, discussion on this all-important question tends to become more practical and immediate. As Walter Bagehot used to insist so emphatically, it is one thing to criticize and propose when one is under no obligation to act on any criticism or proposal, and quite another thing to do so when one is under immediate obligation to translate one's words into acts. During the war every education proposal was launched with at least one postponing clause attached. But to-day any proposal may be practical politics. It is for this reason, amongst others, that the statement recently made by the Hon. Dr. Cody, Minister of Education for Ontario, is specially important. Dr. Cody's statement would at any time have been an interesting contribution to the consideration of a great subject, but as a preliminary statement of actual policy it has, of course, an interest all its own.

Dr. Cody covered a wide field, but it was welcome to find the Ontario Education Minister placing in the very forefront of his statement the question of the more general extension of education beyond the limits of the elementary school. There had come, he insisted, a far more general realization of the fact that education does not stop "with the boy and girl age," and that a further compulsory period should be introduced. Important and essential everywhere, such a provision is unquestionably specially important in Canada, with its very large foreign-born population. If the ideals of Canadian citizenship are to be really and effectively inculcated, much more is called for than the primary education of the boy and the girl. As Dr. Cody well pointed out, it is absolutely necessary that the foreign-born elements shall receive a "real education in British ideals and citizenship."

Then Dr. Cody was emphatic also on the position which women should now be called upon to fill in education. Women, he declared, had won their right to take their share in the counsels and government of their country, and in no national activity could they lend their aid with more certain effect than in the matter of education. He hoped to see women everywhere accorded places on school boards and boards of education, and thus enabled to place at the service of their country a special ability which they undoubtedly possessed.

Perhaps the most important of all the points touched upon by Dr. Cody was the question of the payment of teachers. Those who really appreciate the unique national importance of education must have recourse, again and again, to this subject, and to the insistence that if the educational profession is to have the standing and attract to its ranks the men and women it most needs and ought to demand, the standard of payment must be very much higher everywhere than it is at the present time. The key to all the problems is indeed the teacher. It is the teacher that counts, and without good teachers the most perfect system of education must be of little avail. "The time is ripe," Dr. Cody declared, "and the people both in city and in country are ready to pay better salaries, and are realizing that it is very much worth while to spend money for the securing of better conditions under which to develop their children." Those who have been following with any care the recent history of education in Canada and other countries cannot fail to agree with Dr. Cody here. The time has already passed, or is, at any rate, rapidly passing, when any salary may be thought good enough for the school teacher, and it can scarcely be questioned that an education body courageous enough to pay its teachers adequately, today, can count upon a very wide and sincere popular support.

The Hun Spirit.

A series of trenches in front of Passchendaele in Flanders, were notorious among the boys for the quantity of slimy mud which always gathered there. One day after a heavy rain, a poor fellow sank into the sticky mixture up to his armpits and was fixed there for three days and nights, while the Hun snipers from a point of vantage kept up a constant fire on any who attempted to feed him or try to rescue him, although they, themselves, with true Hun cruelty, took good care not to hit him, preferring to see him suffer.

The poor chap begged his comrades to shoot him and put him out of his misery. At length the sergeant in charge telephoned to his colonel and asked permission to do this, but the colonel said: "Make one more desperate attempt to get him out." So that night, which fortunately happened to be a very dark one, the sergeant got a dozen volunteers with a bit of rope and quietly, inch by inch, they pulled him out and the stretcher-bearers, on the double, got him to the nearest dressing station.

Curing Influenza.

A doctor was called to attend an Irishman and his wife. Both were suffering with severe colds, and, fearing they would develop influenza, the medical man ordered "two grains of quinine and a swallow of whisky every three hours." Calling the next day, he found the man up and about, but the wife was still in bed. "Did you follow my instructions?" said the doctor. "To the letter, sorr!" replied the husband. "How much quinine have you left?" Sure, Oi t'ink she have taken the whole av' it!" said the Irishman. "And did you take it, too?" he was asked. "Nivir a bit!" was the reply. "Begorra, it kept me busy takin' the whisky every toime she took a pill, an' sure she's in bed an' Oi'm up!"

THE HOME-COMING.

It is desirable that the return to Belleville and district of all soldiers from overseas be chronicled in the public press so that friends and well-wishers far and near may be apprised of their safe return. As soldiers are returning on the many trains at all hours of the day and night it is impossible to accurately record their arrival and The Intelligencer will be pleased to receive notification from relatives and friends of the return of soldier boys with records of service, as the public is very much interested. Phone, write or call.

TIGERS 9—RED SOCKS 3

A first class ball game was witnessed by a goodly number of spectators on Monday evening on the grounds of Ann Street School, when the team named the Red Socks went down to defeat at the hands of the Tigers. Both teams are of the City League. The game was umpired by Mr. Harold Smith in his usual capable manner which proved satisfactory to all. The Tigers are well practiced in ball playing and give every attention to the orders given by their manager Mr. Harold Gordineer. The Red Socks are ably handled under the management of Mr. Theodore Marakas. The game was very interesting from start to finish. Both teams played well but shortly after the game had commenced it was quite evident to all that the Tigers had the upperhand of their opponents. However with a little more practice the Red Socks will probably come up to the Standard. The game ended with a score of nine to three in favor of the Tigers.

Deadlock On Peace Conference Orlando Threatens To Leave

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 23.—Premier Orlando threatens to return to Italy today unless there is a satisfactory adjustment of the Fiume and Dalmatian questions. Premier Lloyd George is trying to persuade the Italian leader to remain in Paris longer while he continues his efforts to reconcile the opposing viewpoints. It became known today that Premier Lloyd George tried unsuccessfully during the discussion last night to find a basis for an agreement between the differing viewpoints of Wilson and Orlando on the Italian situation.

Best Year in History Of Consolidated Rubber Co.

CANADIAN CONSOLIDATED RUBBER COMPANY, LIMITED, ANNUAL MEETING AND ORGANIZATION — CHARLES. B. SEGAR, ESQ., PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES RUBBER COMPANY AND FORMER PRESIDENT OF UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY SYSTEM, ELECTED PRESIDENT, AND SIR MORTIMER DAVIS AND J. B. WADDELL ADDED TO THE BOARD W. A. EDON AND VICTOR E. MITCHELL, K.C., D.C.L. ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENTS.

At the general meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co., Limited, which was held at the head office of the Company, Montreal, Tuesday, April 22nd, the following were elected directors for the ensuing year. Mr. Charles B. Seger, president of the United States Rubber Company, Sir Mortimer B. Davis, President of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited; Col. Samuel P. Colt,, chairman of the United States Rubber Co.; Victor E. Mitchell, K.C.,D.C.L., E. W. Nesbitt, M.P.; W. A. Eden, R. E. Jamieson, J. B. Waddell, R. C. Colt, N. S. Williams and Ernest Hopkinson, vice-president of the United States Rubber Company.

A very satisfactory report and statement of the company's operations for the year 1918 were presented. The total sales amounted to $18,785,640.28 the largest in the history of the company, being over fifteen per cent in excess of the sales of 1917. This large volume of business was made up of domestic and export sales, only $793,-403.28 being attributed to war orders. Net proximate for the year were $1,-601,855.11. The assets of the company totalled $25,305,342.76, including liquid assets of $11,297,468.76. Liabilities are shown at $12,244,721.07 of which $9,500.00 represents bonded indictions and $2,744,721.07 current liabilities. Reserves are shown at $155 432,589, outstanding capital stock, $.,-805,500.00 and supplies at $5,700,-795.80.

The company invested during the year the sum of $467,750.00 in Victory Bonds and the employees also subscribed Victory Bonds to the extent of $447,200.00 which the company is financing for them for a period of ten months.

Appropriate references were made to the death of the late Mr. Andrew A. Allan, one of the company's directors. The report and statement were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Redie announced his withdrawal from the presidency and board of the company as he had accepted an importan position with Ames Holden McCreary, Limited, and a resolution expressing appreciation of the services which he had rendered the company, was passed.

At a meeting of the board held immediately after the adjournment of the annual meeting, Mr. Charles B. Seger was elected present and W. A. Eden and Mr. Victor E. Mitchell, K. C. vice- presidents. Mr. Walter Hugo Benmore was appointed secretary, Mr. Wellein, treasurer, and J. P. P. H| Neellis, assistant secretary, Mr. Hugo eWllein, treasurer, and J. P. B. Daigneau, assistant treasurer.

ONTARIO CREEDS.

What the Boys and Girls of This Province Are Thinking.

After talking with thousands of boys and girls in rural districts of Ontario, Dr. Creelman has drawn up a fair representation of what is in their minds, which he has embodied in the following Ontario boys' and girls' creeds:

Boys' Creed.

1. I believe that life in the country can be made just as pleasant and profitable as life in the city.
2. I believe that father and I can form a partnership that will suit both of us.
3. I believe that if I kill every weed on my father's farm we shall be well paid by the increased crop alone, to say nothing of the benefit to our neighbors.
4. I believe that by careful selection of our chickens I can double the output of the flock.
5. I believe that by introducing alfalfa on our farm that we can keep twice as many domestic animals as at present.
6. I believe that by keeping twice as many animals we will be able to grow much larger crops of alfalfa and other things.
7. I believe that by planting shade trees, growing flowers, shrubs, and keeping a tidy homestead that we will be better contented and happier in every way, and our farm will increase in value.
8. I believe not in luck, but in pluck.
9. I believe that farming is a most honorable calling, and having decided to stay on the farm, it is my duty to make the best use of my time, now in school, that I may be the better farmer in the days that are to come.
10. I believe in working when I work and playing when I play, and in giving and receiving a square deal in every act of life.

Girls' Creed.

1. I believe that I have a right to be happy every day.
2. I believe that God's blue sky and God's green earth are a part of my inheritance.
3. I believe that I have a right to love little chickens and ducks and lambs and puppies as well as dolls and ribbons.
5. I believe I would love to keep house better than anything else, and I only wish they taught housework at school.
6. I believe that keeping a garden all my own would be great fun, and I believe that I could be happy in giving away flowers and in cooking the vegetables that I raised myself.
7. I believe that I could study real hard at my grammar and geography and arithmetic and spelling if I could do cooking or sewing with the other girls in the afternoon.
8. I don't want to go to town and leave my father and mother and my brothers and sisters behind while I live in the city, for I know I will miss them all, and the trees and the creek and the green grass and the old woods and everything, but, oh! I don't want to stay at home and do nothing but wash dishes and carry water and do the chores, and grow old like auntie. I want to laugh and love and live.
9. I believe I can learn to sew and cook and do laundry work, and do them well, and I want to learn them, and I want to do them well.
10. I believe in the square deal for girls as well as boys, and I want everybody to be happy all the time—the old as well as the young.

A Long Trip!

Speaking of British errors about British overseas Dominions, we may mention one recently quoted in London Punch as coming from an English provincial paper: "For some days Private Theo pushed a 150-pound cart through the snows which covered the vast stretch between London (Ontario) and Canada."

Teaching Canadian History.

The Government of British Columbia is considering a measure providing for the appointment of official school trustees in alien communities. The object is to remove and prevent a number of unpleasant situations that have arisen in the past where, in certain localities, the teaching of Canadian history has been openly objected to by the foreign elements of the community. Where the teachers have objected to this attitude they have often been compelled to resign through the weight of public opinion. The new bill, by clothing the official school trustees with the authority of a board of school trustees in municipalities, will obviate the hounding of teachers out of office in alien communities.

What the Press Agents Say

LORD AND LADY ALGY AT KINGSTON GRAND

William Faversham, who with Maxine Elliott will appear in "Lord and Lady Algy" at the Grand - Opera House, Kingston, Thursday, May 1st, for one night only, has been an actor manager ever since the time of "The Squaw Man." He became his own manager because other producers wished to keep him playing a single role for several years, and would not give him the scope his ambitions demanded. He has produced the following notable plays under his own management: "The World and His Wife" from the Spanish of Echegaray; Stephen Phillips' "Herod"; "Julius Caesar," "Othella" and "Romeo and Juliet," Edward Knoblauch's "The Pawn;" "The Hawk" by Francis de Croisett; Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married" and "Misalliance," Dion Calthrop's "The Old Country" and R. C. Carton's "Lord and Lady Algy." Faversham made one of his first great successes in the Carton comedy and its appearance here with such a notable company is the event of the season.

"THE ROSARY"

A beautiful story, admirably staged, and cleverly told by a capable company is "The Rosary" as presented at Griffin's Theatre last evening before a large and highly pleased audience. The play is not a new one but it is so sweet and wholesome that it will never die. Oscar O'Shea presented the character of Father Kelly, the large-hearted priest, in a manner above criticism and with a naturalness which eliminated any tendency to florid over-acting. Mr. O'Shea's support was excellent including Miss Kathlyn Gwney, who took the difficult part of Vera Walton, the suffering wife, in a very capable manner. The play was very well staged with an abundance of very appropriate scenery.

Called By Death

WILLIAM A. CHAPMAN

With the demise of William A. Chapman, Thurlow loses one of it's oldest and most highly esteemed residents. Mr. Chapman was born in Roslin some eighty years ago, and lived all his life there as a farmer. He was a man of broad ideas and sound judgment and when a comparatively young man was appointed salesman and president of "East Hastings and Rosebud Cheese Factories, remaining in that position for forty years, until ill health overtook him and he was forced to resign. In politics he was a staunch Conservative. He was a member of Council for six years and always rendered his valuable and earnest support. He was offered a seat in Parliament but refused on account of other business fully occupying his time. In 1863 he married Miss Sarah Cockell of Picton, daughter of the late Captain Cockell, who predeceased him five years ago. He is survived by an only son, Charles Edmund of Roslin and a brother, John, of Lashburn, Sask.

ROUGH WEATHER AHEAD.

There seems to be a prospect of rough weather ahead before complete peace is restored to the world, but dark as the outlook is, the forces working for peace are no doubt capable of meeting any situation that arises out of the turmoil which has succeeded the great war. Darker days have been safely passed through and right has triumphed as it always will. Out of chaos will come order and a better world to live in. Ignorance and selfishness are the two greatest factors in the present world unrest and it will take much patience and firmness to harmonize all the discordant elements which are delaying world peace. The unrest which is convulsing the world today emphasizes the enormity of the crime against humanity which Germany is responsible for in the Kaiser's insane ambition to conquer the world.

HOW ABOUT BUTTER?

The Labor Department reports a decrease in the quantity of butter held in cold storage, but the figures given indicate that a very considerable amount of the delectable diet is being held for exploitation. The situation demands a remedy forthwith. There is a nigger in the woodpile somewhere, and it's up to the government to locate him. The assertion is made that butter is selling in Great Britain at 20 cents a pound less than in Canada. If such be the case, then the statement that the world prices of commerce fixes the price of butter in Canada is sheer bunkum. The Toronto Times puts the case this way:

> Canadian butter, so those "in the know" say, is being sold in Great Britain 20 cents a pound less than in Toronto, and the situation here has reached such a point that Prof. R. J. McFall, the Cost of Living Commissioner, has come to the city from Ottawa to investigate supplies in cold storage and endeavor to solve the reason why butter has become a luxury of the rich.
> Butter wholesalers, interviewed by the Times stated today that the situation might become easier within the next ten days or two weeks, but an appreciable lowering in the price is not expected for some time to come.
> A review of the butter situation for the past few months reveals a situation which few consumers will understand, after the past war years of stringent economic observation on the part of United States and Canadian Governments. Conditions in Canada and the United States are somewhat equal, but both countries, on the admission of Toronto shippers and wholesalers, are being made to "pay through the nose," while their Allies in Europe are enjoying the best creamery butter at prices which have not been quoted here for years back.
> When the United States declared war the Government commandeered 60 per cent. of the American butter supply for the use of its military cantonments and the supply of its army and navy at various points. Upon the signing of the armistice this precaution was abandoned and the wholesale price of butter fell nearly fifty per cent., in view of the surplus on hand. For some reason unknown this surplus was shipped to Europe and American butter soon reached 70 cents wholesale, and local dealers now state that but a week's supply is on hand today in the United States.

CANADIAN SARDINE FISHERS' PLIGHT.

About 2,000 breadwinners in the sardine fishery industry on our Atlantic coast are faced with unemployment. The fishing season normally opens on May 1st, but owing to the fact that the factories have a large surplus from last year it is not the intention of the managements to open until that is disposed of.

In view of the fact that last year there were imported into Canada $286,000 worth of foreign fish of the sardine type from France, Spain, Portugal, Norway and California—none of which are of better nutritive quality than the Canadian sardine—the Canadian Trade Commission requests a voluntary campaign on the part of Canadian grocers, restaurants and housewives to give preference for the next few weeks to Canadian-packed sardines.

The enormous stocks of similarly canned fish in Europe and the United States quite prevent even the hope of export of the Canadian maritime produce, but the Trade Commission is confident that when the facts are brought before the public they will exercise that collective patriotic influence which solved similar temporary difficulties in the vegetable and fruit seasons last summer and fall.

The number of fishermen engaged in catching Canadian sardines is about 1,200, and there are in addition 600 cannery employees, largely women and girls.

From the conflicting reports sent out from Paris relative to Peace Congress negotiations it would appear that Germany still has some money left for propaganda purposes.

For a bunch who fought on both sides during the war the Jugo-Slavs are butting their way pretty strongly into the front row of claimants at the Peace Conference.

Kaiser Bill would no doubt rather be exiled than executed, but as he is in the only country outside of Germany where prohibition clouds are not gathering he prefers to stay where he is rather than to get in Dutch somewhere else. Holland Gin and Deutcher Lager are good enough for him.

German papers are shrieking protest against signing the peace treaty if it doesn't suit them. Seems to come pretty hard to have the peace treaty written in Paris after acres of stationery, oceans of ink and forests of pens had been mobilized at Berlin to make the world safe for Germany. It may be a Godsend if Germany does refuse to sign the peace treaty—WILLINGLY.

OTHER VIEWS

New British Land Policy.
Portland Oregonian.

No class has been more tenacious of its right of absolute ownership of land, to be used as the owner pleased, than the British aristocracy, but the war has worked a great change. For example, Lord Ernle, president of the British board of agriculture, said in a recent speech to an audience of farmers that the new principle emerging from the war was that the nation had a direct and practical interest in the use to which their land was put; that owners could no longer treat their land as they liked, and occupiers must produce the utmost quantity of food that the nation required. Discussing farm laborers' wages, he said that the laborer must to a large extent become the profit-sharer rather than the mere laborer for wages.

The Lady With the Washing.
Australasian.

Eighty-two persons sought the services of a working woman in a Melbourne suburb who advertised that she had vacant days for washing and ironing. As things go, the lady who comes to do the charring will soon become the leading lady. On the posters we will see her beautiful and beloved features, and we will be implored to drink the brand of tea she is daintily sipping, as, dressed in a handsome rose-tinted tea gown, she rests after one of her popular public performances. Her face will be known to all who ride on trams and trains and read the illustrated magazines. Her face will peer at us from beneath a thousand hats, and we will be reminded of her as we use our toothpaste, or buy the latest brand of cigarettes. She will lead the way in corsets and we would not dream of buying a motor car which had not been graced by her enchanting figure. And from the covers of the latest books—but here comes her ladyship. This day we are under her distinguished patronage.

Campaigning in Africa.
Johannesburg Times.

At Dikawa the blue bottle flies had become even a greater menace than disease from decomposing animal matter. Millions of them had been breeding in the carcases — the whole country, from a distance, looked like a field of blue. Here also a species of red ant was observed, so fierce that they would take possession of a road and woe betide man or beast attempting to disturb their migration. The slave ants in these colonies would form an arbour with their own bodies across the road for the important personages and royalty to pass under. Sometimes an occupied native banda would lie across their path, and the unhappy occupant, in daytime or night, would have to move.

The Marshall Islands.
Sydney Bulletin.

President Wilson quite fails, and throughout the war has failed, to rightly appraise the Japanese. In a recent utterance he said he could not see what the Japanese could do with the Marshall Islands, as they were neither commercially or strategically important. It is quite possible he does not know, and has no means of knowing, what the Japanese are doing in the Marshalls, the things they have accomplished in the short space of four years, and the splendid foundation they have laid for the other things they mean to accomplish. The Japanese are no laggers, no dreamers no wasters of time or opportunity They are thoroughly Spartan-like in their ideas of colonization, and these qualities are producing the most startling results in commercial activity, to say nothing of strategical advantages.

Thirteen Points.
London Daily Express.

The number thirteen has played a curiously persistent part in the career of President Wilson. It was on September 13 that Mr. Wilson opened his victorious campaign in the presidential election. He finished the thirteenth year of his professorship at Princeton and was elected the thirteenth president of that university. The marriage of Miss Jessie Wilson and Mr. Francis B. Sayre took place at the White House on the 13th of the month, and the ceremony was the thirteenth of the kind celebrated at the official presidential residence. On his first voyage to Europe Mr. Wilson sailed on December 13, and on his second trip he arrived at Brest on March 13. To crown all, the President's name, Woodrow Wilson, consists of thirteen letters.

A Nursery Anniversary.
London Daily Chronicle.

Among the many anniversaries that fall this year we must not forget the 200th anniversary of Mother Goose, that wonderful colletion of nursery jingles that is "half as old as true." We share this great literary event with America, for she claims that it was Thomas Fleet, a Boston printer, who published the rhymes in 1719 to make fun of his wife's mother and ridicule her for singing such things to her children. The public, however, was wiser than Thomas and took the rhymes to its heart, and has never allowed them to be forgotten in our nurseries from that day to this. Many of the jingles are of French origin, some are American, but the majority are pure English. Nevertheless, it was America that made them popular.

A Laugh or Two

Poor Papa!

"Mother, dear, I need $100. Will you ask father for it?"

"No, you must ask him yourself. You'll have a husband some day, and now is your time to practice."

Hen's Affinity and Why.

"We read that a hen has adopted a litter of pigs. A possible explanation of this is the natural intimacy between ham and eggs."

Economy.

It's heartbreaking the way some girls are careless in these hard times.

Aunt Martha went into the kitchen the other evening and found her young servant sitting by the fire, which was gaily consuming much coal.

"Goodness me!" gasped the old lady. "You should always burn cinders in the evening, Esmeralda."

Next day auntie saw Esmeralda heaping coal on to a huge bonfire in the back garden. She couldn't speak for rage, but the girl understood her gestures.

"Please, mum," she explained, "I'm making cinders to burn this evening."

His Only Chance.

"What are you going to name the baby?"

"I don't know. The women folk at our house haven't decided that yet."

"Don't you have anything to say about it?"

"Not a word. They insist on naming the children to suit themselves, but they've promised me that if ever I get rich enough to own a motor-boat or a yacht, I shall be allowed to christen it myself."

Good Business Head.

Maggie has a new baby brother, which everybody agreed was such a baby as had never been seen before, says an exchange. One day the baby was being weighed, and Maggie asked what that was for.

"Oh," said her father, "Uncle George has taken a great fancy to baby and he's offered to buy him for a shilling an ounce."

Maggie looked startled. "You're not going to sell him, are you, daddy?"

"Of course not, precious," answered daddy, proud to see his little girl loved her brother so.

"No. Keep him until he gets a bit bigger," the child went on; "he'll fetch more money then."

The Poet's Corner

THE ROSARY OF MY YEARS.

Some reckon their age by years,
Some measure their life by art,
But some of their days by the flow of their tears,
And their life by the moans of their heart.

The dials of earth may show
The length, not the depth, of years—
Few or many may come, few or many may go;
But our time is best measured by tears.

Ah, not by the silver gray
That creeps through the sunny hair,
And not by the scenes we pass on our way—
And not by the furrows the finger of Care
In forehead and face has made.
Not so do we count our years;

Not by the sun of the earth—but by the shade
Of our souls—and the fall of our tears.
For the young are ofttimes old,
Though their brow be bright and fair,
While their blood beats warm, their hearts lie cold—
O'er them the springtime—but Winter is there.
And the old are ofttimes young,
When their hair is thin and white;
And they sing in age as in youth they sung,
And they laugh, for their cross was light.

But bead by bead I tell
The rosary of my years,
From a cross to a crown they lead—'tis well!
And they are blessed with a blessing of tears.
Better a day of strife,
Than a century of sleep;
Give me instead of a long stream of life
The tempest and tears of the deep.

A thousand joys may foam
On the billows of all the years;
But never the foam brings the brave bark home—
It reaches the haven through tears.

—Father Ryan.

Alkaki in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos ; or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Letters To The Editor

"HASTINGS COUNTY DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION ASSEMBLY"

To the Editor of The Intelligencer
Dear Sir:—

Some persons are inquiring "How it is proposed to develop the resources of the County by giving an Assembly" In reply to this I would state that the Association is only in its initiative stage and its object is "By unity of interest and co-operation in direction and effort to stimulate, encourage and develop the natural and industrial resources of the County of Hastings to the end that it may become the banner County of the Province measured by the standard of general progress."

The Publicity Committee is one of several committees appointed to look after the various departments and the first possibilities of our County and they hope by the proposed Assembly to bring together the people from the different parts of the County to spend a social evening and have an opportunity of exchanging ideas and becoming acquainted with the REAL aims of the Association. All monies realized will be used for the purpose of advertising and giving publicity to the resources of the County.

The Publicity Committee are sparing no effort to make the Assembly a great success in order that those who can make it possible to attend will have a pleasant and profitable evening. There will be on exhibition at the Assembly one of the largest collections of Hastings County minerals ever shown and an excellent program of instrumental and vocal music provided.

All parts of the County will benefit equally, as it is the object of the Association to encourage industries and development wherever there is opportunity. The primary motive of the Organization of the Hastings County Development Association was to assist in the repatriation of returned soldiers and help them to take as great a part in our industrial affairs as they have in the war, therefore the Publicity Committee under whose auspices the Assembly is being held will appreciate your co-operation and good will and especially invite any suggestions submitted to further the aims of the Association and best interests of the County.

Respectfully yours,
WM. H. NUGENT
Secretary C. H. D. A.

For Your Convenience

THE saving of the extra steps and extra motions has been shown to be a big thing in the business world. Efficiency engineers at fancy salaries have been hired to study the most convenient ways of getting work done. The biggest industries have proved that convenience pays, and it is the same in the household.

EDDY'S MATCHES & Indurated Fibreware

enable the housewife to save many extra steps and extra motions which may be unnoticed at the time, but which require time and energy just the same.

Eddy's Washtubs and Pails are easier to lift, easier to move, and keep the water hot longer. Eddy's Matches are safe, reliable and non-poisonous. They have been standard in Canada since 1851.

Small things? Perhaps. But your end-of-the-day fatigue is the product of many such small things. And that is a big thing.

Manufacture of Oleomargarine Favored by City Council

The business brought before the City Council last night was transacted with scarcely any discussion and in consequence the session was brief. The Council concurred in a petition to the Government to continued the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine. Ald. Riggs gave notice of a motion to have Pinnacle street paved from Mill street to Dundas street. A number of petitions for sewers and granolithic walks were presented and referred to the proper city authorities to ascertain if sufficiently signed Some other business of a routine nature was disposed of.

Members present were Mayor Platt, Aldermen Woodley, Bone, Riggs, Ostrom, Treverton and Hanna.

Minutes at last meeting read and confirmed. Council went into committee of the whole on reports, etc. Ald. Bone in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were adopted, as were also the following recommendations:

That the salary of Miss Sayers, as stenographer, be $12 per week dating from April 12th.

That the City Treasurer forward to the Canadian Good Road Association, Montreal, a cheque for $10 being the amount of the associate membership to the Association.

That the City Treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque for $400 to assist in maintenance.

That tenders be called for the collection of garbage for one year from May 15th. All tenders to be addressed to the Chairman of Market and City Property and to be left with the City Clerk not later than 5 o'clock, Thursday, May 1st.

That the report made by the City Engineer on Victoria Park Bridge be accepted.

Clean Up Week

Mr. J. S. France, Secretary of the Dominion Fire Chiefs Association, asked the Council to assist in the movement for a clean-up week commencing on May 5th, 1919—Referred to the Fire Committee.

Garbage Collection

The Board of Health members wrote the Council relative to the satisfactory manner in which the garbage had been collected during the past year, and suggested the making of arrangement whereby the services of Mr. Thos. Harris as collector, could be retained.

Oleomargarine Wanted

The Council was asked to concur in a petition to Parliament to continue in force the Order-in-Council authorizing the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine.

A motion prevailed to concur in the petition.

Sewers and Sidewalks

Petitions were presented for the construction of sewers on Isabel street on Queen street from McDonald Ave. to Bleecker Avenue, on Henry street from Coleman to Cedar streets.—Referred to City Clerk, Assessor and City Engineer to report upon.

Petitions were presented asking for the construction of granolithic pavements on east side of Harvey street, west side of Bleecker Avenue, east side of Bleecker Avenue, west sid of Chatham street, and south side of Olive street.—Referred to City Engineer, City Clerk and Assessor to ascertain if properly signed.

The committee rose and reported. Report received and adopted.

Enquiries

Ald. Riggs asked if the city was going to plough vacant lots this year.

No—By several of the Aldermen.

Motions

Ald. Hanna moved, seconded by Ald. Bone, that this Council consider fully the Provincial Government Housing scheme at our next meeting and that a Bylaw be brought in appointing a housing commission, consisting of the whole Council.—Carried.

Ald. Woodley moved, seconded by Ald. Bone, that the City Engineer prepare plans, specifications and estimates of the cost of construction for sanitary sewers on Moira street west, from Coleman to North Front street, also on North Front street from west Moira to Ridley street.—Carried.

Ald. Woodley moved, seconded by Ald. Treverton, that the construction of the West Bridge street sewer from Commercial street to Coleman street be undertaken by the Public Works Department, under the supervision of the City Engineer and the Superintendent of Public Works.

Ald. Woodley moved, seconded by Ald. Treverton, that tenders be called for the construction of sanitary sewers on the following streets:

On East Bridge from Bleecker Avenue to 50 feet east of the east line of Dufferin Avenue.

On Octavia street from Catherine street to Bridge street west.

On Hillside street from Moira to Holloway streets.

On Dundas street from Catherine to Holloway streets.

That tenders be sealed and addressed to the Chairman of Public Works not later than Thursday, May 1st, 1919.—Carried.

Notice of Motion

Ald. Riggs gave notice of a motion that at asphatic concrete pavement be constructed on Pinnacle street from Mill street to Dundas street.

Ald. Woodley gave notice of a motion that permanent pavements be built on Bleecker, Burnham, Ann, William and George streets from Bridge street to Dundas street.

Ex-Ald. Duckworth was present and spoke in reference to the construction of a sewer on Everett street.

A petition which was presented was not sufficiently signed and Fr. Duckworth stated that he would endeavor to procure other signatures.

Council adjourned.

SHOULD DEVELOP TRADE WITH ORIENT, SAYS COL. PECK, V. C.

MONTREAL, April 23.—"Steamship service between Prince Rupert and the Orient should be established as soon as possible," said Lieut.-Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., and member of the Federal Parliament upon leaving here to pay a brief visit to New York.

The constituency of Skeena, British Columbia, which Col. Peck represents at Ottawa is one of the largest in the Dominion, being more than one thousand miles in length and more than three hundred miles wide.

"It would be difficlut to rival the natural resources and advantages of this great territory," said Col. Peck, when questioned regarding it. "If development is properly directed it will prove to be one of the Dominion's greatest producing areas—a veritable store-house of wealth. It has wonderful lumbering mineral and other riches, while its rivers and coast waters give up an unparalled harvest of food fishes."

"The natural resources of the region are hardly known, and its mineral riches have certainly not yet been even properly prospected. The properties that have been developed, such as that of the Granby copper mines, on the Portland Canal, demonstrate the almost limitless possibilities of the territory.

"Prince Rupert was chosen only after a most careful investigation as the Pacific terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The fact is sometimes overlooked, I think, that it was only in 1914 that actual construction work on this railway was completed, and the linking up of steel accomplished. The war period has intervened, bringing about a cessation of immigration and of almost all constructive efforts. The future of the Grand Trunk Pacific as a successful railroad appears to me to be certain, in spite of the difficulties which have arisen, largely through conditions no one could have foreseen. The advantages of Prince Rupert, and indeed of all the territory served by that railway should now be turned to good account.

500 MILES NEARER

"The port of Prince Rupert is situated on one of the world's greatest natural harbors, and a great deal has already been done in connection with the work of creating port facilities. It has a splendid ship-building plant which now has orders sufficient to keep it busy for some years to come, and also the finest dry-dock on the Pacific coast. When you put out to sea at Prince Rupert you are 500 miles nearer Yokohama than when sailing from any other Pacific port. This means a very real shortening in the avenue of commerce between the East and the West, and Canada cannot afford to fail to take advantage of this factor. The proposal is that eight to ten steel vessels of the type now being constructed in various yards by the Dominion Government be placed in operation between Prince Rupert and the Oriental ports. That a substanaol trade awaits them cannot be doubt, and on there being placed in service there would come a natural increase in the the traffic of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in which the Dominion Government has from the inception been most vitally interested A combination of private initiative and reasonable governmental assistance would undoubtedly insure good returns in this direction."

"While in London I had an opportunity" continued Col. Peck "of discussing with the officers of Lloyds the question of insurance rates between Prince Rupert and Oriental ports as compared with other Pacific Coast ports, and no difficulties that I know of are to be anticipated in that direction."

Col. Peck knows the Skeena country as few other men know it, having been associated with enterprises in that territory since 1901. His partner and cousin, Capt. Donald Moore, was killed at the battle of Festubert, when Col. Peck was wounded.

After a short stay in New York, Col. Peck will return to meet his regiment the 16th Battalion Canadian Scottish on its arrival in Canada, and accompany it to the West.

Wedding Bells

RUTHERFORD—McCABE

A very popular young couple of Belleville were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last evening, when Mr. Edgar F. Rutherford and Miss Marjorie C. McCabe became man and wife. The ceremony was of a quiet nature on account of a recent bereavement in the bride's family through the death of her brother, Gunner Earl McCabe, a gallant young soldier who was killed in action. Rev. W. H. Wallace was the officiating clergyman, the wedding taking place at the Baptist parsonage, the young couple being unattended. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. McCabe, 306 Bleecker Avenue, city, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rutherford, Alexander street. Both are well known locally and have many friends who wish them all happiness and prosperity in their married life. After a wedding trip to Midland and other places Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford will take up their residence in Belleville.

THE LAKE OF BAYS

There was never a region better designed for vacation purposes than the "Lake of the Bays" district. Huntsville on the Grand Trunk Railway, 145 miles north of Toronto, is the gateway through which you pass to this summer playground. Good fishing, high altitude (1000 feet above the sea) immunity from hay fever, lovely water trips, good hotel accommodation and golf are some of the many attractions. An interesting booklet telling you all about it sent free on application to C. E. Horning, D. P. A., Toronto, Ont.

Why Do We Advertise?

YOU may think that because we are big manufacturers, and you are only one consumer out of several million, we have no special interest in you, and you have no real interest in us. Nothing could be farther from the truth that that.

Our future as manufacturers depends in the end, upon just one thing: the satisfaction which our product gives to you, the consumer. And your satisfaction depends to a large extent upon the attention which you yourself give to the buying of shoes.

For, bear in mind this fact: no matter with what care we select the materials which go into a shoe—no matter how perfect the workmanship may be—it will not give you the full measure of satisfaction unless it is correctly fitted to your foot. And that is something which we cannot control.

We do insist that the materials which go into our shoes shall be the best quality possible at the price: we do make sure that the workmanship is as nearly perfect as our human organization can make it—but we must stop there. We cannot insure ourselves that you will buy the type of shoe which will give you the best service, or the size and width which alone can give you comfort and satisfactory wear.

And so we speak to you through this advertising—the only method by which we can hope to reach you all. Our object is not merely to sell more of our shoes. We seldom ask you to buy A. H. M. shoes. Our purpose is rather to tell you how you may obtain better comfort and better service from the shoes you buy.

Of course we hope that you will buy A. H. M. shoes, and we are confident that sooner or later your will do so. But we want to make sure that when you do buy them you will get all the comfort and satisfaction which we try to build into them.

Our booklet, "How to Buy Shoes" goes into the subject more fully than is possible in newspaper space. It is sent on request to any address in Canada. May we send you a copy with our compliments?

THE IMPORTANCE OF CENTS

No one should think lightly of the 25 cent Thrift Stamp as means for gathering up the savings of the great mass of the people. In Great Britain they have stamps selling for as low as 6d or 12 cents. In the schools of New York State cards have recently been issued which enable the children to turn in one cent at a time and get credit for it. In other words, the richest state in the richest country in the world does not hesitate to accept the one cent that a child in its school desires to save.

SMITH HARDWARE

Feels Like Burden Has Been Lifted

Mrs. Clarke Had Almost Given Up Hope When Tanlac Restored Her to Health.

"I feel like Tanlac has lifted a big burden off my shoulders," said Mrs. Mary E. Clark, of 34 Buttonwood Avenue, Mt. Denis, Ontario, Canada, recently.

"I had a severe attack of pneumonia," she continued, "that left me in a terribly run-down condition; I lost my appetite and fell off so much and lost so much strength that I wanted to sit down and rest all the time. My nerves were in such a bad fix that I hardly closed my eyes at all, and would get up in the morning feeling worse than when I went to bed. Often my head ached all day long. I could hardly get through my housework, and was afraid I would have to give up altogether.

"Before I had finished half my first bottle of Tanlac my appetite improved and I haven't had a headache since I started on it. I sleep like a baby, and am so much stronger than I was that I am actually doing every bit of my housework, and don't get tired in the least."

NAPANEE GOLF CLUB

The election of officers at the annual meeting of the Napanee Golf Club resulted as follows, Hon. Presidents, Dr. R. A. Leonard, Mr. C. M. Warner and Dr. R. C. Cartwright; President, Mr. T. B. Wallace; Vice-President, Capt. R. G. H. Travers; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. T. J. German; Captain, Mr. J. W. Robinson.

FINE REMITTED

Some time ago a fine of $200 was imposed on Mr. Prosper Frechette under the Ontario Temperance Act upon a complaint made by his wife following some domestic troubles. The circumstances of the case were brought before the Attorney General's Department by his solicitor W. C. Mikel K.C., and on the recommendation of the Board of License Commissioners an order was recently made for the return of the penalty, which has just been received by Mr. Frechette.

CLOTHING ON THE BANK

There was a ripple of excitement for a few minutes yesterday afternoon owing to a report being circulated that a man's suit of clothes had been found on the bank of the river near the C. N. R. bridge. The police investigated the affair and found an old suit of clothes, also a towel much the worse of wear and dirty. The clothes have every appearance of having been used by a person who had been engaged in handling coal, as they were filled with coal dust. It is surmised that the clothing had been discarded and placed where they were found with the object of creating suspicion that a drowning accident or suicide accident had taken place.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Charles McConnell and Cansel Arnott were this morning arraigned before Police Magistrate Masson on a charge that they did on the night of April 15th, 1919, unlawfully break into and enter Doyle's drug store in this city, and steal therefrom 8 gallons of alcohol and 33 fountain pens. The accused through, their counsel pleaded not guilty and also intimated that they did not desire to be tried by His Worship but by Judge and Jury. The preliminary examination was proceeded with this afternoon. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney represented the Crown, Mr. F. E. O'Flynn for McConnell and Mr. Horkins of Toronto for Arnott. Master Asa Yeomans in his evidence, testified that on the evening after the robbery he saw the two accused in a shed in rear of his father's place on Pinnacle street and in the vicinity of Doyle's drug store. The men arrived at the shed through a lane leading off Campbell street. They appeared to be looking for something in the shed.

SPRING FEVER

Following Colds, Grippe, Thin, Watery or Poisoned Blood

(By Dr. Valent... Mo...)

At this time of year most people suffer from what we term "spring fever" because of a stagnant condition of the blood, because of the toxic poisons stored up within the body during the long winter. We eat too much meat, with little or no green vegetables.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alterative and blood purifier. Such a tonic as druggists have sold for fifty years, is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form. Made without alcohol from wild roots and barks.

Occasionally one should "clean house" with castor oil or tiny pills made up of the May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, and sold by almost all druggists in this country as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

SARNIA, ONT.—"I was in a very bad condition. I could not eat without feeling distressed. Had indigestion so badly I was always in misery. I had liver trouble as well, and the two just put me 'down and out' for about five years. I had many good doctors but got no relief. I took Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had taken two bottles I was much improved, and in less than six months I was well. I could eat anything and do my work with pleasure."—MRS. ANNIE BARCOM, 226 Durand St.

Brilliant Scene At Bazaar

Large Attendance At Opening

GAY WITH COLORS BAZAAR FAIRYLAND DISCLOSES ITS ATTRACTIONS TO LARGE ATTENDANCE OF DELIGHTED PATRONS—FINE DISPLAY OF USEFUL AND ORNAMENTAL ARTICLES ON SALE — CAFETERIA KEEPS DOWN HIGH COST OF LIVING — BAZAAR IN AID OF NEW HOSPITAL FUND HAS VERY SUCCESSFUL OPENING.

Beautiful decorations, daintily attired young ladies and matrons, laughing throngs of sight-seers, and music and dancing were features of the brilliant scene attending the opening of the Bazaar at St. Michael's Academy yesterday afternoon and evening. The bazaar is being conducted by the ladies of St. Michael's church to raise funds for the new hospital to be established in Belleville.

A number of tastefully decorated booths contain all kinds of articles useful and ornamental for sale, from ladies waists to home-made candy. The predominating note in the color scheme is pink and the decorations blend very harmoniously.

For the children the Fish Pond is the great attraction and for the small sum of five cents a great big fish can be caught and an even larger one for ten cents. Even the big folks enjoy the Fish Pond for the charming young ladies in charge give an added interest to the fishing.

The flying horses have an attraction all their own and afford good sport to those willing to take a chance.

For a small investment an opportunity is given to become the possible owner of a twenty-five dollar gold piece and the prospect is well worth the small investment.

An interesting department is the Cafeteria, where wholesome viands in generous helpings can be obtained at five and ten cents the portion which makes it cheaper to eat at the Bazaar than at home.

For the young folks there is a dancing program which is very attractive, but ther is something to interest everybody and something doing every minute.

Don't fail to visit the Bazaar and have a good time while helping a very worthy cause—a new hospital for Belleville.

Brilliant Spectacle

A busy and animated spectacle meets the eye when one enters the spacious hall of St Michael's Academy during the days of the big Bazaar which is being held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The word "Bazaar" is of Eastern origin, and means a market-place or exchange, but no eastern mart ever excelled St. Michael's bazaar as far as the quality, quantity and daintiness of the wares displayed is concerned. Prospective purchasers will find everything they require here—neck-ties, holders, etc., for the boys, dainty lingeries and household linen for the bride, housedresses, aprons, towels, etc., all ready for the busy housewife; dresses galore for the little ones. Many beautiful centre pieces in colors and white with dainty crotcheted edges are displayed. The ladies of the congregation have been busy for weeks past and the result of their labour is gratifying indeed.

The Booths

One side of the large hall is devoted to the booths of the different wards. These booths are a model of artistic workmanship. The candy booth occupies a central position and is also gaily decorated and the home-made candy is very wholesome. A life-size picture of a boy with a fishing chance on "the fish" which are hidden behind the screen in the fish pond. This plan is somewhat better than real fishing for here you are always sure to catch a fish.

The Cafeteria

The other side of the hall is set aside for the Cafeteria and here Old High Costa Living receives a severe jolt. An appetizing repast can be obtained for the nominal charge of thirty or forty cents, the menu consisting of meats of several kinds, salads of every kind, pickles and relish, dessert, cake and pie, tea or coffee. The Cafeteria ladies were very busy yesterday during tea hour and presented a pretty scene in their white and pink costumes. Even the fortune telling so prevalent in the east, has not been forgotten.

One of the rooms down-stairs has been provided with a player piano which furnishes excellent music for those who wish to enjoy the dancing. Here also is the Coca Cola booth which was kept very busy.

During the past few weeks "throws" have been taken on many articles and these will be drawn for during the course of the Bazaar and the lucky winners announced. On Tuesday night the following were drawn:

Lucky Investors

Toy aeroplane made and donated by Mr. Alex. Bremner, won by W. J. Ridley.

Sick room cabinet, won by Desire Belanger.

Music And Drama

MOVIES AND VAUDEVILLE

As the leading woman in a musical comedy, Dorothy Dalton, in her latest photoplay, "Hard Boiled" which is on view for the last time at Griffin's tonight, brings to the screen some clever sayings that will remind the spectators of the lines made popular by Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady." A good Mutt and Jeff cartoon, "Bewar of Boarders," a funny Mack Sennett comedy completes the photoplay program. Two acts of vaudeville are also being presented in Smith and King in a study in black and tan, and Winnifred Evans, the Canadian singer of Canadian songs.

MARGUERITE CLARK AND CHARLES RAY AT GRIFFIN'S

All who love optimism and are admirers of an ideal home life, should see "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" in which the beautiful Marguerite Clark is apearing at Griffin's tomorrow to Saturday, with matinee Saturday at 2.15. The theme is an elevated one and no one can see this splendid photoplay without experiencing mental uplift. It is charming in every way, the supporting company being ideal. Charles Ray also appears on the same programme in "The Girl Dodger" ... ors," and the British News are also announced for presentation.

A SPLENDID PHOTOPLAY

Norma Talmadge is appearing at the Palace tonight for the last time in one of the real photoplay treats of the year 'Ghosts of Yesterday.' That Miss Talmadge is popular with local photoplay lovers is evidenced by the large audiences at every performance. "That's Him," a funy Luke comedy and Pathe News is also being presented on the same program.

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS COMING

Minstrelsy reclaimed, black-face fun rejuvenated, and darktown follies revived, is among the many advertising captions blazing the trail of Gus Hill's big minstrels due here at Griffin's next Tuesday night.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or

CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC
Inseparably Associated with
EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

Woman Murdered In Montrea

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer.

Canadian Press, Limited.

MONTREAL, April 23—The body of a woman, who had been stabbed to death, and an unconscious man, registered under the name of A. Laubith, Toronto, were found this morning in a room in the Windsor Hotel.

The man is believed to be an American and the young woman an Italian or Syrian. She had been shot once and stabbed several times. The man F. Carl Sawick, cut his throat, and little hope is held out for his recovery. On the table was a pile of letters to people in Toronto and St. Catharines. A note read "We are dying for love and sickness." Money was left for postage on the leters.

Buy Your Home NOW
All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

CANADA AND TITLES.

It Is Time We Decided What We Shall Do.

What is Canada going to settle down to in the matter of titles? Probably nearly all will agree that the social and economic conditions of this country are unsuited to hereditary titles; and it is equally natural that the development of democratic feeling should make the vox populi pronounce with increasing decision against knighthoods, though they are not hereditary, especially as they are suspected of being the reward, very frequently, of wire-pulling, and of party, rather than public, services. On the other hand so long as we remain a united Empire and subjects of the King it seems a pity and an anomaly that, under no circumstances, should public service be permitted to receive titular recognition at the hands of the sovereign. Might not a wise compromise be found by distinguishing between prefixes and affixes; in stopping the former, but not the latter? Every graduate of a university is entitled to an affix of B.A. or M.A. or LL.B. as the case may be. Why then should affixes such as C.B., C.M.G., or O.B.E., be objected to? Affixes will never minister to snobbishness as prefixes may undoubtedly do; nor would they tempt in nearly the same degree to wire-pulling for the obtaining of them. No doubt it may be objected — Why should colonial subjects be thus confined to the lower stages of the orders of knighthood? But there is no reason why they should. All that is necessary is to bar the use of the prefix "Sir." Apart from this a Canadian could still be a K.C.B. or a K.C.M.G., or hold any other knighthood. Already the same thing is the case with foreign honorary members of these orders. Gen. Pershing is, we believe, a G.C.B. But he would not think of using the prefix "Sir." Apart from this, however, and even if Canadians were not permitted to accept more than the C.B. or the C.M.G., and not the K.C.B. or the K.C.M.G. would that be any ground of objection when it was done purely at the request and in accordance with the wish of this country?—The Canadian Law Times.

AMERICANS IN ALBERTA.

Population Has Influence Upon Trade Sentiment.

According to official figures, the total number of Americans that have taken up residence in the Province of Alberta since 1905, including five months of the fiscal year 1918-19, reaches 275,093. In 1905 the Province of Alberta was organized, and statistical information has been kept since that date of the immigration into the three provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. Saskatchewan ranks second, with 226,330 immigrants; and Manitoba third, with only 78,789. The largest immigration into Alberta from the United States came in 1909-19, numbered 5,613. The total population of Alberta in 1916 was given officially as 496,525.

The British immigration during the thirteen years since the province was organized, was 73,082, and other than British 40,282, making a total of 113,364, as compared with 275,093 immigrants of American nationality. The predominance of the American immigrant over all other nationalities is nearly 70 per cent. Assuming that the proportion of immigrants from the United States residing in Alberta, prior to the organization of the province, was about the same as is now existing, the total American population in Alberta today is probably 325,000 out of the entire 496,525 population, or about 65 per cent. Of course, hundreds of Americans have taken up Government land and have become naturalized, and many hundreds of immigrants have left the United States before they have completed their naturalization there. But the predominance of Americans in Alberta is very marked and this predominance has a directing influence upon trade with the United States.

Authors Had Grievances.

For many years the Canadian copyright law has been antiquated and unfair. Some of the handicaps under which Canadian authors and composers worked were,—

1. Canada is the only country that does not recognize the composer's control over the reproduction of his work by phonograph records, player-piano rolls, etc.
2. Canadian writers have no control over the reproduction of their work in moving pictures. It is a current complaint that there are not enough Canadian films. There would be more of them if there were any inducements for Canadians to write.
3. The writer of a Canadian book has no control over the translation into a foreign language.
4. The writer of Canadian fiction has no control over its dramatization.
5. The Canadian dramatist has no control over the rewriting of his play as a novel.
6. The present method of registration of articles by newspapers is inadequate and inconvenient.
7. Under the British Act, the term of copyright is the life of the author plus fifty years. In Canada, it is only 28 plus 14 years.

Honor Canadians.

Public recognition of the work of Canadians who are doing the expressing is an absolutely necessary condition to success, and we have sinned against our own interests by feeding too appreciatively upon the art of another country. If we were truer to our native genius it would doubtless be found in the end that national art and national prosperity are not irreconcilable.—Edmonton Journal.

Influenza Attacks Coal Miners.

The output of coal in Sheffield, England, has been seriously restricted owing to the ravages of influenza, which attacked the workers in large numbers.

OLD TRADER PASSES.

Alexander Mackenzie Formed Link to the Past.

The name of Alexander Mackenzie leads all the rest in the history of Canada's northland. The great explorer and fur trader, who in the closing years of the eighteenth century journeyed first to the Arctic and then to the Pacific, and who is constantly recalled to us by the Mackenzie river, received world-wide recognition for his achievements. Napoleon Bonaparte was among those most profoundly impressed by the importance of his work of exploration.

But there has been another Alexander Mackenzie in recent years, whose name and fame counted for much in the northland itself, though he was practically unknown to the outside world. He died on Jan. 15 last, at Peace River, Alberta, in his 78th year. He was a native of the Province of Quebec, and after being educated in Scotland, entered the service of the Hudson Bay Company in 1863.

For forty years he was one of its officers, serving it with much distinction at many different posts all along the Mackenzie and its tributaries. Fifteen years ago he was pensioned and has since made his home six miles below the town of Peace River, near the point where the Peace is joined by the Smoky. The ruins of one of the oldest posts of the company are adjacent to his farm.

Since settlers began to arrive in large numbers in the Peace River country and the railway was built the romantic aspect of the fur trade has largely disappeared. Mr. Mackenzie was to a unique degree a link with the old days. In winter time he always wore what was at the time he entered the employ of the company the distinctive costume of the trader.

A photograph, which was found on his body at his death, the only one copy, it is believed, being in existence, shows him in that costume. From it a person can easily appreciate how picturesque a figure he was and what a source of interest he was to those whose good fortune it was to meet him.

Those who have visited the town of Peace River must have been impressed by the great height of the river banks there. At a point 740 feet above the water there is a grave, that of "Twelve-Foot" Davis, one of the earliest of the country's earliest free-traders, in a fur-trading, not in a fiscal sense. Davis and Mackenzie were strong rivals for many years.

Davis was first buried at Grouard, but his remains were afterwards taken by James K. Cornwall—a much younger free-trader, who is now the commanding officer of a railway battalion in France, where he has won the D.S.O. and the Croix de Guerre—and reinterred at what was believed to be the highest point on the hills above Peace River. Over them Lt.-Col. Cornwall subsequently placed a monument.

The grave at that great height recalls, that on the Matoppo Hills, where Cecil Rhodes rests. Cornwall, being an intense admirer of the career of Rhodes, probably had this plan of honoring the memory of his friend Davis suggested to him by the provision which the South African Empire builder made for his final resting place.

The writer visited Peace River in the autumn of 1916, and met Mr. Mackenzie. The conversation came around to the grave of "Twelve-Foot" Davis, and his old-time rival then stated that he knew of a higher spot on the other side of the river, where he intended to be buried. But his grave is in Mount Pleasant Cemetery just outside the town and, so far as his executors have learned up to the present, he made no definite request or provision to be buried on the heights.

When he turned from trading to farming, he and his sons made a very considerable success of the latter. His enterprise is shown by the fact that he brought the first threshing machine into the district and the machinery for the first grist mill.

It is a familiar charge against old Hudson Bay men that they were never prepared to concede the possibilities of agriculture in the country over which they had traded. But this could never be preferred against Mr. Mackenzie. He had the most abundant faith that the northland would sustain a very large population.

He had kept extensive notes of his experiences during fifty-five years along the northern rivers, and these should prove of the utmost historical value.

The Annexation Bogey.

The United States and Canada have lived at peace for over 100 years, and their relations to-day are more friendly than ever. The national creed of the Americans is against the acquisition of territory by conquest. Canada is safe from armed aggression from that quarter. Annexation could be effected only with the consent of a majority of the people on both sides of the border, and this puts it beyond the range of possibility. Even the American flag in Alaska is no menace. Canada can set its hand to its own household affairs undisturbed. The annexation bogey is simply the creature of a disordered brain. This country is comparatively secure, with at the north a pole which even American enterprise has not been able to locate to popular satisfaction, a vast ocean on either side and a friendly nation of one hundred million people to the south.—Peterboro' Review.

Too Many Non-Fighters.

Of twenty-seven officers in the Pay Office of Toronto Military District fifteen have been overseas, and of 104 non-commissioned officers and men only 21 have served outside of Canada. There is need for the planting of a good many more returned fighting men in that warm nest.

The value of the British trade preference to goods from within the Empire, now actually working, means millions of dollars to Canada. "The Canadian public apparently have not grasped the signficance of this yet," is one statement made to the Canadian Trade Commission.

At the midnight hour a dainty lunch was provided, after which dancing was indulged in for some time.

MONEY MISSING FROM GAS METERS

Two young men were arrested last night on a charge that they broke open gas slot meters and stole therefrom money, the property of the City of Belleville. The accused were this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson and the case was enlarged until the 30th inst. It is alleged that the boys visited the homes of relatives where slot gas meters are in use and broke open the same extracting the money.

COURT OF REVISION

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the Court of Revision of the city, was held in the Council Chamber, City Hall. All members were present, namely Sheriff Morrison and Messrs. W. H. Panter and R. W. The owners claim that the amount charged against them is in excess of the estimation made of the cost of construction. The court reserved decision in the matter.

CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

Bingaling and Bungaling's Gigantic Circus opened the circus season in Belleville by a parade unique and novel at noon today. There were all kinds of curiosities in the procession from giraffes to Charlie Chaplins and the music was fast and furious in the circus style. While not laying claims to being the greatest show on earth Bingaling's and Bungalings aggregation of curiosities and ferocities may be properly classed as one of the greatest of its kind, and a program varied and novel, full of fun, music and thrills is assured all who get in under the Big Top at the Y. M. C. A. building tonight. The parade furnished much amusement to the large number of citizens who lined Front street during the noon hour.

QUEBEC WOMAN PAYS

FINE WITH ONE CENT PIECES

QUEBEC, April 24— Out of spite for having to pay a $50 fine, a woman entered the police court and paid the fine with a bag of one-cent pieces, to "make them earn their money." The clerk of the court counted the coppers patiently and with a smile handed the woman her receipt.

Chaos is Reigning in Budapest After Government Failure

BELA KUN'S CABINET RESIGNS UNDER PRESSURE OF RUMANIAN FORCES—THOUSANDS OF HUNGARIAN TROOPS DESERT — SOCIAL-DEMOCRATIC REGIME, HEADED BY SIGMUND KEMFI, MAY SUCCEED TO CONTROL — FRESH EXTREMIST OUTBREAKS ARE EXPECTED FOLLOWING CONSCRIPTION DECLARATION.

AMSTERDAM, April 23.—The Hungarian Government, headed by Bela Kun, has resigned under pressure of Roumanian troops, according to a despatch to The Central News from Vienna, quoting reports received in that city by aerial mail from Budapest. Wild chaos is said to prevail at the Hungarian capital.

Troops Deserted to Roumanians

BUDAPEST, April 23.—The downfall of the Hunagrian Soviet Government has been expected, according to despatches from Budapest as a result of the desertion of 30,000 Szekler troops to the Roumanians, and new movements against Hungary by the Czecho-Slovaks. It was said that a social democratic regime, headed by Sigmund Kunfi, present commissary of education, may succeed to control.

The red guards have been provided with hand grenades and efforts are being made to intensify the discipline of the people here. Conscription has been proclaimed, surcharging the atmosphere with uneasiness. Fresh extremist outbreaks are dreaded, as the conscription order is regarded as certain to destroy the ode which has hitherto been maintained.

Letters to the Editor

2ND. BATTALION C.E.F.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Your interesting summary of the splendid service of this fighting unit from 1914 to the close of the war should be preserved with pride for future reference when the history, which they have helped to make, will award the honors to those entitled. While, of course, their great struggle at Ypres, (St. Julien) in April, 1915, when without artillery or reserves they, the Immortal First Division, held back with their allied battalions the whole German front, serving, suffering and dying together; yet it should not be forgotten that as in the first year so in the last year of the war they steadfastly accomplished daring deeds and from August 30th to September 4, 1918 at Upton Wood and the Canal du Nord they fought continuously and successfully and the extraordinary nature of the conflict may be gathered from the fact that in the Supplement of the Canada Gazette of April 12, 1919, just issued, no less than twenty-eight honors are awarded to members of the 2nd Battalion, an unprecedented number to any one unit. Belleville and the County of Hastings (though apparently not recognized officially as an existing factor in the Great War) can claim a share in the glory thus won by our Eastern Ontario Regiment, and by other Regiments and Batteries and Corps to which we have contributed so many fighting men, all these Corps being entitled to equally honorable mention. To such men no welcome can be too generous, no tribute too high, no reward too great. Let us see to it that we prove worthy of them.

Yours truly,
W. N. PONTON.

Soldier's Body Taken From Lake

Lance-Corp. Peter Black Was Drowned on Sunday—Companion Not Found.

TORONTO, April 23—The body of Lance-Corp. Peter Blacky, 98 Kenward avenue, was found by Matt Aykroyd and his crew of draggers searching near the east end of the Lake Shore bridge on the Humber yesterday.. The soldier is, one of the victims of the double-drowning tragedy which occurred last Sunday evening the other being Miss Madeline Butwell, seventeen year-old daughter of Henry Butwell, Lake Shore Road.

The discovered body was taken to the Morgue, where an inquest will be held, it being alleged that Corporal Blacky was an experienced canoesist and an improbable victim of a drowning accident through his own inability to handle the craft. He was only nineteen years old, and had served nearly a year in the army, enlisting at Lindsay with the 253rd Battalion. Arriving in England, he was discharged for being under age in December 1917. Two months ago he joined the 2nd Garrison Regiment in Toronto.

The accident happened when there was a strong wind blowing, and owing to the low temperature of the water is thought that the chances for the victims remaining afloat on the upturned canoe were slight. Both were heavily clad.

It is stated that Bert Nurse, a young man who put out in a row boat to render assistance to a canoe which he saw was out of control, witness the accident. When he arrived at the spot he could see no signs of the victims other than the canoe, the floating overcoat and fur.

Admiral Kolchak Nears the Volga

Entire Bolshevik Position in Eastern Russia is Endangered.

LONDON, April 24—The Siberian army of Admiral Kolchak's Government, in making an advance of 190 miles in five weeks on the Ural front, has achieved a success which endangers the entire Bolshevik position in Eastern Russia. According to advices from Omsk, the Siberians are now within 100 miles of the Volga, the most important river of Russia, and the new successes on the River Kama, in the centre of the 400-mile front, make untenable the Bolshevik positions east of the Volga. The Bolshevik troops opposed to the allies in North Russia and those facing Gen. Denekine in South Russia are affected seriously by the advance.

The Bolshevik had clung obstinately to Sarapul, southwest of Perm, and its capture, together with much war material and a number of Bolshevik leaders, is looked upon at Omsk as an important success. Both banks of the Kama River, which joins the Volga near Kazan, have been cleared of Bolsheviki for a distance of more than 200 miles.

Woman Killed During A Melee

MONTREAL, April 23.—A woman was acidentally shot and killed by a constable, and the constable's comrade was injured, during a fight at an Easter celebration amongst foreigners at 116 Lesperance street Monday night.

The victim is Mrs. Annie Gula, 30 years of age, and the injured constable is Constable Charbonneau, who is suffering from severe bruises on the right arm.

It was shortly after 6 o'clock that the police were notified that some persons in a house on Lesperance street were firing revolver shots and that four bullets had broken the windows in the home of Ovila Jean of 98 Brown street. Jean said that his wife had a narrow escape.

Constable Leduc and Charmonneau were sent to investigate, and they found that the bullets came from a house at 116 Lesperance street, on the third floor.

When Leduc entered the house he asked who had been firing the shots. No one answered him, but the woman who was inside with seven or eight men, closed the door behind him and locked it. Picking up a beer bottle, she started to hit him, and the men also rushed at him, each with empty beer bottles in his hands. The constable defended himself as best he could with his fists, and his comrade, hearing the noise, broke down the door and was met by the woman, who struck him a blow on the arm with the beer bottle.

Both constables did their best to defnd themselves with their fists, but the odds were too great against them, and Leduc pulled his revolver from his pocket and tried to fire a shot into the air to frighten the attackers. Just before he pulled the trigger, someone hit him on the arm with a bottle, and the shot struck the woman in the right breast. She dropped dead and the men stopped fighting.

When the men were examined at the police station, they said they had been celebrating Easter and that they had some beer. None of them could really tell how the woman was killed.

The constable, however, stated that he had fired the shot which must have killed her.

BERLIN, April 24—Wine wholesalers are trying to release into the channels of trade enormous quantities of wines and spirits which were stored for the army when fighting ceased, and which are either being drunk by the Soldiers' Councils or are in danger of being ruined by the coming warm weather owing to unsuitable storage condtions.

Belleville Shirts For Rumania Large Order For Canadian Goods

THROUGH EFFORTS OF CANADIAN GOVERNMENT CANADIAN GARMENT MANUFACTURERS SECURE RUMANIAN ORDER FOR SHIRTS AND OVERALLS AMOUNTING TO $1,600,000—DEACON SHIRT FACTORY OF BELLEVILLE WILL MAKE FIFTY THOUSAND SHIRTS FOR RUMANIA—BUSY SEASON ASSURED.

It will be good news for Belleville citizens that at least one branch of local industry is assured a busy season. Mr. W. B. Deacon, of the Deacon Shirt Co., who has been in Ottawa several days conferring with the representatives of the Canadian Trade Commission returned to-day with the assurance that Canadian shirt and overall manufacturers would receive an order aggregating $1,600,000 for goods to be sent to Rumania. This is one of the first orders confirmed by the Canadian Trade Commission, which is busy overseas securing orders for Canadian-made goods.

The Canadian Association of Garment Manufacturers of which Mr. W. B. Deacon is Treasurer and Chairman of the Shirt Section, has representatives overseas charged with getting a share of orders from the allied nations for Canadian goods, and the Canadian Government has devised an efficient plan of financing orders secured for Canada.

The order for shirts for Rumania will be allotted by the executive of the Canadian Association of Shirt Manufacturers and the Deacon factory at Belleville will make approximately fifty thousand shirts which will be of good quality and such an excellent advertisement of Canadian-made goods that a permanent and profitable export trade should result.

The order has been confirmed by the Canadian Trade Commission and actual work will commence almost immediately. This will mean a busy season for the Deacon Shirt Co., of Belleville, and steady work for a large number of operators. A number of other Canadian factories will also be similarly benefitted.

This large order for Canadian goods is an indication of the successful efforts being made by the Dominion Government to provide employment for Canadian workmen and prevent stagnation of trade following the cessation of war orders.

British and French Premiers Approve Wilson Statement

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

PARIS, April 24.—It is said that Lloyd George approved President Wilson's statement without reserve and that Premier Clemenceau has coincided and has said that he would not change a word. It is explained that the reason Lloyd George and Clemenceau did not join the statement was the fact that they were parties to the Treaty of London. It was stated in authoritative American quarters that the Wilson statement regarding Fiume was submitted by him to Lloyd George and Clemenceau two days ago.

Italian Split Approved In Rome By a Cheering Multitude

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

ROME, April 24.—An imposing demonstration occurred here yesterday in a parade traversing the principal thoroughfares acclaiming Fiume and Dalmatia and cheering for Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino because of their attitude regarding Italy's claims at the peace conference. The British, French and American embassies were each guarded by two hundred soldiers to avoid possible incidents.

Liverpool Strike Delays The Baltic

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, April 24.—A number of the First Division troops ready to sail for Canada must remain in England owing to the dock workers' strike at Liverpool, which held up the departure of the White Star liner Baltic, upon which they were to make the trip.

BUSY BOLSHEVIK WARNS ENGLAND

GENEVA, April 24—A proclamation issued by a handful of Egyptian Nationalists at Berne, headed by Ferrid Bey, says: "President Wilson is with us and the English must leave Egypt."

Ferried Bey recently arrived here from Berlin and is engaged in spreading political propaganda throughout Egypt and India. All pamphlets are prepared at Berne and Constantinople and smuggled across the frontiers the municipal object being to start a new war in the East, which the Germans are reported to be encouraging unofficially.

COSTA RICA ANXIOUS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 24—The Costa Rican Government has concentrated two thousand troops on the frontier between Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The Costa Rican Government is said to fear an invasion by exiles from Costa Rica in Nicaragua.

WANT FIVE PLANES

QUEBEC, April 24—Ottawa and Quebec are in communication regarding the lease by the Federal Government to the Quebec Provincial Government, of two seaplanes for the patrol of timber limits as a protection against forest fires.

Veterans Given Big Jobs in B.C.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 24—Major John Ley Retallack, a veteran of the Great War, Monday was appointed by the Provincial Government to be the first utilities commissioner for British Columbia, filling a post created at the recent session of the Legislature. His salary, it is understood, will be $7,000 per year.

Another appointment made by the Government was that of Major A. F. Robinson, of Victoria, to be chairman of the Registered Provincial Soldiers' Commission. Major Robinson lost his right eye at Regina trench and his right leg at Amiens.

Major Betallach served five years with the R. N. W. M. P. He was at Ypres and the Somme and later at Canadian Railway Headquarters in France.

BIG SWAN CHASES LITTLE CHILDREN

OWEN SOUND, April 23—There is a big swan on the Sydenham River near Harrison Park that is becoming quite a notorious character. A week or so ago it was a case of assault and battery for knocking down a little girl and beating her. Another day it attacked two boys in a boat and, among the three of them, the boat upset, throwing the lads in the river.

Its latest escapade in a case of assault and robbery. A seven-year-old boy, with some companions, went paddling in the cool April waters, leaving his boots and stockings on the bank. The swan came along and made an attack. The lads all fled, the seven year-old chap, Master F. Field, being bitten in the back as he was making his retreat. The swan confiscated the spoils and made off with the boots and stockings. They are now some place in the river, and no person knows except the swan—and he won't tell.

Irish Strikers Printing Money

Limerick Trades and Labor Council Issuing Notes on Food Basis.

LIMERICK April 24—The general strike here incident to the proclamation of Limerick as a military area assumed a new and interesting phase Monday when the Finance Commission of the Limerick Trades and Labor Council announced that it was preparing to issue its own money in the form of one-shilling and ten-shilling notes, which would be used in the purchase of food for the 14,000 strikers. The money is called "strike treasury notes," and is secured by the stock of food which it is proposed to purchase with the financial gifts reaching Limerick from other parts of Ireland and by the "integrity of the workers of Limerick."

The announcement of the new financial scheme was made by Tom Johnson of the Irish Labor Congress, who announced also that the Food Commission of the Labor Council had arranged for supplies of food for the city. This food will be assembled in the warehouses of Limerick and sold to the merchants who will distribute it under the directions of the Labor Council at fixed prices, which do not permit of profiteering.

The notes are printed in different colors to show their denomination. They are inscribed as follows:

"General strike against British militarism, April 1919. The Limerick Trades and Labor Council promise to pay bearer ten shillings. (Signed) Limerick Trades and Labor Council, ———, Chairman; ———, Treasurer."

The total amount of the issue has not yet been determined, but the printing presses already are at work.

The military forces are especially watchful during the night and it is said that reinforcements have arrived.

Tense Situation Caused By Italy

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 24—Italian military forces will occupy that part of Dalmatia and other Adriatic territory named in pact of London, with about one hundred thousand men, it was said to-day by Capt Poszi, of Premier Orlando's staff. Similar forces the captain added would be sent to the northern region and around Fiume.

It was stated in Italian quarters at Paris to-day that should the break become definite Italy would take steps to approach Germany with a view to making separate peace.

King Victor Emmanuel has telegraphed Premier Orlando commending his action and insisting that there be no recession from the position Italy had taken. Premier Lloyd George called on Premier Orlando before the Council met this morning. The statesmen had a long conference. The British premier endeavored to secure a change in the Italian position. There was no indication, however, of the success of the effort.

It was declared this afternoon by Premier Lloyd George that the Italians would not leave Paris today.

Vilna Recaptured From Bolshevikists

LONDON, April 24—The important city of Vilna has been recaptured from the Bolsheviki, according to official admission in a Russian wireless despatch. The Russian message says:

"The enemy atacked with considerable force and forced our lines and occupied the town."

Vilna is the capital of the old Russian Province of Vilna, in Luthuia, the objective of the Luthianian forces campaigning against the Bolsheviki. The Luthenians were in Kovno, 60 miles east of Vilna, several weeks ago, and reports in early April were to the effect that the Bolsheiki forces were preparing to evacuate Vilna. The city is an important railway centre and constitutes a strong holding point for the Russian line after the big retreat of the Russian armies of Grand Duke Nicholas.

Big Advance Near Murmansk

ARCHANGEL, April 24—By an advance of approximately twenty miles southward over a road paralleling the Murmansk railroad line, about thirty miles to the east, Russian troops operating with the Allied Murmansk forces have reached a point within easy striking distance of Lake Onega, which is connected by a chain of lakes and canals with Petrograd.

What the Press Agents Say

MARGUERITE CLARK IN DELIGHTFUL ROLE

Marguerite Clark, the popular little screen star, who recently became the wife of Capt. H. Palmerston Williams, after spending their honeymoon in Washington, completed her new picture, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which will be shown at Griffin's tonight to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday. In this famous subject Miss Clark plays the part of Lovey Mary, that immortal character which is familiar to the child as well as to the grown-ups. During her absence from the studio a complete apartment had been fitted up at the 66th St., New York, studio for Miss Clark. There are three rooms and a kitchenette so that Miss Clark's maid may cook dainty lunches when the star is too busy to go out to it. "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was introduced under the direction of Hugh Ford, who produced the play in London as well as in New York. The cast presents one of the most notable aggregations of popular players ever disclosed in a film. "Rip and Stich Tailors," a funny two-act Mack Sennett comedy and the British News are also announced for exhibition.

CHARLES RAY

Imagine the mix-up that ensued when Cuthbert Tretman, a dreamy student at the Trinity University, mistook beautiful Anita Graham for a chorus girl, one Pinkie La Rue, and tried to play the gay dog for her benefit. He was only doing it to help out Tavistock, a fellow student, but he thought he had got himself in wrong for fair. And strangest of all, at the finish he found he had won the admiration of the heiress and was forced to subdue Tavistock by the practice of the manly art. Such is the basis of the new Charles Ray picture which is being screen at the Palace To-night. It is a college story, a mirror-live record of student pranks and without doubt the most amusing film in which Ray has ever appeared.

HILL'S MINSTRELS

The unusual procedure of having appeared for over a year at the New York Hippodrome is something that does not always fall to the credit of a popular artist. Yet this has been the quota of George Wilson (Waltz Me Again), the incomparable delineator of Ethiopeon comedy, who will continue his fun-making skill at Griffin's next Tuesday night with Gus Hill's Minstrels. Music Frivolity, melody, past and present, scenic investiture, dancing, soloists, Jazz and syncopated effusions, with laughter, punctuate the programe. Street parade next Tuesday at noon.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

SAVE YOUR EYES

"Is this the genuine Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"Yes, madam, we do not offer substitutes, nor do we believe there is anything to take the place of this great nerve restorative."

"WELL, it has been so strongly recommended to me that I do not want to make any mistake in getting the right medicine."

"You are not making any mistake in this, for we think too much of our reputation to try to talk you into taking something else."

"Do you sell much of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"It is one of our largest sellers, and gives such universal satisfaction that it is a pleasure to recommend it to our customers."

But do you know of cases in which it has actually cured people of sleeplessness, headaches, irritability and nervousness?"

"Scores of them, madam. Some people never say anything about the medicines they buy, but scarcely a day passes that we do not hear of some case in which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has effected a cure. It is also great for anaemia, and all ailments arising from a thin, watery condition of the blood."

"Well, I am going to try it. How much is it a box?"

"Fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2.75. Better take the six, for you save a little on the price, and you need that many to give it a fair trial."

"Do you think I will."

"Oh, yes, the process of building up the nervous system is necessarily slow. You will no doubt feel benefited after the first box or two have been used, but too many make the mistake of neglecting the treatment then instead of keeping on until the nerves are fully restored."

"Do me up the six boxes, then, for I hear of so many people being benefited by using the Nerve Food that I am going to give it a thorough test."

If your dealer does not have Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in stock, write direct to Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Butcher Cattle In Good Demand

nion Stock Yards, Toronto, April 23—Not only was the cattle active Tuesday while the offering of five hundred head lasted, but the quality of the butchers taken into account, the market was 15 to 25 cents stronger than on Monday, when a 25 to 40 cents rise was recorded. Again a light supply was chiefly responsible for the stronger tone, and it looked as if the higher values would continue for the rest of the week, there being little prospect of anything but light consignment yesterday and to-day, several drovers complaining of being unable to ship their cattle this week on account of bad roads in the country. There was an opening for all killers from canners to heavy steers, though choice quality steers was lacking, the pick of the consignment cashing in from $13.50 to $14.25. The offering included a higher than ordinary percentage of light common butchers, which sold from $9.50 to $11.50. Cows were wanted at steady prices.

Farmers were out for good stockers and feeders and advanced steers averaging from 950 to 1,050 pounds cashed in from $13.25 to $14.25, the latter price being paid for good shortkeeps. Stockers, averaging in weight from 750 to 850 pounds, sold from $10.50 to $12.50, and grass cows from $8.00 to $8.50. There was a good demand for springers, but milkers, unless of top quality, were slow sellers.

All small meats were active and steady, with the consignments of sheep and lambs light.

Hogs were firmer at $21.00 f.o.b. the highest point reached in the history of the Toronto market.

The receipts were 35 carloads, with 550 cattle, 127 calves, 672 hogs and 48 sheep and lambs.

Motor Car Backed Into the River

PETERBORO, April 23.—A motor party had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon, when the automobile, in which they were travelling, backed over the crest of the Lakefield road at a point just below the pump house and the brakes refusing to hold the machine upon the steep slope the car went backwards into the river where it came to a standstill with the water up to the necks of the occupants.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlay, of Cavan, a little boy and two other ladies, made up the party, which left the city about 5.30 in a Ford car, intending to visit the home of Mr. White.

Upon reaching a point just below the pump house they met some friends in a motor car and attempted to turn intending to follow them to the city.

In making the turn Mr. Finlay lost control of the car which started to back down the river bank. The brakes would not hold the machine and it continued its course until the water was level with the top of the cowling and the occupants were immersed up to their necks in the water, which at this point flows very fast.

The women and little boy were removed to the shore upon the backs of the men and the car was pulled from the water by means of a cable. It was then taken to a garage for repairs.

The occupants of the car were taken to the home of Mr. Harry Mitchell where everything was done to restore them after their terrible experience.

Germans Attempt To Cover Blunder Over Delegation

BERLIN, April 24—The German Cabinet in a special session after considering the second telegram form Georges Clemenceau, the French Premier, president of the peace conference in Paris, correcting the false impression created by his first note, decided that the peace delegation originally apointed would go to Versailles at the end of the present week.

It was determined that the date of April 25, first fixed for the arrival of the German representatives of Versailles, could not be abhered to because of the confusion over the arrangements.

Premier Clemenceau's second telegram reached the Foreign Office last Monday but was not considered officially until Tuesday morning. In it the French Premier said his original notification regarding the German prted by Germany. He declared there was no intention on the part of the Entente to deny the Germans the the Eentente to deny the Germans the right of negotiation or discussion.

REVOKE DECISION

With this assurance, the cabinet immediately determined to revoke its its decision to send Dr. Haniel von Haimbausen, with a pair of subordinates in his role of high class messenger to Paris, and reverted to its intention of sending six delegates to the Versailles congress, headed by Count von Peckdorff-Rantzau, the Foreign Minister, Dr. Edward David, the former Socialistic Leader in the Reichstag originally as one of the six, is replaced by Herr Landsberg, the Secretary for Publicity, Art and Literature as Mr. David is ill.

The delegates, it is made known, expect to be given complete freedom of movement and unobstructed means of communication with their home Government.

BOY BURGLARS MURDER DRUGGIST AT KALAMAZOO

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 24—The severist penalty provided in the Michigan criminal statutes, solitary confinement for life, was imposed in Circuit Court upon George E. Bird, 15 years old, and Arthur W. Sterling, 20, when they pleaded guilty to a charge of murdering Walter W. Mattison, leading druggist here, in his store last Friday night.

In a confession the boys declared they robbed the store and killed Mattison for fear he would identify them as burglars.

RECOVER CHURCH BELLS STOLEN BY GERMANS

COLMAR, April 24—Five bells taken from churches of Colmar during the war by the Germans have been found in Frankfort, and will be returned to their old places. Four of the bells were from the Church of St. Martin, while the fifth was the great bell from the Church of St. Joseph.

Valuable treasures stolen from the museum have been found in Munich, where they were taken by Bavarian soldiers. The treasures include the painting of the "Madonna in an Arbor of Roses," by Schongauer, and the painted wings of the famous altar at Isenheim.

WOMAN IN THE CASE NOW UNDER ARREST

TORONTO, April 24—After nearly three fours of gruelling questioning Miss Vera de Lavell, the girl who is alleged to have been implicated in the escape of Frank McCullough from Toronto Jail, was placed under arrest on a charge of "aiding and abetting a prisoner to escape." Sergeant of Detectives Wallace, who with Detectives Cronin and Nursey conducted the questioning, stated that the girl admitted having sent letters and chocolates to the prisoner by Currell, the death watch, although she absolutely denied any participation in the escape.

The girl, according to Sergeant Wallace, has been living in empty houses in different parts of the city since she left her abode at Trinity square. She was found by the detectives on Queen Street about nine o'clock and taken to the detective office.

Aviators Burned In Airplane Crash

Five Killed in Accident at Ney Hill, Near Andover.

ANDOVER, Eng., April 24—Five members of the crew of a big Handley-Page airplane were burned to death when the machine crashed to the earth as the result of an accident at the airdrome at Ney Hill, near here. Two others in the machine were severely injured.

All the occupants of the machine were army officers, including a major, a captain, and two lieutenants The machine failed to start off well and struck a telegraph pole. The under carriage broke off and the machine feel to the roof of a hut used for sleeping purposes. The gasoline tank caught fire and the machine burned so quickly that it was impossible to reach the imprisoned crew. A lieutenant and sergeant managed to extricate themselves, but were burned severely.

FOUND WOMAN'S BODY IN THE WOODS

LINDSAY, April 24.—The body of Mrs. James Onley, an elderly woman who disappeared from her home at Apsley on October 19 last, was found in the woods by Chas. Harris of Apsley, while looking for his cows some three miles this side of the village. When passing through the woods he found the body of Mrs. Onley where it had lain since last fall.

CRASH NEAR DEFIANCE

DEFIANCE, Ohio, April 24—Lieut. Harry J. Rusner, of Fort Wayne, Ind. sustained two broken ribs, when the airplane in which he and his wife were attempting to make a landing, because of gasoline shortage, crashed into a barn near here last Tuesday evening. The machine was wrecked, but Mrs. Rusner was uninjured.

Lieut. Runser and his wife recently returned to Canada from France, where he was engaged in the American aerial service. The couple left Toronto Tuesday for Fort Wayne, where Lieut. Runser was to give an exhibition.

Wilson Wouldn't Give Fiume Port to Italy

PARIS, April 24.—When Premier Orlando received President Wilson's statement at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, he at once called a full meeting of the Italian delegation. The meeting is preparing a statement on the situation to be addressed to the Italian people.

In a statement issued by President Wilson yesterday explaining his position on the Adriatic question, he declared that Fiume cannot become a part of Italy.

The President points out that every condition concerning the Adriatic settlement has been changed since Italy entered the war on the promises of the pact of London, the Austro-Hungarian Empire having disappeared.

He notes that new states have been created for which Fiume is the natural outlet to the sea.

The President also contends that the strategic necessity pleaded in behalf of Italy's claim to the Dalmation Islands no longer prevails, as the Austrian naval menace has ceased to exist.

CARD OF THANKS

HOW DOTH THE BUSY BILLY KING.

It will soon be time for the little busy beet to take pattern from Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, who buzzes from Ontario to Quebec and back again with incredible industry. He seems anxious not to sting anybody but to please all sorts of Canadians at the same time. Here also the bee might find a desirable example worth following.

Mr. King told a Quebec reporter that in his opinion French as well as English should be taught in all the schools of Canada, so that the French and English could understand each other when they came in contact. We are waiting for him to tell an Ontario journalist that he was misreported, that he merely wanted French to be taught in all the High Schools of Canada. It is by such genial meaps that the eager Liberal politician slithers into national prominence.—Toronto Times.

BIRDS PROTECT GROWING CROPS.

Abundant evidence that cannot be questioned, to show the value of birds as crop savers, is available. Examination of bird stomachs by biologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, showed that insects made up 100 per cent. of the summer food of our common species of swallows, 100 per cent. of the nighthawk's food, 98 per cent. of the phoebe's, 94 per cent. of the Baltimore oriole's, 98 per cent. of the house wren's, 80 per cent. of the common crow's, 80 per cent. of the kingbird's, 74 per cent. of the meadow lark's, 68 per cent. of the black-capped chickadee's, 80 per cent. of the four common species of woodpecker, 64 per cent. of the brown thrasher, 68 per cent. of the blue-bird's, 42 per cent. of the robin's, and from one-half to one-third of the many other familiar species. This data was obtained from the examination of from one thousand to not less than several hundred stomachs of each species. In winter, when insects disappear, many of the birds that remain during the cold weather consume large quantities of weed seeds, thus lessening the growth of obnoxious weeds during the following summer.

Mosquitoes, flies and other insects spread disease. The mosquito would be a much greater pest than it is but for nighthawks, whippoorwills, swallows, swifts and flycatchers, which devour myriads of these troublesome insects. Ducks and other birds that inhabit ponds, lakes and marshes consume enormous numbers of mosquito larvae. Flies are eaten by almost all species of birds.

Rats and field mice are a source of considerable damage to crops and stored grain, and frequently injure fruit trees by gnawing the bark from the trunk and larger roots. Hawks, owls and crows render a useful service by preying upon these rodents.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

The Opposition in the Legislature is small in number, but with a "double-header" leadership it apparently hopes to make up in noisy assurance what it lacks in membership and the usual pre-election propaganda is being industriously circulated that victory at the polls is possible when the electors are again called upon to decide whether the present government is to be continued in office or a chance taken on the Proudfoot-Dewart party.

Electors of Ontario are not foolish enough to turn down the present very efficient business administration in favor of an unknown quantity such as is presented in a small and weak Opposition divided into two cliques, one following the recognized leader, Mr. Proudfoot, and the other following in the footsteps of Hartley Dewart, self-appointed leader of the irreconcilables.

A glance at the legislation enacted by the government of Sir William Hearst during the present session is enough to show what little hope there is for the Opposition at the polls. Some of the most important measures put through during the past eight weeks may be summarized briefly as follows:

The Ontario Housing Act under which any man of family with three or four hundred dollars may procure a home of his own and pay for it as he would pay rent;

To the same end as the Housing Act, the amendments to the Assessment Act giving municipalities authority to exempt from taxation the assessment of private houses up to fifty per cent. of the assessed value.

And the authority given the City of Ottawa to gradually eliminate improvement taxes entirely;

The Act creating a Bureau of Municipal Affairs;

Hon. Dr. Cody's Adolescent School Attendance Act, providing that every boy and girl in the province up to eighteen years must either go to school or be employed, and must engage in part-time study even when employed—a measure which practically means that every boy and girl and every future man and woman in Ontario will be equipped with a complete elementary academic education and most of them with a more advanced academic education, and all of them with a measure of industrial, technical, or business education; a measure which places Ontario in advance of the world in the matter of general and technical education;

Dr. Cody's measure for increasing the efficiency of the Public School system by means of consolidated schools;

Legislation ratifying the right of women to sit in the Legislature, municipal councils, and school boards;

A measure for the abolition of sweat shops;

One for the establishment of community halls and athletic fields;

An Act that has been acclaimed generally as a reasonable and sensible one providing for a referendum on the prohibition and temperance question;

Good roads legislation of an advanced character;

Other measures which received less notice but which are of the same progressive character, providing for the protection of minors under the marriage law, the employment by motion picture theatres of matrons for the supervision of children, increases in the allowances of widows and orphans under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

For You and Your Friends

"I beg you to publish my letter."

It is only natural that people write us enthusiastic letters about Gin Pills. Wouldn't you do the same, if, after suffering from backache for years, you found relief? Wouldn't you wish your friends and others to know what Gin Pills had done for you, and what they will do for them? Of course, you would, and that is the only reason that prompts people to write us praising this great remedy.

Read what Isidore Thomas says in part:

"My case was very serious, and I was so sick everybody expected my death any day. No suffering could be worse than what I had to endure. Eight boxes of Gin Pills were sufficient to cure me entirely. I beg you to publish my letter and tell all sufferers of Kidney Trouble not to despair nor wait, as Gin Pills will cure them. I have to be very thankful to you, and I recommend Gin Pills to all my friends suffering from kidney trouble."

Take the advice of those who have tried most remedies and found that Gin Pills cure.

Gin Pills are not a cure-all—but a scientific remedy for Kidney or Bladder Troubles. They contain the beneficial ingredient of gin, without the alcohol, and gin has been recognized for years as the most perfect agent for toning up the kidneys and restoring these organs to perform their natural functions.

The Intelligent Way To End Corns

Not by paring. That's a risky makeshift, and results are brief.

Not by harsh, haphazard methods made by non-scientific men.

Not by padding. Pads are unsightly, and they simply coddle corns.

Expert Methods

Blue-jay was invented by a scientific expert. It is made by a house famed for its surgical dressings.

It embodies the up-to-date method, the right method of corn treatment.

Apply it and the pain stops instantly. Forget it for two days. Remove it, and the corn is gone for good. One corn in ten may need a second application, but that's all.

Millions of corns have been ended in this way. Aching corns are unknown to its users.

These are facts known to your own friends and neighbors. It is time that you knew them. Try Blue-jay tonight.

As Old as his Arteries

The doctor can't help it.

He knows that the man has hard arteries, high blood pressure, and beginning kidney and heart disease, due to long neglected chronic constipation.

It isn't the other man's fault—directly. He's only 45—but he never realized that his constipation was a serious thing.

He never knew how to treat it. He has taken bushels of pills, gallons of castor oil, mineral waters and salts, which have battered and tortured his alimentary canal from one end to the other; and he wonders why his health keeps getting worse. He doesn't know that his food waste has poisoned him, and has bred disease that is going to "get him" before his time.

Nujol is for just such a man—for every person whose bowels do not move easily and thoroughly at regular intervals—especially for those in advancing years whose body machinery will not stand rough treatment.

Nujol softens the accumulated food waste in the large intestine, and moves it gently out of the system, carrying those poisons with it, which, if allowed to remain, cause over 90% of human illness. Nujol supplies the lubrication that Nature can't supply as age begins to make itself felt.

This man might have known in time—but Nujol is new—the accepted modern treatment for constipation.

You can avoid such a misfortune as his. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and send for free booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger" expressing clearly the soundest medical authority on constipation and self-poisoning.

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. At all druggists. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

ENLARGEMENT IN ASSAULT CASE

The case of Louis Campbell charged with assaulting a man named O'Connor, was called in police court yesterday, but was enlarged for a week. The plaintiff and defendant in the case engaged in an altercation a few days ago near the G. T. R. round house, and shovels were the weapons of offence used. O'Connor is still in the hospital, but is rapidly improving. A counter charge of assault has been preferred against him. Mr. E. J. Butler on behalf of Campbell, made application for bail and Magistrate Masson fixed bail at himself in $1,000 and a money deposit of $200. Mr. Carnew for Crown.

ENJOYABLE AT HOME

Lodge Oxford No. 17, Sons of England, held an At Home last night in commemoration of St. George's Night. A good number of the members and their families turned up and a most enjoyable evening was spent in carpet ball, cards, games and singing. Songs were given by the following, Bros. Savage, Etchells and Follwell, Mrs. Follwell and Mrs. Smith. A vote of thanks was given to Bro. A. Harman of Lydford Lodge for presiding at the piano in his usual able manner. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

HIGH SCHOOL CADET INSPECTION

Word has been received from Lt.-Col. Gillespie, Inspector of Cadets for Military District No. 3, that he and Brig.-General Williams, the officer commanding this military district, will inspect the High School Cadets on their grounds at 10 a.m., Thursday, May 1st. Lt.-Col. Gillespie requests that as many as possible of the parents of the boys, members of the Board of Education, and all the leading citizens of Belleville, will be present to witness the inspection and to encourage the boys. The corps will be inspected on the following summary of training: Ceremonial—1 General salute; 2, inspection in line; 3, march past. Infantry Training—1, company drill by platoons; 2, skirmishing; 3, squad drill; 4, rifle exercise; 5, signalling; 6, physical training, by a class of 20 boys.

CLOSING OF KNITTING CIRCLE

A very pleasing event took place on Monday evening when about twenty-five members of the Orange Knitting Circle met, and proceeded to the home of Mrs. T. Clare (their convenor) and having completely taken her by surprise Mrs. J. R. Davis read an address and presented her with a very handsome serviette in behalf of the Circle as a small recognition of their esteem and appreciation of her help and faithfulness during the three and a half years they had been meeting together. A most enjoyable evening was spent and after a bountiful lunch had been served all proceeded to their homes.

Turkish Rebellion Rumor Doubted

LONDON, April 23—The rumor that the Soviet Government had been set up in Turkey remains entirely without confirmation and is now treated with considerable incredulity. It is pointed out that the sources of the news, Odessa, is in the hands of Bolsheviki and that British warships at Constantinople equipped with wireless plants might have been expected to report the fall if the rumor was true but nothing has been heard from the fleet.

PICTON ADOPTS DAYLIGHT SAVING

At a special meeting of the town council held on Tuesday evening it was decided to adopt daylight saving in Picton. A strong delegation waited on the council advocating its adoption. The change was put into effect on Wednesday at 2 p.m. and all business houses in Picton are now running on this time.

INVESTED WITH M. C.

At a recent investiture at Buckingham Palace, H. M. the King presented the Military Cross to Capt. C. Airery Jackson, [illegible] Battalion, Gananoque, and to Capt. Sherwood Lent, of the 46th Battalion, son of the late Rev. F. G. Lent and grandson of the late William Sherwood, Brockville.

INTERNATIONAL COURTESY

American soldiers, members of Company "G" 5th Battalion, Ogdensburg, attended the funeral of Gunner Stanley Ward, of the 5th Reserve Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, at prescott on Monday. Prescott returned soldiers also took part. The American soldiers escorted the remains to the Anglican church and to the cemetery. Gunner Ward died in a Kingston military hospital.

LIEUT. CARTER WINS DISTINCTION

The Toronto Saturday Night last week printed a well-executed picture of Lieut. C. C. Carter, R. N., son of Mr. W. J. Carter of Picton, who had the proud distinction of commanding the first vessel to fly the white ensign of the British navy on the Rhine. This vessel is the M. L. 542 of the British motor launch flotilla on that famous German river. He won the distinction through his ingenuity in equipping his vessel with ice-breaking devices.

Campbellford, Havelock, Madoc Bancroft, and nearly all the other towns and villages in this district have adopted railway time. It was found that endless confusion was caused by trying to continue on the old time. Throughout the rural sections the old time is pretty generally observed, but that does not seem to cause any great inconvenience except where children from rural sections attend school in urban centres, where the new time is in force.

BIG DANCE AT BROCKVILLE

A large congenial crowd of enthusiastic dancers, delightful music, and entertaining program and a sumptuous supper at the midnight hour made the fourteenth annual assembly of the Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at Brockville on Monday night, one of the most pronounced social successes of the season. Over 600 citizens attended, many from out of town taking part in the pleasures of the evening, and all present spent a most enjoyable time, even though the hall was overcrowded and uninterrupted dancing impossible.

ARNOTT NOT GUILTY

The result of the investigation yesterday before Magistrate Masson of Charles McConnell and C. Arnott, charged with the theft of alcohol from Doyle's drug store, on the night of the 14th inst., was that McConnell was committed for trial at a higher court and Arnott acquitted. It was shown that Arnott was not connected with the theft of the articles. Mr. Carnew represented the Crown, Mr. Horick of Toronto for Arnott, and Mr. F. E. O'Flynn for McConnell.

CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC
Inseparably Associated with
EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

TIGERS 7—MAPLE LEAVES 3

A good exhibition ball game was put on last evening between the hours of six-thirty and eight o'clock on the grounds of Queen Alexandria School by two teams of the city league namely, the "Tigers" and the "Maple Leaves." The game was very exciting for the first hour and the score was kept close until the time was nearly up. Both teams played well and hard. These teams met on Friday April 18th, when the Tigers defeated the Maple Leaves by the score of nineteen to six. In the time elapsed the Maple Leaves have evidently been doing some practicing and, with a very little more the Tigers may go down to defeat the next time they challenge this team. The game was witnessed by a number of baseball fans who enjoyed the game and a number were heard to be enquiring when the boys were to play again.

The game was umpired by Mr. Harold Smith who proved satisfactory to all.

G. T. R. BASEBALL LEAGUE.

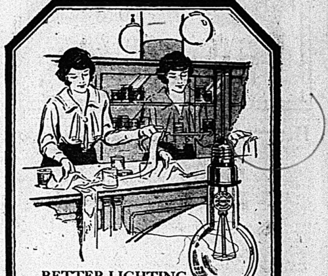
Another weekly meeting of the G. T. R. Athletic Association was held last evening in the station library. Those connected with the association are able to state that the Grand Trunk League composed of Belleville, Stratford, Toronto and Palmerston, will start as soon as the first three named have signified their intention to enter. Palmerston has not been heard from yet, but should they decide not to play, the London G. T. R. team or a second team from Stratford will likely be included.

The Grand Trunk team of Toronto, who are in the Toronto Lake Shore Senior City League, have written the secretary for a game on May 24th. As the game will likely be arranged for Belleville, it should be a large attraction for the holiday.

This section of the Midland League for baseball will no doubt be formed as some of the clubs are interested, the one main trouble appears to be the grouping.

In the Belleville City League the G. T. R. will also be represented by a strong team, as the Grand Trunk boys are out to give our city plenty of sport during the summer months and should be supported.

New uniforms have been purchased for the ball team, also forty-four jerseys for the inter-department football league, which promises some fine games. In an exhibition game on Monday afternoon at Pine Street grounds the Car Dept. and one of the M. P. Dept. teams played a 2-2 tie.



BETTER LIGHTING INCREASES YOUR CLERK'S EFFICIENCY

REPLACE the vacuum lamps in your store with HYDRO Gas Filled Lamps. Then watch each clerk's sales climb.

The light from HYDRO Gas Filled Lamps, if installed with proper fixtures, is kind to workers' eyes. Clerks don't tire so easily; they're not so irritable. They're more alert and are able to wait on more customers in less time when the light is right.

Experts of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario recommend HYDRO Gas Filled Lamps for store lighting. They're worthy of the Commission's endorsement because of the quality and volume of their light, the long life of the lamps and their low current consumption.

Will you step into the Hydro Shop and let us prove the wisdom of using HYDRO Gas Filled Lamps in your store?

VOL. 24 BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1919. NO. 275

Warm Welcome Extended To To Members Of 2nd Battalion

CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE AND SURROUNDING COUNTRY GATHERED IN LARGE NUMBERS TO GREET SOLDIERS OF SECOND BATTALION FROM THIS DISTRICT RETURNING TO THEIR HOMES—PROCESSION FROM G. T. R. STATION TO ARMOURIES—ADDRESSES OF WELCOME.

Citizens of Belleville and a number from the adjacent municipalities yesterday afternoon extended a hearty welcome to returned heroes, who were members of the famous 2nd Battalion. As those April days in 1915 when the battalion covered itself with glory on the field of battle were memorable, so yesterday was a red-letter day for many families owing to loved ones returning home.

In compliance with a request of Mayor Platt, the majority of the business places on Front Street were appropriately decorated with flags and bunting as were many private residences. A few of the boys arrived in the city during the afternoon coming here by the International Limited, G. T.R. Express. The great majority, however, came upon the regular train which is due to arrive here at 4.55 p.m. The train was, however, nearly half an hour late, but this did not mar the enthusiasm of the thousands of men, women and children, who assembled at the G.T.R. station to welcome the boys. It was a long, cold wait with a stiff north wind blowing snow flurries about.

When the train pulled up at the station there was a rush for the two rear coaches which contained the Belleville contingent. Cheers upon cheers greeted the boys as they were conveyed to cars and conveyed to the upper bridge where a procession was formed headed by the 15th Regimental Band and the Salvation Army bands, followed by many of the members of the G.W.V.A., who had previously arrived home. The returned heroes followed and their appearance on the line of march to the armories was the cause for continued cheering by citizens who lined Front Street. Arriving at the Armories brief speeches were the order of the day.

Ald. Hanna announced that the addresses would be brief, just a word of welcome from the Mayor and Ven. Archdeacon Beamish.

MAYOR PLATT

Mayor Platt in a few well-chosen sentences expressed the pleasure it gave him and the citizens of Belleville to welcome the returned heroes of the 2nd Battalion. The hearty welcome had been extended to them because they were worthy of it. Since their absence from the city the thoughts of all citizens had been with them. All had done their duty for the city, the country and the Empire. All were proud of them because they had done their bit in fighting for freedom. In years to come their deeds of bravery would be cherished by all. We extend a thrice hearty welcome home.

ARCHDEACON BEAMISH

Ven. Archdeacon Beamish said how glad all were to welcome the boys home. We welcome each and every one with open arms. Any word of encouragement or anything that could be done for their future welfare would be cheerfully given. He wished for the returned boys a better time and a better future. We cannot extend to you too hearty a welcome. The Ven. Archdeacon called for three cheers for the returned soldiers which were lustily given.

CAPT. CAMERON GLAD TO BE HOME

Capt. Dan Cameron, being upon the platform, was called upon and received a hearty reception. His remarks were exceedingly brief, expressive of the pleaseure it was to be home to Belleville again. He said that this was the happiest day of his life. He was too full for utterance but would thank all for the kindness shown to the boys by the citizens of Belleville. All the boys had tried to do their duty and their welcome home was of such a nature that all appreciated.

The appearance of Major Roscoe Vanderwater upon the platform was the signal of loud cheering which was resumed when Mayor Platt introduced the officer as one of the noble boys who had assisted in licking the Huns.

Major Vanderwater said he desired to thank the citizens of Belleville for the reception of the men who had returned home from overseas. It was due to men like those who are returning and those whose memory we hold dear, whose bodies lie in Flanders' fields, such boys as Allen, Hudson, and Porter, assisted in accomplishing the desired end. While we were fighting the citizens of Belleville and Hastings County stood loyally behind us and we appreciate what was done for us. On behalf of the returned soldiers the Major thanked all for the heartiness of the reception.

After cheers were given for the returned men the crowd dispersed and the boys were conveyed to their several homes where family reunions took place.

While the complete list of all the soldiers from this district belonging to the 2nd battalion who returned on the S. S. Olympic, was impossible to obtain as they came on various trains from Kingston, the following were among the number:

Deseronto—Sgt. E. J. Freeman, Pte J. Auger.

Napanee—Sgt. H. R. French, Gr. R. D. Scott, Gr. H. K. Coleman, Pte. L. P. Jones.

Picton—Pte. V. C. Leavitt, Pte. R. C. Daubney, Pte. A. G. Arthur, Pte. J. G. Newman, Pte. W. A. Shepherd, Pte. F. Ferington.

ELEVEN TRAINS NEEDED

Eleven trains were necessary to carry all troops from the Olympic to their destination. The vessel docked at 11.20 a.m., Monday, disembarkation commenced at 11.35 and the first train left at 1.15 p.m., followed by three others, at 1.44 p.m., 3 p.m. and 3.10 p.m. The Olympic was cleared of all troops at 5-15 p.m. and the last train left at 7 p.m.

Some idea of the magnitude of the paymaster's job on board a troopship may be gathered from the fact hat the paymaster on the Olympic, Capt. Freidman, paid out cheques to N.C. O.'s who had been away four years, reached $1,400.

GLORIOUS RECORD

The battalion has taken part in every engagement in which the Canadians were engaged during the war. It arrives home to be disbanded, but its record will live forever in hundreds of homes in Eastern Ontario.

FIRST TO ENTER GERMANY

The 2nd Battalion was the first Canadian unit to set foot on German soil, crossing the frontier at Poteau, near Vielsalm at 7.55 a.m., Dec. 4th, 1918.

The official list of honors and decorations is as follows: Victoria Crosses, 2; the recipients, Sergt. Leo Clark and Major O. M. Learrmouth, M.C., being subsequently killed in action; K. C. B., 1; C. M. G., 1; D. S. O. and two bars, 1; D. S. O., 7; M. C., and one bar, 1; M. M. C. and 1 bar, 1; M. C., 27; M. C. M., 37; M. M., 87; Croix de Guerre, 7; and 1 Legion of Honor.

The originals of the 2nd Battalion left Belleville on Saturday, August 22, 1914, for the front, and the following from The Daily Intelligencer of that date is worthy of reproduction:

FIFTY-FIVE PATRIOTS LEAVE

Fifty-five patriots who volunteered to go to the front as representatives of the 15th Regiment of this city left today for Valcartier, Que. The occasion was a memorable and inspiring one. The boys left the Armories at eleven o'clock being escorted to the G. T. R. Station by the Regimental Band and many comrades in uniform. Previous to the march out from the Armories addresses of a brief and touching nature were delivered. The brave boys were loudly cheered on the line of march. The honor roll and the ages of those going are as follows:

Capt. E. D. O'Flynn, aged 27 years.
Lieut. R. D. Ponton, aged 24 years.

Pte. G. Mallory was a compounder for three years in the Army Medical Corps.

Pte. Nubin has taken a three years' artillery course.

Pte. Netherton was ten years in the British navy.

Pte. Mort was six years in the Middlesex Regiment.

AT THE ARMORIES

Hundreds of citizens of all ranks gathered at the armories at the noon hour to bid the boys adieu and listen to the brief addresses which were given. Previous to speech-making each member of the contingent was called and presented by Mrs. Col. Marsh with a sovereign piece the gift of the city. They were also given $4 each, the gift of the officers of the regiment.

Mayor Wills being called upon said his duty was both a pleasant and a regrettable one. It was regrettable that there was a necessity for the boys going away to the front. The men of the 15th, who were going away had nobly responded to the call. That they would go to the front and do their duty faithfully and well there was no doubt. He wished them God-speed and a safe return home. On behalf of the city a soverign was presented to each man for use in case of emergency which eh hoped would not arise. The loved ones at home would be taken care of by the city. His Worship also presented Capt. O'Flynn and Lieut. Ponton a gift of money from the city, some of which was intended for members of the 49th Regiment who belong to the city. Col Ponton addressed the men as brothers in arms. A great charge and a great trust was theirs. On behalf of the School Board of the city it was his pleasure to present to Capt. O'Flynn and Lieut. Ponton a sum of money in trust for the boys in case of emergency. These two officers had been school boys together. The donation was in case of need. His final message was "Will ye no came back again?"

efficient and capable of looking after their welfare. Those of the regiment who were left at home would ever be watching them and their thoughts would be with them. He wished them God-speed and a safe return.

Rev. Canon Beamish, Chaplain of the Regiment, said that God would bless them and keep them. They would be remembered in prayer and best wishes of those left behind. He hoped each member of the contingent had a Bible and would read it. The Chaplain then asked each member of the regiment to repeat after him the following brief prayer, which they did "O, God, if I forget Thee this day, do Thou not forget me." These words the divine said would inspire them. If it is necessary that sacrifice had to be be made he had no doubt that it would be made by those who had volunteered. God's will be done and God bless you all.

A benediction upon the men was then pronounced by the Chaplain.

The ladies of the Daughters of the Empire presented each volunteer with sandwiches for the trip to Valcartier.

Before leaving the parade ground at the Armories the volunteers were lined up and a photograph taken of them.

To the strains of inspiring martial music by the regimental and Kilties bands the march to the G. T. R. station was commenced. Along the line of march the volunteers were vociferously by a vast throng which lined the sidewalks.

AT THE STATION

The crowd that gathered at the station to see the boys off packed the platform on all sides. Mother, fathers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts showing evidence of sorrow. One mother who must look after two little grandchildren, bearing up nobly under the strain. The scene as the volunteers marched to the station was pathetic, yet heart-thrilling, the bagpipes playing a Scottish air, tears flowing, hats waving, others shouting and then the entrainment—the shaking of hands through the car windows, the boys bearing up bravely under the trying ordeal. The last good-bye was spoken and the train moved away. On the same train was the 57th of Peterboro, 125 in number, with four officers—Col. Clegg, Major Wills, Major Bennett and Capt. Ackerman. It was an experience on the part of those who went and those who remained at home which will never be forgotten. May God bless, protect and return the gallant boys of old Belleville.

FORTY-NINTH VOLUNTEERS

Major Wallbridge, Lieut. F. C. K. Garrison, Col.-Sergts. T. Marney and R. Herman, Staff-Sergt. Geo. E. Ketcheson, Sergts. F. Smith, B. Pulker, A. King, A. Harribin, W. N. Prindley, C. Murray, S. Murray, J. Chard, N. Truesdell, N. Carter, A. Rupert, J. Smith, E. Chard, A. Smith, W. H. Nolan, A. J.

Col. Marsh, commanding officer of the 15th Regiment, spoke briefly. In addressing the volunteers he said they were going away to fight for the Mother Country, to fight for her honor, and that they would uphold that honor he had not thes lightest doubt. The contingent was officered by two young officers who were in every way

Bingham, R. Sharpe, M. Heagle, A. Folkard, F. Wright, F. Giles, F. Sedore, H. Letts, H. Sisson, M. McFarlane, F. Mack, W. Hinds, V. Hoover, P. Rigdon, N. Broad, W. Hill and C Hickins. Reservists: —Duncan Hamilton, H. Hollis and W. Adams.

WELCOME NOTES

Sapper MacRae, one of the returned heroes, had the misfortune to lose his kit bag. It was placed on the side of the car and no doubt fell off. His number, 541,941, his name, also D. F. Canadian Engineers were stamped on the bag.

Capt. Dan Cameron is being warmly welcomed by a host of friends. Capt. Cameron, before going overseas was a member of the staff of Albert College and a vocalist of rare ability. He was awarded the Military Cross for distinguished service but does not care to talk for publication of his military experiences. However, Dan is a good sort, an officer and a gentleman, and his war experiences have been varied and thrilling.

An auto gaily decorated and occupied by six returned soldiers attracted considerable attention. A white banner bore the words "Germany's Colors," also another white flag and a Red Cross flag punctured with holes and daubed with red paint. Pte. Davis carried the banner while seated on the radiator of the car. The other occupants of the car were Sergt. Harris, Gunner Doxsee, Pte. Ross, Pte. Maston, Pte. Waterhouse and Pte. Ramsay, chauffeur.

Never before was such a display of decorated autos seen about the city and at the grounds of the G.T.R. station.

Owing to the late arrival of the train the returned soldiers for Stirling, Campbellford and Peterboro were unable to come down to the city reception as their train left a few minutes after their arrival.

Sergt. D. Munnings, 53 Lewis street, and Corporal S. F. Hector, 190 Yeomanst street, are proud wearers of the Military Medal, awarded them for acts of gallantry and devotion to duty.

Pte. L. Doyle returned home yesterday afternoon after twenty-six months in the lines and was met by a large number of friends. Pte. Doyle was in Germany and has many interesting stories to tell of his experience while there. Though he was in all the big pushes from Vimy to Mons he never got a scratch. Pte. Doyle enlisted with the 155th Battalion and was attached to the 2nd Battalion. This is the third of this family to come home. Pte Bradshaw came home two months ago. He enlisted with the old 89th Battalion in the spring of 1915. Pte. Bradshaw was wounded at Arras last April when the big push was on. He was six months in hospital in England. Pte. O'Brien is another of the family. He served with the 21st Battalion and lost a finger in France and was returned home a year ago. There are two more brothers to arrive yet.

Peace Of World Demands Security Of Small States

WILSON BASES REFUSAL TO ALLOT FIUME TO ITALY ON PRINCIPLE OF SAFEGUARDING LITTLE NATIONS—ADRIATIC PORT MUST SERVE AS OUTLET TO COMMERCE NOT OF ITALY ALONE, BUT OF HUNGARY, BOHEMIA AND JUGO-SLAVIA AS WELL.

PARIS, April 25—President Wilson's emphatic declaration that he will not yield on the Adriatic question has created the most profound sensation in the Peace Conference, and he has thrown down the gauntlet to the supporters of secret treaties in a manner which almost took away the breath of the delegates who have been urging compromises on points covered by many secret documents, and at variance with the President's fourteen points.

President Wilson's sweeping declaration, while aimed directly at the Adriatic problems, also reaches the Kiau-Chau controversy, in which Japan relies upon secret agreements made with Great Britain, France and Italy in 1917 to support her in her claim to the concessions held by Germany in Shantung.

STATEMENT IS CHALLENGE

The peace delegates generally regard President Wilson's statement as a challenge which will once and for all dispose of the question whether secret documents of which many nations, participating in the war were ignorant, are to figure in the peace following an armistice in which all the allies pledged gave no regard to secret treaties.

The Italian situation overshadowed all other questions throughout the day in Paris, and was the sole subject of conversation in official and unofficial circles.

In issuing his official statement on the Adriatic question President Wilson let it be known that he desired once again to call attention to the fact that there were certain well-defined principles which have been acepted by the peoples of the world as the basis for a lasting peace. The United States delegation simply recalled this in order that there should be no deviation from these principles.

QUEEN'S ASSISTS SOLDIERS

KINGSTON, April 25—The Queen's authorities have decided to further assist the returned soldier students and are giving a special summer course in matriculation subjects to enable the returned men who have not matriculated to obtain such standing and enter Queen's next Fall. The course will commence next Monday and continue to September 15th, so that the student who takes the course, provided he passes the necessary examination, can register at the college at the end of September with full matriculation.

The subjects which will be given include preparatory classes in French, English, mathematics and experimental science or physics.

American Delegates Unable To Agree

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 25—It has become known that the American delegates have been unable to agree, to certain portions of the report adopted by the majority of the commission for the responsibility for the war and as presented to the Council of Four the report contains a memorandum setting forth the American resolutions. They obected to the principle that persons accused of offences against the laws of humanity should be subected to criminal prosecution contending that the laws and principles of humanity constitute a standard too uncertain to be rightly applied in legal proceedings.

Better Feeling Now Prevails At Italian Headquarters

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

PARIS, April 25—German official couriers, in advance of the German delegation to the peace congress, arrived at Versailles to-day. A distinctly more hopeful and less irreconcilable feeling prevails at Italian headquarters to-day. No longer was there any talk of a breach with the Peace Conference, but instead it was said "all may be settled within a fortnight. Premier Orlando has gone to Rome to consult parliament. Thereafter we shall see." The plenary session of the Peace Conference will be held Monday to consider revised the draft of the such portions of the peace treaty as League of Nations Covenant and also may be completed by that time. The session will be open to the public. It is understod that if the Covenant is approved it will imediately be made public.

Capture Of Budapest Expected Czecho-Slovaks Nearing City

HUNGARY CLOSES BORDERS IN EFFORT TO CONTROL RUMANIAN INVASION AND KEEP UNFAVORABLE NEWS FROM LEAVING COUNTRY — PANIC CONDITIONS IN BUDAPEST—DAYS OF SOVIET GOVERNMENT THOUGHT TO BE NUMBERED.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

GENEVA, Thursday, April 24.—Czecho-Slovak forces have attacked the city of Waitzen, twenty miles northeast of Budapest, which is expected to fall soon. French troops are said to be aiding the Rumanians in their advance in eastern Hungary, according to advices received here from Vienna.

BERLIN, Wednesday.—Hungary has hermetically closed all her borders in an effort to control the Rumanian invasion and prevent unfavorable news from escaping from the country. Reports from Budapest, therefore, are contradictory, but all admit the situation is grave. The days of the Soviet Government are perhaps numbered. The Entente powers are said to have sixty thousand colonial troops in Neusatz, which are advancing as a Rumanian reserve. The Czechs are believed to be preparing to attack. The people of Transylvania have revolted and are advancing with the Rumanians because of an agrarian measure imposed by the Soviet regime. Panic is said to reign in Budapest, where the communist authorities are said to be ruthlessly arresting scores of the bourgeoise.

BELLEVILLE IN LEAGUE

Some good ball games will be seen in Belleville this season news being received this morning that a Belleville team will be admitted to the Central Ontario League in place of Bowmanville which has dropped out. A schedule has been prepared, and Belleville will take the dates set for the Bowmanville team. The series opens on May 24 and the following places will be represented: Oshawa, Peterboro, Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville. Prospects for a fast local team are excellent and the players should be given every encouragement by the citizens generally. The only diamond available will be at the Exhibition grounds and this should be placed in first class condition at once. Assistance from the City Council would be very much appreciated.

GOOD PROGRAMS AT THE PALACE AND GRIFFIN'S

In "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which has been picturized with Marguerite Clark, the beautiful screen star in the stellar role. Miss Clark appears as Lovely Mary, that delightful Tomboy whose pranks in the story won her so many juvenile admirers. The picture which was screened at Griffin's last night is a remarkable one in many respects, its situations being dramatic and its heart-appeal to old and young alike, irresistible.

The British News with its gist of important news events, and "Rip and Stitch Tailors," a very funny Mack Sennett comedy, are also being screened.

The management of Griffin's announce the appearance for tonight and Saturday matinee and night of Colonel Waters and lady in a refined harmony singing offering.

"THE GIRL DODGER

Those who witnessed the presentation of "The Girl Dodger" at the Palace yesterday, will certainly admit that Charles Ray has been supplied with a vehicle which suits him 'down to the ground." It is a college story, wherein Mr. Ray is seen as a dreamy bookworm of a student. He takes the place of a lively fellow student and gets into tangle wherein are involved an heiress and chorus girl whose identities confuse him. The finish is a surprise and the whole story is typical of life on the campus. Those who have left their college days behind will revel in the memories it evokes, while the youth or maiden who is now enjoying that wonderful period of life, college days, will be delighted with the verisimilitude of the picture. The college spirit is evident in every scenes; there is no limit to the humor—it will make one laugh to their heart's content, yet there is enough serious drama to hold the attention and the love interest is strong.

"An Ozak Romance" is the title of the very funny thrilling Luke comedy which is being offered on the week end program along with a very thrilling chapter of "The Bull's Eye" serial. The entire program is being repeated again tonight and Saturday, matinee and night.

ENGINEERING COURSES FOR RETURNED MEN

Queen's University at Kingston is offering a special Summer Session in the Faculty of Applied Science for returned men this year. Classes of all the different courses will open on April 28th and continue until the September examinations. This session will count as a full college year to those students who are successful in the examinations and they may proceed to the following year of a course when the autumn session opens in October.

Those who have not matriculated are given special preparatory work to fit them to enter first year in the autumn.

Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

TELLS SAFE AND SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phelgm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

WELCOME HOME.

Belleville citizens are proud of the soldier boys who left this city to fight in distant lands for the freedom of the world, and there is an especially warm feeling for the lads who were first to respond to the call of Empire in those August days of 1914 when the war was just beginning and before the magnitude of the struggle had astounded the world. Many of the soldier boys who so gaily waved their hats at the cheering crowds in those early days of the war as the troop trains pulled out of the station will never return, their sacrifice being marked by the little crosses in lands across the sea; others have returned crippled by wounds or wasted by disease, and among those returning now as members of the Second Battalion, C.E.F. of glorious memory, few are originals, but all worthily upheld the magnificent traditions of this fighting force, established at Ypres and continued in other great battles of the war.

In honoring the gallant deeds of the 2nd Battalion upon its return from the war the memory of those heroes who gave their lives, their all, that the world might be free from the horrors of German domination, holds first place:

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

THE HOUSING SITUATION.

Belleville City Council has taken up the housing problem, which is as acute here as in other places on account of building operations being practically suspended by the war. At the regular meeting of the Council held Tuesday evening upon motion of Aldermen Hanna and Bone it was decided to consider fully the Provincial Government Housing Scheme at the next meeting and to constitute the whole Council as a Housing Commission. At present there is a dearth of rentable houses in Belleville and conditions will get worse instead of better if a number of houses are not erected this season. It is said that a number of families would locate in Belleville but are deterred from doing so on account of the impossibility of securing suitable house accommodation. This state of affairs is a handicap upon the progress and prosperity of the city and is a decided barrier to prospects for new manufacturing establishments which will not locate in a centre where houses for workmen are scarce and high rentals prevail.

PHARISEES.

A pretty crack is dealt by the Hamilton Times to the political pharisees who have been endeavoring to arrogate to themselves the name Liberal to the exclusion of the true Liberals and patriots who joined Conservative patriots to form an effective war government for Canada when the Canadian need and the world need was at a critical stage. A paper called The Statesman, which started publication some time ago with a profession of political independence and fairness that was merely a camouflage for opposition to union government, came out the other day with the following pompous assumption of right to speak in the name of Liberalism:—

> There is a general desire in the Liberal ranks to see a reunion of the divided forces, but it were idle to pretend that the open door is an invitation to those who are supporters of Union Government. No party could be built up on such lines and live. The reorganization of the Liberal party throughout Canada is in itself a protest against the methods by which Union Government was formed and returned to power. Thousands of honest, conscientious Liberal voters supported the Government, but few today will be found who would repeat that sacrifice. The lines of cleavage between Liberalism and Conservatism have been sharply defined by the policies of the Union Government, and there is no longer any excuse for any genuine Liberal holding aloof from the Liberal principles.

The Hamilton Times, one of the oldest and most strenuous Liberal papers of the Dominion, has never been too enthusiastic about the principle of union government. Recognizing that something of the kind was necessary to the best prosecution of the war, the Times in common with the best of English-speaking Liberals, fell in line with the union coalition, but evidently reluctantly; and it has taken frequent opportunity to have a slap at the Conservative wing. But the Times all the same is not disposed to be lectured by the Laurierite rump of the Liberal party, and handles The Statesman thus:

> The Hamilton Liberals who voted for conscription and Union Government refuse to be either cajoled or coerced. They know that no man or association of men or newspapers can keep them from holding Liberal principles or drive them out of the Liberal party. But they are at present in a state of disruption. They have neither organization nor association, and any outside influence that reaches them seems to be of a disintegrating character. We do not know what authority the Statesman newspaper has for laying down the law as to who shall or shall not belong to the Liberal party, nor how far its statements are authorized or endorsed by the party leaders in the Dominion Parliament. But we have no hesitation in stating our belief that the paper is exerting an evil influence on the fortunes of the Liberal party in Hamilton, and in the Dominion at large.

To those who do not belong to the Liberal party who are neither Laurierite nor Liberal Unionist, the gall of the people who are represented by The Statesman must seem ludicrous where it does not seem disgusting. These were the people who in Canada's hour of danger, and the empire's hour of danger, and the world's hour of danger, preferred their petty and selfish partisan bigotry to the noble opportunity and privilege of joining hands with the best of Canada to enable this country to do her best for justice and humanity. The wretched narrowness and political spite which their course illustrated at that time is appropriately followed by their impudent pharisaism now, their pretentious trumpetings to the real Liberals of the assumption "We are holier than ye."—Ottawa Journal.

CRISP COMMENT

Among the likeable qualities of Flight-Lieut. Beverly Robinson, whose lecture Tuesday evening was so interesting is his refreshing frankness. An instance of this occurred at the beginning of his lecture when he appeared on the platform with a cane. "I don't want you to think from the cane that I am wounded," said he, "it is just that I am not a public speaker, and do not know what to do with my hands."

BEFORE OR AFTER INFLUENZA

By Dr. M. Cook

The cool fighter always wins and so there is no need to become panic-stricken. Avoid fear and crowds. Exercise in the fresh air and practise the three C's: a Clean Mouth, a Clean Skin and Clean Bowels. To carry off the poisons that accumulate within the body and to ward off an attack of the influenza bacillus, take a good liver regulator to move the bowels, such as Castor Oil or a pill made up of May-apple, leaves of aloe and root of jalap, to be had at any drug store, and called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The system should be built up by the use of a good iron tonic, such as "Irontic" tablets, to be obtained at some drug stores, or that well known blood-maker and herbal tonic made from roots and barks of forest trees—sold everywhere as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

For a tonic that will freshen up the blood, clean the digestive tract and put new force and vim into you, I know of nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and it contains no alcohol or narcotic so is perfectly safe to take.

Windsor, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Pleasant Pellets' are wonderful medicines for home use. I used to suffer with weak lungs, smothering spells and sick-headaches, but since I have taken the above mentioned medicines these conditions have left me.

"Such medicines as Dr. Pierce's are worthy of praise and I am very glad to add my testimonial to the thousands of others."—Mrs. Ellen Harding, 11 Erie Street, West.

Entertained By New President

Seventy-five members comprising the directors, officials and Montreal staff of the Dominion Rubber system and the managers of the company's sales divisions and factory units throughout Canada were tenderd a reception and dinner at the Engineer's Club, Montreal, Wednesday, April 23, by Mr. Charles B. Seger, President of the United States Rubber Co., New York, and newly elected president of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co. Limited. The occasion afforded an opportunity for the Dominion Rubber system officials of the various units to meet the new executive officers who were received most cordially. Mr. Seger, the new president, was for many years president of the Union Pacific Railway system. He resigned on January 1st to enter his duties as President of the United States Rubber Co. Although a director of many important corporations including the United States Mortgage and Trust Co. the Western Union Central railway he is devoting all his time to the rubber interest with which he is identified. Mr. A. E. Eden who becomes vice president of the company has been associated with the Canadian Consolidated Co., Ltd., since 1907. His training and experience well qualifies him to fill his new duties as vice president in which position his services will prove invaluable to President Seger. Director R. E. Jamieson, elected president of the various Dominion rubber system sales organizations through Canada will direct the selling and distribution of the company's products. Sir Mortimer B. Davis, President of the Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada and Mr. J. B. Waddell, new directors, are well known in the financial and industrial circles of Montreal and bring to the board a wide experience. Mr. Seger and others paid tribute to Mr. T. H. Rieder, president of the Dominion Rubber system for the past two years, who retires from the company and who carries with him the esteem, confidence and best wishes of all those with whom he came in contact during his twenty years associated with the rubber industries of Canada.

A beautiful loving cup as a mark of esteem and good will was presented to Mr. Rieder by his associates in the Dominion Rubber System. Vice President V. E. Mitchell, K. C., made the presentation. During the making of the presentation it was announced that plans and policies were being enacted for widely extending the Dominion Rubber System's operations and the prospects for 1919 indicated new records for the volumn of business. Among those present were Messrs. Homer E. Sawyer, J. N. Gunn, E. S. Williams and Ernest Hopkins, vice president of the United States Rubber Co. The Dominion Rubber System "Ontario" Limited, through which were branches at Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, North Bay, Brantford and Belleville. The Dominion Rubber System products are distributed in Ontario and represented by Mr. J. A. Conner, Toronto, manager of the company.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 25—Mayor Stephens announced that any soldier or soldier's wife who had a vacant lot they wished plowed up, the city would do it free of charge. The City council had asked the Civic Business Committee to interview various organizations with a view to appointing a peace celebration day in Niagara Falls

Land Released For Returned Soldiers

140,000 Acres of Best of That Held in Reserve by Hudson Bay Company.

MOOSE JAW, April 25—That 140,000 acres of the best land held as a reservation by the Hudson Bay Co., mostly in Saskatchewan and Alberta had been released for settlement by returned soldiers at the instigation of the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board was the announcement made at the afternoon session of the third annual convention of the Saskatchewan Great War Veterans' Association, which was opened here this morning.

Major Ashton, whose visit to the convention was expected to produce a sensation because of the bitter attitude of the Saskatchewan veterans towards the policy of the Land Settlement Board, in making the announcement read an official wire he had just received from Ottawa. The wire stated that in Saskatchewan the selection is to be made from the best of a tract much larger than the area released, and urged the veterans to immediately appoint valuators to valuate every quarter section. The announcement was greeted with great pleasure by the convention.

The convention was opened at 10 o'clock, addresses of welcome to the delegates being given by the President of the local association, by Mayor Hamilton and by Rev. Dr. Eber Crummy.

The expected squabble on the land settlement scheme did not materialize, Major Ashton's explanation of the work and difficulties of the board not only all but quelling criticism, but actually swinging sentiment in his favor. At the close of his remarks he was given a vote of thanks.

REPLACE ALIEN ENEMIES

But two resolutions were dealt with at the afternoon session. The first, submitted by Prince Albert delegates asking the Dominion and Provincial Governments to immediately replace all persons of alien birth or extraction who have been disfranchised by the War Times Election Act, holding office by public appointment, with persons of British birth, was passed without a dissenting voice.

Another resolution of wide effect was that submitted by Regina delegates and carried after a short discussion, asking the Dominion Government to immediately deport from Canada all undesirable aliens, on the ground that they cannot become true British citizens.

Always Ready —Always Good!

"HELLO, Mary! May I bring a business friend home for dinner? Sorry the time is so short. Can you manage somehow?"

"Why, certainly, John! No trouble at all! I have a nice little stock of Davies Pork and Beans on the shelf for just such an emergency!"

"Good for you! That's sensible!"

All she had to do was warm up the pork and beans and serve. Everyone enjoyed the real treat and congratulated her on her thoughtful management. How thankful she was for

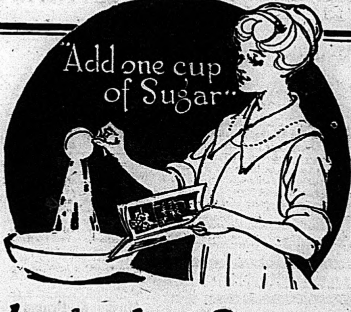
MURDERER IS HANGED

EDMONTON, Alta., April 25—The execution of Joseph Arthur Campbell, convicted of the double murder of Sam Sappler and Constable Frank Beavers, took place at 5.45 within the court yard of the Provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan. The prisoner marched to the scaffold firmly and without hesitation. He made no statement.



"Add one cup of Sugar"

—but what Sugar?

MANY women, when they think of Sugar, are inclined to let their interest dwell upon the matter of price rather than upon quality. But we who make Sugar, and the grocer who sells it, know there is something more important about Sugar than the price. We want you to learn about Sugar Quality. The best way to obtain a realization of how good a sugar can be, is to try a dollar's worth of

DOMINION CRYSTAL SUGAR

This is the only Sugar that may rightly be termed "Canadian from the ground up." We do import the finest of Raw Cane Sugar and refine it for Canadian use. But our pride is in the product we make from Canadian Sugar Beets.

Pure, sparkling and finely granulated. A sugar that will give unfailing satisfaction in preserving, in baking, and for table use.

Most grocers carry this brand. They will substantiate all we say about its quality—they will tell you it is a matter of pride with them to be able to offer a Sugar so good, that is made from Sugar beets grown on Canadian land. Most grocers have it in the popular 20-pound bag, as well as in barrels. Specify "Dominion Crystal" next time you order Sugar.

Y.M.C.A. Indoor Circus Made a Hit Large Audience More Than Pleased

SPLENDID PROGRAM OF ATHLETIC EVENTS, DRILLS AND AMUSING STUNTS BY THE CLOWNS—SPLENDID PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT OF BOYS AND YOUNG MEN SHOWN AS RESULT OF Y. M. C. A. TRAINING—HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS IN PLEASING EXHIBITION OF GYMNASTICS—PERFORMANCE TO BE REPEATED TONIGHT.

Dingaling and Bungaling Big Country Circus entertained a large audience at the Y. M. C. A. last evening with thrills and amusement, and the program was one of the best seen in Belleville for many a day. The athletic events were a revelation to many present of the wonderful results of Y.M.C.A. gymnastic training, from the wee boys to the grown men, and the agility, strength and cleverness shown in the many feats presented proved beyond possibility of doubt that the Y. M. C. A. is one of the finest forces in the world today for the development of better boys and men and the creating of fine, manly, clean citizenship, strong, mentally, morally and physically. The splendid physical development of the young men was a feature of the entertainment.

The audience was very appreciative and applause was frequent and prolonged.

Circus features were many, and there were peanuts, candy, ice cream cones, and soft drinks for the children and plenty to see and enjoy and laugh over for everybody. The side show and menagerie contains many wonderful freaks and curiosities in wild men, wild women, and the most curious of animals, lions, tigers giraffes, the man frog, the wild man "eats 'em alive he does," and other strange and wonderful creatures.

The circus proper took place in the gymnasium under the direction of that capable Ringmaster, B. T. Parnham, late of Yells and Sorepaws Greatest Show on Yearth. The army of clowns have many amusing stunts and never tired in furnishing food for laughter. The acrobats were clever and many difficult feats were accomplished with east and gracefulness.

The Belleville High School girls in graceful dances were greatly appreciated and generously applauded.

A group of boys from the Ontario School for the Deaf presented athletic exercises which were very interesting.

Y.M.C.A. showed what the Y is doing to develop the youngsters and start them right on the road to strong, healthy manhood.

The ladder work, parallel bars and high bar feats of the senior boys were very interesting and thrilling, showing splendid muscular development and careful training. A feature of the evening was the number of very effective groupings of young men, pyramiding from the floor toward the ceiling.

The clowns assisted by Charlie Chaplin were busy every minute and there was a good big long laugh for everybody.

Another performance will be given this evening with a change of program and the show will be bigger and better than ever. While the audience last evening was largely composed of young people there is every reason why the older folks should attend and get rejuvenated with a series of hearty laughs and the sight of so much bright happy and vigorous youth, pulsating promise of brilliant futures, happy healthy and intelligent.

Don't miss the circus for it is without doubt the best entertainment of the season, go early and see the wonderful menagerie and side show which is included in the one price of admission. Go pepared to be thrilled and astonished, and don't go at all unless you are prepared to laugh long and hearty, for the clowns will make you laugh whether or no.

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS

Shows may come and shows may die but one form of entertainment seems destined to live forever. It is minstrelsy. This season an organization offering this particular brand of amusement is sponsored by Gus. Hill, a manager who is unquestionably the ablest purveyor of popular theatricals now before the public. This is easily attested by his numerous successful enterprises and attendant large fortune. This season Mr. Hill will again present a company of burnt cork artists who will hold forth at Griffin's next Tuesday night, headed by George Wilson of "Waltz Me Again" fame, and the following famous comedians, Jimmy Wall, formerly of Quinlan and Walls Minstrels, Jligger Marr, Eddy Horan, Jack McShane and James Brady and fifty other competent fun-makers, singers and dancers.

FARMER DIED FROM A BOIL

The death of a young farmer was recently reported from blood-poisoning, which developed from a boil. Such a small beginning to end so disastrously! Yet this is liable to happen to anyone who allows a sore or wound to become infected.

The surest and easiest way to safeguard yourself is by using Zam-Buk. As soon as it is applied to a sore or wound it destroys all germs and acts as a protection, thus preventing infection and possible blood-poisoning. At the same time, Zam-Buk ends pain and draws out inflamation. Then its action on the tissues results in the quick growth of new skin, so that sores and wounds are healed in the shortest possible time. Get a box to-day and be prepared. 50c. box.

Woman's Hair Reaches to Knees

A Year Ago Was Threatened With Baldness. Tells How She Made Her Hair Grow

Mrs. Esther Emery, now visiting friends in the city, is the fortunate possessor of marvelously beautiful hair which, when loosened from its coils, falls to her knees. Moreover it is of soft, silky and fluffy texture and in color a glorious gold. Yet just one year ago she was threatened with baldness. Urged to tell how she had obtained this wonderful growth in so short a time, she said:

"Twelve months ago my hair, which then reached barely to my shoulders, was falling out at an alarming rate and growing very thin, actually exposing the bald scalp in several spots. It was dull and lifeless in color, turning grey in patches, and very dry and brittle. My head was covered with dandruff and itched like mad all the time. I tried fully a dozen different hair tonics, but they never did me a bit of good. One day I chanced to read in my home paper a simple home prescription to make the hair grow that was recommended by a well-known physician. It is said that by taking ordinary Lavona de Composee and mixing with Bay Rum and Menthol Crystals and applying to the scalp each night with the finger tips that new hair would grow very rapidly." I decided to try it and had my druggist mix 2 ounces of the Lavona de Composee with 6 oz. of Bay Rum and ½ dr. of Menthol Crystals and started to use it. My, how quickly my hair did grow. First the hair stopped falling, the itching ceased and the dandruff disappeared. Then tiny little hairs appeared all over my scalp. These grew and grew as though nothing would ever stop them. They are growing yet and, while, of course, I have used the treatment steadily and expect to continue it, at least until my hair reaches the floor, I might have stopped and been perfectly satisfied at the end of three months. I think that any woman can get long, thick beautiful hair by using this prescription as I have recommended it to several friends and all are delighted with the result. The prescription is very inexpensive and any druggist can fill it."

Those who use it should be careful not to get it on the face or where the hair is not desired.

REBEL GENERAL SHOT

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, April 25—General Francisco Alvarez, of the anti-Government forces was executed. He met death at the hands of a firing squad with the utmost bravery.

General Alvarez was captured last Tuesday in the battle in which General Aureliano Blanquet, Minister of War in the Huerta Cabinet, was killed.

THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

And Escaped an Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hazelhurst, Ga.—"I have used your remedies for only ten months, and they saved me from an operation. Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so ill from a female trouble that I was forced to stay in bed for a week at a time with weakness and pain, but your medicine has done so much for me that I am recommending it to all suffering women. It certainly is a great medicine and is a sure road to health for women. You may publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. W. C. LITTLE, R.F.D. A, Hazelhurst, Ga.

Women who suffer from headaches, nervousness, backache, the blues and other symptoms of a functional derangement should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such ailments of women after other medicines have failed.

If you want special suggestions in regard to your condition, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of long experience is at your service, and your letter will be held in strict confidence.

Alkali in shampoos Bad For The Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

100% Service

KNOW your bicycle before you buy. A cheap assembled wheel with its parts purchased from far and wide "at a price" may look like a good bicycle, but is it? The firms making some of the parts may put good honest value into their products; others may not, or cannot. One bad part will ruin your wheel. You take the risk—and it is a costly one. Exactly the opposite policy is pursued in the making of

C·C·M· Bicycles

We make in our own splendid factory at Weston practically all the parts required in the finished bicycle—a larger proportion than does any other bicycle manufacturer in America. This serves a double purpose:

1st.—It gives us the opportunity of scrutinizing every detail of workmanship and material.

2nd.—It gives employment in Canada to the largest possible number of Canadian workmen.

This policy has been maintained since the inception of the Canada Cycle & Motor Company. It has given our wheels a character and dependability unrivalled in the Dominion. In other words, it means 100 per cent. service.

C.C.M. Bicycles in every part give maximum service and satisfaction, and every part is guaranteed. This means extra years of service.

In case of accident you can renew C.C.M. parts without loss of time. C.C.M. dealers are to be found almost everywhere in Canada. Ride a C.C.M. bicycle.

All of these well known lines are members of the "C.C.M." family.

Didn't Have Well Day In Five Years

Toronto Man Says Tanlac Has Given Him a New Lease On Life

"I went five long years without enjoying a well day till I started taking Tanlac," said Harvey Hamilton, of 5 Gloucester Street, Toronto.

"Five years ago," he continued, "I had a severe attack of pneumonia which left me in a badly run-down condition. I lost weight till I was almost a shadow. I had no life nor energy and could sleep but a few hours at night. I lost my appetite, and the little I did eat soured; I had pains in my stomach and sides and often had dizzy spells and I would feel so weak and played out I'd have to cut out working.

"I was in this fix when I read of a man who had been relieved of a trouble like mine by taking Tanlac, so I decided to try it, and feel like I have taken a new lease on life. I have a fine appetite eat three square meals a day and have no trouble afterwards. Gas has quit forming on my stomach, the pains have disappeared, I sleep like a log, and have gained six pounds. I feel better all over, and my work is no longer a burden, but is a pleasure to me."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling, by J. S. Morton, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

ALLEGED ASSAULT

Before Magistrate Masson this morning J. O'Connell was charged that he did on April 15th, 1919, unlawfully assault one Louis Campbell and occasioned him grievous bodily harm. The accused was remanded until Wednesday next, when the affair will be investigated. Campbell is also charged with assaulting O'Connell. The cases are the outcome of an affray which took place on the 15th nist between the two men while at work as section men on the line of the G. T. R.

BNRGLAR SENTENCED

Before Judge Wills yesterday Alexander Mason was arraigned on three charges, namely burglarizing the premises of Mr. Joseph Black of Trenton on March 4th and stealing therefrom a number of articles, of committing an indecent act on a boy, and of escaping from a constable while being transferred from Trenton to the county jail here. He was acquitted of the charge of indecency, but was convicted of the other two charges. A sentence of three years in the penitentiary was imposed on the charge of burglary, and two years for escaping the latter sentence to run concurrently with the three years' sentence. WON MILITARY CROSS

Capt. H. W. Walker, eldest son of Mr. J. W. Walker of this city, has covered himself with glory. During the month of August, 1915 he went overseas from Montreal as a private, arriving in France in Feburary, 1917 where he was in active service for 13 months. During that period he won his captaincy and also by acts of bravery won the Military Cross and was invested with the French Croix de Guerre. Subsequently he was placed upon the headquarters staff. His many friends in Belleville will be pleased to learn of the decorations bestowed upon him.

HOME FOR ANNIVERSARY

Among the soldiers who arrived here yesterday afternoon was Corporal Fred Hector, son of Sergt. F. E. and Mrs. Hector, residing at 120 Yeomans street. Corp. Hector was a former member of the 15th and 155th bands, and after the civic reception on the Armouries' lawn he was escorted by the 15th Regimental Band to his home. Yesterday was also the 25th wedding anniversary of his parents, Sergt. and Mrs. Hector, and the home-coming of their boys and the other event were celebrated in a fitting manner. About 50 guests were present together with the members of the band. After a dainty spread had been partaken of a very pleasant evening was spent in games, etc. A toast to the host and hostess also to the returned hero was proposed by Ald. Hanna and appropriately acknowledged.

CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC

Inseparably Associated with

EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or Milk) is harmless to the stomach inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

To the Boys Who Have Been Wearing Khaki and are About to Change Back in Civil Life

BOYS! There are a lot of you that are going back into civil life. You will need clothes and naturally you will be casting round in your mind for a good place to buy. NOW you perhaps are aware that since you have been in the military service conditions and merchandise have undergone a mighty change. Fabrics of all kinds are higher and will be for a good many moons because all of the channels of manufacturing have been so long diverted that it's going to take a long time to come back to what we are pleased to call NORMAL TIMES. Therefore, we say to you BE CAREFUL. BE WARY of the cut-rate advertisement and fake schemes to get your money. LOOK round. Come in our store as often as you like and compare our values and prices. We WANT you to do this—it's the best way for you to find out just WHAT WE and others are doing. We sold four men one day last week just that way. They came in, saw our clothes, then looked round and CAME BACK and BOUGHT their needs from us. PRICE IS NOT EVERYTHING—VALUE is what counts, and you can buy a mighty dear suit for $20.00, and by the same token a CHEAP suit for $35.00, simply because the $20.00 one has only price to recommend it, while the $35.00 suit has VALUE in the construction of the fabric and wearing surface that you cannot possibly get in the cheap grades. For your own PROTECTION buy the best your purse affords and you will find it the only TRUE economy in the long run. MIND YOU, we have suits at $20.00, $25.00, $30 and so on up to $42.50, but we strongly recommend you to buy in the price range between $30.00 and $40.00. LISTEN, BOYS! We don't advertise to sell the cheapest goods in town nor the lowest prices. What we do say to you is this: that dollar for dollar you can't beat our values, and before we put a price on we put the value in FIRST. Like a good Indian, we are not double tongued, and have only one way of doing business, and that's on the SQUARE. We want your trade, Boys, every dollar you can give us; but we want you satisfied—FIRST, LAST and for all time.

Faithfully Yours,

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is

PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

Italian Withdrawal Will Hamper work of Peace Congress

ANXIETY AS TO OUTCOME OF ITALIAN WITHDRAWAL AND EFFECT UPON PEACE NEGOTIATION OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF DELEGATES AT PARIS—SITUATION REGARDED AS SERIOUS AND EVEN DESPERATE IN SOME QUARTERS—ITALY REPRESENTED AT COMMITTEE MEETINGS OF PEACE CONFERENCE TO-DAY.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

PARIS, April 26.—The Peace Conference has been severely shaken up by the Italian crisis and the extent to which its work will be effected is causing the anxious attention of the delegates. The American storm has broken and the air has cleared in that quarter, but in other quarters a less optimistic view is taken, the feeling being that an element of confusion has been introduced which will result in more or less delay at the moment the German delegates are arriving.

In French and Italian circles the situation is regarded as serious and some quarters even represent it as desperate, but this extreme view is not generally held. Several of the committees met today with the Italian members present, and the Secretary of the American delegation said no notice had been received of the withdrawal of Italian participation. Pending formal action no break in relations would be assumed, it was added. The departure of the Italian delegates and the announcement of the departure of Foreign Minister Sonnino and former Minister Salandra, to occur on Saturday, creates an anomalous situation, as it is not known whether Italy will be represented at the plenary session of the conference on Monday when parts of the treaty, including the League of Nations covenant will be finally passed upon.

Talkfest Curbed By Closure Parliament Adjourns At 3 A. M.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

OTTAWA, April 26.—About three o'clock this morning the House of Commons adjourned till Monday afternoon, after the Government had applied the closure rule. This adojurnment was made after three days of strenuous discussion on the bill to incorporate the Canadian National Railway Company. All non-contentious clauses have been disposed of, and the contentious clauses will be taken up early on Monday. The bill must be disposed of by the House before two o'clock Tuesday morning and discussions on Monday will be limited.

4 Cases Of "Notions" Prove 36 Gals. Liquor

FORT WILLIAM, April 26—License Inspector A. R. Elliott seized in the Port Arthur freight sheds thirty-six gallons of liquor shipped to H. B. Wilkins, of Port Arthur, each of the four cases being marked "Notions." The shipment came by freight from Montreal. ast week Wilkins was up in court for having received by express twenty-four gallons of liquor and was fined $300 and costs. Wilkins denies having ordered this freight shipment. The case is pending until word is received from Montreal that the goods were shipped to Wilkins' order. This last shipment was sent by freight prior to the order on which Wilkins was previously convicted, which came by express. Wilkins was a member of the Port Arthur Prohibition Committee.

Permitted To Fish In the Cattegat

Supreme Council Grants Request of German Government.

PARIS, April 26—The request of the German Government that German fishermen be permitted to fish in the Skagerrak and Cattegat passages was granted by the Supreme Economic Council at its meeting Tuesday.

The Council also approved the proposal for a more extensive use of the water route through Germany by way of Hamburg and the River Elbe. It abolished the existing limitation of 8,000 tons of food and material in order to supply the present needs of the Cecho-Slovaks. It is estimated that the traffic through the Elbe probably will amount to from 25,000 to 35,000 tons at a time.

The council also considered the question ofmeeting the deficiency of the coal supply in Europe, particularly with reference to Italy.

Last Minute Telegraph Brief

PARIS, April 25—An increase in miling percentage, which will virtually put the world back to a war bread basis for the next three months, is part of the programme adopted by the supreme food council under the chairmanship of Herbert C. Hoover.

The Giants were beaten again by the Phillies. Cincinnati have won three straight games. Cobb featured the Detroit victory over Cleveland.

Food Market in Hands Of Speculators

Canadian Produced Foods Selling in Other Lands at Lower Prices.

MONTREAL, April 26—Citizens of London, England, are purchasing butter at 66 cents a pound. A great deal of butter is the product of Canada, yet Montrealers to-day are paying any where from 70 to 75 cents a pound for butter of an inferior quality. There is a shortage of butter, however, and Londoners are still on rations, getting but one ounce a week per capita.

A friend of Samuel J. Mathewson of the well known grocery firm of Mathewson Sons, McGill street, brought this news to Montreal.

Mr. Mathewson is strangly in favor of an investigation and believes the present high cost of foodstuffs, particularly butter, is the root of the carter's and other strikes.

"If butter was selling last fall at 48 cents a pound," said Mr. Mathewson to The Herald, "What has put it up?"

Mr. Mathewson said that certainly something was wrong when Canadian foodstuffs weres elling at lower prices in other countries than they were in the Dominion and pointed out that American hams, bacon and stewing beef were in London in large quantities and were selling at lower prices than Montrealers could buy these same goods.

The food markets to-day are in the hands of speculators, he declares and the situation should be investigated. As an instance, Mr. Mathewson said that a traveller has just left him who was trying to sell a certain line of goods for next fall at a third above the price he had asked last fall.

Mr. Mathewson said that it simply means the speculators had got hold of certain lines of foodstuffs.

"WILD GOOSE CHASE" SAYS B. C. LABOR MEN

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 26—A motion that a Committee of Four be appointed by the Trades and Labor Council to give the views of labor before the Royal Commission on Industrial Relations that will sit here for four days, commencing Wednesday next, was defeated at the meeting of the Council last evening.

No recommendation on the subject, was made by the Executive of the Council, though Secretary Hedley stated that the opinion of that body was that it would be a waste of time for any of the officers to appear before the commission, as he said, it was engaged upon a wild goose chase.

Nickle Chairman Of Titles Committee

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, April 25—W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, mover of the resolution in the House on titles, which resulted in appointment of a committee to consider the question was elected chair man at the first meeting this morning. He stated that the Premier was anxious that the committee proceed with the enquiry without delay and make a report to the House on the whole subject of titular distinction including recognition of war service. A general discussion made it clear that the committee is almost unanimous of the opinion that apart from distinctions for those who have meritorious war service to their credit titles should be abolished in Canada. The only definite conclusion reached was that heriditary titles should cease with the death of present holdiers. Another meeting will be held Wednesday when the Committee expects to make a report.

Italy Excited Over Paris Deadlock

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

ROME, April 25—The Italia says that because he was acquainted with President Wilson's views of the Italian claims, Thos. Nelson Page, American Ambassador to Rome, offered his resignation. There was great excitement among the members of the Chamber of Deputies and Senate today over the situation in Paris. Many members express the opinion that Italy should warn Great Britain and France that they cannot conclude peace without Italy, according to the treaty binding the allies. Telegrams from cities and villages throughout Italy describe organization of demonstration in support of the Cabinet.

Barn Is Consumed While Party Is Held

Glenelg Farmer Loses Almost all His Stock—Barely Saves Dwelling.

DURHAM, April 26—A disastrous fire took place on the farm of Hugh Firth, 6th con. Genelg, on Monday, night, when his fine barn, and almost all his stock went up in flames. A small party was in progress in the house at the time, about two dozen of the neighbors being present, and when first noticed, at 11.30 o'clock, the barn was a mass of flames. Only three horses belonging to the owner could be saved, and five horses belonging to neighbors, seventeen head of cattle, fifteen pigs, hay and seed grain, implements, etc., belonging to Mr. Firth, were consumed in the fire. Only with the aid of wet blankets spread on the roof was the dwelling saved. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Fatally Crushed By Huge Roller

George Lucas, of Shannonville Met Tragic Fate—Horses Bolted, Throwing Him Under Roller.

KINGSTON, April 26—As a result of his team running away and a huge roller passing over his body, George Lucas, a farmer of Shannonville, passed away in the General Hospital yesterday morning.

The deceased was engaged in rolling his land at Shannonville on Wednesday when his horses became frightened and made a bolt. He managed to stop them but before the reins could be secured to the lever of the roller the horses again bolted and threw the deceased under the roller. Practically every one of his ribs were broken, and the hip bone was completely torn from the flesh. He was removed to the General Hospital, and though everything possible was done nothing could prolong the life and this morning he passed away.

Deceased, who was 52 years of age, was married and had a small family. The remains were sent to Shannonville this morning for interment.

Italian Delegates Will Return To Paris

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 26—Premier Orlando and his colleagues will appear before the Italian parliament on Monday next, according to the Petit Parisiene newspaper, which says: "We are able to affirm that whatever t e outcome of this session of the Italian parliament, the Premier, and fellow delegates will start for Paris and that the Italian delegation will be in full strength at Versailles on May 1."

Fiume Was Not Promised To Italy

WASHINGTON, April 26—In a statement to-day Secretary of the Interior Lane said that Fiume was not to be given to Italy under the provisions of the London treaty. Under the treaty Fiume was to go to Croatia, not part of Juga-Slavia. The question of giving Fiume to Italy becomes a question of good judgment, he said. President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George and Clemenceau unitedly concluded that to give Fiume to Italy would be unjust to the new republics east of the Adriatic. He said that Italy's claim is based on the fact that a majority of the population are Italians.

Belleville Should Wake Up On Free Bay Bridge Question

VETERAN CITIZEN OF BELLEVILLE SETS FORTH BRIDGE QUESTION FRANKLY — IMPORTANCE TO BELLEVILLE AND PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY OF FREE BRIDGE—STRONG BUSINESSLIKE POLICY NEEDED TO ADVANCE INTERESTS OF CITY.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir:—It was stated in the City Council the other night when the Bay Bridge was before it that the merchants ought to pay a great part of its cost. If we would look down Front street we would see that they would probably have to pay much the greater part, having to pay taxes on their places of business and also on their homes. Such talk shows ignorance of the important part that trade occupies in promoting progress and prosperity. Every civilized country in the world spends immense sums to provide means whereby to facilitate trade for it is recognized that it is only by trade that it can become more wealthy and prosperous. Oh yes you say, but what has that to do with a city like Belleville?

It has a great deal to do with it.

A city stands in precisely the same relation to trade as does a great nation. A city cannot become more prosperous except by trade. Factories produce wealth and trade deals in what factories make, if trade falls off factories cease to produce things and the field for work decreases. If we compare transactions in trade of a city with those of a great nation they will be found to proceed exactly on the same principle in both cases, the result being either stagnation or progress.

Trade Brings Prosperity

Many people are not able to see how trade brings prosperity in a city though they know it does so in a great nation. It needs but little intelligence to see that the work of the merchants whom our city fathers make of so little account is as necessary as in a nation. What would become of us without them, the fact is we could not exist as a city at all, there would be no city. The merchant brings together by himself or through others a great multitude of things which have been gathered from the end of the earth which the citizens want to supply their needs. If the merchant were not here we would have to go somewhere else, to a neighboring town or city for our daily wants.

Now turn the situation about the other way where conditions are reversed and entirely different from the city. In the County of Prince Edward South and West of Picton, there are ten thousand farmers and others being the greater part of the population of the county which has in all seventeen thousand inhabitants. These wealthy and prosperous people are in the position we would be without merchants to serve them. They have to go for all they want not on the farm, to some village, town or city most convenient, of course they will naturally go to those from whom they will best obtain their supplies, unless they are barred by water or by toll gates.

It is not merely to buy things in the stores that our good neighbors will come to do business with us mutually profitable to both. There is a multitude of jobs to be done on the farm which cannot be done at home, such as work in building, making and mending things or to consult professional men, doctors, banking and so forth. With a bridge provided for heavy traffic, Belleville ought to prove a good market for all kinds of agricultural products having here immediate access to the three great railways to ship cattle, etc., east or west.

Opportunities Neglected

We know no place in the whole Dominion better situated to become a most prosperous flourishing city than Belleville, but have been hindered by a short sighted policy throughout the past encumbering the city by giving bonuses to railways and such like, which did no good but much harm, and lately when the longed for license was granted to bridge the bay the miserable manner in which the opportunities were treated by the city.

There has been a constant cry for factories which would benefit us, but it is not by going down on our knees and begging them to us like every sleepy town in the country, but by showing the world that we are a live and enterprising people.

Wherever trade is active and flourishing there is work for all in making and producing things which merchants deal in. When trade declines, openings for work declines, when production revives trade revives. If the authorities which guide our city's affairs cannot understand this then our case is hopeless, but thoughtful citizens do understand it. For over half a century they and the people of Prince Edward have seen plainly the importance of a bridge but could not get permission to erect it, when however a license was at length obtained to do so by prevailing upon the navigators of the bay to withdraw any objections they had previously. This license granted by Parliament the city refused to act upon like business men. At the shilly-shallying way it is being dealt with at present it will be fifty years longer before the city wakes up. There is no reason for delay, the cost will not be great and will be doubly recompensed by increase of employment and the value of property.

Vigorous Action Necessary

Let the matter be dealt with at once sincerely and honestly conferring with not Ameliasburg alone but with the county and also with the Government of Ontario which is interested in the bridge as connecting two counties separated by water.

As it will be an advantage to many in the County of Hastings to be connected by a bridge with Prince Edward there is no doubt that Hastings in Council or the Warden alone would petition the government to grant aid and it would be given.

It is impossible to understand how certain persons otherwise intelligent give the bridge the cold shoulder and actually oppose it. Let Belleville flourish.

As it is thought necessary to get a Civil Engineer to examine the condition of the bridge, there is no doubt that C. F. Keefer, C. E. of Ottawa who built the bridge would come up and report.

The writer has no apology to offer the City Council for writing as he has been doing on this matter. He has been a citizen of Belleville for over sixty years and at the age of upwards of fourscore has no personal or selfish motive, as his fellow citizens will admit, in urging what he is fully convinced is for the welfare of Belleville and prosperity of all its citizens.

THOMAS RITCHIE.

NURSES DO NOT WANT AN EIGHT HOUR DAY

KINGSTON, April 26—That the memorial for nurses who died in war service take the formeof a fund for nurses disabled or broken down in health was the recommendation of the Ontario Graduate Nurses Assembly at their annual meeting here.

The plan is to have money advanced to the nurses to pay their maintenance at a sanatorium.

The meeting discussed an eight hour day for nurses but it did not meet with approval. It was felt that while hospitals had the right to regulate the hours for nurses in training in private nursing, the service should be twelve hours.

BOY SHOT BY TRAP GUN

SUDBURY, April 26.—Wilfrid Belanger, of Blezard Valley, rigged a trap gun on his granary to catch thieves, but instead it "caught" his 17-year-old employe, Arthur Frappliar, who died of the wounds.

Belanger says he had warned Frappier to keep away from the granary but the youth had overfed the stock and went for more oats.

Belanger has not been arrested. The facts have been laid before the Attorney-General.

Argyle House Again Attacked In Canadian Parliament

Upon criticisms uttered by Brigadier-General C. A. Smart in the Quebec Legislature and by Lieut.-Cols. A. G. Pratt and W. H. Price in the Ontario Legislature Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux bases a demand in the House of Commons for an investigation of work of the Department of the Overseas Military Forces, commonly called the "Argyle" House, and the administration of the Canadian Army Medical Service in England. Mr. Lemieux reviewed the allegations of the three officers, and also the reports of Col. Herbert Bruce and later of Sir Wm. Baptie and his associates upon the condition in the medical service 1916 To his structures and his demand Sir Thomas White and General Mewburn, the Minister of Militia replied. Both questioned the fairness of attacks upon Sir George Perley, the Canadian High Commissioner in London and former Minister of the Overseas Forces, and Sir Edward Kemp, the present Minister, in their absence, and upon the strength, not of formal charges, but of a series of allegations made in the course of speeches by returned officers.

TO ANSWER CRITICSM

They both announced that Sir Edward Kemp had intended to be in his seat early in the present session, had it not been for the pressure of duties since the signing of the armistice. Sir Edward, they further stated, would be in the House before the end of the session to answer any criticisms which might be levelled at him and his department.

The Acting Prime Minister pointed to the fact that 117,500 Canadian soldiers had been brought back to Canada in four months as compared with 50,400 Australians, as an evidence that the overseas department did not deserve to be charged with inefficiency. Sir George Perley and Sir Edward Kemp had given assiduous attention to the task of securing shipping in which to repatriate Canadian troops and their efforts had been supplemented by Sir Robert Borden.

READS CABLEGRAMS

He read cablegrams from both Sir George Perley and Sir Edward Kemp stating that, far from neglecting Canadian members of the Royal Air Force as suggested by Lieut.-Col. Pratt, they were doing all in their power to have such men returned to Canada. Such officers were under the authority, not of the Canadian Overseas Ministry, but of the British Air Ministry. Nevertheless, the Canadian Government had instructed officers in England to see that Canadians in the air force requiring transportation to Canada were provided with it free of charge. Taking up the criticisms based upon the Bruce report, Sir Thomas said that he himself had considered 80 per cent of its findings perfectly sound. Sir George Perley, the Overseas Minister, however, had to face a difficult situation in 1916. The majority of the officers of the Canadian Army Medical Corps were opposed to immediate action upon the report in its entirety; furthermore, there was raging at that time in England a controversy as to whether Canadian military hospitals should be reserved for Canadian sick and wounded, or whether hospital accomodation in the British Isles should be pooled. Had it been decided to send all Canadian sick and wounded to Canadian hospitals Canada would have to maintain a maximum number of beds, although they might not always be required.

Moreover, at the time casualties were arriving in England in tens of thousands, and Sir George was of opinion that all available hospital accommodation would be needed. This sitaution in which led Sir George to consult the Canadian Medical Service in England to visit all the divisional headquarters in France and to decide to appoint a board consisting of Surgeon-General Birmingham, of Toronto, Col. Ross of Queen's University, and Col. Elder of McGill to consider the Bruce report in the light of existing conditions. For membership on this board Sir William Baptie was recommended by the War Office. He had afterwards been subjected to some criticism in England, but had subsequently been promoted to the office of inspector of medical services at the War Office and the rank of lieut.-general.

Sir Thomas recalled that Mr. Lemieux had characteried the appointment of the Bapti board to review the findings of Col. Bruce as "ridiculous." Yet, the Acting Premier added "Mr. Lemieux was now asking for still another investigation to-day. Hon S. C. Mewburn pointed out that Gen. Smart himself had asserted that practically all the recommendations of Col. Herbert Bruce had been adopted. Gen Mewburn said that when he was in England in 1918 Gen. Smart had called upon him, but had not intimated that "anything was wrong in the Medical Service or any other service."

CANADIAN OPENING

Some of Gen. Smart's friends had employment could not be found for him in Canada, Gen. Mewburn had expressed willingness to do all in his power for Gen. Smart, but that he was holding his position open for men who had seen extended service in France. The Minister informed the House that relations between himself and Sir Edward Kemp were most harmonious, and that between himself and the Overseas Minister there had been the closest co-operation. Gen. Mewburn had also seen Col. Pratt, then in the Imperial service, but had heard neither from him nor from any other officer complaints against Argyle House. The Minister of Militia reviewed the career of Major-Gen. Sir Sam Steele, who, Gen. Smart alleged had been ill-treated by Canadian authorities and had died of a broken heart.

IN TWO ACCIDENTS

General Steele had sustained injuries in two accident before he went to France with the 2nd Canadadian Division. He had returned to England and had accepted an Imperial command and had last year been released from that position by the Imperial authorities, who had been retired from the Canadian Military Forces on a pension of $2,485 a year, and had been allowed, at his own request, to take his discharge in England.

General Mewburn said that the charge that Canadian soldiers had not received proper treatment was a slander upon the medical profession. He declared that the Government had granted an investigation on formal charges made by a member, but none of the general allegations made by every officer returning to Canada from overseas.

Mr. Lemieux based his demand for an enquiry upon the similar demand made by General Smart, Col. Pratt and Col. Price, and a number of newspapers, although he was not himself in a position to prefer charges He had been told that a Lieut.-Col. Jenkins has investigated the financial administrations of the Medical Services overseas and had discovered a "leakage" of ten million dollars. Col. Cyrus Peck, V.C., came to the defence of the Medical Services as efficient and always "Johnny on the spot." Sir Sam Hughes, Major Y. G. Power, M. C.; Capt. R. J. Manion, G. B. Nicholson, D. D. McKenzie and W. F. Cockshutt also particpated in the debate.

Gigantic Lumber Enterprises Launched

VICTORIA, B. C., April 25—What is undoubtedly the most gigantic lumber enterprise ever conceived, and a scheme that is fraught with tremendous possibilities in the development of the British Columbia lumber industry, is about to be launched by a syndicate headed by Percy Furber, president of the Mexican Oil Field Co., of New York, and John Arbuthnot, financier, well known in this city. The syndicate will be known as the Furber Lumber Company and the operations of the syndicate will be conducted on a colossal and world-wide scale.

Orders have already been placed with the syndicate by British interests to deliver 30,000,000 feet of lumber, which, in the event of a satisfactory agreement being reached on purchase prise with the sawmills and lumber manufacturers, will be supplied by British Columbia mills.

The Angel-Unaware

By MADGE WESTON

The doctor's elderly sister made a grimace as she opened the door for his departure.

"There goes that stranger woman again," she said, "always galavanting around dressed up and fancy, when she might be doing some good to somebody. The ladies at the 'Aid' were saying yesterday she'd never been near a meeting, and she here all summer. Every day, an' Sundays too—sometimes during church hour, she goes swinging along into the country. Velvet skirts and big fur collars, hummin' to herself as if there was no trouble in the world. Coaxing along the Johnson's woolly dog sometimes—acts like a child out for play. Folks have no patience with her around here, don't scarcely return her bow.

"The frivolous don't find much welcome in our busy town. Folks has other things to do. But there—" Miss Burrows broke off sharply, "tisn't likely you've noticed the girl from Barker's, or know whom I'm talking about."

Dr. Tom Burrows had noticed the girl.

Tom Burrows admired the girl's pretty, serious gaze. He delighted in her sudden, flashing smile.

Johnson's woolly dog scampered joyously at the idle one's side. A child at play truly, this young woman—a charming, still irresponsible child.

Mrs. Barker had introduced him to her niece, Miss Thayer, as the young doctor passed the house one evening. Since then, at the girl's smile of recognition, he had been moved many times to stop his car in the road and ask her to drive. But discretion had won the day. To become better acquainted with this unusually attractive personality might be to deepen an unwise interest.

Miss Thayer had come to reside with her aunt. The townswomen—with his sister as mouthpiece—had spoken. The girl was an undesirable element.

Doctor Tom turned the car down an unfrequented road. Even to himself he would not confess his object. Upon this lonely road several times he had met the disfavored girl—she had smiled at him. Now, back among the brush, he heard an unmistakable groan. Old Nance, he vaguely remembered, lived there in her tumble-down cottage. Perhaps that lazy son of hers had gone too far for her call to reach. Nance used to suffer dreadfully from rheumatism.

Again came the wailing groan. Tom left his car and made his way to the hidden cottage.

"You doctor!" she said. "Oh! I thought is was her."

"Her?" the doctor questioned. He bent sympathetically over the huddled figure on the cot.

"Her," Nance nodded, "as comes every day to look after me. Makes my cup of tea an' puts food handy to my bedside. Feeds the chickens, too, she does—the angel."

Tom wrinkled his brows. "You refer to Miss Price, I suppose," he said.

Miss Price was the acknowledged village charitable worker. But old Nance cast the name contemptuously aside.

Miss Price was the acknowledged yet," she said. "Everybody left things for Jed to do an' now sence Jed's gone to war—"

"Jed gone!" the doctor exclaimed. "Why, I never thought of that possibility. Jed—left you alone."

"Do you reckon I'd hold him back?" Nance snapped. "Do you think I'd let him stay—"

"But—" Tom began.

With a wrinkled smile the old woman interrupted. "When Jed went out the door," she said, "an' angel come in.

"'I heard you moanin',' says the angel. Then she didn't ask, 'Kin I do anything?' She went ahead an' did it. Land! How I watch for her—like sunlight after it's rained fer months. Sundays, too. I'd forgot they have church down to the village, an' they've forgot me. It's so long sence I had any way o' gettin' down. The angel comes in an' she opens up that old cracked organ—ain't been played on sence my Lidie died. Then she'll sing all them old hymn tunes, purtiest voice, hers, reckon heaven singin' won't sound no better to me. 'Angel,' I call her, an' when I asks her real name she laughs an' says, 'I like so much to have you call me that!'

"'Well, you are an angel,' I tells her.

"'Oh, no,' she says, 'I just like to do little things that others have forgot. There are so many good workers in the world,' she says, 'doin' the really big things.'

"Reckon she'd be here right now if she hadn't stopped to look after the baby while Katie's bringing her things in from the farm. Katie's husband has gone, you know, to war. The angel gives Katie a free hour to work many a time."

In the shabby doorway suddenly a girl's figure appeared, a girl with glowing cheeks and starry eyes. At sight of the doctor she hesitated.

"Come in dearie," the old woman invited.

"Perhaps," suggested Miss Thayer, "I had better go away now and come back after the doctor's visit."

But Tom Burrows settled back in the creaky chair as one preparing for a lengthy stay.

"I shall wait here until your visit is over instead," he said, "then perhaps you will be good enough to ride back with me."

SNIDER—DOUGLAS

On Monday, Apl. 14th, at he home of Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Pastor of John Street Presbyterian Church, Belleville, Grace, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, of Ivanhoe, was married to Raymond A. Snider, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Snider, Herchimer Ave., Belleville. The bride was dressed in a travelling suit of navy blue cheviot, fox furs and hat to match. The groom was a former resident of Deseronto but has resided in Saskatchewan for the last three years. He graduates as a Bachelor of Arts at Queen's University this month. Mr. and Mrs. Snider left to make their

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine as this is sold under

THE HOME-COMING.

It is desirable that the return to Belleville and district of all soldiers from overseas be chronicled in the public press so that friends and well-wishers far and near may be apprised of their safe return. As soldiers are returning on the many trains at all hours of the day and night it is impossible to accurately record their arrival and The Intelligencer will be pleased to receive notification from relatives and friends of the return of soldier boys with records of service, as the public is very much interested. Music And Drama

(What the Press Agents Say)

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

There is unusual interest in the forthcoming production of A. H. Woods' notable farce comedy success, "Parlor Bedroom and Bath," which will be presented at Griffin's Opera House next Friday for an engagement of one night only direct from a solid year's run in Chicago and New York. It comes to Griffin's Opera House after an engagement of more than eight months at the Republic Theatre, New York, where it continued well into the summer, playing to capacity audiences. It is said to have scored more laughs than any play on the New York stage.

"THE BETTER 'OLE"

"The Better 'Ole," the comedy with music, which will be seen at Griffin's Opera House on Wednesday, May 7th, promises to duplicate in this country the success which it has met in England, where, in addition to a company that passed its second year at the Oxford Theatre in London, several companies are touring the provinces, and in America "The Better 'Ole" has beeng making good with a vengeance in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, the Boston company coming to Belleville with Edmund Gurney the noted English actor in the role of "Old Bill." Although essentially an English piece — being based upon Bairnsfather's "ragments of France" the three humorous characters that predominate the performance are well received as funmakers all over America. The play has a large chorus and there are many musical numbers.

STUDENT TYPES

Two types of students, diametrically opposite are found in "The Girl Dodger," Charles Ray's new picture, which is being shown at the Palace for the last time tonight. One, portrayed by Mr. Ray, is a dreamy, bookish, cramming solitary-afraid of girls and such things. The other played by Hal Cooley, is a lively, effervescent, chorus girl admiring, athletic and unstudious character. The honor of the picture comes when the two trade place pro tem. The Dub becomes the host—or is scheduled to do so—of a party in which a chorus girl is the honored guest.

A good Luke comedy and a thrilling chapter of "The Bull's Eye" serial are also being screened.

LINA CAVALIERI

There are few stars in motion pictures more celebrated artistically than Mme. Lina Cavalieri, who is said to be "the most beautiful woman in Europe" and who will appear at Griffin's this Monday to Wednesday in a splendid picturization of Alicia Ramsey's story of "The Two Brides." Mme. Cavalierie is famous as a prima donna, and her jewels long have been the subject of admiring comment all over the civilized world. "Battle Royal," a very funy two- act Mack Sennett comedy, and a Mutt and Jeff cartoon completes the photoplay program. The vaudeville portion of the programme is in the capable hands of "The Versatile Dup" who will present a classy instrumental offering.

GUS HILL'S MINSTRELS

Gus. Hill's Minstrels, is the newest spectacular presentation of the stage fun of burnt cork, tambourines, end men, interlocutors and general darktown melody and follies. All the songs identified with ethiopion expression and this doesn't mean that the songs must all necessarily be of the "Old Jim Crow" type, are said to be indicated in part of the program which is described as colossal. A sort of three ring minstrel show, is a definition said not to exaggerate the entertainment.

"LOVEY MARY"

When "Mrs Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was written, the beauty of the story created a profound impression. It speedily asserted its superiority and is today looked upon as one of the best sellers in the literary world. This splendid story has been picturized as a starring vehicle for Marguerite Clark and is being shown at Griffin's for the last time tonight. 'Rip and Stitch Tailors," a very funny Mack Sennett comedy and the British News are also being offered on the same program along with Colonel Walters and lady in a refined harmony singing offering, and Winnifred Evans who is singing some new and sure to be popular balalds.

PIQUANT MADGE KENNEDY

The newest in the Madge Kennedy series of successes is "A Perfect Lady," from Rose Stahy's popular stage play by Channing Pollock and Renold Wolf. The brilliant artiste who in a short year has won a place in the forefront among screen stars, will delight thousands in the role of a burlesque soubrette in "A Perfect Lady," which comes to the Palace this Monday to Wednesday, matinee daily.

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME.

What about Victoria Park? For one year there has been only a temporary bridge entrance, neither rustic nor artistic. No time should be lost in preparing plans for a permanent structure and fixing up the park generally as a recreation centre for the public, which will be a credit to the city. In its present state the park is not a good advertisement to strangers of the progressive spirit of Belleville. Arrangements might also be made for weekly band concerts during the summer season. Some attention should also be paid to Zwick's Island Park which is largely patronized by citizens as a picnic and bathing resort during the summer. Several drownings have occurred there and dangerous places should be properly placarded. Seats and tables might also be installed for picnic parties and necessary buildings erected. The comfort and convenience of citizens desiring recreation have a claim upon the civic authorities which should not be ignored.

THE ETERNAL BLUFF.

Germany continues to astonish the world by superhuman dullness. The press of that beaten and discredited nation is calling upon the plenipotentiaries not to sign the Peace Treaty without negotiation. The Germans may sign or not, as they please, but if they refuse, the naval and military forces of the Entente will take measures necessary to impose peace upon them.

If they prefer to have their chief cities occupied, and their custom houses administered under foreign supervision they will refuse to accept the treaty. It must be remembered that the German armistice commissioners did not accept the "Fourteen Points" until Ludendorff had officially informed the Government that the game was up. Germany was beaten to a standstill, and the general staff knew it. If the public does not yet know it, the lesson will be taught by an Allied schoolmaster named Foch.—Toronto Times.

THE PUBLIC AND THE RETURNED MAN.

If the disabled soldier is to achieve useful, comfortable and self-respecting employment, the public must have a sympathetic understanding of the problem of re-education and support the programme of rehabilitation. The rehabilitation of the disabled soldier is the responsibility of every family, every employer and every individual in the community. It is necessary to see the hopeful aspect of disability and ignore the depressing. The importance to the disabled soldier of vocational training for self-support should be appreciated by all, and the soldier should be encouraged to take advantage of it.

The public must get behind the plans for re-education and make them successful. Friends of the disabled soldier during his course of training should encourage him at every turn. This will maintain a proper morale and help the disabled soldier to win through.

Through generosity individuals are apt to do things that tend to pauperize the returning man and put a handicap upon him in his honest desire to be successful through the usual channels of opportunity. Successful crippled and blind men testify that the handicap of public opinion is a greater obstacle than amputation of limb or loss of sight. If the disabled soldier is to be restored to self-respect and self-support, the public must assume the right attitude of mind.

In a circular issued by the Red Cross Institute in the United States a square deal is asked for the disabled soldier. It says that in the past people have assumed him to be helpless and only too often persuaded him to become so. It frowns upon hero worship. All the disabled man needs is the kind of job he is fitted for and training in preparation for it. The complete elimination of the dependent disabled man has become a constructive and inspiring possibility. The individual duty is to find the disabled man a good, busy job, and encourage him to tackle it, for the disabled man who is occupied is no longer handicapped.

In another statement the duty of the employer in reconstructing the disabled soldier is emphasized. His duty is to study the jobs under his jurisdiction and determine which might be satisfactorily held by disabled men; to give disabled men the preference for these jobs; to utilize to the greatest extent possible labor which would otherwise be unproductive; to do the returned soldier the honor of offering him real employment, rather than proffering him the ignominy of a charitable job.

It is the duty of every citizen, who is interested in the reconstruction of returned citizens and the country, to do his bit in educating his fellows to appreciate the fact that the returned man, disabled or fully fit, desires useful, comfortable and self-respecting employment. And it is the duty of every citizen to help him get it as soon as possible.

.·. CRISP COMMENT .·.

Those beautiful days this week must have been delivered to the wrong address and we are now being disciplined for using weather that did not belong to us.

The soldier boys suddenly released from rigid discipline and a life based on fixed rules, can not be expected to revert to civilian life without any friction. It will be hard to get accustomed to the change and some of the boys may boil over while finding their feet, but we who stayed at home in comfort and prosperity while the boys were dodging death at $1.10 a day can afford to be patient and treat the returned soldier with a great and kindly latitude which will express at least a portion of our appreciation for his sacrifice. He offered his life for us, can we do too much for him?

The enthusiasm so marked when the boys were leaving home for the battle front is not so much in evidence as they return. Throat paralysis seems to interfere with the cheering and there is a lack of outward appreciation at least. Suggestions that a series of banquets be arranged to get acquainted with the boys who have been enduring "hell-on-earth" for us has not led to any fierce competition among the various patriotic organizations to be the first to arrange a get-together banquet — in fact the first banquet is still in the air. What is the matter with Belleville? Do we not wish to get acquainted with our brave soldier boys?

Toronto has already paid out $4,422,000 of insurance on the lives of soldier residents killed in action or who died of wounds or disease. It is believed that the total death roll of Toronto soldiers will, when complete, be little short of five thousand, or one in a hundred of the population.—Toronto Globe.

"What all must admit," says the Ottawa Citizen, "is that the coming of the Americans shortened the war, discouraged the Germans, and had a depressing effect in certain influential quarters in Germany." The rumor that the Americans were the only soldiers who did any fighting is the one we expect to

OTHER VIEWS

Origin of Camouflage.
Christian Science Monitor.

It would be interesting to know how many people who have taken, with a kindliness which has become somewhat monotonous, to the word "camouflage," in their daily conversation, are aware of its origin. Camouflage was a word coined and used by the Paris Apaches, those ingenious inventors of language, to express their method of making a quick disguise or an alteration of a disguise. Of recent years, "camouflage" has, of course, been used in the European war to effect, as far as possible, concealment by disguise.

Untrustworthy Experts.
Halifax Recorder.

The playing of politics in the United States leaves nothing taboo, nothing sacred. Even George Washington's hatchet has been declared a myth. What then could we expect in regard to the League of Nations, when a Presidential election is in sight? One of the things which makes the man in the street uneasy is the pronouncement against the League by a number of great educational and law experts. Such condemnation should not discourage the friends of this instrument of peace because it is not the first time that experts have been tried out and found wanting.

Preparedness by Christening.
New York Herald.

If all the little John Pershing Does and John Pershing Roes are properly inspired when they grow to manhood by the illustrious example of the man whose name they bear, the United States will not find itself in a condition of unpreparedness if the clarion call of war should sound a generation hence. The Home Service section of the American Red Cross reports that a large proportion of the sons born to the wives of soldiers in this city, and there are scores of them, have been christened for the General under whom their fathers fought in France, and doubtless the same holds true for the nation.

Sir Douglas Haig.
London Daily Mail.

It is an open secret that Sir Douglas Haig was offered a peerage last year and that he declined the offer until justice had been done to his officers and men. No act in his career more endeared him to those who served under his command. His whole conduct of the war, from the date of the fearful battle of the Somme onward, proved him a tough, resolute soldier and a man who never lost heart. The country will not forget the immense services he has rendered, and we hope that before it is too late, and before our immortal battalions have been scattered, he may ride at the head of his troops in triumph through the city of which through more than four cruel years he and they were the living shield and protection.

The Entente Cordiale in India.
Times of India.

There is no greater work which a British administrator can do in India than to promote the unity of all loyal subjects of the Crown. We stand on the threshold of great opportunities in India. The constitutional reforms which are shortly to be inaugurated are not an end in themselves, they are a means to an end—the still more rapid progress of the people of this country. They only provide the machinery through which all the great forces which build up strong nations will be stimulated, moulded, developed. There is such an immense work before us that it can be done quickly and effectively only by the complete co-operation of all classes in the community. Energies spent in divisions and needlessly accentuating differences are energies diverted from the true service of India.

The Poet's Corner

THE SONG OF THE DYING.

We meet 'neath the sounding rafter,
And the wall around are bare;
As they echo the peals of laughter,
It seems that the dead are there;
But stand to your glasses steady;
We drink to our comrades' eyes,
Quaff a cup to the dead already—
And hurrah for the next that dies!

Time was when we frowned at others;
We thought we were wiser then;
Ha' Ha! Let those think of mothers
Who hope to see them again.
No! Stand to your glasses steady;
The thoughtless are here the wise;
A cup to the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

There's many a hand that's shaking,
There's many a cheek that's sunk;
But soon, tho' our hearts are breaking,
They'll burn with the wine we have drunk.
So stand to your glasses steady—
'Tis here the revival lies;
A cup to the dead already—
And hurrah for the next that dies!

Who dreads to the dust returning?
Who shrinks from the sable shore,
Where the high and haughty yearning
Of the soul shall sting no more?
Ho! stand to your glasses steady—
This world is a world of lies;
A cup for the dead already—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Cut off from the land that bore us,
Betrayed by the land we find,
Where the brightest have gone before us,
And the dullest remain behind—
Stand, stand to your glasses steady,
'Tis all we have left to prize;
A cup to the dead already—
And hurrah for the next that dies!

This poem was written by Captain Dowling, an officer of the British army, who was stationed in India when the great plague broke out among the natives.

ROYAL MAC

When racehorses are being discussed, very few mention Royal Mac, notwithstanding the fact that during the past three years he has been one of the most useful trotters in training. He has started in 34 races, of which he won ten, one of them being the $10,000 event at Syracuse, while he also finished second in eleven, two of them being in the Transylvania, in which he helped to make the seven and four heat records of the world. In other races, he finished third in seven, fourth in three, and was unplaced in three. His record of 2.05 was made in a third heat and is but three-quarters of a second shy of the ten-year-old record for geldings made by Early Dreams in 1916, while it is also the fastest trotting record made by a gelding foaled in Ohio, and third on the State's honor roll, the 2.03¾ of Cresceus and 2.03¼ of Binland alone preceding it.

BABE RUTH STARTS SEASON WITH HOMER

NEW YORK, April 25—Before the biggest crowd that ever saw an American League opening in this city, the Boston world's champions defeated New York yesterday by an overwhelming score of 10 to 0.

Ruth, Boston's sensational slugger, started the champions off to victory in the first innings, batting a home run with Hooper on base. There was an element of luck to the hit, as it took a high bound over Lewis' shoulder. Mogride pitched fairly well after that until the ninth, when Boston hit him all over the field, which, aided by Peckinpaugh's error's enabled them to pile up six runs.

Mays held New York at his mercy throughout the game, permitting only four hits and striking out eight. Schang hit three doubles and a single in five times up.

General Pershing says: "Banish the entire liquor industry from the United States; close every saloon, every brewery; supress drinking by severe punishent to the drinker, and if necessary death to the seller or maker, or both as traitors, and the nation will suddenly find itself amazed at the efficiency and startled at the increase in the labor supply. I shall not go slow on prohibition, for I know what is the greatest foe to my men, greater even than the bullets of the enemy."

Lloyd George says: "Drink during the war has used as much tonnage as the Germans have sunk with all their submarines. Drink has killed more men than have been killed by the German submarines. Drink during the war has destroyed more than all the German submarines put together."

The Best Medicine For Little Ones

There is no medicine for little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative; pleasant to take; do not gripe and never fail to relieve the little one of constipation, indigestion, colic or any of the other minor ailments. Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Monzerolle, Eel River Ridge, N.B., writes:—"I believe Baby's Own Tablets are the finest medicine for little ones I have ever used. From my own experience I would recommend every mother to keep a box on hand." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Wiliams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AFTER A HARD DAY'S WORK
Rub the tired muscles with a few drops of the soothing, refreshing, antiseptic liniment, Absorbine, Jr. You will find it pleasant and convenient to use and remarkably efficacious. This liniment invigorates jaded muscles, limbers the joints and prevents second day soreness and lameness after a strenuous, tiresome day of sport or work.
America's best athletes and trainers use Absorbine, Jr. to relieve strains and wrenches and also as a rub-down before vigorous exercise to prevent such conditions.
Absorbine, Jr., is concentrated and therefore economical—only a few drops are required at an application. One ounce Absorbine, Jr., to a quart of water or witch hazel makes an invigorating rub-down and general purpose liniment.

MOTION PICTURES IN CANADA

James Oliver Curwood and his Company on Lesser Slave Lake.

James Oliver Curwood on a Hunting Expedition.

Calgary in Southern Alberta is making a bold bid to become the centre of a motion picture industry for Canada and has induced James Oliver Curwood, the well known novelist, magazine writer, and moving picture scenarioist, to establish a studio and laboratory in that go-ahead city as the headquarters for a company which will screen some of Mr. Curwood's literary successes. This company has already spent some time at Lesser Slave Lake on the first of the proposed pictures "Wapi the Walrus" which appeared recently in "Good Housekeeping." Cabins have been built, and a dozen movie actors and actresses from the States, one of whom, Nell Shipman, is Canadian born, have been acting before the camera-man with twenty breeds as extras. Great Danes and huskies are used, and a whaler has been built 135 feet in length. James Oliver Curwood is a grand-nephew of the famous English novelist Captain Marryat, author of Midshipman Easy and many other tales of adventure dear to boys. Eighteen of the twenty-one novels he himself has written are located in Canada, and he has travelled in search of material twice to the Arctic Ocean, five times to Hudson's Bay, twice to the MacKenzie Country. Although this first picture will deal chiefly with the frozen north, Mr. Curwood intends to show Canada upon the screen in the four garbs of Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter.

It will be remembered that the Hon. T. W. McGary raised quite a political agitation in favor of British and Canadian-made films in the Province of Ontario, and there undoubtedly is a growing demand in Canada for pictures illustrating the life and scenes of this country. So that Calgary's effort is making a step in the right direction.

Where Christ Rose From The Dead Little Children Starving

TERRIBLE CONDITIONS IN THE HOLY LAND — THE LITTLE CHILDREN OF LEBANON HOMELESS AND HUNGRY — GREAT NEED FOR HELP TO RELIEVE SUFFERING OF THOUSANDS OF REFUGEES SCOURGED BY THE TURKS.

Solomon's beautiful temple in Jerulation of 12 villages is dead. Of the forest of Lebanon" because it was built of the famous "cedars of Lebanon" sent him by the king of Tyre to whom they belonged. Jerusalem was then at the height of its glory and Israel's sister kingdom, Tyre, also at the zenith of its prosperity—rich with a "multitude of all kinds of riches."

LEBANON NOW

"Nearly one half of the total population of 12 villages is dead. f the remaining 61,972 residents of these villages 26,181 are in absolute need of help. The total number of orphans needing help is 6,612." This is the official report of the American commission.

It is a great orphanage among these moutains. The Moslems, strange to say, started this orphanage in the building of a Christian College they had seized. They had spared only the younger children of murdered Syrians and deported Armenians, given them shelter, one coarse garment each and just enough food to sustain life, evidently intending to rear them as Mohammedans. But at the coming of General Allenby and the British forces the Turks fled.

ENOUGH TO EAT AFTER STARVING FOR YEARS

The orphanage was at once taken over by American Relief workers, and is supported by the American Comittee for Relief in the Near East. And now after years of being always hungry, after nearly starving to death, these children have all they can eat. They are clean, and have tops and rag dolls to play with, they have work to do and lessons to learn and are so happy this Easter of 1919 after all they have suffered. But they are only 644 out of the more than six thousand in the Lebanon district alone who are still homeless and hungry.

"BY THE WATERS OF BABYLON"

By the waters of Babylon the captive Jewish exile "sat them down and wept" when Babylon was a great power subjugating all the little nations of Western Asia. By the waters of Babylon Armenian exiles whose fate has been far more tragic and horrible than that of the Israelites of the Captivity have sat them down in a misery too great for tears.

A NEW CYRUS THE GREAT

But their oppressors have been conquered by a new Cyrus the Great and modern Ezras have arisen to restore them to their distant homes. Refugee camps have been established at certain centres along the route over which these destitute wanderers tramp wearily back towards their northern villages. Here they rest a day, are fed and bathed and disinfected and the sick cared for.

THE CAMP AT BAGDAD

Outside the city of Bagdad not far from ancient "Babylon the Great" is a camp where the British authorities are sheltering in tents, feeding and caring for medically 40,000 refugees, while representatives of the American Committee for Relief in the Near East carry on an industrial relief work, giving employment fitted to his capacity to every man physically able to work. Into an orphanage are gathered 700 children uncared for and unclaimed by anyone.

MESOPOTAMIAN CAMPAIGN

The Mesopotamian Campaign will not be truly ended until these refugees between the two great rivers are repatriated and permanently rehabilitated. Easter 1919, sees this task begun. Will Easter 1920 see it well on its way to accomplishment?

HISTORY'S GRIM PLEASANTRY

When at first Assyrian Empire was at the height of its magnificence and power there was a monarchy rivalling it in splendour in the north among the mountains of Ararat. This was the kingdom of the Proto-Armenians, as Professor Sayce calls them—the fore runners of the present day Armenians whose ancestors conquered them, inter-married with them and took over their culture as well as their cities. And of this monarchy the city of Van, still standing and still beautiful, was the capital.

ASSYRIANS VANISHED

Not one trace of the great Assyrian kingdom or its people remains but the Armenians, though persecuted and oppressed for centuries are still a vital, heroic race and those who have survived the massacres and deportations of the last four years believe they are to build up a new and free Armenia.

NEAR NINEVEH

Multitudes of them are now herded in the streets of Mosul, the ancient Nineveh, just across the river from its excavated ruins. They are on their way home exile though sick, weak, starving so that many will die by the roadside before reaching the goal of their homesick dreams. But Easter, 1919, is bringing them a new, a revivifying hope and the help of strong hands and generous hearts from across the sea.

CHILDREN STARVING

In Jerusalem where Christ rose triumphant from the tomb two thousand years ago, to-day are seen "everywhere children starving — starving children in the arms of mothers who have no food to give them, sick children who have tramped all the way from Asia Minor through the desert naked children shivering with malaria and burning with typhus."

Relief workers with the spirit of Christ within them are trying to reach these children. Orphanages have been started where some of them are fed and clothed and trained to self-support, day nurseries where the little ones are care for while the mothers are earning their living by the industries organized by the relief workers. There are so many who have not been reached—what a sorrowful Easter theirs will be!

Military News

COL. BOGGS APPOINTED

Lieut.-Col. F. R. Boggs, late of the 39th Battalion, now A. J. A. G. of M. D. No. 3, has been detailed for special duty with headquarters at Ottawa and will commence his duties in the course of a few days. Before enlisting in the 39th Battalion, he was the chief magistrate of Cobourg.

SALE OF CLOTHES

Practically seven hundred suits were sold at Barriefield in the past three weeks, to men who have returned from overseas and who have been granted their discharges. Yesterday when the 2nd Battalion were being granted their discharges they bought from different merchants who have stores in the huts 239 suits and some 100 overcoats.

PLACING OFFICERS

All officers who return from overseas are not granted their discharges in the same manner as the N.C.O.s and men, but are placed at the disposal of the A. A. G. and attached to the permanent forces in Canada and sent to their respective districts.

Present Conditions On Ontario Farms

The following is a summary of reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

Seeding has been largely prevented by the frequent rains of the past week or two, and the cool weather has been delaying growth. However, early sown spring wheat and oats are reported to be above ground in some of the Lake Erie counties.

Fall wheat so far is practically uninjured, except on badly drained land and it promises to be a record crop. Clover has not done so well, having suffered more or less from heaving in some localities. Although many fine fields are also reported. Alfalfa looks to be in fair condition. All these crops have been much helped by the rains which have recently prevailed.

Orchards have suffered very little from winter injury. Some fruit growers have already started their first spraying for the season, and several Representatives predict that orchards will receive more care than usual this year.

Prince Edward speaks of an increased acreage of nearly all canning crops, especially the peas, which will also be grown for seed.

Well finished cattle are scarce, and bad roads have also hindered marketing. Prices for good beef animals have ranged from 14 per cent to 15 per cent a lb. Dairy cattle continues at a premium. Welland states that "any sort of a cow will bring $100 while good one are ranging from $200. to $250." Northumberland reports that several choice young cows have gone into the hands of new breeders at $500 each. In Halton a herd of pure-bred but untested Holstein cows sold at a recent sale, brought an average of $320, while calves and yearlings averaged $111.

Milk is in fair quantity for the time of the year, and is in good demand. Oxford has been paying $2.90 a cwt. for milk during April. Butter fat has commanded from 60 to 65 cents per pound in some creameries. Two new milk condensers are being started in Prince Edward County.

Horse raisers are now getting better prices for their animals. Dufferin and Victoria reporting some sales as high as $300.

Prices for hogs, according to Representatives, range from $20.25 to $21 a cwt.

Two more live stock shipping clubs have been organized in Wellington, and all are declared to be operating satisfactorily.

Farm labor is reported to be scarce in almost every section of the Province. Welland reports prices as running from $30 to $50 with board, for single men, and from $50 to $60 a month for suitable married men. The further return from overseas of farmers' sons is expected to help out the situation.

OLD MARINER DEAD

The death occurred at Brockville recently of James H. Kelly, one of Brockville's oldest continuous residents, aged eitghty-two, after a brief illness. He was for many years a marine engineer and plied for many years on craft on the Great Lakes and the River St. Lawrence. Four grown-up children survive.

BIG AUTO SHIPMENT

One hundred and twenty-five carloads of Packard motor trucks consigned to the French government were ferried over the River from Prescott to Ogdensburg last week and were dispatched to New York in two special trains. The trucks were originally intended to be sent overseas by way of St. John, N.B., but half of them were subsequently ordered to New York via Ogdensburg. This is the largest consignment of motor vehicles ever received at that port.

FIRE AT QUEENSBORO

The entire office buildings and store house of the Canadian Sulphur Ore Co. at Queensboro were compeltely destroyed by a disastrous fire which broke out on Tuesday night. The cause of the fire is believed to be due to defective electric wiring. The loss is estimated at about $10,000. Re-building will commence at once.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED

The appointmeit of J. B. Franklin, of Motreal, as supervisor of track on the fifth division of the Grand Trunk Railway, with jurisdiction over the maintenance of way between Montreal and Brockville, is announced. Mr. Franklin has already assumed his duties here in succession to William Fitzgibbons, resigned. Latterly he has been supervisor of track on the fourth district of the Grand Trunk with headquarters at St. Lambert.

A JEWEL OF THE HIGHLANDS

The "Lake of Bays" is one of the jewels in the great chain of lakes reached through Huntsville on the Grand Trunk 145 miles north of Toronto, and is one of the most beautiful of Ontario's summer resort districts. Hotels to suit all pockets, good fishing, perfect immunity from hay fever, golf and many other attractions await the visitor. The altitude of this lake is 1000 feet above the sea level, which ensures invigorating and pure air. Handsome illustrated descriptive literature sent free. Apply to C. E. Horn-

CHAIR CARS REPLACED

The travelling public will be glad to know that a chair car has been placed on the local train going west on the G. T. R. in the morning and on the one from the west in the afternoon. This will be a great convenience which is greatly appreciated. It is understood that the G. T. R. will soon start its Sunday train again.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Mrs. Norman Lake of the Monk Road, North Hastings, met with a painful accident on Tuesday evening last. While coming down the hill just opposite the bridge, the tongue of the buggy fell to the ground letting the vehicle run upon the horses which frightened them and caused a runaway. Mrs. Lake was thrown from the buggy and picked up in an unconscious condition, with her shoulder blade badly fractured.

NEW STEAMER FOR BAY

Another freighter for the Lake Ontario trade will be added this season. Capt. B. Bowen, of Trenton, has bought the steam barge Sicken from Lake Huron parties and she was the first arrival from the west through the new canal. Capt. Bowen has fitted her up with electric light and she looks spick and span. He expects to keep her going in the Bay of Quinte trade.

PRICE OF CHEESE

There is still considerable uncertainty as to the price of cheese for the coming season. Mr. Morden Bird, of Stirling, was in town last week after a visit to Montreal. He stated that while the British Government would buy the output the same as for the last couple of years, it was expected that the price would be a little lower than last year.—Marmora Herald.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

At the Village of Marmora on Tuesday night a pleasing event took place under the auspices of the Soldiers Welfare League, namely a presentation to returned soldiers. Reeve Gray presented the illuminated certificates and rings to the following: Nursing Sister Victoria Eastwood, Ft.-Lt. Cook and Ptes. Fred Simmons, John Laird, M. E. Gilder, C. A. Eastwood, Harry McWilliams, Frank Bertrand, C. Stewart Jones, Wm. Durrant, Frank Smith Frank Laycoe, Norman Nayler, Jonas and Donald McCann. Stewart Jones Lt. Cook and Frank Smith responded briefly on behalf of the boys expressing their thanks for the presentation, and particularly to Marmora Women's Institute for the many gifts they had sent them while overseas.

LARGE HEN FRUIT

We were to-day the receipient of an exceptionally large hen's egg which came from Mr. D. A. Trasher's farm in Sidney. His flock of hens are of more than one variety and it was not known what breed of hen laid the egg.

STOLEN CAR ROCOVERED

Two boys named Rogers and Luffman this week escaped from the Mimico Industrial School and it is alleged they stole a car. On Wednesday at Tweed the auto, a Chevrolet, was recovered and the driver, a young lad, was arrested. Rogers was sent to the school from Tweed and Luffman's home is at Windsor.

FINED $210 AND COSTS

Yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Masson William Esond, claiming Montreal as his home was charged with intoxication and also having upon his person a bottle containing liquor. He pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs for one offence and $10 and costs for the other. The fine was paid. License Inspector Arnott was the complainant, and Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, represented him.

MISSING WOMAN

The police here have been requested to assist in ascertaining the whereabouts of Mrs. Mary Baxter, who left her home at Sault Ste. Marie on the 8th inst., and has not been seen since. She is 34 years of age, 5 ft 4 inches in height, dark complexion, black hair, brown eyes, stout build and dressed in black silk skirt, white waist, light colored raincoat, black hat with black feather.

Called By Death

LLEWLLYN T. JOHNS

Mr. Llewllyn T. Johns, a well known gardener residing on North Park St., College Hill, died at Kingston hospital yesterday. Deceased had been in failing health for some years and recently underwent operations for internal trouble. Deceased was 56 years of age and was born here being a son of the late Mr. Thomas Johns. He was not only known in the city and vicinity but throughout this district. For years he had been a successful gardener. Mr. Johns was a member of the Sons of England and a member of the Salvation Army. One son, Lewis, and a daughter, Miss Bernice, survive. The body was brought here last night for interment.

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As A Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Y.M.C.A. Circus Complete Success

The closing performance of the Dingaling and Bungalins Circus at the Y.M.C.A. last evening entertained a very large audience of both young and old, with its programme of drills, stunts, dances, freaks and curiosities that the people of Belleville very seldom have the opportunity of seeing. The programme was put on by a company of trained athletes ranging from Tiny Tads to real large boys and the way in which these boys performed the stunts proved the excellent training they have received and are receiving at the Y.M.C.A.

Everything that goes to make up a circus was present, candy, peanuts, ice cream and soft drinks. The freaks of the side show were many including the Siamese Twins, (two minds but a single thought), Man Frog, teh smallest man in the world who is twenty-three years old, stands twenty-three inches high and weighs but twenty-three pounds, Congo the wild man, giraffe, teddy bear and various others.

The main circus or big show took place in the gynasium under the charge of the noted ringmaster B. T. Parnham, who showed that he had reaped excellent results along this end from his long career with the circus.

Free hand drilling (military) was well put on by the junior day boys and was highly appreciated and well applauded.

The dainty and graceful folk dances by the girls of the Belleville High School were well done and showed evidence that these girls will develop into first class and up-to-date dancers as the years go by.

Club swinging by the senior boys was very interesting and the boys kept in perfect time with each other.

A group of young boys from the Ontario School for the Deaf gave an excellent exhibition of free hand drilling and basket ball games and the way in which these lads performed showed great ability.

Ladder pyramids, gamboling, animal relay, tumbling and diving, high bar stunts and torch swinging were very interesting and many of which were so thrilling that the audience held their breaths.

The clowns and Charlie Chaplain were continually causing peals of laughter from the audience as they proceeded with their funny tricks and stunts. The circus was very successful and a rare treat for the people of Belleville.

NOTES

Mrs. Deeton, who presided at the piano, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of pink and white roses as an appreciation of her services voluntarily offered.

Lorne Deeton and Carl VanAllen are worthy of special mention going through the stunts and performances without a mistake.

The circus delighted all present and those who failed to visit it either on Thursday or Friday night missed one of the best performances of its kind ever presented here.

HIGH PRICED CHEESE

At the Napanee Cheese Board yesterday 195 boxes of cheese were boarded. Mr. J. A. Kerr of this city, bought 145 boxes of colored and the price paid was 26 cents.

PRESENTED WITH CHAIRS

After the regular meeting of Court Moira, I.O.F., of this city, last night a smoker was held. During the proceedings Bros. Charles Walter, Fin. Sec. and S. S. Finkle, Rec. Sec., were each presented with a leather upholstered chair. Bro. Herity, Court Deputy made the presentations, which were suitably acknowledged.

A SUCCESSFUL DANCE

Under the auspices of Quinte Chapter, I.O.D.E. of this city a successful Easter dance was held last night at Johnstone's academy. A large number were present and thoroughly enjoyed the programme of dances provided. Sprague's orchestra furnished the music, which was of a high order The Academy was appropriately decorated for the occasion presenting an inviting appearance. At midnight a luncheon was provided.

"THE WINNING GIRL"

The Argyll Chapter I. O. D. E. is presenting its second musical comedy to the citizens of Belleville at Griffin's May 5th and 6th. Last year "The Girl from KoKomo" was the offering and those who were privileged to witness the performance, and the audience was limited to the capacity of the Opera House on both nights, will long remember the delightful evening's enjoyment. This year "The Winning Girl" succeeds the "Girl from KoKomo", and those who have witnessed the rehearsals agree that it will be far ahead of last year's attraction. The experience gained last year is abundantly displayed by the finish of the work of both principles and chorus, and a large orchestra will add to the general success of the play. The musical numbers are bright and tuneful, being the pick of the latest London and New York hits. The seats will be on sale at Griffin's on Saturday May 1st, and it is expected that the house will be sold out for the two nights, so those coming first will get the choice of seats.

Paris Expecting Orlando's Return

PARIS, April 26—Peace Conference circles were inclined to believe today that an amicable solution of the Italian incident was in the making.

For one thing, Italy has shown her desire to maintain good relations with the allies by the fact that the Italian delegates remaining in Paris will continue to collaborate in the work of the inter-allied commission not pertaining to the actual work of the Peace Conference.

It is thought possible that Premier Orlando may call the Italian Parliamen together at an earlier date than May 6, as previously fixed, and that he may be back in Paris for the opening the the negotiations at Versailles, which will not begin before the first or second of May.

NOT ADIEU, BUT AU REVOIR

The newspapers are unanimous in the opinion the departure of Orlando does not constitute a rupture in relations. "It is not adieu," says the Petit Journal, "but au revoir."

A part of the French press manifests some impatience that new complications should arise at the moment when the German plenipotentiaries are about to arrive. The Echo de Paris fears that "as a sequel of the methods employer, all alliances may totter."

CHEERED ON DEPARTURE

Premier Orlando left Paris for Rome at 8.30 o'clock last night, accompanied by Salvatore, Barzilia, General Diaz and two other members of the Italian mission. He was given an ovation at the station by the crowd.

The Treaty of London of 1915, in which Britain and France agreed to allow Italy Istria and the Dalmatian coast, did not allot Fiume to her. This, it seems, was exclusively reserved for the use of Austrian Slavs. Italy grabbed possession of Fiume when the Austrian collapse came, and because it has a large Italian population, claims it, notwithstanding that it is the port of Bohemia, Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, etc. Italy is intent, in fact, on shutting the Austrian Slavs out of the Adriatic, no matter what the consequences.

APRIL 21 TO 26
CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC
Inseparably Associated with
EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message.

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our psalms to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness—songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.

It should shed its blessings in every home.

"Please do not handle fruit." is a sign conspicuously displayed in a local fruit store. This is a timely warning which should be generally acted upon. There is too much careless handling of foodstuffs in stores and in the market by patrons. Hands that are clean and hands that are unclean pawing over fruit, butter and other foodstuffs do not contribute to the sanitary condition of the goods on sale, and the practice should not be permitted.

How Free Love Works In Russia

Horrors and Brutalities of System of Nationalizing Women.

LONDON, April 25—The law providing for the naturalization of women in Northeast Russia has been suspended in one province as the result of popular outcry, according to information reaching London from Stockholm.

The Commissary of Vladimir has, by decree, appointed a committee of women, who are to inquire into the operations of the law and make a report with the least possible delay. His action has been approved by the local Soviet.

The Kransnaya Gazeta (The Red Gazette) publishes an account of the result of naturalization. The system provides that every girl on reaching the age of 18 must register her name in the bureau of free love, after which she is compelled to select a partner from among the men between 19 and 50 years old. The law led to lamentable confusion, says the Gazeta, in "judicial notions as to personal inviolability."

A few days after the Soviet's decree, which women very generally ignored, two men, known to nobody, arrived in the town and seized the two daughters of a "well-known non-bourgeois comrade," declaring they had chosen them as wives and that the girls, without further ceremony, must submit, as they had not observed the registration rule.

"Comrades Yablonovski and Gursiakin," who sat as Judges on the claim, decided the men were right, and the girls were carried off. They have not since been heard of by the nationalization of women.

Many other instances of the fantastic operation of the law, not to speak of its inhumanities, are cited by the Gazeta. Enthusiasts for nationalization, naturally all males, raid whole villages, seize young girls and demand proof that they are not over 18. As this proof is difficult to give, many of the girls are carried off, and there have been suicides and murders as a result.

Bilious? Take NR Tonight

Nature's Remedy is Better and Safer Than Calomel. Cleans Out System Without Griping. Stops Sick Headache. Guaranteed.

Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc., are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain real or lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the purpose being to bring about healthy and harmonious action of all the organs of digestion and elimination. It acts promptly and thoroughly, yet so mildly and gently that there is never the slightest griping or discomfort.

But that is not all. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) have a beneficial effect upon the entire body. By improving the process of digestion and assimilation, the nourishment is derived from food, the blood quality is enriched, vitality is increased and the whole system strengthened.

Once you get your body in this splendid condition, you need not take medicine every day—just take an NR Tablet occasionally when indigestion, biliousness and constipation threatens, and you can always feel your best. Remember keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

NATIONAL RAILWAY WORKERS DEMAND OVERTIME SUNDAYS

OTTAWA, April 25—In an effort to stave off impending trouble between the Canadian National Railway and its employees, who last week presented an ultimatum to the General Executive Board of the road, demanding immediate redress of certain grievances, Mr. D. B. Hanna, president of the C.N.R., arrived in the capital yesterday. Mr. Hanna wil confer with Senator Gideon Robertson of the Labor Department, this afternoon, when a definite conclusion may be reached.

The chief complaints of the men are: The matter of overtime on Sundays, day overtime pay, seniority of employes, an increased wage schedule, and the recognition of the Brotherhood of Railway Employes by the line.

KINGSTON WELCOMES HOME SECOND BATTALION MEN

KINGSTON, April 25—Wednesday afternoon Kingston gave a great reception to the Second Battalion, which arrived from overseas at four o'clock. Not one of the original officers is with the returned unit and only thirty-one of the original Canadian unit, non coms., and men, came home. Lieut. Col. McLaughlin, D.S.O., Port Hope, is in command. The civic welcome was given on the Market Square, where Mayor Newman delivered an address. Brig-Gen. Victor Williams also spoke. Afterwards there were street parades at eight o'clock. This evening the Third and Fourth Batteries and the First Field Ambulance arrived and were also accorded a war welcome by thousands of citizens. The down-town streets were gaily decorated.

COMMITTEE WILL REPORT ON CANADIAN MILITIA

OTTAWA, April 25—A special committee is being appointed by the Militia Department to consider and report on the future of the Canadian militia. Gen. Sir William Otter will be chairman, and other members will include a large representation of officers from overseas, when available, officers of old militia units, and the permanent and non-permanent forces.

The problem to be dealt with on the one hand is to preserve the identity of overseas units, and at the same time to maintain the traditions of the militia units. The commission will visit different centres and recommend as to what of the old system will be perpetuated and what will go to the wall.

HOUSES FOR WHITBY

WHITBY, April 25.—The Town Council at its regular meeting this week put through a by-law under the Ontario Housing Act, appointing a commission to go ahead with the construction of greatly needed houses.

BREWERS BATTLE IN COURT

NEW YORK, April 25—The Government began in Federal Court here argument on its motion to dismiss the suit brought by the Jacob Hoffmann Brewing Co., to restrain the U. S. authorities from interfering with its production of beer of 2 3-4 per cent. alcoholic content, forbidden by internal revenue rulings interpreting the food conservation regulations and the war-time prohibition act.

STEAMER BURNS AT SEA

PORTLAND, Me., April 25—The Ferris type steamer, Roy H. Beattie, built at Portsmouth, N. H., for the Emergency Fleet Corporation, was burned and abandoned at sea last Friday and Third Officer Lewis B. Huntley, of Portland, was drowned, according to a cablegram received by Huntley's wife. The message was sent from Bermuda, where the rescued crew was landed by a whaling vessel.

BIG ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peck and Helen, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. F. Black, Somesville.

E. B. Kerr of Oshawa, spent the week end at his home.

Glad to report Wm. Peck, who has been suffering with a serious cold, convalescent.

Elmwood cheese factory is being treated to a coat of new shingles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cole entertained friends from Deseronto on Sunday.

Miss Mary Kerr, who spent the winter in Port Hope, returned home on Friday.

HOLLOWAY

The most of the farmers in this vicinity are busy on the land.

The cheese factory has opened up for the season.

The Rev. Mr. McQuade, of West Huntingdon gave a very helpful and inspiring address on missionary work at the Epworth League on Thursday night. The program was all in touch with the subject on missions and was most interesting.

Mr. S. Rose's horses ran away on Monday afternoon. The democrat was badly damaged, but no serious results.

J. J. B. Flint

Mr. J. J. B. Flint, who recently returned from California, writes of the United States-Japanese question as follows:

I had conversations with many returning soldiers which were interesting. Two were from Siberia. I saw one hundred views of Vladivostock and the fleet of ships guarding the city. One of the lads was a marine and with his ship had visited the Phillipinos, Spain, China, Japan and Siberia. He said the Phillipines were degraded and a low race. He thought they ought to be destroyed as they were no good. The finest, bravest and most intelligent soldiers in Siberia were the Chzecks. They would fight to a finish and often killed their wives and relatives rather than have them fall into the hands of the Germans. I saw a photo of a stone building in Vladivostock taken by the Bolsheviki who were firing through the windows at a group of Americans on a street corner, who in return were replying with machine guns. The building was pitted with bullet marks. Immense munitions were in this city and the fleet of soldiers guarded them. The lad said the Americans would not, in his opinion, withdraw from Russia. There is, at this time, great tension between the Japanese and the American. Apparently no cordiality exists in Vladivostock between the two nationalities. I found everywhere a strong feeling against China.

The Japanese appeared to me to be the most active and the hardest workers, both men and women, of any nationality. They are to be found working in all capacities. They are great agriculturalists. The finest flower gardens and flower shows appeared to belong to the Japs. The laborers on the ranches were Japs, Mexicans, Italians and of course, Americans. The great difference in these classes is that, that the American women and girls will not work in the orchards and fields as do the women of the east and the Mexicans. The law does not permit Japs to buy lands or real estate. They may lease but not become owners, which, of course, is a tremendous handicap over the Japs. The Jap child born in America becomes an American citizen with all the rights of a native born American. The wily Jap father buys property in the name of the infant and this in a great measure defeats the intention of the prohibitive law. I never saw more active, intelligent, better-dressed men and women engaged in trade than the Japs.

FORTUNES MADE

The Mexican is as dark as the Indian, a deep brown. He has a stolid, stupid, vacant appearance nothing smart or active about him, but as a soldier both Villa and Carranza have shown their men to be brave and courageous fighters. These Mexicans in harvest times will contract together for nut and citrus crops. They bring a tent, and their families, children of four or five years, work as hard as their parents and the family earns enough money to keep them for the rest of the year. A number of the Mexicans are rolling in wealth because they leased their lands for oil purposes and oil they found and they are paid large sums and do not know what to do with the money. A considerable part of California is productive of oil bearing strata. The boring go often 2,500 feet. The anti-clenals, as the oil bearing stratified rocks are called, indicate oil and down go the shafts. It apears so abnormal and strange to look out on the ocean and see wells in the ocean pumping up oil. When it reaches the surface it is like tar, very black. The Standard and Union Companies, when oil is discerned in a district, will buy at any price and take chances on the district. Of course many wells exhaust themselves. So long as hills exist from which ooze out oil, which burrows beneath the surface and forms deposit, so long will the oil industries exist.

JAP WOMEN

One of the reason for the dislike of Japan by the Americans is the standard of Japanese women. In Japan both sexes bathe promiscuously in nature's garb. In large cities sections are devoted to the house of prostitution. Women set at the doors playing a certain instrument accompanying it with a song. If children are born from these women they become the property of the state and are educated. If a man, no matter what his station in life may be, marries a woman of this class her former life appears no objection to the marriage and no disgrace attaches. There are many things about the women of the lower class of Japan which women of no other country would permit. These sailors informed me of seeing women coal ships. They described these women as low and said they were capable of the lowest forms of immorality. Japan is undoubtedly striving to get rid of these habits and customs obnoxious to Western nations.

aethriesrpP-exhau UUUs aitU Ufcll

A PROUD PEOPLE

The Japanese are a proud people, who claim that they should as a nation be placed on a par with the white natives of the west. The Government encourages the growth of the western ideas. They do retain the worship of their ancestors and their peculiar religious ideas, but they are willing that western civilization may enter their cities and introduce western religion and western customs. Thousands of students are sent to England and United States colleges and universities. They encourage the use of English speech. Their ministers of state are men of the highest intelligence, and these men contest the view entertained so widely in western countries that these eastern men are so inferior. That their citizens are not to be permitted to hold land and office in these highly favored western countries. Proud spirited allies of Great Britain, splendid soldiers, great ministers these men will not submit to have their beloved nation treated as inferior to others. There is danger, very great danger, of trouble. Recently you have read of the fight between the Japanese and American sailors in Japan. Let us pray that these matters may be settled amicably and that this earth may not soon be cursed with another war.

An event occurred in Siberia which may lead to war and is certainly most regrettable. Over three hundred Japs were surrounded by an overwhelming mass of Bolshevists. Their commander asked their allies, the Americans, to assist them stating that they were overpowered. The Americans refused to assist them and the Japs were all slaughtered. The excuse the American gives is that he refused to assist them because the Japs had shot Bolshevist women. Granting this, and considering what the Bolshevist women have been guilty of doing I cannot conceive how the Americans could stand by and see their allies slaughtered. The Americans I met had not one good word for either the Japanese, men or women. A bill has been introduced in the American senate to prevent leases being made to Japs. Should this bill pass it will so widen the present breach that I fear war will follow. It is this calamity, I think, that caused Lloyd George to say that fearful wars might still break out.

Burn and Bury People Alive

Bolshevik Atrocities Committed at Odessa — Chinamen as Executioners.

MARSEILLES, April 25—The steamer Souirah has arrived here from Odessa with 450 French civilian refugees on board.

Several of the repatriated men said that when they left Odessa terror reigned. In the carrying out of their maltreatment of the people, they declared, the Bolshevists had resorted to the use of Chinamen, the most savage of these people being used. It was asserted that man named Saviski, an engineer of Cronstadt, was slashed with knives all over his body and then compelled to sit on a pan of hot coals. He was burned to death in the presence of his wife, who later died from shock.

Other Chinamen, the repatriated men related, dug holes, in which land owners were burned alive. Other land owners were drowned, stones having been tied about their necks before they were thrown into the water. Any person suspected of anti-Bolshevik tendencies was shot down in the streets by the Chinese, it was declared.

'Fitz" is Welcomed Back To The "Tely"

Staff Tenders Dinner to Sports Editor Who Won Military Cross.

TORONTO, April 24—His colleagues on the staff of The Telegram tendered a complimentary dinner at the Walker House to Major James P. Fitzgerald, M.C., on the occasion of the resumption of his duties as sporting editor of the newspaper after distinguished service with the Canadian troops in France.

Messrs John R. Robinson, Irving E. Robertson, Percy Bratz, John F. Munro, Douglas Robertson and David Carey of the staff assured Major Fitzgerald—the ever popular "Fitz,"—of the delight of his co-workers at his winning the Military Cross, his safe return and the renewal of his relationships with The Telegram. Major Fitzgerald, who went overseas with the Sportmen's (180th) Battalion, replied with characteristic modesty.

"I Do Not Know Just What Is The Matter But I Seem To Be Losing My Grip"

"WELL, I know. You have been worrying too much until you have got your nervous system all run down."

"I could not help that. I guess you would worry, too, if you had all the troubles I have had."

"Perhaps. But I think I have learned a lesson. Worrying does not get you anywhere."

"Well, what am I to do?"

"If you will take my advice you will use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. That is what got my nervous system right when I had that breakdown a couple of years ago, and I have been talking it up ever since."

"How will it benefit me?"

"It will restore vigor to your nervous system. The trouble is now that your nerve force is at such a low ebb that your vital organs are slow and weak in action. You do not get the good of the food you eat, and for this reason you have no chance of gaining strength and vitality."

"But how long will I have to take this treatment?"

"If you could take a rest it would help some, but mark my words you will not be using the Nerve Food more than a week or two before you begin to see the benefits, and then you will not need me to encourage you in its use."

"I think I will follow your advice, for judging from what you say the Nerve Food is exactly what I need."

"You will not be sorry, for I have recommended it to scores of men in just such condition as you are to-day, and I know just what it will do."

"Thank you, old man, I only hope it will give me such energy and vitality as you have."

"It certainly will if you give it a fair chance."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

A LOVER OF CHILDREN

SOME ANECDOTES CONCERNING SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Although the Liberal Chieftain Had No Family of His Own He Was Always Devoted to the Little Ones and Many Characteristic Tales Are Told of How He Showed His Interest In Them.

THE story of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's life has been told many times in recent weeks, but one aspect of it has not received as much emphasis as should be accorded to it. Although the Old Chieftain had no children of his own, he was a great lover of little folks. Those who knew him best said that Sir Wilfrid was in a very real sense passionately fond of children. He relaxed to them, he loved them, and they loved him. Many are the stories told of his interest in them. Children seemed to get closer to "the Chief" than anyone else. There were times, in the stress of big events, when matters of policy were to be determined, when situations had to be gauged and met, when Sir Wilfrid seemed to shut himself behind an expressionless face to do his thinking. His friends and lieutenants sought counsel from him then without success. No premature intimations were forthcoming. He became to all associated with him a seeker—not a giver—of information. One left his presence, having gone for guidance, with the conviction that he had laid bare his whole mind and thought at the delicate prompting of the Chief's skillful interrogations, but realizing that the latter had communicated nothing.

For the little folk he always had an open door and an instant relaxation.

At the time of the long naval debate and Parliamentary embroglio, when the threat of closure was in the air and all the strategy of statecraft was being brought into play by both parties, a Liberal caucus waited anxiously one winter morning for the advent of the leader. Newspapermen who proceeded to the main entrance eagerly watching for his coming witnessed the septuagenarian spending the valuable moments prodding in the snow with his walking-stick and seeking to locate a "lost mit" of an all-alone baby girl, who was crying pathetically at her loss and the cold. It was only when the missing mitten was found and restored and the child had been comforted that Sir Wilfrid turned his attention to the waiting caucus and the problems of the moment.

Those who accompanied the then Prime Minister on his memorable tour of the west in the summer of 1910 will never forget an incident while he was speaking at Edmonton. So great was the crowd that had assembled in Alberta's capital that hot August afternoon to hear his message that all attempts to hold an indoor meeting were abandoned. Sir Wilfrid spoke from a balcony at the central corner of the main thoroughfare, and windows, balconies and streets were peopled with spectators. Suddenly in the midst of his speech he paused, and gazing over the seething mass of humanity, pointed to one of the upper windows in a block diagonally opposite to the balcony from which he spoke. A midget was seated alone on the ledge, swinging her feet over the street far below. Anxiously he inquired: "Is that little one safe?" Amid all the display and acclaim Sir Wilfrid's eye was on the child in danger.

One of the most charming revelations of Sir Wilfrid's thought for children and his understanding of them occurred on the same tour during a public reception at a temporary stand built upon a Manitoba prairie. An eight-year-old maid of the harvest field, with unadorned straw hat and bare feet, stood, like the publican of old, afar off. She looked on with wide, wondering eyes while a more fortunate little lady, in the fluffy, beribboned, spotless daintiness so dear to all daughters of Eve, be they big or little, gave the great man a beautiful bouquet of roses. She had seen him stoop and kiss her. Then she separated herself from the cheering crowd. She strayed to a spot on the prairie where she knew they grew. She gathered them herself, a little ill-assorted bunch of wild weed blossoms. Then she edged her way back through the throng. She had almost reached him as he was moving on, when a badged committeeman stopped her, and taking her by the sleeve of her patched print dress thrust her back. Tears sprang to her eyes.

For an instant the procession wavered. There was a break in the line. Sir Wilfrid turned. Unwittingly the little one found herself almost confronting him. Feverishly now she sought to squirm back into the oblivion of the crowd. But he had seen her. He stepped toward her, and the committeeman released his hold.

"Were you good enough to mean those flowers for me, little girl?" he asked, with a smile. She thrust them toward him, now half frightened.

He bowed and took them. He kissed her. Then he drew a sprig from the bunch and fastened it upon the lapel of his coat. And when the great man mounted his car and waved his hat to the cheering hundreds there was one happy little girl who feasted her eyes upon a faded wild weed blossom still drooping on his breast.

Sir Wilfrid never lost a chance to "make up" to the little folk. He travelled on the first passenger train over the National Transcontinental from Fort William to Winnipeg when construction gangs were still at work and the primitive condition of the country caused the workmen to be housed in log and frame shanties along the line, and took a remarkable interest in the several children who had accompanied their pioneer parents to the wild and picturesque outposts of coming civilization. He was the earliest riser on the train, and one morning, when the call for breakfast found him missing, there was some anxiety as to whether he had lost his way in an early morning walk through the bush. "No need for worry," volunteered Mr. Fred F. Pardee, the Chief Liberal Whip, who knew his Chief well; "you'll likely find him outside somewhere with the youngsters," and Mr. Pardee was right. Sir Wilfrid was "playing catch" with a sturdy four-year-old behind a nearby shanty.

One day as the train lay in a switch near Humboldt a boy mounted the steps with a new birthday present, and explained that he wanted to take his first picture of "Mister Laurier." A few moments later the tall figure was standing patiently on the track till the juvenile photographer "got it right." The little fellow secured first-hand what scores of correspondents and local photographers had for weeks been struggling with crowds and erecting pedestals to obtain.

The devotion of the habitant of rural Quebec to Sir Wilfrid Laurier was well illustrated by an incident during the campaign of 1911. The Liberal leader was leaving Bonaventure station, in Montreal, very early one morning to proceed, via Coteau, to accept the nomination for Soulanges. At the station he passed a little girl, the daughter of a basket-laden woman, on her way to market. He stopped to pat the child's head and exchange a greeting.

"Qui est l'homme?" (Who is the man?) asked the astonished mother of a bystander.

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier," replied one of the group of newspapermen nearby.

The woman's face was a picture. "En verite?" (Is that true?) she persisted, turning from one to another for confirmation.

When she was convinced she ran after the departing figure and stroked the sleeve of his coat as if it were something holy. Sir Wilfrid turned and shook her hand, ere the poor woman fled in confusion.

During one campaign, when the Ultramontanes were bitterly attacking the Liberal leader, an excited supporter telegraphed from a remote constituency in Quebec: "Reports in circulation that you have never had any of your children baptized by church. Very damaging to party. Telegraph me if untrue."

Sir Wilfrid's reply was characteristic: "Report unfortunately quite true. I never had a child."

MAY HARNESS TIDES.

Some Possibilities Seen In the Bay of Fundy.

With the return of peace it is probable that there will be a resumption of the attempt to harness the tides at Cape Split on the Minas Channel, a branch of the Bay of Fundy, where it is estimated there can be made available 33,000,000 kilowatt hours per annum. The project was first undertaken several years ago by Dr. George B. Cutten, a graduate of Yale University, and who is president of Acadia College, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, and Prof. R. P. Clarkson, an American professor of engineering at Acadia. It has been endorsed, both from the engineering and commercial standpoints, by a New York firm of consulting engineers, whose representatives were on the ground for some four months.

At the base of Cape Split the tide runs with remarkable rapidity and for the greater part of the year the rise is from 35 to 45 feet. The method to be employed in harnessing this tidal race is the utilization of the current motor invented by Prof. Clarkson, which was tested on the Conestoga river last year by Prof. C. M. Allen, chairman of the Waterwheel Testing Committee of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The motors are to be installed first between the bluff at Cape Split and a natural rock pier which rises from the water 400 feet or so from shore.

"The motors which can thus be first installed," the engineers report, "will give an amount of primary power sufficient to afford, for the first development, a delivery at the switchboard in the power house of electrical current of 5,000 electrical horsepower continuous 24-hour power, or such other distribution of this power as the market demand may require." On the top of the bluff a large reservoir is to be made and water elevated to it by the power from the current motors. At the foot of the bluff a power house will be built on the shore of the bay, equipped with hydraulic turbines actuated by water brought from the reservoir by penstocks. The head will be 325 feet.

Japanese Airmen for Italy.

Japanese military flyers accompanied by mechanical workmen, will soon be sent to Italy. The question of sending Japanese airmen to that country has long been considered by the war office. All negotiations concerning the question with the Italian government having recently been concluded, the war office has issued a note to the airmen and workmen who have volunteered, assuring them of the decision. At first twenty airmen were expected to be sent, but the number has been reduced to fourteen or fifteen.

Guns Abandoned By the Bolsheviki

LONDON, April 25—Large quantities of material were abandoned by the Bolsheviki when they were driven out of Bolshie Ozerki recently, according to the report of Major-General Edmond Ironside, British commander-in-chief of the Archangel front regarding the operation. His report continues:

"We captured two field guns, one thousand rounds of three inch ammunition and some prisoners. The spirit of our troops taking part was excellent, and they have done exceedingly well.

Regarding the general situatin, Gen Ironside says:

"Deserters from the Bolshevik forces have joined our own and the Russian troops. They openly show their hatred for the Bolsheviki and bear witness to the hard conditions of service. This has done more than anything else to consolidate the new Russian army."

General Ironsides in his report mentions especially a battalion of Royal Scots with the North Russian force as having the hardest time of any troops in the Archangel sector, with the heaviest casualties, but as displaying high morale throughout and never showing any sign of being dispirited.

POTATOES—SEED AND TIME OF PLANTING

(Experimental Farm Note)

The yield of potatoes throughout Canada would be very much increased if everyone who grew potatoes used seed of the strongest vitality, free from disease. While the variety used is important, the quality of the seed often makes much more difference in the yield than the variety.

Seed potatoes from a crop which grew vigorously until the tops were cut down by frost in autumn usually give much better returns than those from a crop where the tops dried up in the middle of summer. There are parts of Canada where the former conditions obtain, as a rule, and it is from such places that the most vigorous seeds is usually obtained.

In 1918 the best seed of the Green Mountain potato yielded at the rate of 387 bushels per acre while the poorest seed yielded only 57 bushels per acre at Ottawa. In the case of the Irish Cobbler, the best seed yielded at the rate of 616 bushels per acre while poor seed yielded only 26 bushels per acre, a remarkable difference. Just as striking differences have been obtained in other years.

Each grower of potatoes should aim to have af ull stand of plants in the field and to have every plant a vigorous and healthy one. There is often a large proportion of misses in potato fields and a still larger proportion of weak and diseased plants which lessen the yield enormously.

Experiments have been tried in different parts of Canada to determine the best time to plant potatoes for highest yields, and from these experiments and the experience of the best growers, the following dates are suggested as being the best:—Prince Edward Island, June 1-7; Nova Scotia, June, 1-15; New Brunswick, June 1-15; Quebec, May 15 to June 15, depending on what part of the province; Manitoba, May 10-15; Saskatchewan, May, 10-24; Alberta, May 10-24; British Columbia, April 1 to May 15, depending on what part of the province. The tendency has been in most places in Canada to plant later than is desirable for highest yields. From results obtained, thef ollowing general recommendation is made:—

Where the spring is early and autumn frosts early, plant early. Where the spring is early and summers are dry, plant early. Where the spring is late and the autumn frosts are late, early planting is not so important. Where the spring is early and autumn frosts are early, plant as soon as soil is dry enough.

BLOOMS; BON-BONS; LIMOUSINE TO TEMPT MAID INTO SERVICE

The "maid problem" has reached a terrifically acute stage, both in New York and New Jersey, and very high wages have been offered to persons willing to grace a household establishment with their services. But, so far as is known, this advertisement, which appears in The Times of Montclair, N.J., outbids all others in inducements offered:

"Wanted—Lady to assist in housework. Must be stylish; fingers well manicured. Willing to have breakfast served in bel. No washing, no cooking, no cleaning, no sweeping or dusting. Flowers and bon-bons provided. Salary or stipend$ 200 a month. Limousine will call."

Most persons in Montclair think the advertisement was inserted my a humorous person trying to have some amusement out of the situation, but many of the afflicted are quite prepared to believe it a serious attempt to obtain a maid. So far there have been no answers.

Germans Are Guilty On 32 Indictments

PARIS, April 25—The Temps publishes in detail the report of the commission on responsibility for the war. This report was presented some time ago, but the Council of Four has since taken action differing from the original draft.

The report, as published, contains four chapters. The first reviews the history of the origin of the war, and formally concludes that Germany and Austria-Hungary were responsible. The second presents thirty-two indictments for violation of the laws and customs of war, and concludes with the statement that the Central Empires, Turkey and Bulgaria, conducted the war by "barbarous and illegitimate methods."

The third declares that all persons belonging to enemy countries, however high their station, may be objects of judicial prosecution. The fourth demands the constitution of a high tribunal to judge crimes committed during the war, without, however, excluding competent tribunals of the different nations from acting in cases not coming under the jurisdiction of national courts.

WANTS THE "Y" AT HOME

The future of the "Y" in the estimation of many of the soldiers is proven by many incidents. An officer declared that he had been to the Y. M. C. A. only once before the war; from now on he was a strong supporter. His first real touch of it came at Vimy Ridge.

In a Belgian town the other day a Canadian came to a "Y" officer and put into words the thing that is troubling many a soldier about to return to Canada.

"My country home," he said, "is as dead as this place. Why can't you come out and build a hut like this, with a Y. M. C. A. program, and make life worth living for us? I don't believe I can stick it in that quiet place in old Canada again."

It is percisely such a program in the quiet places beyond the cities that is the ambition, the hope, of the Y. M.C.A. in its coming campaign for funds. If a million dollars will make these places "worth living it" it is the best investment Canada ever made.

Home in Halifax roofed with Brantford Asphalt Slates

A handsome roof that defies the weather

An added touch of beauty to any house is a roof of Brantford Asphalt Slates, which are in soft, harmonious shades of reddish brown, and dark green. The colors are permanent and unfadeable, being the natural shades of the slate just as it is taken out of the quarries.

It will also prove a very economical roof, because Brantford Asphalt Slates do not split, get loose, absorb water or rot. They are strongly fire-resistant and are classified as non-combustible by the fire insurance companies, and allowed to be used in cities where the most rigid fire-prevention By-laws are in force.

Brantford Asphalt Slates are very moderate in cost. The regular size of the slates and their pliability make them easily and quickly laid, thus saving time and cost of labor. Being made of high grade felt saturated and coated with asphalt, and with a surface of crushed slate, they make a roof that defies the elements and is a permanent part of the building, just like the walls and the foundation.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are being used more extensively every year for city, country and summer homes, churches, golf clubs, stores, garages, and wherever an artistic effect is desired on a pitch roof.

If you are going to do any building this year or have an old roof that needs replacing, it will be to your advantage to investigate Brantford Asphalt Slates.

If I Had Known—

By
MAY BELLEVILLE BROWN

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Why don't you ask Carol Thurston to join your Merrymakers?" Aunt Luretta Fox asked Marianna Marks. "She's as young as a lot of your members, and she's never been in anything but the Ladies' Aid and the Patriotic Sisters."

"No, indeed," replied Marianna, with a toss of her auburn head. "She'll have to stay with the Ladies' Aid or else organize a League of Old Maids. She was born one anyway."

"Stuff and nonsense!" exploded Aunt Luretta. "Carol never had a chance. Her mother made her into an old woman before she was through with her teething ring. We older women can't help her, but she might catch the habit of being young from you."

"The Merrymakers wasn't organized to do missionary work!" sniffed Marianna, as she flounced away.

Carol felt a bit wistful when word of the Merrymakers reached her. It was the first organization in Siloam Center which aimed to combine pleasure with profit and work. But she was very busy just then, as the Ladies' Aid was arranging a living calendar, and the Patriotic Sisters struggling to put a bust of Lincoln on the public library. "You are so much younger than the rest of us was the stock phrase which urged her on to effort in these societies.

Carol was thirty-two. True, that should not be considered old, but she had been the child of age, and whatever her masterful mother had thought or read or been, Carol shared with her. The only appreciable difference made in her life by the death of her mother was that all of Mrs. Thurston's old friends felt free to levy upon the daughter's time.

"The Merrymakers gave a progressive dinner last night." Aunt Luretta was making a morning call upon Carol. "You know—started with soup, that was at Fanny Bonner's, and had one thing at each house until they wound up with ice cream and cake at Marianna's."

Carol, a pretty picture in her pale blue chambray, as she sat peeling peaches on her shady back porch, flushed a bit.

"They seemed to be having a good time when they passed here," she replied, adding, to turn the subject, "We have only five dollars more to raise for our Lincoln bust, Aunt Luretta."

"Is that so?" Aunt Luretta asked absently. "They say that Marianna has her eye on Edward Lindsay, the new lawyer, and that he has his eye on the nomination for congress from this district. I fancy that Marianna would admire running in and out of the White House and meeting all the way-up folks down at Washington."

"Marianna is real good-looking," vouchsafed Carol, half indifferently dropping a peach in the blue bowl beside her.

"Mph! If you like red hair and as bossy a way as ever was!" sniffed Aunt Luretta. "One thing, she's got enough brass to tell the president and all of congress how this government ought to be run. But I am forgetting my errand. Old Mr. Banks is worrying about the Harvest Home entertainment. You know, it's his tenth year as superintendent, and he's about out of ideas, besides being so old, so he wants help with the Sunday school. Marianna won't let the Merrymakers take it up—too poky, she says. So the Ladies' Aid just had to promise to help, and when we talked it over we decided, since we were all so busy and you being so much younger than the rest of us—"

Carol dropped the peach she was peeling and groaned.

"Aunt Luretta!" she rebelled. "The next time a Ladies' Aid or a Patriotic Sister says that to me, just to get me to do what she doesn't want to do herself, I'll—I'll have my front teeth pulled and take to crutches and bandages! I might as well, for all the 'being younger' has ever brought me, except hard work."

"Why, Carol!" stammered Aunt Luretta. "I didn't—why, nobody thought—you always—"

"Yes," admitted Carol, dully, as she resumed her work. "I always have and I suppose I always will. I didn't mean to fly off—only the monotony of things gets on my nerves. I will be at the church—when did you say?—Thursday evening? Tell Mr. Banks to expect me."

Thursday evening was sultry with a fine choking dust suspended in the air. It was the last parched effort of summer to assert its reign, and Carol walked with lagging steps, remembering the hammock under her shady arbor, but the Ladies' Aid had promised Mr. Banks her help. She knew that it would mean many hot evenings drilling restless children and decorating the church.

An automobile passed her with Edward Lindsay at the wheel. It shot ahead to the church door and stopped to let out a passenger, and Aunt Luretta had told her that he was to take Marianna Marks out to Crystal Spring that evening.

There was every probability that Edward Lindsay, however often he might meet Carol Thurston, would never take time to look at her with the seeing eye, but fate took a hand, with one of those happenings which wreck the nerves of a driver and which happen so often that the tale is almost too hackneyed to repeat.

Little Joy Nelson, who lived next door to Carol and who worshiped in her shadow, espied her in front of the church, and darted across the street, crying, "Miss Carol! Miss Carol! Miss Carol!" Just as the engine clashed and the wheels moved, the child rushed in front of the car, halting, for a paralyzing moment, in the teeth of danger. Lindsay reversed, with a sickening sense that the act was futile. Then a slender figure stooped within his vision, and dragged the little body free of the wheel, which stopped the next second, just where the child had halted.

Then white and panting, Lindsay faced a blue dimity angel of deliverance, herself breathing a little hurriedly, as she stood with her arm about the frightened child.

"I can never thank you enough!" he stammered. "But you took a risk—the car might have struck you, too, miss—"

Carol looked gravely up into his face—it was a likable face, with cleancut features, steady gray eyes, and dark hair, graying a bit at the edges.

"I am Carol Thurston," she replied simply. "Joy is my little neighbor and I would take a greater risk than that for her, any time."

"I am Edward Lindsay," he informed her. "Won't you let me take you both to your destination?"

"We are here already," smiled Carol. "I am to help Mr. Banks prepare for our annual harvest home, and Joy is one of the Sunday school pupils."

Edward Lindsay lingered. The drive to Crystal Spring, in Marianna Marks' bracing company, did not allure. Just now, as he looked at the quiet young woman before him, with her smooth blond braids wound about her head, and her blue eyes both grave and smiling, he felt a sudden desire to help Mr. Banks.

"I used to be pretty good at that sort of thing," he suggested. "College theatricals, you know, and then I taught school for three or four years. I would be glad to help Mr. Banks sometime—if you—if he needs me. I shall ask him tomorrow."

And when Siloam Center gathered for the harvest home, to exclaim over the decorations and applaud the performers, no one knew the moving force back of it all; Carol, her hair loosened, her cheeks flushed, as she hurried about behind the scenes, soothing nervous children, encouraging, promoting, adjusting costumes; and Lindsay, bracing small boys weak from stage fright, and quieting mischievous ones.

That is, no one knew it until Mr. Banks made his annual speech, just before the last chorus. No one had ever listened to it, but tonight as he closed his acknowledgments, attention was breathless.

"In my years of service, I may say that this has been our most satisfactory entertainment, and I consider it due entirely to my assistants, Miss Carol Thurston and Mr. Edward Lindsay."

Siloam Center was pricked as by an electric needle by the innocent linking of these two names.

"They have not missed one evening since the rehearsals began," droned the speaker, "and they have furnished many ideas, which they carried out in training. Also, they planned and arranged the decorations, which have so beautified our auditorium, giving freely of both time and labor."

That was as far as any of the Merrymakers, at least, heard the speech.

"And Mr. Banks asked us to help him first!" gasped Fanny Bonner.

"If I had known—" Marianna Marks' usually crisp voice trailed off flabbily.

Out in the deserted classroom, unknowing of the sensation which had been created in the auditorium, Carol was gasping.

"If I had known!"

"If I had known," laughed Edward Lindsay, softly and fondly, as he held her hands, "that this old town held such a perfect woman—such a blessed wife as you will be—"

"If I had known," jubilated Aunt Luretta to Carol, later, "I couldn't have planned it better myself!"

Dr. Cody told Toronto Faculty of Education that soldiers would make good teachers.

Strike of Liverpool workers was settled last night and shipping will move again.

Then It Seemed Plainer.

While waiting for a train home from the city one night Jones grew restless, and looked about for something interesting. His eyes fell upon a slot machine, and he promptly inserted a penny.

"I have often wondered," he remarked aloud, in the manner of all truly thoughtful men, "where the profits on these machines—"

Here he grasped the handle with a firm and masterful grip.

"Where the profit on these affairs—"

So saying he shook the machine.

"I have often wondered," he continued, giving it another vigorous shake, "where the profit— Hang the thing!"

Then one of the porters came up and told him that the machine was out of order, and Jones realized at last where part of the profit came from!

Bull Bulletin.

Henry Clews, the New York banker, tells a good story on a broker friend who was advised by his physician to spend a few weeks in the West.

For some time the broker had been affected by a nagging fever, which the doctor thought would disappear under the influence of a dry climate.

The physician, desiring to keep in touch with his patient, suggested that the latter should telegraph him a daily record of his temperature, taken morning and evening. To this the broker agreed, and at the end of the first day in the West, he sent the following telegram:

"Temperature bully. Opened 97, closed 101!"

How to Recognize and Avoid Kidney or Bladder Troubles

Medical Research has Proven that Diseases Arising from Congested Kidneys Can be Cured if Detected in Time

The Symptoms of These Afflictions Should be Understood and Recognized

Kidney and Bladder complaints are among the most common afflictions that the human body is heir to. Thousands of people suffer for years with pains in the back, swollen joints or difficult urination, and never once try to rid themselves of their agonies—because they don't understand the cause, nor seat of their trouble.

Perhaps the best-known diseases resulting from Kidney derangements are Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Inflammation of the Bladder, Stone and Gravel. These diseases are all the result of deranged kidney action, and can be cured only if the kidneys are restored to perform their proper function of cleansing the blood—before the trouble becomes chronic.

THE KIDNEYS AND THEIR FUNCTION.

The Kidneys are classified among the most vital organs of the body; and the importance of taking the greatest care of them—cannot be accentuated too strongly.

If the health of the body is to be maintained, every effort must be made to keep these delicate organs in such perfect condition that they will perform their proper function with regularity and ease.

The duty of the Kidneys is to filter the blood and keep it freed from the poisonous wastage that is being constantly thrown off by the body and collected up by the blood stream. The Kidneys—two in number—are situated just over the hips in the small of the back. Each Kidney is composed of a mass of fine spongy tissues that are fed by a multitude of minute blood vessels.

These blood vessels are so small that they separate the blood into thin thread-like streams, and make it easy for it to filter through the tissues. This filtering process removes the impurities and waste matter.

You can readily understand, then, that when for any reason at all, the Kidneys become congested and due to this congestion fail to filter the uric acid and other impurities from the blood, trouble starts. All the poisons that otherwise would have been expelled from the body now remain in the blood stream and circulate through the system again. In a short time these impurities lodge in joints and muscles, setting up infection and fostering disease. Poisoning of the blood stream is the direct cause of most suffering to-day. We have studied the cause of these afflictions, let us go further and learn how to detect them before they get a fatal grip on the system.

THE SYMPTOMS.

The first evidences of poison in the blood are headaches, followed by dizziness, and a general feeling of lassitude. The affected person feels drowsy, dopy and listless. This state is followed by the chief danger signal,—that pain in the back—when it comes—be warned, for your health is in danger. If this pain in the back is allowed to continue, Painful Urination and Brick Dust Deposits will likely follow. With some people the joints and ankles begin to swell, and evidences of Rheumatism are noticeable.

Kidney troubles soon tell upon the appearance,—a gradual wasting away is noticed, the skin becomes sallow and drawn, dark circles begin to appear under the eyes, while deep wrinkles mar the features, and the whole aspect of the person is one of depression and lifelessness.

The symptoms stated above are the ones most generally noticed; there are others. Nature gives plenty of warning that she is in trouble. It is for you to heed her signals of distress and assist her in remedying the defect. If you don't—you suffer—for kidney derangements soon change to chronic complaints, and chronic complaints bring suffering untold.

THE REMEDY.

On reading the foregoing you will readily understand that in order to relieve any kidney disease the cause must first be removed,—that is exactly what Gin Pills are made for—and do.

Gin Pills act directly upon the kidneys to relieve the congestion and restore them to their previous state of health. Once the kidneys are performing their function properly, the blood is purified and the infection removed by Nature itself—that is, providing you deal with the cause as soon as the symptoms appear. Don't wait and trust that time or good luck will restore your kidneys to their former healthy condition. A few Gin Pills as prevention are worth many dollars of cure.

There is the point. Don't hesitate and put off till to-morrow. Once your kidneys are out of order, you must get them into proper shape again—or fatal results will surely follow. Stick to the tried and proven remedy, Gin Pills. They have relieved thousands of others. They will do the same for you.

You can buy them anywhere for 50c a box, or if you prefer, write to us and we will send you a sample box of Gin Pills free. A trial will soon convince you that Gin Pills remedy Kidney and Bladder troubles.

RAIN SPOILED NEW HAT

Weeks of thought and study of fashion's pages, consultations with her milliner and try-ons finally produced a charming creation. She hid it jealously during the self-denial weeks, her eyes sparkling at the thought of standing proud during the singing of an anthem on Easter morning, the envy of all.

But it rained.

The poor dear entered the church with every delicately fashioned imitation flower an eavetrough, and the rim a watershed.

When service was over an hour later a kind sun smiled whereupo Milady jerked out: "If it hadn't been for that beastly change of time I would have come to church under God's smiling sun. That's what comes of interfering with God's time."

Is Your Family Sufficiently Protected?

THE income on $10,000 invested at six per cent. amounts to $1.64 per day. The man who carries that amount of insurance realizes that he is not by any means providing, by means of insurance, too much income for his family in the event of his death.

What of those who have no protection at all? What of those who have but a nominal amount?

If you are carrying less than $10,000 insurance, let the following table tell you the income available to your family should the proceeds of your policy be invested at 6 per cent.

Amount of Policy	Daily Income	Amount of Policy	Daily Income
$1000	$0.16	$5000	$0.82
2000	.33	7000	1.15
2500	.41	7500	1.23
3000	.49	10000	1.64
4000	.65

If the proceeds of your policy were not invested, ask yourself how many years would the money keep your family?

Are these questions not of vital importance to the man who is concerned for the future welfare of his dependents? Remember that you, while in possession of health, strength and earning capacity, are responsible for your family's future.

Jesus Conception of The Church

By Rev. Wm. Harris Wallace
Pastor Victoria Baptist Church

"And I say unto Thee, that thou are Peter and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."—Matt. 16:18.

Jesus has just been asking the disciples what men say of Him and also what they themselves say. Peter makes the great confession—"Thou are the Christ, the Son of the Living God."—Recall what Jesus said in response: "Blessed art thou Simon Barjona for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but My Father, which is in Heaven." It is then that Jesus applies our text, and utters the name of Peter because of its significance and meaning—a stone or rock—"Thou art Petros and upon this Petro I will build my church: and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." It is a mistake to put Peter in the place of Christ, when both Peter and Paul declare that our Lord is the chief corner stone upon which the church is built. The Apostles had equal authority in the early church and Paul was the greatest of them all, but not in his own eyes. Who then was Peter and who then was Paul? but ministers by whom the early Christians believed.

CHRIST'S REGARD FOR HIS

I will build my church? It seems foolish and absurd for some people to have regard for Jesus, but not for the church, if they have little respect for His church, they have little or no respect for Him for the church if the body of Christ. Jesus regards the church as His Bride, and in the meantime he is absent until the Bride is made ready to meet Him when he comes again. So the present work of Christ is the building of His church. Jessu and His gospel must be preached among all nations that people everywhere may have the opportunity of knowing Him and confessing Him as Peter did and he added to the church.

The real work of building the church of Christ is a mighty spiritual work under the Lordship of Christ; and believers all over the world are invited to be co-workers with the Master. The Lord is with His people by His Spirit, speaking to this man and that man saying: "Go here or go there," "Do this or do that" without any confusion or noise. It is well to recall how God put His people to work in the building of the Temple of Jerusalem. We read: "There was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house while it was in building. This is true of the building of character as to the church.

There is the personal responsibility of each doing his best in building the church of Christ. It is a great work and can only be done by each "doing his bit." As in the building of the walls of Jerusalem—"each man built over against his house," and the secret of success was in this. "Each man had a mind to work." The people were then actuated by high and holy motives—it was for the good of Jerusalem and the honor of Jehovah For a man to be chosen by Christ to be a living stone in the house of God is a great honor. Called to visit the Fatherless and keep himself unspotted from the world.

WHAT IS THE CHURCH DOING TO-DAY?

The Lord gave his disciples a commission before he left them: "Go preach my Gospel among all nation." We know what is being done to-day, and in spite of frequent over-lapping the church is entering the open doors of every land and telling the message of a Saviour's love to all nations. Men and women are offering themselves to the Lord Who redeemed them for service and sacrifice. There is nothing in all the wonderful stories of the great war to surpass the heroism of the missionaries of the cross. Think of David Livingstone and John G. Paton; also "Mary Glessor of Calabar," and "The Loneliest Woman in Africa," and a host of other too numing the good fight of faith, seeing Him erosu to mention. They all died fight who is invisible. Their rewards shall be in His Kingdom.
ebnar xH vexv e TOla abolo

The Master also gave definite commands and ordinances to be observed: "Go baptise in My name," "This do in remembrance of me" "Love One Another." The Church with all its faults and limitations is alone in the observance of all these. It also maintains services—for public worship in every organized community—of preaching, praise and prayer. No one can calculate or tabulate the moral and spiritual benefit derived from these services. The ministry of the Gospel of Christ is being maintained today, worthily, or unworthily, under very trying conditions. In any case the minister of Christ whatever his position, knows what is expected of him—faithfulness until the Lord's return. The church of Christ to be true to Christ and the New Testament teaching must stand for an Evangelical Ministry, regenerate membership, religious liberty, Christion equality and Biblical authority.

When the church stands for these things results are observed in every community and a sense of God is kept alive in the minds of the people. One cannot look upon a church building without thinking of God; also a sense of devotion to God and high moral ideals are maintained by the church. All moral movements for the good of the country and the world find their chief inspiration in the Church of Christ. The church is a school for the benefit of Christian characters and for organized work in the community. The members of the local church fulfil the ideal of Christ for them when they conform to His teaching and spirit, they become the "Salt of the Earth and the light of the world." Think for a moment what our community and country would be without the church of Christ. What would life, home or business be without the church. Yet many men do not care for the chruch accept and depend upon the benefits which the church gives in every community, and never say even "thank you." Let us remember the attitude and spirit of Jesus toward the religion and church of His day—as His custom was He went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath Day, He went to the temple and even sought to reform it by driving out the money changers and maintain it as the House of Prayer. All true followers of Jesus should have high regard for the church of Christ and be assured of its final triumph: "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Rheumatism Can Be Cured

The Trouble Is Rooted in the Blood and Can Only Be Cured Through the Blood

In the days of our grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. Medical science did not understand the trouble—did not know that it was rooted in the blood. It was thought that rheumatism was the effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with linaments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble. In those days there were thousands of rheumatic cripples Now medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood and that with good, rich, red blood any man of any age can defy the trouble. Rheumatism can be cured by killing the poison in the blood which causes it. For this purpose the blood making, blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. In proof of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to cure this trouble, Miss Jennie Stockdale, Hall's Bridge, Ont., says: "Two winters ago I was taken with a bad attack of rheumatism, and was in bed for over two months, most of which time I could not sleep or enjoy rest day or night. The trouble also affected my nerves, which were very bad. I tried several remedies but did not get any help from them, and then, acting on the advice of a friend, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon felt that the pills were helping me, and after taking eight boxes I am glad to say I was able to go about again as usual, and am now enjoying the best of health with plenty of good, rich blood which makes me feel like an altogether different person. I earnestly advise those suffering from rheumatism, nervousness and kindred troubles not to delay using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as, like myself, I am sure they will find a cure through their use."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a boxe or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEW YORK DWELLER MUST BUY THE HOUSE OR GET OUT

The man who owns his house to-day is fortunate. The man who holds his house by grace of a landlord is likely to be a man without a home—unless he buys. he situation has reached an acute stage, approaching the first of May, in all parts of the city and its suburbs. The tenants of small houses must either buy or get out.

Never before in the memory of the real estate experts has the homeless house or apartment seeker been such a drug on the market. Thousands of tenants are buying the houses which they occupy in order to keep a roof over their heads. Those who cannot buy are politely but firmly requested by the owners to vacate to make way for a purchaser. The unfortunate woh is turned out is the exception if he finds a place for himself and the members of his family to lay their heads.

ly more fortunate, as they have to face staggering increases in rentals. According to the real estate brokers the Sunday crowds looking for "rents" in Brooklyn, Queens and the Bronx as well as the suburbs of oLng sland, have nearly assumed the proportions of "Old Home Week" celebration.

A Maxwell Grows Better the More You Drive It

THAT is the test of anything good. The more you use a good watch the better it runs. The older your friends grow the better you like them.

And nothing is more pat on a Maxwell than this.

Hardly a day goes by that some Maxwell owner doesn't take his pen in hand and write that he is now passing a mark of 30,000 miles or 20,000, or 50,000.

To purchase such a man's Maxwell from him would be like trying to buy an heirloom from a rich man.

But these Maxwells of today are far better cars than those of yesterday.

For it is the policy of the Maxwell Motor Company to keep on building and building on the original chassis plan set down 5 years ago.

300,000 Maxwells have been built on this program.

1000 refinements have been made since the first car was built.

Each new Maxwell is better than yesterday's.

For doing one thing always results in doing it well.

This Maxwell you see today is so vastly improved in appearance that you may think it a new model.

But it isn't. Just a better looking Maxwell. And a better car.

The lower the grade of gas the easier it is for a Hot Spot Chalmers

THE great engineers of the automobile industry are discussing nowadays the low grade gas situation more often than the number of cylinders a car should have.

Not long ago one of them said that automobile engines would have to be redesigned to use the inferior gas of today.

This the Chalmers engineers did when they built into the great Chalmers engine the now famous Hot Spot and Ram's-horn manifold.

These two devices convert low grade gas into high power.

For any engineer will tell you there are more thermal units or power in a gallon of low grade kerosene gas than there is in a high test gas.

The Hot Spot puts the gas in shape for power results. It breaks up into tiny vapor molecules the gas—so fine that it really becomes "dry."

Then the Ram's-horn drives it to the cylinders by the quickest route ever devised and when the explosions come there is so little power to escape through the exhaust as to be well nigh negligible.

One short ride in a present-day Chalmers will tell you the story far more eloquently than the English language can express it.

Richmond Hill Woman Is 114 Years Old

Mrs. Susannah Maxwell Believed to Be Oldest Living Resident of the World.

In Ireland there is an ancient lady who was recently reported in London papers as having celebrated her 113th birthday.

In Richmond Hill, near Toronto, there lives Susannah Maxwell, a colored lady, and her age is 114 years. In unknown China, far Tibet, or Africa, there may be an older human being, but in the civilized world her friends believe she is the oldest.

For the past year and a half Mrs. Maxwell has not been getting around as actively as she used to. She has a "bad" leg, but with the assistance of her daughter, Miss Matilda Maxwell, can get around the house quite easily. Until a year ago she was a familiar figure on the streets, and regularly attended the Presbyterian church.

Born in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, on March 10, 1805, both parents died when she was very young and she was obliged to work hard all her life. She was taken into the family of Mrs. Harpen—long since dead—and left her care when eighteen years old.

Her recollections of early life are much more clear than the events after her marriage. Details of her childhood she remembers with great correctness. She escaped slavery in Pennsylvania, but when the American Civil War of 1861 assumed ugly proportions her husband secretly rushed her and his family up to Canada.

They remained in Toronto a short time and then moved up to Richmond Hill; the family then consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell and five children. Times were very hard and the husband died in Hamilton. Mrs. Maxwell said it was possible in Richmond Hill to earn a York shilling a day (only 12 1-2 cents) but that over in the second concession, Markham, she could earn 50 cents a day and food. Her children were not strong, and four out of the five passed away.

Mrs. Maxwell can well remember when Lincoln was president, but never saw him. She has lived in the reign of six British sovereigns.

At the time of the war of 1812 she was seven years old, but her only memory of this is that there was a fight on somewhere. When Waterloo was fought this lady was a child of ten years, but this fight she does not recollect. When Upper and Lower Canada were riven in rebellion in 1837, Mrs. Maxwell was a woman of 37 years and at Confederation was 62, near the three score an ten mark set aside for the average life of a human being.

Fourteen years ago she celebrated her 100th birthday! Richmond Hill on that occasion gave a reception in her honor in the Presbyterian Church.

She has seen generations after generations grow from childhood into old age in Richmond Hill and the oldest inhabitants remember her as an old woman growing old.

Other very old residents of the old Yonge street village can remember her as far back as they can re- and a deep interest is taken in her as a natural result.

Although there are no documents to prove that she was born in 1805 her remembrance of the reign of King George III, the concurrence of her story, the statements of some of the oldest inhabitants of Richmond Hill and last but not least her absolute trustworthy character, leave not a trace of doubt in one's mind that this very aged lady is really 114 years of age.

Grave Situation, Is London View Of Wilson's Note

LONDON, April 25—"A Thunderbolt," "A Bombshell," "An Appeal to Caesar," and othe descriptive expressions are used by the London newspapers in connection with President Wilson's declaration on the Italion situation. The President's step is treated as dramatic development at the Peace Conference by most of the journals. Apparently halted temporarily by astonishment, some newspapers refrain from making any comment.

CREATES SERIOUS SITUATION

Everywhere Mr. Wilson's action is regarded as having created a most serious situation, the unfolding of which will be watched with anxiety and interest. Such editorials as appear were manifestly written with an eye to Italy's possible withdrawal from the conference. Premier Orlando's announcement of his decision to quit Paris had not reached London when the papers were published.

Opinions as to Mr. Wilson's statement and Italy's attitude vary. The Graphic, while disclaiming any hostility to Italy, refers to her "obdurate attitude" and advocates the Croatian claims to Fiume. It heads its news columns with the caption "Italy Jeopardizes Peace."

The Chronicle places over the news from the Peace Conference the head: "Wilson's stirring appeal for small nations," but is editorially perturbed. Without opposing President Wilson it calls his action "a strong step and a momentous innovation." The editorial takes a sympathetic attitude towards Italy's position, although it is admitted the issue is one upon which opinions can be honestly held.

"Mr. Wilson's appeal from the diplomatic table to the general public may at first sight commend itself as consonant with democratic statesmanship," the editorial reads.

"The result in making an exception in Italy's case to past secrecy is to create a 'danger for the whole League of Nations,'" which the newspaper adds, may, if the Italians withdraw, "find its existence virtually terminated before it is begun."

CALLS IT BREAKING POINT

The Daily News under the heading: "The breaking point," calls attention to the grave crisis.

A conviction that President Wilson would never have taken such a step except as a last resource after the failure of all private negotiations is voiced by the Express. "It would be idle to speculate on what will follow," the newspaper says. "The two antagonistic principles which provide more or less veiled conflict throughout the deliberations of the conference are now met in a death grapple. One or the other must yield and the defeat of either will, in all probability be final. If Mr. Wilson's principles prevail, all claims such as those Italy is now advancing must be abandoned permanently. If, on the other hand, Premier Orlandos claims are recognized, then there is an end to the principle of self-determination everywhere.

The Express declares the situation is very serious, but maintains that in questions which threaten the conference with disaster, "the press and public have no power to give any sort of judgment." It urges the British to blindly and uninterruptedly support Premier Lloyd George as the nation's representative.

SET YOUR MIND ON GETTING $50 GOVERNMENT BOND

Weary not in well doing is good advice to those who have bought War Savings Stamp. To buy one and stop at that will not benefit very much either themselves or the country. The chief benefit lies in continuing to buy these Stamps.

Keep the $50 Government bond in mind: In buying War Savings and Thrift Stamps set this up as an objective and hang to it. It matters not whether it can be reached in a couple of months or in a year—hang to it.

If it is god policy, and it is, to buy one War Savings Stamp, it is better policy to buy 10 of them, which, costing $40.00 now, will be worth $50.00 in 1924. This is saving worth while. It is the thing that counts. Besides, it will roll in the money that the Government needs for Repatriation, Reconstruction and other after-the-war work.

SCHOOT HOSTAGES AND FORGE MONEY

BERLIN, April 26—The fate of the hostages in Munich is still a matter of doubt. The Spartacans are said to have determined to shoot one hostage every twelve hours until the Hoffman Government releases the Red leader, Braig, who has been imprisoned.

The Communists are now forging Bavarian money and paying for their restaurant and drink accounts with it. Every person who manages to slip out of Munich brings tales of increasing terorism and horror.

"Here's my idea of a razor —one that sharpens its own blades"

"Yes, sir, you certainly must admire the AutoStrop Safety Razor when it comes down to real shaving."

"Why, I remember with my other razor I always had to throw away a blade after a couple of shaves. Now, I simply take it and give it a few turns on the strop and it's as good as ever."

"As for shaving, well, when I get through—and it only takes three minutes—my face is as smooth and slick and comfortable as when the head barber used to go over it. When it comes to cleaning, all I do is simply put the blade under the tap and wipe it off. There's no taking the razor to pieces and messing around with parts. In fact the whole thing is so simple and easy, I wish I had had one long ago."

For $5.00 you get razor, strop and 12 blades, complete—and a money-back guarantee of satisfaction.

Developing a New Clover Seed District

(1) Alsike clover at Carseland, Alberta.
(2) Field of alsike clover at Tilley, Alberta.

During the last three years Mr. Don H. Bark, Chief of the Irrigation Investigation Division of the Department of Natural Resources of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been conducting a number of experiments in the growing of clover seed in Southern Alberta, and has met with surprising success. Before coming to Alberta in 1915, Mr. Bark was for several years connected with various irrigation enterprises in Idaho. His experienced eye noticed that the clover growing on lawns, ditch banks, and waste places in Alberta, from the boundary line to as far north as Edmonton, gave promise of good results. This promise was fully confirmed when he shelled hundreds of heads that he gathered. They revealed a large quantity of seed of unusually good quality.

The following year, therefore, he arranged for several plots to be planted on the various Demonstration Farms of the Canadian Pacific Railway situated in the irrigation block, east of Calgary, Alberta. The results of these experiments, which have been continued ever since, have been very satisfactory. Not only have they proved that clover seed can be grown successfully in Southern Alberta, but they have also shown than the seed obtainable is of an exceedingly high quality, with the yield well above the average.

One of the largest plots planted during the first year was three and a half acres, which were planted to alsike clover at Tilley, Alberta. This area produced the following year 2,617 pounds of an excellent quality of machine run seed per acre; an average yield of 748 pounds, or approximately twelve and a half bushels, per acre. This seed could have been sold readily, without recleaning, to dealers at twenty cents a pound, which would have given a gross revenue of $149.60 per acre. But such was the quality that after a thorough recleaning, there remained slightly over ten bushels per acre of the highest possible grade of seed. At this spring's retail prices each acre produced a gross revenue of upwards of $340.

At the same place another plot, comprising almost an acre and a half, was planted to white Dutch clover in 1916. This crop had not looked very well throughout the season, the stand having been thin and the growth rather indifferent, yet a total yield of 205 pounds of seed of an excellent kind were secured from this area in 1917. The average yield was 142 pounds per acre. As this seed was worth at least fifty cents a pound, the returns secured were very satisfactory, despite the poor stand and indifferent growth of the clover. Last year the yield from this plot was somewhat better, 205 pounds of seed of an equally good grade being produced. On the above basis, this represents a gross return of more than $100 an acre.

The following example related by Mr. Bark shows the prolific nature of clover under conditions in Southern Alberta:

In the fall of 1917, a one-acre lawn of Kentucky Blue Grass and White Clover at Cassils, a small station west of Medicine Hat, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, appeared to contain enough ripe clover heads so that it would pay to harvest it. This accordingly was done, and the area threshed 105 pounds of White Clover seed of an excellent grade and quality. This lawn, therefore, produced over $50 worth of seed, though it was not planted for seed production purposes.

Mr. Bark has gradually extended his experiments over a larger territory with equally favourable results. Three and a half acres planted to alsike clover at Rosemary, north of Brooks, Alberta, were harvested for seed in 1918, and although the stand was only fair, an average yield of 250 pounds of seed per acre was produced. Complete records were kept of the cost of handling this area, and at the rate of forty cents per hour per man, and fifteen cents an hour per horse, worked out at $62.07, or $17.73 per acre. The total seed produced was 865 pounds, which at twenty cents a pound, is worth $177. The net profit from the three acres, therefore, amounted to $114.93, or $36.31 per acre, not a bad return for one season from land that cost only fifty dollars an acre, although the crop was considered rather disappointing.

But much better results were secured with white clover on the same farm. Of this, three acres produced 1,144 pounds of machine run seed, which when thoroughly recleaned weighed 1,033 pounds. White clover seed is now being sold on the Calgary and Winnipeg markets at sixty-five cents a pound. The grower, therefore, might reasonably expect to receive fifty cents a pound for recleaned seed in large quantities. On this basis the gross return from the three acre plot would be no less than $501.50. As in the case of the alsike clover, the actual cost of handling was carefully kept. It amounted to $110.20 or $36.73 an acre. It will be seen, therefore, that the actual net profit from these three acres was $391.30, or over $130 an acre. With such results it does not take many acres to provide a man with a good income.

Now that the possibilities of growing clover seed on the irrigated lands of Southern Alberta have been practically demonstrated, it will not be long before every farmer in the district is growing at least a few acres. The demand for high-class seed is so great, and likely to be greater in the future, that the danger of causing a glut on the market is very remote, and the grower can rely on good prices. There is little doubt that within the next few years the industry will assume considerable proportions in Southern Alberta.

Moderate winds, occasional showers. Tuesday—Northerly winds mostly fair and quite cool.

Declares Public Ownership Has Come To Stay In Canada

ACTING PREMIER WHITE SAYS THE REAL ISSUE DIVIDING THE HOUSE OF COMMONS IS WHETHER IT IS TO HAVE A CHANCE FOR SUCCESS OR WHETHER IT WAS TO BE "MAIMED, MUTILATED AND DEFORMED."

OTTAWA, April 28.—Persistent attacks by the Opposition upon details of the bill to incorporate the Canadan National Railway Company during three days of discussion of the measure culminated in a general engagement with Sir Thomas White on the one side and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and Hon. Jacques Bureau on the other as leaders. The Acting Prime Minister dealing with speeches which had been delivered by Mr. Lemieux and by D. D. McKenzize, the Opposition leaders, declared that by those utterances the real issue dividing the House had been revealed. That issue, he asserted, was whether public ownership of railways in Canada was to have a chance for success or whether it was to be "maimed, mutilated, and deformed." The bill to incorporate a company of which the Dominion of Canada was to be the sole shareholder, he said, had been subjected to criticism which would not have been levelled against it had it merely been a charter for a private company. "The real discussion in this chamber," declared Sir Thomas, "has been between private railway enterprise and public ownership." The Opposition he affirmed stood for private ownership, while the Government was the champion of public ownership.

A Chance for its Life

Sir Thomas said the question before the House was whether public ownership was to be given a chance for its life or to be strangled in the House of Commons. The Acting Premier said Mr. Lemieux was opposed to public ownership, and that all but a corporal's guard on the Opposition of the Chamber shared his views. Public ownership, however, had come to Canada and had come to stay. It had been the inevitable result of the trend of events.

Red Michael Crosses Swords With The McKenzie Of Cape Breton

OTTAWA, April 28.—Mr. Daniel D. McKenzie, who as temporary Leader of the Opposition seems to be growing into the landscape, was cheered by his followers when he crossed swords with Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer in the House of Commons Friday afternoon.

Red Michael Militant

It all happened when "Red Michael" started out to give Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux a trouncing. Mr. Lemieux had been saying that the Government was acting like a lot of drunken sailors with regard to the building of new railways in the West. Dr. Clark accused Mr. Lemieux of keeping bad company, and endeavored to fasten upon him the imputation of being in favor of the C. P. R. He said Mr. Lemioux's views regarding Canada's future were "jaundiced," and sarcastically asked: "Is this the new Liberalism?" He added that Mr. Lemieux was certainly no enthusiast for national railways, and "if he has come to take the position that the C. P. R. is more important than the position of Canada I must say my Liberalism is not his Liberalism." Mr. Lemieux's friends years ago said grass would grow over the lines of the C.P.R. and that it would not earn enough money to buy "axle grease." He was just as wrong in his day as they were in theirs, and the West, with its wonderful possibilities, would give solid support to a Government which was making an honest attempt at Government ownership of a great railroad.

On the Road to Damascus

Mr. McKenzie observed that "Saul of Tarsus has become Paul the Apostle," for the ink was scarcely dry on a speech made by Dr. Clark two days ago, in which he warned the Government that every ten cents spent must be absolutely necessary. Of course the members for Red Deer was able to grasp the gravity of a $500 salary increase to a Deputy Minister, but when it came to spending millions on railways he "is at sea and falls into the current and goes along with it". It was no use economizing on ten-cent pieces and plunging in expenditures of millions The Grand Trunk Pacific was located in the glorious West in which Dr. Clark prided himself so much, and it was in the hands of a receiver. Dr. Clark was a conservative Englishman—conservative in the sense of being careful—when he came to this country, but it was only recently that he had become a Conservative in politics. (Laughter.)

Have Lived Close To Their Maker

LONDON, April 28.—General Currie, commander of the Canadian Expeditionary Corps, speaking at a Canadian Pay Corps dinner, said: "I believe Canada will get everything in the future better inside of the British Empire than outside. Even so, we can go home with a greater sense of nationalism than ever before. We have all been away from Canada many months, and are more or less unfamiliar with Canadian thought and sentiments. They are wondering what the thought and sentiment of Canadian soldiers will be. I can say it will be anything which is for the good of the country. Our men have lived a little closer to their Maker. Discipline is only a self-control which makes you do the right thing."

Gen. Macdonald remarked that Canada had given soldiers for an Imperial military enterprise on an average of every twenty years.

"I don't know what is going to become of the older men who have thrown themselves in," he declared. "I go down and see the boats sail for Canada. I am glad to see them go, but I am sorry to say 'good-bye.'"

Ruthless Autocrats Of 1871 Eager Suppliants Of To-day

PARIS, April 28.—The attitude of Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, the head of the German peace delegation, toward the approaching Peace Conference is compared by The Temps with the Conference at Versailles in 1871, at the close of the Franco-Prussian war. The paper mentions his attempt to send messengers to receive the Peace Treaty, and his demands that the Germans be permitted to discuss the treaty and negotiate with the Allied representatives.

The rough treatment given Thiers and Favre at Versailles in 1871 by Bismarck is recalled, although the paper points out they had nothing in common with the Imperial regime in France, which had been overthrown by the war.

The head of the present German delegation, The Temps says, was the representative in Copenhafien of the German Imperial Government, and he violated the nutrality of Denmark in 1914 when he compelled Denmark to block up the straits leading to the Baltic with mines."

Other leaders of the present German Government served the Imperial regime, the paper adds. It refers pointedly to Mathias Erzberger, the author of the famous scheme of minimum German Peace terms drafted in 1914, in which Germany was to get much French territory and to have military sovereignty over Belgium. Erzberger, it says, was the first spokesman on behalf of the German Government before the Commission appointed by the German Assembly at Weirmar to examine the peace terms. The Temps points out further that Bernhard Dernburg, once Colonial Minister, with the title of Vice-Premier.

War Criminals Must Answer For Their Crimes

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT PROVIDES FOR THE ARREST AND PUNISHMENT OF VIOLATORS OF LAWS AND CUSTOMS OF WAR—GERMAN GOVERNMENT MUST SURRENDER ALL NECESSARY DOCUMENTS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

PARIS, April 28.—Persons accused of violation of the laws and customs of war, according to League of Nations covenant, will be brought before a military tribunal and if found guilty sentenced to punishment laid down by military law. All persons accused of having committed an act in violation of the laws and customs of war who are specified either by name or by rank, office or employment, which they held under German authority will be demanded of the German Government for trial by military tribunal of the Power against whom the acts were perpetrated.

Article four is as follows: "The German Government undertakes to furnish all documents and information of every kind, the production of which may be considered necessary to insure full knowledge of incriminating acts, discovery of offenders and a just appreciation of responsibility."

SUMMARY OF THE COVENANT.

Any nation may withdraw by giving two years' notice.

League to operate through assembly, council and permanent sectarial.

The council to meet once a year at least, each member to have one vote.

Unanimous agreement required in assembly and council.

Seat of the league to be at Geneva with men in all positions in connection with the league.

Council to formulate plans for reduction of armaments according to the circumstances of each state.

After the plans are adopted by the governments, armaments therein fixed shall not be exceeded without consent of the council.

The council shall advise regarding limitation of manufacture of munitions by private enterprise.

Full information on military and naval situation to be frankly exchanged.

Members of the league to preserve the territorial integrity and political integrity and political independence of all other members.

In case of threat of war the league shall take any action it deems wise to safeguard the peace of nations.

All disputes to be submitted to arbitration and no resort to war until three months after an award.

Council to formulate plans for a permanent court of international justice.

In case of a dispute not arbitrated, being not settled by the council, a statement of the facts and the recommendations shall be published. The members of the league agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with the recommendations.

The council will make no recommendation in matters which are solely within domestic jurisdiction.

Should any member resort to war in spite of the covenant, other members of the league shall break off all financial, commercial and personal intercourse, and the council shall recommend what military or naval forces shall be contributed to enforce the covenant.

Every international engagement to be recorded with the sectariat and published as soon as possible.

All members to take steps to release themselves from obligations inconsistent with the terms of the covenant.

Radicals Urge Strike On May Day

TORONTO, April 28—Red printed circulars issued by "May Day Conference Committee," urging all workers to take a holiday on May 1st as a universal protest against exploitation were scattered about the city yesterday and to-day. The circulars announce May Day demonstrations in Queen's Park in the afternoon and in the Arena at night. While some small strikes are expected here on May Day there is nothing at present to indicate any great disturbances in industrial circles in Toronto on approaching traditional strike day.

Oddfellows Attend Divine Service On 100th Anniversary Of Birth

MEMBERS OF BELLEVILLE AND MIZPAH LODGES I. O. O. F. AND REBEKAHS HOLD CHURCH PARADE TO ST. ANDREW'S — ELOQUENT AND INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS BY REV. MR. KERR.

This month the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be observed by members of the Order all over the North American Continent and in other countries where the Order has been established. Everywhere will its birth on the 26th of April, 1819, be celebrated in a manner suitable to the importance of the occasion, and from the hearts of more than two million Odd Fellows and Rebekahs prayers of thankfulness will be poured out from what the Order has accomplished during the past century — period in which it has wielded a wonderful influence for good in the lives of millions of the human race; in which it has rendered aid in times of sickness and distress, and in which through the instrumentality of the Homes of the Order, it has cared for thousands of the aged and infirm Brothers and Sisters, and has protected, cared for and educated thousands of orphan children and fitted them for lives of usefulness.

WILDEY THE FOUNDER

Thomas Wildey, founder of the I.O.O.F., was born in London, England, on January 1, 1782. His parentage was humble and his attendance at a parish school was brief. At an early age he was apprenticed to a carriage-spring maker, and after seven years graduated in this branch of the blacksmith's trade. At the age of twenty-one he joined a London Lodge of Odd Fellows and became an active member. This was before the Manchester Unity was organized. In 1817 he married, and in September of the same year he emigrated to the United States taking up his residence in Baltimore, where he soon obtained employment.

This was not long after the war of 1812-15. There was a bitter feeling in the States against England, and an Englishman was rather a lonely man. Wildey met and became intimate with another Englishman, John Welch and was delighted to find that he also was a Past Grand of an Odd Fellows' Lodge. Longing for the social pleasures of the lodge room, they advertised in the local press, calling a meeting of Odd Fellows. Three responded—John Duncan, John Cheatham and Richard Rushworth. These were all Englishmen, of course; doubtless mechanics, of the itinerant class, for their names are not mentioned after the order was established, and they would appear to have lost their connection with it.

The result of this meeting was the institution of Washington Lodge No. 1 on the 26th of April, 1819, in a little tavern, the "Seven Stars," Baltimore Md. Wildey first obligated himself, then administered the vows to his associates, and gave them the secret work, as he understood it.

Slowly but steadily the new society grew in numbers and developed its organization. The Past Grands of the several lodges constituted themselves by general consent as the Grand Lodge of Maryland and the United States, with two subordinate (February 22, 1821); then it reached out to New York and Pennsylvania. Then, four years later, came the organization of the Grand Lodge of the United States, with Maryland and the other States as Subordinate Grand Jurisdictions.

Through all this period of evolution Wildey was at the helm. Noble Grand of Washington Lodge, then Grand Master of Maryland, and the United States, then Grand Sire of the Grand Lodge of the United States, a position he held from 1825 to 1833. To his beloved Society he gave his time, for he retired from his trade and nominally kept a restaurant, which was attended to by members of his family. He gave it his house for a place of meeting, when more suitable quarters could not be obtained. He gave it his labor, working for its advancement in Baltimore, traveling in neighboring States, even going to England when required. And he saw the fruit of his labors. The Order took a firm hold on the community; its membership improved in quality as well as quantity; it became better organized, with a better system, a better ritual, it abolished old customs which were distasteful to the rising generation; it separated from the Manchester Unity, and became an independent body: and finally it outgrew Wildey himself. In 1835 it has extended into twelve different States, with more than 100 lodges and about 6,500 members. The time had passed for the one-man rule —beneficent as that had been, and for a proxy system of representation—necessary as that had been, before Wildey stepped from "the seats of the mighty" and became henceforth a laborer in the ranks, doing special duty when required, giving counsel and advice when required, and watching with great gladness the rapid development of the Order he had founded. At last on the 19th of October, 1861 at the ripe age of 80 he passed to his eternal rest.

CHURCH SERVCE

Members of Belleville and Mizpah Lodges .O.O.F. with visiting brethren from Picton, Stirling, Trenton and other places adjacent to the city yesterday morning attended divine service at St. Andrews Church. It was the annual parade and was also commemorative of the one hundred anniversary of the founding of the Order. The turnout was one of the largest held in the city for some time. Headed by the 15th Regimental Band the brethren marched from the Oddfellows Temple on Front Street to the church. The sacred edifice was filled by members of the Orders and members of the congregation. A large number of the ladies, who are identified with the Rebekah branch of the Order were also present in a body. The Pastor, Rev. A. S. Kerr, was the preacher and previous to the discourse on behalf of the members of the session of the church and congregation expressed the pleasure it was to have the Society present in a body to assist in the service. After the usual devotional exercises the Reverend gentleman delivered the discourse, which was appropriate to the occasion. His text was from 1st Corinthians, 13th chapter and 8th verse.

Charity never faileth, but whether there be prophecies they shall fail, whether there be tongues they shall cease, whether there be knowledge it shall vanish away.

The preachers theme was love which was the central emblem of the Order. Their motto was friendship, love and truth. Christ placed love first when He said thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. It is the fudamental principle of all life. Love never fails, prophecy failed to sustain the children of fail but not so with love. It is transcendent above everything else. Prophecy failed tos ustain the children of Israel in the wilderness. Napoleon's prophecy to conquer the world failed, but in both these instances the followers loved their leaders. Love endures the severest tests in human life. Words fail as they did to Christ when He approached Jerusalem and the tomb of Lazarus, but His love for the city and the dead was such that He wept. Love of friendship is often more expressive than by words. Languages and tongues failed to tell the love of God for the world, but the gift of Christ and His death was the evidence of God's love for mankind. Love will abide when knowledge fails. Of Him whom we, having not seen, or known, we yet love. Love says I do not know the hidden things in life, but I know the way and I follow Him. His life was one of love. The whole of His life was a sacrifice and that is exemplified at the sacrament. Religion is the brotherhood of man, the fatherhood of God. We only reach the apex of life when we have the love of God in our hearts. His wondrous love brought Him from above to die on Calvary for us.

During the service the choir rendered an appropriate solo and the Oddfellows quartette of Picton, composed of Bros. A. Wellbanks, C. Newman, W. Clow and J. Vandusen sang two selections entitled "Content" and "Praying for You," in a manner that was most pleasing. All have good voices which blend together in a harmonious manner.

LINKS WITH THE PAST

Local I.O.O.F. history in tabloid: In 1845 the first Oddfellows Lodge was instituted in Belleville being named Victoria, No. 6. This was the first lodge in western Canada, and among its members were the late Hon. Edmund Murney and Mr. George B. Dickson. Later, in 1871, Belleville Lodge was instituted. There are now two flourishing lodges, namely Belleville, No. 81, and Mizpah, No. 127. Among the charter members for Belleville Lodge were W. H. Schuler, Jason H. Post, Robert Tracey and W. H. Beamish and for Mizpah Lodge were Rev. A. L. Geen, G. A. Simpson, H. B T. Odell, W. S. Miles, R. B. Davey, A. M. Foster, W. H. Garrett, J. L. Davis and H. A. Whelply. There are two encampments, namely Quinte and Moira and are both flourishing. The uniformed Degree Camp, No. 8, became in 1890 reorganized under the name of Patriarch Militant.

On May 23rd ——— Quintena Rebekah Lodge was instituted in the city and is an active organization.

WAR RECORD

GRAND LODGE HONORS

Mr. L. B. Cooper, who for a number of years has been identified with the Order was Grand Master for the term 1915-1916 and in 1903-4 was Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment. Mr. R. H. Ketcheson was Grand Patriarch in 1913-14. Mr. Ketcheson is Colonel of the 2nd Patriarch Militant, comprising the following canton: Belleville, No. 8; Kingston, No. 6; Ottawa, No. 9; Toronto, Nos. 7 and 8; Picton, No. 11; Gananoque, No. 12; Sault Ste Marie, No. 17 and Copper Cliff, No. 18.

The Noble Grand at present for Belleville Lodge is Isaac Sills and Wilfrid Rolls, for Mizpah Lodge. Mrs. Carter is Noble Grand for Quintena Lodge, Rebekahs, No. 1333.

Germans Are Ready To Frame New League

COPENHAGEN, April 26—The German counter-proposals to the League of Nations are outlined in a long despatch from Berlin.

The German draft proposes that the league shall embrace all belligerent States and all neutral States which wer signatories of the Hague treaty; other States to be admitted by the consent of a majority of the members of the league, but the Holy See to be admitted without this condition.

It is proposed the league shall function through a congress of States and a world Parliament to be elected from the Parliaments of every million inhabitants but no parliament to send more than ten representatives.

Two special bodies shall be created an international tribunal and a mediation bureau to decide respectively questons of law and questions of interests. Every difference between States must be submitted to either body.

The draft regards war as an obsolete method of settling disputes. Therefore it plans that armaments shall be reduced to domestic requirements. With no armed ships except for the League's naval police force, all straits and canals are to be internationalized. There must be no economic war unless recommended by the League as a measure of compulsion.

Damage To Germany From The Blockade

BERLIN, April 28.—The Imperial Health Ministry has issued a memorandum on the results of the blockade. It says from 1915 to 1918, as a result of under nourishment, 763,000 persons died in Germany and a further 150,000 died from influenza, owing to the loss of their power of resistance. The fall in the number of births during the war exceeded 4,000,000 for the Empire, and over [illegible] for Prussia. The memorandum calculates at 56,300,000,000 marks the damage inflicted by the hunger blockade, in which it includes such curious items as unborn people and the loss of wages due to reduced working capacity.

Fire Destroys Kingston Church

KINGSTON, April 27.—In one hour this morning fire destroyed the Queen Street Methodist Church, one of the city's most imposing stone structures. At 4.35 o'clock an alarm was sent to the fire stations but when the brigade reached the scene within three minutes the roof of the building was ablaze. Evidently the fire had been burning for at least nearly half an hour before being discovered. Ten streams of hose were soon pouring into the edifice from four street corners, but the place was doomed to destruction. About 5.30 the roof fell in, shattering the big organ. The blaze was well fought by Chief Armstrong and his brigade, who had it under control within an hour after reaching the scene, and in two hours the fire was about out. Only a piano was saved from the building. Not a building around was damaged. Next to the church is a military hospital. The church tower remains intact, and the walls are in good condition for rebuilding. Insurance of $31,700 is carried on the building and contents, while the loss will be in the neighborhood of $40,000. It is supposed that the blaze originated from the furnace. Rev. J. D. Ellis is the pastor. Arrangements have been made for congregation to worship temporarily in the Y. M. C. A. building. This is the third time that Queen street congregation has lost its church edifice by fire since it was organized.

OUR "SLIMY BRIGANDS"

CLASS WAR URGED BY THE BOLSHEVIKI.

Important Menace Which the People of the Dominion Must Face—Soldiers and Members of the Working Classes Are Being Incited to Raise In Revolution and Cause Chaos In Society.

THE statement made some time ago by Mr. C. H. Cahan, head of the Canadian Department of Public Safety, to the effect that the Bolshevist and Socialist element in Canada is of a particularly vicious type, is being steadily borne out by the new facts which daily are coming to light. The movement, as was made clear by Mr. Cahan in his statement on the subject, has spread in all directions. In nearly every industrial centre, from Montreal across the prairie provinces into British Columbia, branches of the Social Democratic Party, which is frankly Bolshevist in tendency, have been instituted. The platform of the party is of an ultra-revolutionary character, as is clearly evidenced by the tremendous flood of literature published in half a dozen different languages which has been issuing, and is still issuing, from printing establishments of the party in various centres, particularly Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

One pamphlet in particular, which purports to be a manifesto issued by the Provisional Council of Soldiers and Workers Deputies of Canada, is worth considering and may be taken as typical of them all.

It must be remembered that the literature is addressed to and circulated amongst the most ignorant sections of the community. The language adopted in all of them is, therefore, as might be expected, of the most ultra-provocative nature. The utmost ingenuity is expended in the way of phraseology to excite the passions of those to whom it is addressed and to discredit every one who may be suspected of holding differing views. Thus the pamphlet under consideration is addressed to Comrade Soldiers and Workers, and plunges into the matter with a lurid picture of the utter subjection of the working classes to their "capitalist masters," who take their place in the story as the "slimy brigands." The action of the "slimy brigands," according to the pamphlet, is certainly tyrannical enough. In spite of all the laws of the land and of the control of Parliament and people, the brigands are pictured as forbidding the working people to say anything except what they desire they shall say; forbidding working-class organizations to exist; suppressing working-class papers; forbidding groups of more than three soldiers from standing in the streets; and threatening workers with imprisonment if they dare to do anything which will prevent them making larger profits. Having thus placed before their readers a wholly imaginary picture, painted in the most lurid colors, the writers of the pamphlet ask, with fine scorn and finer alliteration, if this is what they want after all these years of "slaughter, slavery and servility."

Turning to the question of reconstruction, reconstruction is discovered to be a word used by the slimy brigands and their hirelings to "fool the workers." What it really means, the pamphlet declares, is that the capitalist class is working hard to find some means of keeping the working class "contented with their slavery," and the only solution is that the workers "forcibly take over all factories, railroads, mines and mills in the name of the working class," whatever that may mean in a country which by the law of the land forbids anyone not to be a worker, and to use them for themselves and "suppress" all those who try to prevent this.

As to the vote, the pamphlet declares it is only a "trick used to fool the workers." The House of Commons is only used to hide the uncontrolled dominance of the "slimy brigands" and the victory of the workers over these brigands does not depend upon getting men elected to the House of Commons or city councils, but it depends upon revolutionary action of the workers to arm themselves and disarm and suppress the capitalists and their followers. "The workers and soldiers must rise and throw off their oppressors; seize all property in the name of the working class; elect delegates to their councils, and these councils can easily legalize any acts which they may find it necessary to take in dispossessing the capitalist class."

In this grand triumphant march toward freedom no one is to be listened to except the "working classes." The "slimy brigands" have long since been swept aside, but the working class must not allow any sympathy or consideration to be extended to the "petty shopkeepers." Above all things the workers must not listen to the newspapers. The "jackals of the yellow press" are pictured as engaged in a campaign of the most deliberate untruthfulness in regard to the situation in Russia, and several pages are devoted to a wonderful picture of the Utopian conditions, in the view of the writers of the pamphlet, existing in that country. The Red Guards of Russia are pictured as engaged in a holy war against "Russian brigands," and then after a wonderful tour de force in the way of a description of the condition of the Canadian workers during the present winter comes the battle cry in italics: "The time is ripe for revolution and you must rise."

What their obvious task is, once they have risen, is set forth in inflammatory terms. Soldiers are bidden to take over control of the army by ousting their officers who are described as being members of the odious capitalist class, and electing their own officers, so that the army may be used for the workers. Workers at the same time are advised to drop their tools rather than produce any longer for the "parasites," the capitalists. Having united in the workers' councils, they must next proceed to take over the factories, presumably by force, from the capitalists, and to run the industries for their own benefit. And so, with the happy state of things realized—the workers at the head of industry, the soldiers at the head of the army, and all authority gone but their own—the duty of both is now plain. They must act together to combine for the purpose of forming the Workers Republic of the World!

CHANGING OUR DIET.

Fish Has Grown Popular During War Time.

War time food conservation campaigns in the Canadian Northwest have changed the appetites of the people. Hundreds of tons of fish and game, once deemed unfit as food, are being consumed each month throughout the Dominion.

Whale and flatfish seem to lead as sea foods, while beaver and other fur-bearing animals, hitherto unthought of as table delicacies, likewise are given prominent places in the food lists.

Whale meat, which failed to win recognition in Canada until last summer, is being sold by the ton from Vancouver to Halifax. The Dominion Food Board's success in the campaign to market Pacific flatfish is indicated by the official estimate that 3,500,000 pounds have been consumed in six months. Fishermen formerly threw away this fish.

Until 1918 trappers retained only the pelts of beavers. The Minnesota campaign in behalf of beaver flesh as a food attracted attention in Manitoba and hotels in that province added beaver meat to their menus.

Later someone discovered that chickens "went wild over beaver" and resulting experiments indicated that a diet of beaver meat improved the egg-laying qualities of hens in cold weather.

Wild rice that grows in abundance in the Northern Lake districts also was ignored until American and Canadian commission men in eastern cities began making steady demands for it. Canadian people started eating it after it had gained popularity in hotels.

Odd outfits resembling sail boats have been constructed to thresh the fields.

War's Changes In Canada.

Canada opened the year with problems confronting her, perhaps the most serious in her history. During the war she has accomplished wonders, and still greater wonders will probably have to be accomplished by her. The population of Canada total about eight million, and she enlisted for active service roundly 400,000, or one in every twenty. Of these 55,000 have died and probably 45,000 more have been so physically impaired as to be comparatively useless for practical industrial endeavor.

Canada has thus to face a net loss, on one side, of 100,000 able-bodied effectives, besides paying a heavy burden on their account, either as pensions to themselves if alive, or to the dependents they leave if dead. On the other side is the fact that Canada, during the war, has been transformed from an agricultural to a manufacturing country. Vast industries have been called into being, such as those for making munitions, and now these must re resolved back into agencies of peaceful industrial progress.

In the manufacture of munitions were employed some 250,000 workers, with probably 75,000 more engaged in the output of other war materials. The shutting down of these factories will mean the throwing out of employment of a total working army to be brought home for demobilization. Even if these factories be kept going, the continuance will solve only one aspect of the industrial problem, namely, the keeping employed of those who have entered these works since the war began, leaving the returning soldiers to be provided for. But obviously these soldiers are, above all others, the ones most entitled to first consideration.

In Canada, counting the dependents of both soldiers and "war-workers," it is safe to say that some two million people, or about one-fourth of the entire population, will be affected by the new conditions now arising.—American Review of Reviews.

Canada's Standing In Stock.

In Holland, before the war, there were, on the average, twenty-nine cattle of all kinds to each hundred acres of land in farms, in Denmark 25, in Germany 16, in France 12, in Italy 10, in Australia 8, in the United States the same, and in Canada only six.

Canada makes an equally poor showing in dairy cattle, Holland having 16 to each hundred acres in farms, Denmark 14, Germany 8, Great Britain, Italy and France 5 each, United States 3 and Canada 2. Australia and Argentina are lower still in this scale, the farmer having one cow per 100 acres in farms, and the latter one to 200 acres.

In hogs Denmark, before the war, had 22 per 100 acres, Holland 19, Germany 14, United States 8, Ireland 7, France 6, Great Britain 5, Italy 4 and Canada 3.

Fertility From Rain and Snow.

Rain and snowfall do more than provide the necessary moisture for crop growth. They add to the fertility in the soil as well. Mr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, has been carrying on an investigation for years at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for the purpose of learning how much fertility is provided in this way. Taking the average of ten years, he says that over 6½ pounds of nitrogen per acre was supplied at the Ottawa farm in this way—a little less than 5½ pounds by rainfall and over one pound per acre by snow.

GOAT AS A MASCOT.

Billy Got "Cigarette Habit" From the Tommies.

Billy, a goat, mascot of the 83rd Flying Squadron in France, is a wonderful animal, if he is alive. Should Billy be dead, an "ally" has been lost. But he will always live in the minds of many men who fought in France, particularly those of the 83rd Squadron. An interesting tale of the animal's life and experiences is told by Lieut. Noel S. Jones, of the Royal Air Force, recently arrived home.

When Billy was a kid, probably about three or four weeks old, he was bought for 10 francs by flying men from a peasant at Franqueville, and was turned loose among men of the 83rd Squadron for bringing up. In every sense of the statement Billy was a "high flyer." He didn't think anything of "stunts" at an altitude of 10,000 feet, he was horribly addicted to cigarettes, and ate chocolates in as great quantities as a girl, and the story has it that he had a fondness for liquor. But Billy, so the story goes, could "always keep on his feet."

Billy wouldn't accept a cigarette from the hand. That goat demanded he be allowed to accept a fag from a silver and initialed case, or from a box. He was a positive "fiend," having been known to eat as many as 50 cigarettes at one time.

When the squadron moved Billy was strapped in a plane and taken along. Arriving at the destination the goat was lifted from the plane and would commence eating grass or wandering about in a matter of fact manner. The shelling of the squadron by enemy craft had no terrors for him.

"Dowdy" or "Doughty."

The danger of using a word that sounds very much like another word that has a less flattering meaning was amazingly illustrated in Toronto recently, when an eminent judge who loves to make speeches was widely misquoted. Then it turned out that he had said something entirely different from what people thought. Towards the close of his speech at the Ontario Bar Association, Mr. Justice Riddell spoke appreciatively of the King and Queen, but in doing so applied an epithet to Queen Mary which was widely commented on. The phrase, as understood by practically everyone present, was as follows:

"Dear King George V—a plain man, a plain sailor, with a dowdy wife, who minds her business, looks after her children and her household, and sees that the smaller children succeed to the old clothes of the older as they grow up; a man and a woman like other men and women, who know their duties and devote themselves to their duties, and work hard in the position in life to which it has pleased God to call them."

One man who was in an excellent place to hear, and was very attentive to what was being said, declared that Mr. Justice Riddell did not say "dowdy," but that he used the word "doughty." It proved that this man was right. The word used in the speech was "doughty."

The word "dowdy" is an unfortunate one in that it has meanings which are complimentary, and other meanings which are the reverse. Here is what several dictionaries say:

Murray: "Shabbily dull in color or appearance; without brightness, smartness or freshness."

Wright's English Dialect Dictionary: "Slovenly, untidy in dress; dark, dull in color, faded; of quiet, homely habits, old-fashioned; stunted in growth."

Worcester's Dictionary: "Awkward, ill-dressed."—Applied to women.

Webster's New International Dictionary: "Dressed in a manner neither neat nor becoming; untidily shabby; wearing dingy or cheap finery; awkward and slovenly in dress; slatternly."

Bell's Early Rival.

The first patent for a practical telephone was granted to Alexander Graham Bell by the United States Patent Office in 1876, but Bell had a close rival for the honors in Elisha Gray, of Boston, whose caveat for an invention "to transmit the tones of the human voice through a telegraphic circuit" was filed a few hours after the Scotchman's application for a patent. Gray had described his invention in a paper communicated the previous year to the American Electrical Society. The Gray and Bell telephones were similar in many particulars, and if Gray had been a few hours earlier in filing his caveat he might have won the honor of being the pioneer of the telephone. After a memorable litigation, however, the honor was awarded by the courts to Prof. Bell. Gray contributed many other important inventions to mankind.

The Ignorant Lady.

"Military ignorance is bound to show itself," said Representative Woodyard in a tranchant criticism of the German offensive. "All ignorance shows itself, for that matter.

"I heard a lady talking to a missionary the other day about a Turk.

"'Did the scoundrel wear a fez?' the missionary asked.

"'No,' said the lady, 'he was clean shaved.'"

Some French Superstitions

THE soldier who does not know, in his own experience, of a case where a man who lit his cigarette "third off a match" and promptly went to his death, is a rarity. Third off a match, going up the line when warned for leave, passing a horseshoe on the road, being in the same platoon as one's brother or father, speaking one's regimental number in the trenches or being a determined souvenir hunter—these were the principal superstitions of soldiers in France. And superstition, even to the supposedly hard-headed young business men who joined up, became, after a few days in the line, just as much a part of a soldier's equipment as his rifle. The superstition was not the blind and terrified sort observed by savages. It was good-humored, even cynical; but was rigidly observed nevertheless.

Matches were often, nay, usually scarce among the fightin' troops. And soldiers smoke gregariously. That is, when one soldier pulls out a packet of cigarettes, however stealthily, at least two or three of his comrades discover the act and share a smoke with the owner. Then the match is lit. Even if the lighter of the match is not superstitious, and attempts to give a light to a third man, some one of the party is bound to bend forward sharply and blow it out.

The legends of death and calamity following the unlucky third man on a match are as numerous as there were troops in France. Every man has a story to illustrate the dire consequence of that breach of a malign fate's decree. And strangely enough, many actual examples are available. The soldier, of course, in a war where death comes screaming and rushing through the air, blindly striking out for victims and so often blindly catching them, comes to believe in a peculiar sort of spirit, a fate with a sense of humor perverted by too much handling of human life. The soldier sees around him every day death under so many queer and shocking circumstances and so many fine and lovable men getting killed, that gradually he comes to sort out the deaths of the splendid fellows as evidences of the mocking gestures of that sardonic fate. Hence, the superstitions, which are a sort of offering from the war-stained human mind to the malign spirit.

The writer sat at the foot of a dug-out stairway, on the Ecurie front. Up at the top, the morning sun shone, and a sentry whistled and hummed to himself. Two signallers sat on the stairway repairing a telephone box. A man came along the dugout and ascended the stairway. As he passed the signallers, one of them was in the act of passing his chum a cigarette. The man who was ascending stopped with a "What ho!" and helped himself to a cigarette. The second signaller lit a match, and before thinking, all three lit up from it, and the man who was ascending lighting his last.

The signaller who was holding the match jerked his hand back, but too late. The third cigarette was aglow.

"You will bum cigarettes, eh!" warned the signaller, laughing. "You'd better throw that fag away, or you're a goner!"

"Nothing doing!" said the man and continued his way up the stairway.

It was a quiet, sunny morning. But about fifteen minutes later, there was a muffled bang outside. The sentry put his head in the entrance and shouted:

"Stretcher bearer on the double!"

The man who had lighted his cigarette third had been killed by a rifle grenade while sitting in the sun on the fire step.

Another most common superstition surrounds the phrase, "got his number." Every article in the army, from a can of bully beef to a shell has got a number stamped on it. The soldier has a number stamped on him, on all his books and documents. Numbers begin to have a peculiar significance for soldiers. To the idea that a bullet or shell is numbered to correspond to a soldier's number and that that bullet or shell is the one designed for that particular soldier is only a short step. He imagines the grim fate so arranging it that a shell with his number on it is fired from the German guns at him. Hence, when a shell shrieks and crashes close to a soldier, he scrambles to his feet exclaiming: "that one didn't have my number on it, but pretty darn near it."

And in case the numbers are running serially, the soldier hastily seeks a deep and distant shell hole.

The particularly sad case of the soldier being killed on the eve of his departure to "Blighty" on leave has given rise to the superstition that a soldier warned for leave should promptly ensconse himself in the safest place available and stay there till he departs. At the battle of Passchendaele, leave warrants for three of the officers of a Toronto battalion were in the orderly room. The officers decided to wait till after the battle to go on leave. All three officers were killed that day.

The colonel of another Toronto battalion had his leave warrant in his pocket when he fell with a machine-gun bullet in his heart, leading his men in a big raid at Vimy in March, 1917.

Lucky coins, images, buttons, love-letters, inscribed testaments, all manner of trinkets were the possessions of our soldiers as charms against the attentions of the soldiers' especial hoodoo.

Holds the Record For Killing Germans

"The Battalion Murderer" is the peculiar name bestowed upon 'Buck' Hutchinson, of East Caledon, sergeant in the Fourth Battalion by his admiring comrades. Hutchinson is an "Original" holding the D.C.M. and the M.M. and he has the reputation of having killed more Germans than any other man in the regiment. To meet him one would find it hard to believe, for anyone less like a "murderer" would be hard to find. A young fellow, tall and solidly built, he is an athlete all over. He has a slow smile and speaks very quietly. He is very popular.

KILLED 31 IN TWO DAYS

"I'm sorry I haven't any story I can give you," he said to The Telegram. He was perfectly willing to talk, but "really couldn't think of anything of interest."

It was from some of his officers that the story of certain of his exploits was finally secured. "We never kept track of his record, but I do know that in two days he killed, single-handed, thirty-one Germans," said a lieutenant. On Sept. 27th he killed 17 and on Octo. 1st he killed 14. When I saw him he was blood from head to foot. He had used up all his own ammunition, and was carrying two German automatics he had taken.

DEAD GERMANS BEST

"Do you know the story about Hutchinson telling a man to move his head?" queried The Telegram.

"That occurred at a time when we were in a tight corner and had received orders to take no prisoners," replied the officers. "'Buck' saw one of our boys talking to a German. He walked up behind our man, and putting his hand on his head said 'Move your head.' Then he put his revolver in the German's face and blew out his brains. 'You should never talk to a German unless he is dead,' he admonished our man, who was covered with the German's blood."

AMATEUR ARTLLERST

The story of how Hutchinson won his D.C.M. was told by Col. Nelles. While the fight was raging round Abancourt at the end of last September, Hutchinson found two German "75" field guns. He had seen guns fired, but there his knowledge of them ended. Lugging them round, he pointed them at the town of Abancourt. He did not know how to sight them, so propping up the trail he looked down the barrel until he had them trained on the mark.

FIRED 150 SHELLS

Then he opened fire. At first thinking the Canadians were going to enter the town, he did not fire any gas shells, but later when he discovered that they were not going to attack, he opened fire with some gas shells which the Germans had left near the guns. One hundred and fifty shells, at a range of 1,200 yards were sent by Hutchinson into the town. So great was the damage done that the Germans opened up a barrage all around him, but he went on firing as if nothing had happened. "And he only came away when a company commander forced him to, because he was drawing so much fire on our men," said Col. Nells. "Our guns were firing very badly that day, and I honestly think that 'Buck' alone did more damage than all our batteries did together."

FRATERNALISM FOE TO BOLSHEVISM.

Bolshevism thrives on ignorance, suspicion and poverty and found fertile ground in Russia when despotic government was swept away and succeeded by chaos with no great and honest leaders strong enough to inspire confidence and establish a government which would create a new and better Russia. The forces of evil, led by Lenine and Trotsky, gained possession without much difficulty with the aid of extravagant promises of abundant prosperity for all without much exertion.

Following the war a spirit of unrest is disturbing every nation and the dread shadow of Bolshevism is menacing the whole world. In North America, however, Bolshevism will have difficulty obtaining any real foothold for there is too much freedom here to tolerate the tyranny of such a cult. Among the forces strongly antagonistic to revolutionary tendencies in the New World must be placed organized religion and the fraternities. The influence of the church is always on the side of law and order and the fraternal societies, founded upon the highest ideals of humanity and brotherhood constitute a powerful influence against the spread of the false doctrines of the Lenines and Trotskys of the world. This was given expression in forcible manner at the annual meeting of the Canadian Fraternal Association, representing 400,000 members in Canada, held at Ottawa last week, by the retiring President, W. C. Mikel, K.C., of Belleville, who said in the course of his address:

World-Wide Unrest.

After four years of the most extreme acts of sacrifice, the pendulum has swung to the other extreme, of selfishness. This selfish tendency is noticeable everywhere. Each class in the community seems to have forgotten the other. The farmer, the laborer, the capitalist, the man in the East and the man in the West, each clamoring for what appears to suit his own selfish interests best. The influence of fraternalism ought to be able to mitigate the costs of this mad rush towards selfishness. This festering sore of unrest cannot be healed with gold alone. Gold but stimulates the appetite for more. It will only be cured when people become so imbued with the true spirit of fraternalism that Cain's great question will be answered in the affirmative—"Yes, I am my brother's keeper."

Fraternalism vs. Bolshevism.

"Following the war and suggested, no doubt, by the brutal methods of our enemies, the terrible curse of Bolshevism has come upon the world. Selfishness is its impelling motive. It is the enemy of fraternalism. Bolshevism cannot exist where there is true fraternalism. Bolshevism in Russia under the guise of nationalization of property has afforded its followers an opportunity to take the real and personal property of others, and its last horrible act is to nationalize all women between 18 and 45 years of age, thus making them the common property of the state. The educated classes of the country have opposed this sort of thing, therefore, the Bolsheviki have killed the educated classes. This system has engulfed the millions of Russia and threatens to sweep over the whole of Europe and Asia. It is rearing its head in the United States and Canada and with its confiscated Russian wealth these millions of Bolsheviki will undoubtedly go after the rich prize of the Western world, and we may wake up to the fact that we are in its power when it is too late. Fraternalism should send a clarion call to the women of this country and to the men, to be prepared to drive back this blight. An agitation should be gotten up against the immigration of any but the best and most reliable immigrants. Passports should be required from persons entering this country. Within a year or so it would be a comparatively easy matter to filter into Canada enough Bolsheviki to seize the country if we are careless about these things. A short time ago no one in Russia believed it would be possible for a comparatively small number of brutes to seize the country. It may be said that after a time this movement will spend its force, but who knows how long it will take, and in the meantime what awful havoc it would work with our property, our liberty, our families, our lives and fraternalism. The peril is not imaginary, it is real.

If only British Labor would realize that it is production alone which can pay for all they ask, and that production depends upon the willingness of Labor to produce, half the difficulties of this hour would vanish in a trice. But the root difficulty is that, with the exception of a few of its best leaders, Labor will not recognize it, and regards this obvious truth as a false device of Capital to induce the workman to work harder for another's gain. As if there were one truth for Capital and another for Labor! Truly, we are paying dearly for the money which the two preceding generations saved on the better education of the people.

Japan's League Ideal.

Baltimore American.

Without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude, or any other obstruction of prejudice, Japan would have the League of Nations declare for an equality of nations that would place all upon the same footing. Japan is absolutely right. There will never be general democracy coextensive with the earth, and no real political equality or real fraternity of nations upon common footing, as long as color is a barrier between nations. In this there is not the slightest hint as to social equality. Every people sets up for itself the test of social intercourse. But when it comes to nations, the time is past when they can set up any longer the barriers against the entrance of those of any hue of skin. That is, if they are sincere in the ideals they are advancing and the aims to which they profess to point.

THE ROBIN IN THE RAIN.

The day is dark and damp and drear,
Winds wail and weep as if in pain,
When through the darkness and the gloom
We hear the robin in the rain.
Cheer up! Cheer up! his song he flings
To hearts whereon the hand of pain
Lies heavy, that they too might join
The strain he's singing in the rain.

Take courage, now, dear heart, and trust,
Tho' dark the clouds, be strong and sane,
And in life's beating, blinding storms,
Sing, like the robin in the rain.

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, April 22.—An exceptionally light run of cattle—627 head, all told—constituted practically all of yesterday's trading on the Union Stock Yards Exchange. There was a good demand for medium weight butchers, but not much demand for heavyweight steers. Butcher cattle were 50c higher than last week, but the heavyweight cattle were no higher.

In the small stuff, the lamb trade, with a light run, held about steady, selling at from 18c to 20c lb. There was a good, strong sheep trade at from 14c to 15½c per lb.

The calf trade, with 350 on sale, was a trifle easier, medium to good calves selling at from 14c to 14½c per lb.

The run of hogs was 1857, and the market is strong, though unsettled, and selling at 20¾c lb., f.o.b., with a few quotations at the straight 21c.

EAST BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

Fresh cows and springers, scarce, $65 to $150.

Calves—Receipts, 3,200; 50c higher, $6 to $17.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000; active; pigs, 25c higher; others lower. Heavy, $20 to $21.10; mixed, $20.90 to $21; yorkers, $20.90; light yorkers and pigs, $20 to $20.25; roughs, $18 to $18.50; stags, $12 to $15.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 8,000; active and higher; wool lambs, $17 to $20.50; clipped lambs, $10 to $17.25; yearlings, $10 to $15.50; wethers, $13.50 to $14; ewes, $5 to $13; mixed sheep, $12 to $13.25.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, April 21.—Hogs—Receipts, 33,000; active; mostly 25c to 35c higher than Saturday's average; estimated tomorrow, 30,000. Bulk of sales, $20.55 to $20.75; heavyweight, $20.65 to $20.80; medium weight, $20.45 to $20.75; lightweight, $19.90 to $20.70; light, $18.75 to $20.25; sows, $18.75 to $20.25; pigs, $15.75 to $18.75.

Cattle—Receipts, 11,000; steady to 15c higher; butcher stock mostly 15c to 25c higher; calves 50c to 75c lower; feeders strong; estimated tomorrow, 12,000; heavy beef steers, $11.85 to $20.25; light beef steers, $10.65 to $18.50; butcher cows and heifers, $8.15 to $15.55; canners and cutters, $6.40 to $10.65; veal calves, $13.50 to $15.25; stocker and feeder steers, $8.75 to $15.75.

Vitriol Throwers In Egypt.

CAIRO, April 22. — Threats were made recently by terrorists to throw vitriol on all strike-breakers as they were leaving their work, and the official communique dealing with the current disorders, reports two cases of vitriol throwing on Tuesday, one man being totally blinded. In consequence of the vitriol throwing incidents an order has been issued that persons who throw corrosive substances or cause them to be thrown are liable to the death penalty. The order also provides that persons possessing corrosives without legitimate reason are liable to fifteen years' imprisonment, and that those who sell such substances are guilty of a criminal act.

SOLDIERS IN COLLEGE

25,000 CANADIANS IN KHAKI UNIVERSITY.

A New Branch Has Been Opened at Ripon In Yorkshire Where Young Men Who Have Been Fighting for Their Country Are Now Being Prepared for Degrees as Scholars.

ABOUT 25,000 Canadian soldiers in England and France, who are awaiting their return to Canada, are studying in the Khaki University of Canada, that branch of the Overseas Ministry of Militia and Defence that undertakes to teach the men anything from reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic to theology, medicine, engineering, etc. The latest, and probably the most ambitious, branch of this service is a concentration camp at Ripon, in Yorkshire, where students wishing to take up studies leading to a university degree can be accommodated. Five hundred students is the capacity of this camp, and between two and three hundred have already registered.

The universities of Canada are aiding the scheme in every way. They have promised to recognize every credit or standing granted by the university when it holds its final examinations in June. They have even loaned members of their teaching staff to the university. The chief lecturer in history, for instance, is Prof. George M. Wrong of Toronto University, who is undoubtedly Canada's chief historian. Prof. Coleman, also of Toronto University, who during the war has been engaged on research work for the Canadian Government, lectures in biology, and the other members of the faculty are educationists of tried ability.

Textbooks are provided free to all the men. What this means may be appreciated when one considers that the textbooks used by an ordinary university student cost anywhere from $25 to $35 when he purchases them himself.

The range of subjects studied is wide indeed for so young an organization. The following faculties have been established:

Junior matriculation.
Arts (1st, 2nd, and 3rd year).
Science (1st and 2nd year).
Surveying.
Theology (1st, 2nd and 3rd years).
Law (1st, 2nd and 3rd years).
Agriculture (1st and 2nd year).

The university spirit predominates at this khaki school and military discipline, though nominally retained, is not found necessary. Every student is too keenly interested in his work to require to be paraded to his lectures, and privates and majors study side by side to fit themselves for civilian ways.

The department of theology is especially fortunate, as it has taken over the Anglican Training College of the diocese which has its centre in Ripon Cathedral. Here they have a fine library and all the other advantages that go with a theological college. To help the men of other denominations, the Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist and Congregational churches in Canada have each sent over one of their own ministers to supervise the training of students of their own church.

All the men who are attending the university have signified their willingness to remain in England until June 30 in order to complete their courses. They are willing to do this, because instead of paying university fees, buying books and paying board to attend a Canadian university, every man is completing one year of his training with no expenses in the way of fees, books or board bills, and they are receiving their army pay and subsistence in addition.

There are also two hundred Canadian soldiers taking courses of study at Oxford, Cambridge, Edinburgh, Birmingham, Leeds and London universities. These men have been given indefinite leave by the Canadian authorities, and draw full pay, allowances and subsistence as well.

There are only two branches of the work of the Khaki College. Nine thousand men are taking correspondence work in twenty different kinds of study. Every Canadian camp in England and France and every hospital and convalescent home has its Khaki school, where instructors sent out from Canada or chosen from the officers and men of the expeditionary force are learning things that will be of inestimable value to them when they are finally repatriated and demobilized.

A Canadian Singer.

The New York Times said recently of a Canadian singer, the niece of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier,—"Eva Gauthier, the Canadian soprano, a niece of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, gave her only recital in Aeolian Hall, an event unique in more than the ordinary sense of the word. She is a singer who has before brought forward interesting novelties from the Orient; yesterday she discovered an entire new group of composers nearer home. A score of songs by modern writers, both British and French, included two Hebrew melodies harmonized by Ravel, old Cornish pieces done by Cyril Scott, airs by Albert Roussel, Gabriel Dupont, Erik Satie, and Fred Barlow, the last named an American naturalized in France. Joseph Holbrook was in the British group, with Norman Peterkin and John Ireland, men whose work deserves to be better known."

Soldiers Well Supplied.

During the war nearly 14,000,000 publications, representing a monetary value of something like $1,500,000, were sent by the British public to the troops.

BASKET BALL

The O.S.D. defeated the Wanderers by the score of 24 to 21 in a fast game of Basket Ball in the City Basket Ball League Saturday night. The game was very fast, both teams being evenly matched. The score at the end of the first period was 9 to 12 in favor of the O.S.D. In the early part of the last period Mr. Rossell's head came in contact with the head of one of his own players with the result both men had to leave the game, each with a nasty cut over the right eye. The O. S. D. played two subs and the game continued. The O. S. D. boys were able to hold their lead and the game ended 24 to 21 in their favor.

The line up:

Wanderers:—Brown and Delong, forwards; Weese, Centre; McWilliams and Deshane, defence.

O.S.D.—J. Marshall and E. Paine, forwards, A. Beach, Centre; T. Rossell and J. Maynard, defence; subs., Marry, Smith and Tate.

There will be a meeting of the City Senior Baseball League at the Y. M. C.A. to night. All officers are requested to be present. Each team will please see that they have representatives there.

A meeting of the City Junior Ball League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night at 6.30.

League St. Andrews and the Y.M.C.A. are tied for first place. In group two St. Michaels and G.T.R. are tied for first place. These four teams meet on Friday night to decide the winners of their group. The two winning teams will play next week to decide who has the best team in the city league. St. Andrews and St. Michael's are picked as the winners of the groups, but the G. T. R. and "Y" teams have a good chance to win so we should see some

IN THE SPRING

When Energy and Vitality are Lowest, then—Influenza!

(By S. C. BOWER, M. D.)

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin and feel the exhileration of real good health tingling thru their bodies. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. You are apt to suffer from an attack of Influenza if your health is run down.

Purify the blood and you can defy influenza. This is the time to clean house and freshen up a bit.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics and is made into tablets and liquid. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. for trial package.

STRATFORD, ONT.—"For many years I suffered with neuralgia. It would affect my head, extending down into my neck and shoulders. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was completely cured. I have also taken 'Pleasant Pellets' and found them an excellent remedy for constipation, bilious attacks, also stomach and liver troubles. They seem to regulate one's whole system. Ever since I can remember Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used in my family. I am always ready to recommend them."—W. J. TAME, 272 Railway Avenue.

WOMAN SHOOTS HUSBAND IN CHICAGO DIVORCE COURT

Chicago, April 28.—A divorce case in Judge Brothers' court came to a dramatic close Friday afternoon when Mrs. Elmer P. Simpson shot her husband, who was on the witness stand, through the mouth, inflicting a probably fatal wound. Simpson was testifying quietly. Suddenly his wife leaped to her feet. "That's a lie," she cried, and fired. Simpson crumpled up in the chair, blood oozing from his mouth. Mrs. Simpson was arrested and court adjourned.

WOMAN SUFFERED 12 YEARS

Finally Made Well by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Emmitsburg. Md.—"I suffered for twelve or fifteen years, and was treated by a physician, but got little relief. I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, so thought I would try it, and it did me more good than all the doctor's medicine. I am a farmer's wife and do my housework all the time, and I am better now than I have been for years. I am never without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house and have recommended it to several of my friends. You are perfectly welcome to publish my letter for the good it may do other women."—Mrs. ETTIE WARREN, Emmitsburg, Md.

TUBER DISEASE DANGER

Blackleg Decreases Potato Yield Thousands of Bushels.

Raising Pork Is a Profitable Sideline on the Dairy Farm — Expert Advises One Brood Sow for Each Ten Cows on Average Farm.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

BLACKLEG of potatoes is a disease that has been causing heavy losses to potato growers in many districts during the past few years. As the name of the disease implies, there is a blackening of the lower parts of stems of the potato plant affected. Accompanying the discoloration there is a soft rotting condition followed by shrinkage and death.

The disease is usually first noticed in the young growing crop when the plants are from four inches to a foot high. In looking over a field in which the disease is present, it will be seen that the tops of certain plants have lost their bright dark green appearance, having faded to a more or less dirty yellowish or brownish color. These tops will be somewhat limp and drooping, and in some cases where the disease is well advanced will have dropped right over. If a careful examination of the lower stems of these affected plants is made it will be seen that they are blackened and soft rotting. This blackening and soft rotting is more noticeable below the soil than above it. By carefully removing the soil from around an affected plant the blackening and soft-rotting can usually be traced to the seed tuber. As a rule in such cases the seed tuber will be found to be in a soft-rotting, slimy condition, the soil immediately beneath it being in a wet, puddled condition due to the wetness from the soft-rotted seed tuber. In such cases the disease in the plant has developed from an affected seed tuber and passed up the young growing stems, causing them to discolor and rot and eventually to fall over dead or dying. Sometimes all the stems in a hill will be affected and the whole plant die down. Sometimes, however, only a few of the stems will be affected and the remainder will appear to develop normally. If the season is a dry one a number of tubers may be produced on such plants which may mature and appear alright at harvest, but if the season is a wet one the disease will spread to the tubers and cause them to rot in a soft, slimy condition before harvest, or if they are harvested before the rot is very noticeable in them, they are liable to rot in storage or to carry the disease over to the next season.

It is tubers from such affected plants which are mostly responsible for carrying the disease over from season to season and spreading it from district to district. Such tubers, if used for seed purposes, will give a considerable percentage of blackleg-affected plants. Consequently, the greatest care should be taken in the selection of seed tubers. If any indication of rot, either wet or dry, is found on a tuber, or any brown discoloration of the potato tissue when cut into, it should be discarded and not used for seed purposes.

Though spraying with Bordeaux Mixture will help to control fungus diseases, such as late and early blight of potatoes, it is of no use in controlling blackleg. Blackleg is a bacterial disease that gets into the plant either from an affected seed tuber or from the soil. It works from below upward and by the time it gets much above the ground it will usually have killed the plant. Consequently, spraying the tops of potatoes will not prevent the disease.

To prevent the disease developing, plant only sound, healthy, well-selected seed and do not plant on land that has produced blackleg plants the previous season.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

How Many Pigs to a Cow?

Pigs and cows work very well together as the hog is one of the most economical meat producers on the farm, and does especially well on dairy by-products—skimmilk, buttermilk and whey.

The number of pigs per cow will depend on the kind of dairying the farmer is engaged in. If selling milk for direct consumption, for the milk condensory, or for the powder milk factory, there is no by-product, hence it is doubtful if hogs, under these conditions, will pay at all, especially with an uncertain market. Whey, from the cheese factory, will not support so many pigs per cow as will skimmilk and buttermilk from the farm dairy, or creamery.

On the average, we recommend one brood sow for each ten cows supplying milk to a cheese factory, and one sow for five or six cows where cream or butter is sold from the farm. If a sow reared 10 or 12 pigs each year, this would work out at from one to two pigs per cow on a dairying farm. There are times when a much greater number than this would be on the farm, as the pigs would be in various stages of maturity. The farmer and successful pig-raiser aims to keep up a regular procession of pigs from the sow to the bacon factory. This plan tends to stabilize markets, prevents the gluts which frequently demoralize the bacon business and causes farmers to stay in the hog game, instead of playing "in and out" which is not good for any business.—Prof. H. H. Dean, O. A. College, Guelph.

HINTS ON COOLING MILK

Three Essentials in Cooling Explained.

Make That Spring on Your Farm a Profit Question — It Should Be Enlarged, Cleaned Out Well and Cribbed in an Efficient Way.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

BACTERIA in larger or smaller numbers are always present in freshly drawn milk. At temperatures between 80 deg. F. and 98 deg. F. (blood heat) they grow and multiply rapidly, causing the milk to become quickly spoiled. As the temperature falls below 60 deg. F., the bacteria become less active, the changes caused by them are less marked, so the milk keeps sweet and in good condition for a longer time.

Growth of bacteria in milk in 24 hours (136,000 per c.c. when freshly drawn):

Temp. held.	Bacteria Per O.C. (20 drops) after 24 hours.
40 deg. F.	280,000
50 deg. F.	1,170,000
60 deg. F.	24,600,300

The above table shows how low temperatures check bacterial multiplication in milk. This is the scientific fact upon which the practice of milk cooling is founded.

In practice a dairyman should bear in mind three things in connection with the cooling of milk. First—cool milk with as little delay as possible after it comes from the cow. Second—cool milk to as low a temperature as possible, say somewhere between 40 deg. F. and 50 deg. F. Third—cool milk with as little contamination as possible from outside sources, such as dust, dirty utensils, water splashings, etc. If these three points were regularly attended to by all dairies a marked improvement in the general quality of our milk supplies would be noticeable right away.

The quickest way to cool milk is to run it over some form of tubular or surface cooler, pail by pail, immediately it is drawn from the cow. In this way milk may be rapidly cooled to within two or three degrees of the temperature of the water used. The objections to this method are the extra work involved in washing the cooler twice a day, the difficulty of keeping it properly clean, and the danger of contaminating the milk with dust, barn odours, etc., unless the cooler is used in a clean and separate milk room.

The other alternative is to place the cans of milk in a tank of running cold water at the earliest opportunity, or in an insulated tank of water into which some chopped-up ice is thrown. If the milk is stirred once every ten minutes during the first hour, cooling will take place more rapidly than where milk is left unstirred. If cold running water is not available all summer, enough ice should be put up during the winter to ensure the milk being brought to a sufficiently low temperature during the warmer portions of the year.

The importance of prompt and thorough cooling of milk is still insufficiently appreciated by many milk producers. There is no cheaper and simpler method by which milk quality may be improved.—T. H. Lund, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

Making the Farm Spring More Serviceable.

Fortunately a great many farmers of Canada can boast of a good spring of water on their farms. In some cases it is the only reliable and perennial source of water, and when this is the case it usually receives proper care. Probably, however, in general, the spring is a secondary consideration as a water supply, particularly domestic, and consequently is let "run wild" more or less, and is not, therefore, rendering the service it might, if it were properly equipped. The object of this short article is to make a few suggestions for the improvement of springs in general.

In the first place the spring should be enlarged, deepened and cleaned out well and then cribbed up in some efficient way. Probably the best method is to get a large concrete or sewer pipe tile or two, about 2½ feet in diameter, and put them down in the spring, cementing the joints well. Put an overflow pipe through the wall of the upper tile close to the high water mark of the spring, and connect the overflow pipe to a tile drain that leads down to a good outlet some distance away. If it is not connected to a drain the open end should be screened. If the spring be in the pasture it should be fenced in and the overflow pipe referred to extended horizontally to a trough outside the fence. The top should be provided with a tight cover made of concrete or heavy plank.

The spring becomes particularly serviceable if it happens to be located on an elevation considerably greater than the house and barns, for then the water can be piped down under the first line to storage tanks in the buildings. From the tanks the water flows by gravity to the points of service. Or if the supply is great enough and a fall of a few feet can be secured within a short distance, say 30 or 40 feet of the spring, a hydraulic ram may be installed for pumping the water of a spring to the house and barns. Usually it is pumped into a storage tank in the attic of the house or loft of barn, and from these gravitates to the various plumbing fixtures in the house, and the troughs and drinking basins in the stables. If you are particularly interested in this subject of the farm spring and how to make it more serviceable write the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, for a copy of Bulletin 267, which tells you all about it. It costs you nothing for the information except a postal card and a two-cent postage stamp.—R. R. Graham, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

PLANT POTATOES NOW

Increased Yield Secured by Hilling Them.

Good Combs Beekeeper's Asset—Best Are Always Produced During Heavy Honey Flow—Best of Care Should Be Taken of New Combs.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

EXTENSIVE experimental work, under ordinary conditions, has shown that it is a good plan to use good-sized seed potatoes, and to cut them into pieces of from one to two ounces in weight, and having two, three or four eyes in each piece. It is an excellent plan to throw the freshly-cut pieces in finely ground land plaster or gypsum and to plant the sets immediately after cutting. The best returns have been obtained by planting the sets in rows about 28 inches apart and leaving the sets singly from 13 to 15 inches apart in the rows. In the average of seven years' experiments it was found in planting the potatoes one, three, five and seven inches deep that the highest average results were obtained from planting three inches, and the second highest from planting five inches in depth. Under average conditions it is usually wise to plant about four inches but the depth of planting would, of course, depend considerably upon the quality and the condition of the soil. If the soil is a sandy loam, the depth of planting may be deeper than in the case of a heavy damp soil.

In experiments extending over a period of ten years it has been found that about four bushels per acre increase has been obtained from hilling the potatoes in comparison with level cultivation.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. College, Guelph.

Good Combs the Beekeeper's Asset.

An asset to the extracted honey producer is combs, good combs and plenty of combs. It is sometimes a problem to obtain and maintain a sufficient stock, especially if the apiary is being enlarged. Moreover, there are several important problems associated. Fundimentally, good combs are obtainable only when built on full sheets of wire foundation. Such combs will endure; naturally built combs will not stand the wear and tear of repeated honey extraction. Beside being weak and likely to break out of the frames, naturally drawn combs usually contain drone cells to some extent, if not in excess. The presence of drone cells in combs, used either in the brood chamber or in extracting supers, is a source of continued disadvantage. Drone cells in combs are always costly. They may cost swarms; they may dampen the honey storing instincts (bees are adverse to the storing of honey in drone cells, until there is no other space available) if the drone cells are in the super, their presence induces the queen to leave the brood chamber. It is a maxim to have only combs of all worker cells reinforced with wire; to this end, full sheets of foundation are essential and economical.

The best combs are always produced during a honey flow, yes, when there is a surplus coming in; good combs may be produced in the earlier part of the season, just prior to the cropping season; yet, regardless of season, the best of combs are obtainable only on strong colonies.

Conversely, weak colonies, without the stimulation of the honey flow, fail to draw out the foundation evenly and, fully; holes may even be gnawed in the foundations, which holes, when built in, will probably be filled with drone cells. With care, frames of full foundation, to be drawn out, may be supplied alternately with combs of brood or honey. Moreover, the tendency is for bees to bulge the old combs, and to correspond, only partially draw out the foundation of the new comb, perhaps leaving the corners open. The best results are usual when several frames with foundation are grouped in one side of the hive, or a full super given. In order to induce the attaching of the comb to the bottom bar, new combs may be drawn out in the super, over a powerful colony and during a honey flow.

Having acquired new combs, good care should be taken of them. If they are intended for extracted honey production, they should be kept apart from the brood nest, not allowing brood to be reared in them. Combs darkened with brood rearing are not considered as wholesome for honey production as are virgin (new) combs. Furthermore it is considered on good evidence that dark combs will darken and hence deteriorate the light grades of honey. One generation of brood in a comb may not injure it for light honey cropping; it is thought by some to toughen and strengthen the comb, yet the more particular producers are equipping with virgin combs for the supers. These choice extracting combs are a valuable asset. Preserved from year to year, they should endure. Although bee labor has not advanced in price, all bee supplies are increasingly costly, hence good combs are to-day a greater asset than ever.—Dr. Burton M. Gates, O. A. College, Guelph.

Extravagant Use of Straw.

The use of at least a limited amount of bedding for beef cattle is advisable, but the extravagant use of straw, coarse hays, etc., for this purpose should be discouraged. All such roughages that are to be used for bedding, either for fattening or breeding animals, should first be offered them in the hay rack and that which is refused used for bedding. If stover is fed the stalks, while somewhat difficult to handle, make satisfactory bedding material and should be used for this purpose rather than burned or otherwise disposed of.

Cut Chore-Time in Half

Do you realize that an average farm uses one ton of water a day? How long are you going to handle this tremendous bulk by old-fashioned, wasteful methods?

Modern farmers let the wind pump and distribute their water. They cut chore-time in half. They have running water in the house, the barn and stables, and pasture.

Not with old-fashioned windmills. But with big, sturdy, efficient Toronto Windmills, constructed throughout of galvanized steel, strong and rust-proof.

A Toronto Pump and a Toronto Water-System, combined with a Toronto Windmill, gives you real city water service.

Toronto Pumps and Water Systems can also be supplied with a gasoline engine or electric motor.

Our Windmill, Pumps and Water System booklets show you how to cut out waste time and energy on your farm—how to make more money. Write for them. They are sent free.

Famous Poem in Book Form

No poem produced by the war has been so universally popular as "In Flanders Fields." Sentiment has always something, perhaps most, to do with the appeal in a poem that captures the heart of mankind as this poem has done all over the world. But sentiment will not keep a poem alive, it will not bring to each new reading a fresh and engaging mood of beauty and enjoyment. Sentiment is like one of those perishable fabrics in which the texture is destroyed along with the pattern. "In Flanders Fields" is the embodiment and expression of a mood crystallized by a profound and durable idea; an idea born from the stress of a great experience in the eventful and critical hour of human sacrifice. The experience itself will pass, has passed away along with the terrible realities of time and place and participation, but the spiritual residue that is left, becomes one of those eternal and immortal symbols which keep true and unwavering the rectitude of men's vision and preserves for them the benefits of sacrifices so gladly and unselfishly made. I really think "In Flanders Fields" is a great poem, great in a sort of solemn temerity which blooms with conviction at every reading. It has the same elevated mood, the same profound substance, and communicates the same exalted vision as Lincoln's Gettysburg address. As often as McCrae's rondeau has been quoted, it is always a privilege to have it make the occasion rich by its presence.

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
 That mark our place; and in the sky
 The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
 Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
  In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
 The torch; be yours to hold it high.
 If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
  In Flanders fields.

As has often happened in times of great stress among mankind, the substance of the stress is gathered and focussed by the non-professional poets. Though Col. McCrae wrote and published a number of poems and perhaps loved the art with an almost professional passion, he was a physician who had made a name for himself in scientific medicine. "In Flanders Fields" has been printed in a volume with twenty-nine other poems, none of which is touched with anything like the finality of force and substance of that poem. Indeed, except for three or four, they are rather commonplace in theme, though expressed with that distinction of form which characterizes the "poppy" poem. He affected quite often the form of the rondeau, and in one other effort, at least, in "The Night Cometh," gives us a glimpse of the grace and conception which we associate with him in the one supreme performance. This is the poem:

Cometh the night. The wind falls low,
The trees swing slowly to and fro:
 Around the church the headstones gray
 Cluster, like children strayed away,
But found again and folded so.

No chiding look doth she bestow:
If she is glad, they cannot know:
 If ill or well they spend their day,
  Cometh the night.

Singing or sad, intent they go:
They do not see the shadows grow;
 "There yet is time," they lightly say,
 "Before our work aside we lay";
Their task is but half-done, and lo!
  Cometh the night.

Another poem of McCrae's which shows the profounder side of his nature, which was, as Sir Andrew Macphail tells us, deeply religious, a characteristic of his Scotch breeding and environment, is "Anarchy":

I saw a city filled with lust and shame,
 Where men, like wolves, slunk through the grim half-light;
And sudden, in the midst of it, there came
 One who spoke boldly for the cause of Right.

And speaking, fell before that brutish race
 Like some poor wren that shrieking eagles tear,
While brute Dishonor, with her bloodless face
 Stood by and smote his lips that moved in prayer.

"Speak not of God! In centuries that word Hath not been uttered! Our own king are we."
And God stretched forth his finger as he heard
 And o'er it cast a thousand leagues of sea.

The "Essay in Character" which Sir Andrew Macphail appends to the poems in this volume, is a sympathetic and informing memoir of the physician-poet. Sir Andrew's picture of the man, and the account of his life, are intimate and detailed. They are filled out from McCrae's letters and diary, which give not only a complete narrative of his experiences in Flanders up to the time of his death, but also his service and adventure in the Boer War.

Faith

By PEARL H. MEYER

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I don't see how in the world we can, dear. With brother in France, and with the awful cost of everything, we simply have not got the two dollars—or even one—as much as I long to do it."

Faith looked very downcast. "I suppose," she said with a sigh, "I might have taken my vacation at home, and not spent anything at all. Then we would have had enough for a few weeks."

"No, Faith." Her mother spoke decidedly. "You owed yourself one week of complete rest. Don't think of that again."

"But isn't there something we could give up in the eating line?" persisted Faith.

"You mean something else." Her mother laughed. "Dear child, no; unless you want us to give up eating altogether."

"You are a very discouraging person," Faith declared. "And the worst of it is—you are right. I know as well as you we haven't the money; still I cannot bear the thought of the next loan coming along, and of us simply ignoring it."

They sat silent for awhile, each trying to work out impossible plans in their eager minds.

"Mother," cried Faith, suddenly, "I'm going to live up to my name. This whole blessed country is as full as it can stick of $2 bills. Why shouldn't a few of them float our way, to our four flights or in from the air-shaft, and land right in our yearning pocketbooks? It isn't reasonable to think there are so many, many of them, and that at least one can't find its homing way to us." Noting her mother's quizzical expression, she added: "Don't you laugh at me; I'm in earnest. I'm going to begin to invite them right away, and keep it up all week." She rose from the table as she concluded.

"Oh, youth, youth," exclaimed her mother with a half-dubious, half-merry shake of her head.

Faith crushed her little sport hat down, until one eye was almost totally eclipsed. "You just wait and see," were her last words as she darted out of the door.

Her new game afforded her much amusement. She found herself seeing $2 bills here, there, and everywhere. Her eyes seemd to pierce women's handbags, and discover whole nests of them curled up together.

"Now, if that woman would only open her purse," she imagined whimsically, "out might pop a $2 bill, and dodge right into my lap, claiming me as owner."

She commenced to smile at her own nonsense. The woman at whom she had been staring glared back savagely; then peered furtively down at herself to see what might be evoking laughter from her vis-a-vis.

The glare spent its force unheeded. Faith was absorbed in her endeavor to figure out how many times $2 the electric car company engulfed a week.

"Transfers," remarked a voice just above her hat.

Faith jumped. "Two dol—" She stopped and turned red with embarrassment. Then she dared not look up for fear someone had heard her. The conductor passed on. Faith realized that her nonsense, instead of bringing her in $2, had just cost her five cents.

Her merry mood did not forsake her at the office.

"My goodness, your vacation certainly did you good!" exclaimed her next-desk neighbor, staring inquisitively into Faith's happy countenance. "What's his name?"

"Two dollars," chirruped Faith, enigmatically, as she slipped into the familiar chair.

The week flew past in a manner quite unlike the usual first week after vacation. Faith found herself cultivating a semicomic, semiserious condition of mind. She dreamed absurdities which she at the same time frankly acknowledged as such.

But although as the days passed the $2 bill failed to materialize, Faith experienced no disappointment. Her hope was too high. Such an unselfish wish, she reasoned, and so modest at that; surely the fates must smile on her sooner or later. At any rate, she told herself, the state of expectancy in which she lived made her fairly bubble with eagerness. Her work seemed easier than ever before; her fingers performed impromptu jigs on the typewriter keys; her mind was never so alert.

But Saturday came and no $2 bill had found the strength to manage the four flights of stairs, neither had one wafted itself in at the window from the airshaft. However, shortly after noon-hour, Faith, with eyes glowing and cheeks flushed, bounded up the stairs, two steps at a time.

"Mother!" Her voice heralded her coming before she flung open the door. "I've got it—I've got it!"

Her mother counted the rest of her stitches and then looked up.

"You look as if you had a fever," she remarked. "You should not dash up the stairs like that."

Unheeding, Faith flung something into her lap.

"Look! I've got my $2, I tell you, and it is coming every week, too," she cried breathlessly. "Where do you think I found it? Just where I never thought of wishing, mother—in my pay envelope!"

MOUNTAN VIEW

The mild weather of the past few days suddently changed. Jack Frost has paid us another visit.

A number of people from here attended the play entitled "The Deacon" given by the Allisonville Amateurs in Ameliasburg Hall and all reported a good time. About seventy-five dollars was made from door receipts.

Mr. Wellington Bristol sowed some early peas one day last week.

Mr. W. Ackerman purchased a fine cow at Elwood Delong's sale.

John Black and family of Toronto, are moving into our midst.

Misses Marjorie Wood and Bernice Thompson are home spending the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Moy and son, Morley, spent Easter with Mrs. Moy's sister, Mrs. M. Spencer.

Mr. Wellington Howell bought eight fine pigs from Leonard Wood one day last week.

A goodly number from here attended the sale of Mr. E. Delong's this week.

Mr. Gordon Bass bought four fine cows from John A. Howell.

Some of the young people here took in the play at Griffin's on Tuesday evening last.

Mr. Gordon Bass had the sawing machine one day this week.

The next meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at Mountain View church on May the Seventh for the selection of officers.

Yes, he reached the top first, but at the expense of his stockings.

Perhaps this was your boy and you gave him a scolding. But it really wasn't his fault, he wouldn't be normal if he wasn't hard on stockings.

Because we knew boys, we designed Buster Brown Stockings. Made them to stand the strenuous use of the average boy.

We knitted them from extra-long yarn made by ourselves to ensure uniform quality. Our employees have had years of special training in knitting Buster Brown quality into hosiery.

We knitted good looks as well as durability into Buster Brown stockings. They are made to fit—to give a dressy, gentlemanly appearance. They are suitable for any occasion.

Because of all these features, Buster Brown stockings cost less—and they require less mending.

Sold everywhere. Ask your dealer for Buster Brown durable hosiery.

Gananoque Man Badly Beaten and Thrown Through Window.

KINGSTON, April 28—To be held up on the corner of Queen and Bagot Streets at one o'clock Saturday morning, beaten and severely cut about the head and face and thrown through the large plate window of Angrove's garage by three men, was the experience of William R. White, of Gananoque, who was on his way to the G. T. R. Station, after spending the evening with his brother, Mr. E. J. White, Bagot street.

Shortly after one o'clock Saturday morning employees of the Randolph Hotel were surprised to see a man stagger through the doors, his face streaming with blood and his left hand merely hanging. Attention was given to the man by the clerk, Edward J. Kelly, and a call sent in to Dr. Bogart. The injured man was immediately rushed to the surgery of Dr. Bogart, where it was discovered that he had a large hole in the top of his head caused by a blow from a piece of iron, and part of his left hand was badly mutilated.

Belleville Soldiers Arrive Home From Overseas

Since Saturday the following Belleville soldiers have arrived home:

Pte. Baker of 162 Dundas Street arrived on Saturday. He enlisted with the 137th of Calgary and has been serving in the 31st. He served for three years and was wounded, receiving a bad gunshot wound in the leg at the battle of Vimy Ridge. He spent a year in hospital and was just ready to report for duty when the armistice was signed.

Pte. Bill Pye of 40 Dundas Street, arrived home Saturday. He went over with the first Eastern Ontario Depot Battalion.

Lieut. Fay Wills, of 38 Queen Street, arrived on the hospital train from the steamer Araguay Saturday evening. Fay, as he is familiarly called by his friends, reverted and went with the 155th Batt. and sustained a bad wound in the knee from which he is still suffering. He is receiving a hearty welcome from his many friends.

Corp. M. Belnap of Rossmore went over with the 39th and served with the Second Battalion.

Sergt. Crerar and bride returned from overseas on Sunday afternoon. He saw four years service and has been very fortunate, as he brought home both a military decoration and a bride.

Capt. A. B. Ritchie was among the arrivals on the Belgic. He signed up as medical officer with the Canadian Light Horse of Edmonton. He is staying with Mrs. J. M. Hurley of 46 Queen Street.

Gunner Thos. Foster arrived home early Sunday morning after serving since October, 1914. He was in all the big battles and came through all right. He reports an excellent trip across and is very loud in his praise of the good work of the Y.M.C.A. and Canadian Red Cross. He is stopping with Mrs. Chas. Hall, Front of Sidney.

Pte. Robert Duncan signed up with the 155th Bugle Band and served with the 2nd Battalion. After a few days he will leave for Hamilton, where his parents have moved.

Lieut. W. A. Haddock, of the Molsons Bank Apartments, arrived home Saturday. He signed up with the 62nd Batt. of Vancouver and was transferred to the 177th and reverted from the rank of Major to get overseas and went over in October, 1916. He came on the hospital ship and is suffering from severe injuries to his right arm received at the battle of Cambrai. Lieut. Haddock won promotion on the field and also won the Military Medal.

Pte. W. A. Ford, of 360 Bleecker Ave., went overseas with the 4th C. M. R., and left for France with the first draft of this famous unit. He was twice wounded.

Sapper J. Smith of 156 East Moira Street was also on the hospital ship. He went over with the Railway Construction Batt. and recently contracted influenza, from the effects of which he was invalided home.

Pte. Joe Hamer, enlisted in January 1916 with the 155th Battalion, being a member of the crack bugle band of that unit. He served with the 38th Battalion, taking part in most of the big engagements. He was wounded twice, the second time in the left arm, on August 8th last, the day the Canadian drive started at Amiens.

A NEW BREED OF SHEEP

(1) Sheep at Vermilion, Alberta. (2) Group of Yearlings in Feeding Experiment.

An interesting experiment is being worked out in Southern Alberta. An effort is being made to evolve an entirely new breed of sheep. The man who is responsible for this experiment is R. C. Harvey, of Lethbridge, Alberta, who for many years has been one of the foremost sheepmen in the province. Mr. Harvey believes he can evolve an entirely new breed of sheep, which will be particularly well suited to Alberta conditions, both from a mutton as well as a wool standpoint. For many years he has been experimenting with the Rambouillet rams and Romney ewes, and the new type is being bred up by a careful selection of the breeding ewes from this cross. Every two years will see a step forward toward the new type, and as it will take six crosses to fix it, the whole process will take eleven years.

Plans and charts have been drawn up, and a set of registration books is being opened in the animal husbandry branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa to keep track of the various families of the new breed, so that there may be no inbreeding, and ultimately no difficulty in registering the type.

Mr. Harvey is well qualified for his great task. He is reputed to be the owner of the largest flock of pure-bred Romney-Marsh sheep on the American continent, his flock consisting of more than four hundred registered animals brought together without regard to expense from all parts of the world. Besides these, he has a large number of Rambouillet rams and thousands of cross-breds. Last year the wool from his Romney-Rambouillet crossbreds was sold on the American market for the high average price of 74½ cents a pound on a consignment of 100,000 pounds. As high as 78½ cents a pound was paid for his fine stapled wool.

CITY AND COUNTRY

POTATOES FAILED TO COME

Mr. Henry McCaskey of this city reports to the police that on Saturday he purchased two bags of potatoes on the market and they were not delivered to his residence.

SPARE TIRE STOLEN

Last night a spare tire was taken from a car which was left standing in front of a residence on Dundas street. The loss was reported to the police who are investigating.

OWNER OF WHEEL WANTED

A bicycle is at the police station awaiting an owner. The wheel was found at the side of a building on Front street, where it had remained for some hours.

BICYCLE STOLEN

Mrs. Fleming residing on Bridge street east reported to the police that some time during last night a Massey-Harris bicycle was stolen from the verandah of her residence. It was a lady's wheel.

WELLINGTON REVIVAL

The series of evangelistic services at the Wellington Methodist Church which have been going on for the last four weeks, closed with a large farewell gathering. These services have been conducted by Evangelist G. M. Sharpe, with Mr. Rudd in charge of the singing and Miss Keitha Wooten of Belleville, soloist.

TRAIN SERVICE RESUMED

The Lindsay Warder states that a change in Grand Trunk time tables for that division will come into effect on Monday, May 5th. The changes of importance to the travelling public of Lindsay being that the old morning train to Belleville will be started again, leaving Lindsay at 7 a.m. and returning at 9.25.

GRAIN CARS DERAILED

On Friday evening six cars of grain were derailed on the G. T. R. line near Atherly Junction on the Midland division of the road. The cause of derailment is unknown. The track was cleared by the aid of an auxiliary from Lindsay. The only damage sustained was to the track and rolling stock.

TOOK CAR FOR A RIDE

Sunday about 11.25 Mr. Spencer, of Frankford, informed the police that his auto had been taken from in front of a cafe on Front street. Shortly after the car was returned and it was learned that two young men with girls had taken the car for a ride about the city.

A FINANCIAL SUCCESS.

The bazaar held last week under the auspices of St. Michael's Church of this city proved to be financially a most gratifying success. The receipts from all sources amounted to between $3,800 and $4,000, which will be applied towards the erection of the proposed new hospital.

HOTEL BEING DEMOLISHED

The last remains of the Hotel Lotus at St. Lawrence Park, near Alexandria Bay, are now being removed, and where the famous summer resort hostelry once stood there will in future be a fine lawn. The hotel, although one of the smaller Thousand Island resorts, was also one of the most popular for many years, being located in one of the most beautiful and quiet sections.

PTE. WHITLEY HOME

Pte. G. Whitley who recently returned from overseas, is now staying with friends in Point Ann. Pte Whitley joined the 235th Battalion in 1916 and was eighteen months in France with the Forestry Corps and 2nd Battalion, coming through many of the largest battles without receiving a wound. Previous to joining the Canadian forces he did eighteen months active service with the Imperial Forces. Pte. Whitley is the proud possessor of the Mons Star which he received for services rendered previous to November 26th, 1914.

SENTENCED FOR THEFT.

Before His Honor Judge Wills, Roy Bovay, Roy Simmons, John Coughlin and James M. Chase pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing alcohol from a railway tank at Trenton. Alexander Craddock charged with a like offence, was found guilty after a trial. The five men this morning appeared before His Honor for sentence. Judge Wills, before pronouncing sentence, stated that a sentence of 14 years in the penitentiary could be imposed for the crime of which they had been proven guilty. Owing to the fact that all were married men with families he would deal leniently and hoped they would profit by it and become law-abiding citizens. Craddock was fined $200 or in default one year in the Ontario Reformatory; Bovay, Coughlin and Simmons were fined $100 each or in default six months in the Reformatory. Chase, whom His Honor said had come forward and given his evidence in a straightforward manner, was fined $50 or in default three months in jail. It is expected that the fines will be paid. Mr. Carnew represented the Crown; Mr. Mikel, K.C., for Craddock, Col. O'Flynn for Simmons, Mr. E. J. Butler and Mr. Abbott for the Coughlin.

AUTO THIEF GETS TWO YEARS

Ross Rogers, a boy of sixteen years, who with a companions escaped from the Mimico Industrial School, stole an auto and drove it to Tweed where they were arrested, was on Saturday at Toronto sentenced to two years in the Reformatory.

Says She Feels Different Now

Mrs. Dean Declares She Will Never Cease Praising Tanlac

"I'll never stop praising Tanlac, for it has built me up till I feel better than I have in a good many years," said Mrs. Jean Dean, of 93 Fuller Avenue, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

"I was in a dreadfully rundown condition for several years," she continued, "and was getting worse all the time. My nerves were in a wretched state and was so restless I could hardly sleep and would get up in the mornings with a raging headache that worried me all day. The least little thing would upset me and any exertion at all would exhaust my strength so I would be unable to do my housework.

"My first few doses of Tanlac proved it to be just what I needed. My nervousness is entirely gone. I never have a headache now. I sleep like a baby and get up in the morning feeling fine. I have gotten rid of that old tired wornout feeling and have improved so wonderfully, that I feel like a different person."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling, by J. S. Morton, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Music And Drama

DESPITE HIS COLOR

George Wilson, now among the big black face headliners of Gus Hill's big minstrels due here at Griffins' tomorrow night overheard a conversation in a restaurant in Toledo one night recently after a performance by the noted tragedian Robert B. Mantell of "Othello", a role in which the noted player excels. The talk was between the two men evidently from the outskirts and possibly judging from their manner and appearance—farmers. They were discussing the play and players. One opioned that the actor who played Iago, the arch villian, was the best of all the players. The duo had apparently not looked at the program and names meant nothing to them. 'I dunno," retorted the second an, responding to the Iago remark, 'fer my part the feller that palyed the coon was putty durn good."

PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

Abounding with snappy dialogue, original situations and a plot of never ending interest, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath,' 'the A. H. Woods' famous farce festival which comes to Griffin's Opera House next Friday night, is said to be the best laughable entertainment of the past ten years. Fresh from a season of triumph that lasted five months in Chicago and seven months in New York where this attraction has just ended its engagement at the Republic Theatre, "Parlor Bedroom and Bath" will be given local theatre goers in its entirety, with the same production and the usual cast of the Woods' standard. What transpires when a young husband ventures into an affair at a wayside inn to convince his wife he is the 'rascal among the ladies," furnished a reason for the unfolding of this laughable tale.

VAUDEVILLE AT GRIFFIN'S

To record the achievements of Mme. Cavalieri as operatic star and screen favorite, means merely to recite a long list of artistic successes with which she, as Prima Donna and Cinema Queen, long has been identified. From a dancing girl, reared in poverty Lina Cavalieri has risen within a few years to similar fame as vocalist, so that her name is almost as well known throughout the civilized world as was Patti's in the days of her operatic glory. Her beauty, as well as her art, her wonderful voice, her personal magnetism and exquisite charm, have gained for her a reputation not surpassed by that of any other operatic favorite the world over. She is temperamentally an actress of the highest grade and all of her characterizations in pictures, therefore, are artistic and of brilliant finish. In her latest photoplay, "The Two Brides, which is being screened at Griffins tonight and Wednesday night she evinces her taelnts convincingly and her portrayal of the nesday night she evinces her talen's doubt be hailed as the best she has thus far done in pictures. "A Battle Royal," a very funny two-act Mack Sennett comedy and a new Mutt and Jeff cartoon comedy completes the photoplay program. The vaudeville portion of the program is in the capable hands of "The Versatle Duo" who offer an artistic and novel instrumental offering.

MADGE KENNEDY AT PALACE

Charity and kindness are not strangers to burlesque performers. Humble as is their calling, their kindness toward kinfolk and other in need shame those who look upon the burlesquer's means of livelihood as a thing degraded. An instance of this is brought out in Madge Kennedy's newest picture, "A Perfect Lady," from the popular Rose Stahl stage play by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf, which is being exhibited at the Palace tonight to Wednesday, along with a new Luke comedy and Pathe News with its gist of important news events.

"The Winning Girl" Will Be a Winner

Large Well Trained Chorus—Principals Are Best Yet Seen—Plenty of Laughs.

When the curtain rises upon the first act of "The Winning Girl" at Griffin's Monday night, the citizens will view the prettiest and best trained chorus ever seen upon local stage. For four weeks these young ladies and gentlemen have been rehearsing nightly without a break. It is usual with amateur productions that rehearsals are held once or twice a week but in "The Winning Girl" every night has been the rule and as a result both principals and chorus display a finish which few professional companies can boast of on the opening night.

SIDESPLITTING COMEDY

The principal comedy parts are in the hands of Mr. J. L. R. Gorman and Mr. W. L. Doyle. Mr. Doyle as Soloman Spiggott, Professor of Egyptology in Drinkwater University and father of seven little Spiggotts and Mr. J. L. R. Gorman as his eldest son, little Hemachus, furnish a class of comedy that rocks the audience from curtain to curtain. The other character comedy parts are played by Mr. Fred Sprague as Malaki Meek and Miss Mamie Waters as Mrs. Semiramu Spigott are equally mirth provoking.

If you want to laugh see "The Winning Girl." If you like pretty music, see "The Winning Girl." If you want to delight your optics you must see "The Winning Girl" Monday and Tuesday nights next May 5th and 6th.

Plan open at Griffin's Saturday morning, at ten o'colck, May 3rd.

Star Of "The Rosary" Native of Peterboro

(Peterboro Review)

"The Rosary," has been presented at the Grand Opera House in previous years, but never before quite so well as it was staged last night by Oscar O'Shea, supported by an excellent company of artists. Aside from the play itself the performance contained a touch of local color from the fact that Mr. O'Shea is a native of this city, one of the many who, in strange scenes, have brought honorable fame to their birthplace. Twenty-two years ago Mr. O'Shea who had a bad case of juvenile stage fever, left this city with the Marks Brothers' show, to which he attached himself in a humble capacity. After a long lapse of years he returns to his old home town at the very summit of his chosen profession. It was his second appearance here this season, as only a few weeks ago he presented another admirable play, "The Little Mother."

Mr. O'Shea's mother was one of the audience last night. If there came to her during the performance any regret that her son had ever adopted the stage as a profession, that regret must have been due to her conviction that he would have attained even greater heights if he had studied for the church. Only a man with the instincts of a clergyman, with a clear idea of what is required of the man who wears the clerical garb, could have played the role of aFther Kelly as Mr. O'Shea did last night.

ONTARIO GRADUATE NURSES ELECT OFFICERS AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, Aphil 28.—The officers of the Ontario Graduate Nurses' Association were elected as follows: President, Miss E. Jamieison, Toronto; Vice-President, Miss K. Mathieson Toronto; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Foy, Toornto; Board of Directors Miss Dyke and Miss Foy, Toronto; Miss Carry, Kingston; Mrs. Joseph, London; Miss Brennan, Hamilton; Miss M. Cotton, Ottawa; Miss Hall Brantford.

Several topics of business discussed included the paying of a secretary, time of holding future meetings, and the matter of erecting a memorial to the members of the association who lost their lives while on active service. It is estimated that 500 nurses from Ontario went overseas. The memorial may take the form of a scholarship at Queen's, a benefit fund for incapacitated nurses, a monument or other suitable memorial. The matter will be taken up at the annual meeting of the Dominion Association to be held in June.

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

THE YOUNGEST V.C.

He Is a Schoolboy From Newfoundland.

Private Thomas Ricketts, of the 1st Royal Newfoundland Regiment, who was recently decorated by the King with the Victoria Cross, is the youngest V.C. in the British armies.

Son of a fisherman of Middle Arm, White Bay, Newfoundland, who earns his living on the Grand Banks, Ricketts joined his regiment in September, 1916. His ardor for the war led him to declare himself 18. In fact he was a schoolboy of 15, stoutly built and of medium height.

Now the wearer of the V.C., the D. C. M., and the French Croix de Guerre (with Golden Star), he returns to Newfoundland to resume his studies—probably at Bishop Field College, St. John's. Hearing of this, and remembering that there will be no investiture for some time, the King sent for the lad, and received him at York Cottage, Sandringham.

"This is the youngest V. C. in my armies," said the King, introducing him to a bishop who happened to be in the room; and the King then read aloud the record of the bold achievement, for Ricketts, while one of the bravest lads in the army, is probably the very shyest. He is struck dumb when asked to tell what he did in the great war.

His brave act was curiously like that of Corpl. Gregory, which Sir A. Conan Doyle immortalized in "A Story of Waterloo." Wounded at Cambrai in November, 1917, Ricketts went back to France in April, 1918. On October 14, during the British advance from Ledeghem, the attack was held up by heavy hostile fire, and Ricketts' platoon suffered severe casualties from a battery at point-blank range. Ricketts volunteered to go forward with his section commander and a Lewis gun to outflank the battery. They advanced by short rushes, but their ammunition was exhausted while still 300 yards short, and the enemy tried to get their guns away. Ricketts doubled back under heavy machine gun fire, got more ammunition, and by accurate fire drove the German gun teams into a farm. The Newfoundland platoon then advanced, captured the guns, and saved the situation.

While at Sandringham the youngest V. C. was presented to the oldest V. C., Sir Dighton Probyn, who gave his warmest congratulations to Ricketts.

Hudson Bay Riches.

The sending out of exploration parties to James Bay this summer by the Hearst Government should bring forth new practical information bearing on the extension of the T. & N. O. Railway from Cochrane to Moose Factory. A survey of the resources of the Hudson Bay region, particularly as they relate to traffic over the railway, would be welcome. The existence of fine water-powers on the various rivers emptying into the bay from the south and east is shown by previous surveys. But detailed information respecting the timberlands, the outlook for new pulp industries, charcoal from birch, clay for pottery, the electrical extraction of nitrates from the air, the fisheries, the mineral resources of the region is needed. A short distance north of Cochrane, for instance, are clay deposits. In Hudson Bay, about 250 miles from Moose Factory, lie the Belcher Islands. On these are vast bodies of hematite ore of high grade. The Mesabi ore averaged about 52 per cent. It is understood that Belcher ore has tested out better than this. The obstacle to the proper exploitation of other big iron deposits in Ontario is their comparatively low grade. A bounty of 150 cents a ton is being asked to pay for handpicking. If the Belcher Island deposits, which are estimated in the hundreds of millions of tons, can be electrically smelted at one of the water-powers, Ontario may have there the nucleus of a big steel industry. Our dependence on American ores will perhaps disappear. In fact, the riches of our Northland have scarcely yet been scratched, and it may be that in the Hudson Bay region will ultimately be found an iron and steel Eldorado, requiring an industrial population bigger than the present-day population of the whole province.

History of Each Canadian Unit.

The Canadian War Records Office, London, has undertaken the publication of a short history of each of the Canadian units which served in France. The proceeds are being expended in aid of the Canadian War Memorials Fund. The first little book of this series, by Mr. Stuart Martin is "The Story of the 13th Battalion," the first war unit of the 5th Royal Highlanders of Montreal, from 1914 to 1917.

This battalion recruited to full strength within three weeks of the declaration of war and arrived in England on October 16. Here they put up with the mud and discomforts of Salisbury and finally sailed for France on February 10. They came into the line at Armentieres on February 24.

The first action was at the second battle of Ypres, where they and so many other battalions of Canadians "saved the situation" in the words of Field Marshal Lord French.

There follows accounts of their share in Festubert, Sanctuary Wood, on the Somme in 1916, and at Vimy and Lens in 1917, besides the smaller engagements of Kenora, Montreal, Regina and Winnipeg Trenches and Hill 70.

The booklet of 20 pages is well gotten up, and has as the frontispiece a picture of Brig.-Gen. F. O. Loomis, who was the first O.C. Other books of the series already published give the stories of the 10th, 28th and the Princess Pats. There is also a booklet of the series, "Canada's Triumph," which gives the details of the fighting at Amiens, Arras and Cambrai.

Why He Left Home.

Why Joe left home is hinted at in this notice which appeared in a daily newspaper: "Dear Joe—Come home. Forgive and forget. I have destroyed the book of war recipes.—Milly."

Accepts Challenge And Issues Another

NEW YORK, April 29—Charles Johnson Post, director of the Publishers' Advisory Board, who was accused by Postmaster-General Burleson of uttering an "infamous falsehood" in a statement regarding the alleged refusal to transmit matter criticizing him over the telegraph wires and of being "chief lobbyist" of the publishers, sent the following telegram to Mr. Burleson:

" accept your challenge in your statement published in Saturday's papers to publicly present all figures of moneys raised by the Publishers Advisory Board, its expenditures and will details in connection with myself and this organization before any representative named by you and at any time or place at their convenience. I shall place myself entirely at their disposal as to examination under oathe in connection with all these expenditures.

"In return I challenge you to similarly produce and make public your records of the moneys received by you and the profits made by you in connection with convict labor on properties owned by owner, a convict labor system which competes with free American labor, and in which whippings, brutality, and ferocious punishments were the methods of extracting adequate labor from its victims."

He Went a Lieutenant Comes Back a Colonel

W. E. Manhard, D.S.O., Home Again, and His English Bride is With Him.

TORONTO, April 29—W. E. Manhard, a graduate of Queen's and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. James Norris, 120 Delaware Avenue, Toronto was following his profession as engineer in Port Arthur, when the war broke out. He went to Kingston, and joined the Queen's Engineers. Then he went overseas as a lieutenant and recruited for the Eight Battalion in England. Now he's back—a lieutenant colonel.

Col. Manhard has the 1915 star and ribbon and the long service ribbon. "Canada in Flanders" tells how he won the D.S.O. and he was the first Canadian captain to receive the honor.

Col. Manhard has been in all the big battles of his unit, and has come through them all without a scratch. He hasn't been sick either.

Col. Manhard is married. His bride accompanied him on the Adriatic when the big ship landed Sunday. He married Miss Nancy Ponton, of Devonshire, England.

Col. and Mrs. Manhard are the guests of their aunt, Mrs. Norris.

Shorter Hours For Shoe Workers

TORONTO, April 28—The Ontario Shoe Manufacturers Association has announced that on or before June 1st the hours of labor in most of the factories of Ontario will be reduced to forty-nine and one half per week without lessening of weekling earnings of employees. Thirty-five hundred workers are affected by this decision. Many of them now work forty-five hours a week or longer.

Watching Out For Bolters What Liberal Will be First ?

PARLIAMENT HAS FINISHED FIRST LAP OF TRIP WITH BUT LITTLE TO SHOW FOR GREAT AMOUNT OF TALKING DONE.

Dominion Parliament has finished the first leg of its trip towards propogation, and that is about all it has finished, writes the Parliament correspondent of the Toronto Telegram. To be sure it cleaned up resolutions by private members before adjourning for its Easter recess. But that is simply a matter of form. Every session the members load up the order paper with things they want to talk about. The House listens patiently or talks diligently on or about them for a certain number of days, and the rest are dumped overboard. Canada gets less legislation for the amount of conversation out of private members' resolutions than it even does from the efforts of the orators on the soap boxes on Torpnto street corners. However, the House has worked that part of the session out of its syseth. It must feel the better for it.

But when you get down to real work accomplished it is doubtful if the session is as far advanced right now as it was two months ago. The only Government measure mentioned in the speech from the throne that has been imprinted on the statute books is the Act establishing Hon. Wesley Rowell's Health Department. This was cut in two before it got through the House the social welfare end of it going into the discard, and with it went the peerless uplifter's usefulness in so far as the measure is concerned. It now looks as if the new job would go to Hon. J. A. Calder to help make the immigration portfolio a real one.

Gets New Job

As things go at present Hon. Jim has hardly room to exercise his boasted ability. When the Interior Department was split up so that Hon. Jim and Hon. Arthur Meighen could divide political control of the West, no provision was made for other than a nominal division of the department. So as things stand at present the two statesmen just have one Deputy Minister between them. Now this arrangement must either overwork the deputy or underwork the Ministers; so as health work will largely concern immigration it is believed that Hon. Jim will not only coax colonists too this country, but keep an eye on their health while they are coming.

That leaves Hon. Wesley Rowell without much of a job. To be sure he will continue to preside over the Privy Council and act as official editor of the Official Record. As that interesting publication costs the country $1,000 a week it should be entitled to a pretty fair part. And as editors go, what's the matter with Wesley? Anyway, in these parlous times it is just as well to have an extra Minister or two on hand. You never know when one or more may declare himself a candidate for a seat at the National Grit Convention.

Who Will Be First

Just at present betting is about even as to whether Carvell or Crerar will be the first to move over on to the cross benches as a preliminary to getting in under the big tent. It might be remarked in passing that whereas the welcome to Carvell might be a bit cool, as he can bring nothing with him—not even his own seat, in fact—there is a considerable section of the Opposition who would receive the Western farmer with open arms. The Grits in national convention assembled are expected to blossom forth as free traders of the first water, and in some quarters Crerar is looked on as a natural choice for leader. But not with the consent of Mr. McKenzie. That canny Scot is finding the seat of the mighty easy to sit in and not at all hard to fill. Like other Scotsmen you have met, he is quite well satisfied with himself and convinced that Grits looking for a leader might go further and far worse. And then doesn't he come from Nova Scotia? Never yet, was there a man reared within hearing of an Intercolonial whistle who was not a statesman in his own right. So when they talk of Martin and Mackenzie King, remember Mr. McKenzie. Also remember with Max O'Rell that a "Scotsman keeps the Sabbath and everything else he gets his hands on." The McKenzie is in this preferred position, and has all the qualifications of a great compromise candidate.

As For The Others

As for the other leading Grits in the Cabinet, Rowell has nowhere to go, Calder is not trusted by the Opposition. Maclean is so slow that he will stay where he is till he makes up his mind and by that time the convention will be over, and Sifton is sticking close to the Supreme Court. They all look like fixtures where they are.

But to get back to the Parliamentary programme, as even Parliament itself sometimes does for a few minutes at a time. The immigration bill has now grown into twins, an immigration bill and a colonization bill, and the Cabinet are said to be sitting up nights trying how to work both out without handing any spending money to the provinces.

They Will Hold On

The members simply will not stand for that unless Sir Robert threatens to resign. That threat of resignation will bring a majority in behind him at any moment. For this Union party is still united on two things—it wants increased indemnities and it wants to draw them till effluxion of time forces a general election. You never saw a bunch who like their jobs so well or who are prepared to sacrifice as much to hold them.

Of course, Sir Thomas White does not like to take too many chances with another man's job. And he has been practising the sunny smile system. Anyway, why should he sacrifice his personal popularity doing another man's chores? So he will just wiggle along till Sir Robert comes home. Then the latter will crack the whip, there will be a straining in the traces, and this law mill will begin to grind.

When is he coming, you ask. Well, there was a whisper from high circles that he would sail on Easter Monday. But when those who carried the glad news read in the morning papers that President Wilson had decided to tarry yet a little longer they shook their heads despondently. "You can't expect Sir Robert to come till Woodrow leads the way," they said.

SHOULD CLAIM GRATUITY

TORONTO, April 29—All soldiers or airmen of the United States and Canada who have served in and were discharged from the Royal Flying Corps or the Royal Air Force, Canada, before November 11, 1981, and who had more than six months' pay service, are instructed, according to an announcement made at headquarters to make claim on the paymaster here in order that any war gratuity due them may be paid.

Airmen discharged for misconduct, or irregular enlistment, or with less than six months' pay service, are not required to make claims.

A form will be sent by the paymaster to airmen making application, and upon its return completed, a cheque for any amount found to be due will be forwarded.

879 TORONTO MEN COMING

OTTAWA, April 29—With a total of 2,865 soldiers on board, of which 1,881 are for Winnipeg and 879 for Toronto, the Empress of Ireland is now on her way across the Atlantic, and will likely dock at Quebec on May 5. The Winnipeg units which she is bringing are the 8th and 16th Battalions, the Third Field Ambulance Depot, and the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Battalion, Canadian Engineers. The 1st Machine Gun Battalion will go to Toronto. There are four soldiers' dependents and three nursing sisters on board.

Japan Delegates Confer With Wilson

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 29—Before the meeting of the Council of Three this morning Baron Makino, head of the Japanese Mission and Viscount Chinda, his colleogue, conferred with President Wilson. The conference lasted nearly an hour. Presumably the question of Kia-O-Chau was under discussion. The Council of Three at the beginning of its session received a committee from the Belgian cabinet and gave it a hearing regarding the question of indemnities.

SAYS GERMAN WAR PRISONERS WILL BE RELEASED GRADUALLY

PARIS, April 29.—The Council of Five, La Liberte says, has agreed that the German war prisoners shall be liberated after the signing of the peace treaty. The prisoners will be released gradually as Germany contributes to the work of reconstruction, exacted by the treaty and in proportion to this contribution.

Monster Still Found In Cellar

BOWMANVILLE, April 28—To-day has been so rainy and dark for good hunting, but two hunter for law breakers had wonderful success on a "still hunt" out in Manvers township. The "still" in this instance was a whiskey still, a monster, too.

High Constable Richard Jarvis received a hint yesterday that greater activity than usual had been evident on the farm of William Brown, locally known as "Tamarac Billie," on the boundary line btween Cartwright and Manvers on the Manvers side, quite near the village of Lotus. He summoned License Inspector George Gooderich, and to-day they were motored out to the Brown farm and finding no one home they unceremoniously forced open the door, when a strong smell of whiskey was recognized.

Wending their way to the cellar they made a great find, a whiskey still in operation, with a capacity, the discoverers estimate, of one hundred gallons a day. They found twelve barrels of fifty-two gallons capacity, in the course of fermentation. This, over six hundred gallons, they emptied on the cellar floor. In the copper stills, of two stories and coolers, were further quantities. In a corner, covered with rugs, they found ready for market two ten-gallon kegs and one twenty-five gallon keg—forty-five gallons of genuine "moonshine" whiskey. This they hired a neighbor to deliver at Pontypool C. P. R. Station, where they shipped it to the Ontario License Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

That a brisk trade has been carried on in the manufactured product there is little doubt, as several automobiles daily have been notice going to the Brown farm, the house being situated a considerable distance from the main travelled road. The windows were darkened by blankets and quilts. Upstairs was found the bottling department, and a quantity of dye for coloring the whiskey was found there. Quantities of barley chop and potatoes were found stored in the house. The hauling of supplies has been done at night on a by-road running through the woods.

The tenants of the Brown estate are said to be two Hebrews, who are in Toronto at present attending some Jewish festival. Their names could not be ascertained to-day. Some arrests may be expected soon, however.

Germany Tied Up By Labor Strikes

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 29—Renewed agitation in almost all parts of Germany is reported in German advices received here. The railway employees in Berlin district are threatening to bring on a general strike on May 7 if their claims are not satisfied while in the Ruhr industrial district Spartacans are again displaying great activity and endeavoring to organize a general strike. In this region already there have been outbreaks in which casualties have occurred. Electric railway employees in Silesia are generally reported to have struck.

Munich Surrounded By German Troops

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 29—The encirclement of Munich by German Government troops has been completed, according to a German despatch received here. This result was accomplished, it is said by the occupation of Landshut, about thirty-five miles northeast of Munich, which city has been closely approached on all sides.

Meanwhile Government forces are dealing with troubles in Nuremburg where Spartacan leader Albert Schmidt was killed by Government troops and state of seige proclaimed. The Spartacans there took one of the majority socialist leaders prisoner.

Great Aerial Race May Start To-day

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

ST. JOHNS, Nfd., April 29—The trans-Atlantic race is expected to start from St. Johns some time this afternoon. Reports received here this morning were that weather conditions over the ocean were favorable and Capt. Raynham, British aviator, and Harry Hawker, his Australian rival, each, had his belonging packed and wings of his machine preened this morning for flight toward Europe.

James W. Leonard Died At Brampton

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, April 29.—James W. Leonard, President of the Toronto Terminal Company, and formerly general manager of the C. P. R. eastern lines, died at his home in Brampton this morning. He had been suffering for years with stomach trouble. He was born at Epsom, Ont., in 1858, and had been railroading in various capacities since he was fourteen years of age.

American Soldiers Killed By Blacks

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, April 29.—Three Americans were killed at Winchester repatriaton camp last night in a night with South African negro soldiers. The Winchester camp was established for Americans who served in the British Army and are waiting transportation home. The feeling between the force of South African blacks and the Americans has been strong. The blacks last night armed themselves with sticks and attacked the Americans, three of whom were said to have been killed, while 30 were injured.

LONDON, April 29.—Herbert H. Asquith, former Premier, is likely to succeed the Earl of Reading as Ambassador to the United States, according to the Evening News today.

St. John's Bets On Sea Flight

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., April 28—Now that the time has passed for the sealing sweepstakes, Newfoundland's favorite indoor sport, men and women here have turned to gambling on the transatlantic flight. Lloyds' odds quoted here were 4 to 1 against any crossing during April, 2 to 1 against any crossing in May, 2 to 1 in favor of Raynham getting across, and 2 to 1 against Hawker getting across. The latter odds are explainable, in the opinion of Morgan, Raynham's pilot, because the Raymore was ready to take the air three days after his arrival, while the Sopwith took much longer, and missed one chance of getting away sixteen days ago. In addition to these odds, St. John's is making its own sweepstakes, in which lots are drawn on all sorts of aspects of the flight.

The weather is somewhat improved though stiff southeast winds were sweeping across Quidi Vidi valley, which made the Martinsyde start practically impossible, and the same conditions at Mount Pearl offered only precarious chances to get away.

Opposition Makes a Fuss Over Gov't C. N. R. Bill

SIT UP ALL NIGHT TO MAKE CAPITAL FOR POLITICAL CAMPAIGN — OPPOSITION LEADER, McKENZIE, OBJECTS TO PRIVATE OWNERSHIP TAG BEING PLACED ON OPPOSITION — SIR THOMAS WHITE GODLY FOR PROFIT, SAID THE McKENZIE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

OTTAWA, April 28.—By a vote of 93 to 41 the Government Bill incorporating the Canadian National Railways passed the committee stage at two o'clock this morning, when the debate automatically stopped under the closure rule. D. D. McKenzie, leader of the Opposition, closed the discussion with a fighting speech, which his followers cheered to the echo. He said he resented the attempt of Acting-Premier Sir Thomas White to lead the country to believe that the Opposition was opposed to public ownership. Sir Thomas, he said, was everything by turns and nothing very long. Moreover, he said, he was godly when godliness pays. A vote was taken on a clause proposed by the Opposition leader providing for penalties, but this amendment was defeated on division as above. Donald Nicholson, of P. E. I. was the only Government supporter who voted with the Opposition. The schedules were then adopted by a majority of 51 and the House adjourned at 2.15 a.m.

Ex-Kaiser Will Be Tried By Tribunal Of Five

WILLIAM HOHENZOLLERN WILL BE TRIED BY FIVE JUDGES REPRESENTING UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, ITALY AND JAPAN, FOR A SUPREME OFFENCE AGAINST INTERNATIONAL MORALITY AND THE SANCTITY OF TREATIES.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—New articles have been proposed for insertion in the peace treaty, to be considered at the plenary session of the Peace Conference today, the State Department announces, including the following provision for the trial of the Ex-Kaiser:

Powers Arraign Wilhelm.

"The Allies and Associated Powers publicly arraign William II. of Hohenzollern, formerly German Emperor, not for an offence against criminal law, but for a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties.

"A special tribunal will be constituted to try the accused, thereby assuring him the guarantees essential to the right of defence. It will be composed of five judges, one appointed by each of the powers, namely: the United States of America, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

To Fix Punishment.

"In its decision the tribunal will be guided by the highest motives of international policy, with a view to vindicating the solemn obligations of international undertakings and the validity of international morality. It will be its duty to fix the punishment which it considers should be imposed.

"The Allied and Associated Powers will address a request to the government of the Netherlands for the surrender to them of the Ex-Emperor in order that he may be put on trial.

ST. JULIEN COMMEMORATED BY VETERANS AT BROCKVILLE

BROCKVILLE, April 29—In commemoration of the part played by the Canadians at St. Julien in the course of the second battle at Ypres, four years ago, and in memory of the soldiers from Brockville and district who fell in preventing the Germans from breaking through to Calais, and in other engagements during the war, the Great War Veterans' Association and the Ladies Auxiliary in conjunction with the Ministerial Association, observed Sunday as St. Julien Day with apropriate ceremonies. Theie was a parade of the veterans from the Armories to the new theatre along the principle streets lined with great crowds of citizens, and feature of the memorial service at decorated with flags and bunting. A of theatre, which was crowded to overflowing, was the presentation by Mrs. Charles E. Fulford to the G.W.V.A. of a service flag embroidered by the auxiliary of the association embracing a maple leaf bearing the name of each local soldier who has fallen in action. here are over one hundred maple leaves on the flag.

BASEBALL

A meeting of the management of the Senior Baseball League of the city was held in the Y. M. C. A. building last evening, four teams were represented, namely the G. T. R., St. Michael's, Ontarios and Wanderers. The 10th of May was the date set for the managers of the teams to notify the secretary of the list of players. Any resident of the city of Belleville is eligible to play on either of the teams. The outlook is good for excellent baseball in the city the coming season.

"Babe" Ruth—"Tarzan they call him now—is the mightiest hitter that ever swung a bat. The big lefthander of the Boston Red Socks, in a game against the Baltimore International League team ten days ago slammed four out of the lot and was passed twice, and the next day he drove two more homers over the fence on his first two times up, making six home runs in two games—five of them in succession! In eight times at bat; Six home runs and two passes! That breaks all records for long-distance batting and home-run hitting. The feat of making four homers in a game has been performed before, back in the old days, but nothing like big Ruth's performance in Baltimore ever approached. Bobby Lowe, with the Boston National team, at Boston, May 30, 1894, cracked out four homers (two in one inning) and a single while Chamberlain was in the pitcher's box for Cincinatti. "Big" Ed. Delehanty of the Phillies, July 13,1896, at Chicago, made four home runs and a single off Pitcher Terry. Dan Brouthers, Detroit N. L., is also credited with four home runs in a single game. We find a few batting records in the minor league. J. Crooks, Omaha vs St. Paul, Western Association in five times at bat made four home runs and a single, June 8, 1889, at Omaha. Bottenus, Buffalo vs Wilkesbarre, Eastern League, four homers and a two-bagger in six times at bat. Jackley with ronton, Ohio State League, five hits in five times up, including four home runs, off Harta, Sept. 9, 1913. September 10, 1917, in Toronto-Montreal game (12 innings) at Montreal, six home runs were made in one inning; eight in the game.

Georges Carpentier—eight years in the ring and four years at war with the common enemy of civilization, the Hun. And yet Georges is only 25 years old—25 last January. He's a remarkable fellow, this Frenchman, who began fighting at 13 as a bantamweight and graduated from one class to the next until he was acclaimed the heavyweight champion of Europe. He whipped some of the best men in the world in all classes and then the war came and he was one of the first in the uniform of his country. He has done valiant service and has been decorated. He's been wounded, too, but is now sound physically and yearns for a return to the ring. Georges has frequently fought since joining the colors nearly five years ago, but not for a title-holder or for gain. Over four years of military service has not hurt him. He's a better man for it, he declares optimistically. But twelve years as a fighter and a soldier has a tendency to tie up the muscles of a man like Georges. So he has started anew. He has gone in for all-round athletics and has been successful in other sports as he was in boxing. Carpentier thinks that with this sort of training he'll soon be in condition to re-enter the ring and kick up some furore himself. He is a little more than a middleweight, but he is a powerful man and one who was feared by most heavyweight in America. It is very probable that when he gets back in the game with both feet that he'll be sought after for a bout with the winner of the Dempsey-Willard fight on July 4. Carpentier has met several good American fighters in the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight classes. He won from Willie Lewis in 20 rounds in 1911. Gunboat Smith lost to him on a foul. He lost to Joe Jeanette in a fifteen-round affair in 1914. He lost on a foul to Frank Klaus in 19 rounds. He lost to Billy Papke in 1912. But he twice knocked out Bombardier Wells, the English champion, and thereby holds the European heavyweight title.

GOOD PROGRAMS AT THE PALACE AND GRIFFIN'S

Musical McWilliams Make a Hit at Griffin's in Vandeville Turn—Rapid Fire Screen Comedies Amuse.

Appearing in a new and novel screen characterization, Lina Cavalieri, one of the foremost operatic stars of the world appeared at Griffin's last night in her latest starring vehicle "The Two Brides." Mms. Calalieri portrays the role of the daughter of a noble Italian sculptor who lives on an island on the Mediterranean, and who has never come in contact with the outer world until her cousin, a dissipated Count, who, to escape the consequences of crime in Rome, seeks refuge at this Island. The two meet, and the girl falls in love with her cousin, who, believing her to be in possession of funds, seeks to induce her to marry him secretly. The girl has been the model for her father in the sculpturing of a statue called "The Goddess." When he is stricken with paralysis, it is necessary to sell this statue in order that he and his daughter may live. A nobleman of wealth comes to the Island to purchase the statue, and he, too, falls in love with young Diana. This brings about complication which combine to make a most interesting dramatic story.

"A Battle Royal" is the title of a very funny Mac Sennett comedy which is being screened along with a good Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoon which completes the photoplay portion of the program. If the Griffin management can offer local theatregoers such excellent vaudeville turns as that presented by the "Musical McMillan's" last night no doubt the standing room only sign will be in evidence nightly, their offering warranting the generous aplause accorded them at the close of their turn last night. The entire program is well worth seeing and will be repeated again for the last time tomorrow night.

Miss Lillian Vincent is spending a couple of weeks the guest of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Moreland, of Moira.

Up to the Minute Is "The Winning Girl"

Latest Song Hits From Broadway Feature of Belleville's Annual Dramatic Treat.

The cast and chorus of "The Winning Girl" are now engaged in smoothing out the rough spots preparatory to the production of this brilliant musical comedy on Monday and Tuesday nights, May 5th and 6th. The staging and dancing of both principals and chorus is of a finished character. The music has been carefully selected from all the latest reigning hits of both London and New York and the show is said to be a "Show of Hits." Each number has a sufficient charm to carry the performance successfully.

Never has a local production given so much in vocal talent. The cast of principals is headed by Mrs. A. P. Allen whose beautiful soprano has never had better medium of expression. Miss Gladys Vermilyea sings with irresistible charm and sweetness and Miss K. Thompson will captivate all in her delightful number, "When all the Ships Come Sailing Home." This trio is alone worth the price of admission. Mr. Harold Barrett and Mr. J. M. Booth sing the juvenile roles in a manner hardly surpassed by the best of professionals.

Miss Ivy Dickens is something new in local talent productions. She is a real comedienne. Her comedy is inimitable and her singing delightful.

Mr. Ernest Ridley as the burglar is a whole show in himself and his assumption of the place of the Pumpkinville detective will create heaps of amusement.

The plan opens at Griffin's on Saturday morning at 10 a.m. and as the rush will be heavy the first there will get the choice seats.

Wedding Bells

MATHISON—KNIGHT

At the family residence, 294 George Street, city, at high noon on Saturday last, Miss Helen Knight, daughter of Mr. W. W. Knight, assistant principal of the High School, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Mathison of Toronto, a returned soldier. Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Pastor of the John Street Presbyterian Church, officiated. The young couple were unattended. At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty wedding repast was partaken of, after which Mr. and Mrs. Mathison left for a bridal tour and upon returning will take up their residence in the Queen City. The many friends of the bride in this city will wish her many years of a happy wedded life.

OSHAWA POLICE MAGISTRATE PASSES AWAY IN HOSPITAL

OSHAWA, April 28.—Oshawa mourns the loss of a well known citizen in the death of Charles H. Crysdale, police magistrate, who passed away Friday morning at the Oshawa hospital, after an illness of a few months, aged 68 years. Deceased was a native of Prince Edward County, moving to Oshawa in 1880, and conducted a successful grocery business until 1913. In 1914 he was given the appointment of police magistrate for Oshawa. He has been indentified with the political and commercial life of the town for a number of years, during that time having served on the council board and board of education. In politics he was a life-long Conservative. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. F. D. Elliott, and one son, Frank, both of Toronto.

"Their Children"

By WALTER DELANEY

More than once when he passed the broken down, but neatly-kept cottage located at the other end of the block about two hundred feet from his own lonely but palatial home, Barton Lee slowed his steps, his glance lingering on the neat, trim figure of a lady about his own age.

He had taken sufficient interest in the lady to ask something about her from his sole servant, John Ward. The latter imparted the intelligence that she was a widow, Mrs. Althea Warren, that her husband, a worthless adventurer, had deserted her and died and that his family had given his widow the little cottage and a small yearly stipend.

Lee had lifted his hat whenever he caught her eye, but was not the man to intrude his attention upon her, and, while she responded to the courtesy, she acknowledged it only as the casual interest of a man pleasant and friendly with all his neighbors, rich or poor.

She was pleased at the neighborly recognition of a man whom everybody respected, and whom she secretly admired. She grew to have a certain reverence for him when she learned of his deeds of charity and helpfulness for the obscure and unfortunate. He became her ideal and she often wondered how he was content to live alone in the great corner mansion. His man Ward was wont to greet Mrs. Warren civilly and one morning he seemed particularly anxious to talk.

"New arrivals at our house yesterday," he announced. "I suppose you've heard about it?"

"Why, no, I hadn't," she answered.

"Mr. Lee has had some strange impulses at times, but this freak beats 'em all. He was in the city last week and got interested in a lot of Belgian children brought to this country to find homes for. Bless me! if he didn't take three. Just as if they were war stamps or Liberty bonds to file away and no more trouble than that. They're at the house now, a girl of eight and two lads six and four. Say, they're cute, lively and interesting, but think of it—him a confirmed old bachelor!"

"But not very old," demurred Mrs. Warren.

"Well, in his habits and system and ways. Him bothering with three little ones just at the age to keep up a racket in our quiet old home!"

"But who is going to take care of them?" inquired the widow.

"That's it—me, of course. He's that inexperienced he thinks they can be packed away like dolls. Yes, I'm to see that they thrive and be happy. A fine responsibility for a man of my age, isn't it, now?"

"Mr. Lee, is a grand, good man to adopt those poor homeless waifs," declared Mrs. Warren in a tone fervent with genuine emotion, and when Ward was gone her womanly heart went out longingly towards the little group.

"Well, we've got a sort of system with the little ones," Ward reported to her a week later. "They just romp around the house when it rains and play in the garden all day long when it's fair. I'm growing to like them and Mr. Lee, who is in the city, writes every day anxiously inquiring about them as if they were his own kith and kin."

His manner was troubled and dismal when next Mrs. Warren met him. "Bad news!" he mourned. "Mr. Lee had an automobile accident in the city and is laid up in a hospital there." And, two days later: "All three of the little ones have got the measles."

"Oh, let me nurse them!" impulsively exclaimed the widow. "There is plenty of room for them here. You have your hands full and I—my heart goes out to the little tots!" And before nightfall she was hovering over her patients like some fond mother.

It appeared as though ill fortune was pursuing Barton Lee. Two nights later the big mansion at the corner burned to the ground. Ward barely escaped with his life, and Mrs. Warren now had to give him shelter.

"Not that it matters much, the old house going," he told her, "for Mr. Lee was going to move soon. You see, the place is under foreclosure," and Althea's tender soul became pitiful as from this she supposed that in addition to his other troubles Mr. Lee had lost his fortune.

It was two weeks later when for the first time, supported by a crutch, Barton Lee, convalescent, entered the little home to see his children.

"Mr. Lee," Ward had told his employer, "I've known fine women, but Mrs. Warren beats them all. She's been a mother to those little ones and she thinks you're just the grandest man in the world for adopting them. She's got an idea, because I happened to speak of the foreclosure on the old home to clear title, that you've lost all you've got. She's housed the tots, she's made me a welcome guest, and she's so full of pity for your loss of fortune that I suppose she's just longing to take you in until you get on your feet."

"You rascal! You haven't let her think I really am poor, have you?" and so delicately, yet sincerely, did Althea Warren reveal her respect and helpfulness for a man she believed unfortunate and poor, that Barton Lee cherished the womanly treasure he had found, and when he opened his new home she was its mistress and a mother to "their children."

CAR RAN AMUCK WITH LITTLE GIRLS

WESTON, April 29—Three little girls, all less than eight years of age, had a narrow escape Sunday afternoon when the motor car in which they were playing ran away and crashed into a large telegraph pole breaking the pole and smashing the automobile. The car belonged to cousins of Mr. Kennedy Gray, Williams Street, and was standing in front of Mr. Gray's house when his two daughters and a third little girl entered the car and in some manner managed to start it. The car had run about 400 feet when it struck the telegraph pole. Two of the girls jumped and were uninjured while the third girl who stayed in the car was badly shaken but not seriously hurt.

New Superintendent Of Penitentiaries

OTTAWA, April 29—The Civil Service Commission has appointed Major General W. S. Hughes to the position of Superintendent of Dominion Penitentiaries, created by legislation passed at the 1917 session of Parliament. Gen. Hughes was formerly connected with the penitentiaries' branch of the Department of Justice, first serving as accountant and subsequently as Chief Inspector. He retired when the war broke out and during the period of hostilities rendered meritorious services both in Canada and overseas. Subsequent to the retirement of Gen. Hughes from the post of Inspector of Penitentiaries it was abolished, and in connection with the reorganization of the service the more important position created. It has been anticiapted in many quarters that the choice of the Commissioners would fall upon Major-General Hughes because of his past experience.

Major-General Hughes for a considerable period during the war was Commandant at Sewell Camp, Manitoba. He went to France in command of a battalion in 1915. His military experience goes back to the Northwest Rebellion in 1885.

Great Ship Missed Mine By 30 Feet

NEW YORK, April 28—The giant troopship Leviathan, with 12,000 soldier passengers, the last of six transports to arrive here Friday, bringing 22,973 men, missed a mine by only 30 feet while off the Grand Banks of Newfoundlannd, Tuesday morning her officers reported when she docked here.

Officers of the ship said the Leviathan has been warned to lok out for a floating mine the day before by the transport Mount Vernon, which had proceeded them. On receipt of the radio warning, the course of the Leviathan was changed and she sailed nearly 100 miles to the southward of the location of the mine as given by the other transport.

The floating internal machine was sighted, the officers said, at 10.30 a.m by Lieutenant Commander Harold Cunningham, who was on the bridge dead ahead of the transport. Quick thinking and quick action was all that averted a collision. A desperated whirl of the wheel sent the steamship past the mine with a margin of safety of ten yards.

None of the soldiers aboard knew until they docked how close they had been to danger, for the officers kept the incident to themselves, believing that if it became known it might cause needless alarm.

BUILD UP BELLEVILLE.

Buy goods made in Canada, made in Belleville preferred, and you will be more than a lip patriot. Buy goods made in Belleville if possible, but buy goods sold in Belleville and help to build up Belleville and Canada first. Few dollars sent out of the city ever come back, and every dollar sent out of the city needlessly is a blow at the prosperity of Belleville.

Dealing in your own home town is more patriotic and much more satisfactory. Buy where you see what you are buying and not risk your money on a catalogue picture. An instance of the advantage of dealing at home occurred recently when a citizen sent to Toronto for some shirts. The shirts he received were the well-known Deacon made-in-Belleville shirts, so the quality was all right, but he paid just twenty-five cents a shirt more than he could have obtained the same shirts for on Front Street, with the privilege of close examination and selection of patterns.

It is estimated by experts that Canada will have no difficulty in financing her huge war debt if the people will only play up and play the game—Canada first, last and all the time, buying only goods made-in-Canada and always giving preference to goods made in the home town. Our own firesides first as the first line of defence—then Canada—building up a strong citizenship of co-operative effort for the greatest good of the greatest number.

Canada First should be the watchword from now on and Build up Belleville the slogan to wake up the sleepers, including city departmental store patrons and all who send money out of Belleville which could be kept in circulation here.

The best citizens are those who think more of the general good than of the possible personal effect any scheme of reform may have. The best type of citizenship is even willing to pay a dollar or two more taxes if necessary to make the home town a better and busier place with more opportunities of employment for the workingman and more money in circulation for everybody to get a share of.

Build up Belleville.

SWAT THE MOSQUITOES.

Poets have sung about the voices of the night and indited rapturous verses to the choruses of the frogs, but distance lends enchantment to the view, and a frog pond in the centre of a city loses all romance when its possibilities as a breeder of malaria and other diseases are taken into consideration. On Turnbull Street, close to the Arena Rink is a large sized frog pond, apparently densely populated, judging by the volume of sound which rises every evening from its depths. Attention of the Board of Health was called to this pest hole last year, but beyond a casual visit or two nothing was done, and in the fullness of time the sun dried up the swamp so that by fall the danger to health had largely disappeared. During the spring and early summer, however, the frog pond was a fruitful breeding ground for mosquitoes and disease germs. Turnbull Street mosquitoes are noted for their size and ferocity and are apparently well versed in all the tricks of atrocity made infamous by the Huns. If they ever make a combined attack upon the local Board of Health the Turnbull Street frog pond will be filled up without delay.

SHOULD SOLDIERS BE ISOLATED?

Mr. H. M. Mowat's proposal in Parliament that the Government should erect garden cities for soldiers, seems to us to be open to very serious objection, says the Montreal Herald. It raises the question as to whether it is desirable to isolate soldiers in groups, as this would do. In a general way it would be an excellent thing to create model communities, whether in the suburbs or in the country, in which returned soldiers could live, but it is certainly not desirable to isolate the soldiers in groups as a class apart. Mr. Mowat admitted as much in remarking that he did not advocate the exclusion of civilians from such communities, but it is to be doubted whether any communities primarily set apart for soldiers could in the end be satisfactory. The soldiers certainly do not want to be set apart. Perhaps garden cities could be founded in which soldiers would be given certain advantages in the matter of occupation and home-making, without drawing any sharp distinction between soldiers and civilians generally. The fact should not be lost sight of that what the returned soldier wants primarily is profitable employment.

The Peace Conference isn't so peaceful after all.

Old World diplomacy and New World ideals are having a clash over the new map of Europe in the making, but most of the applause is coming from Germany.

The Germans are not downhearted at being shut out of the new League of Nations—just a bit jealous, that's all, so they are going to form a League of Nations of their own, made-in-Germany, and take in the Turks and the Bulgars and other also-rans. Take in is right; but how many times do they expect to "take in" the same victims?

Sergt. Ablard, a Grand Trunk railway employee of Belleville, who went overseas with the first contingent, C.E.F., enlisting at Brockville, was one of the heroes of the war. He was done to death by the Huns, but died fighting, and when his body was discovered it was surrounded by eighteen dead bodies of Huns who fell before the valor of this one stalwart Canadian.

The Poet's Corner

By Lou J. Beauchamp.

If we could see the end
  Waiting for us down the way,
The coming of life's night time—
  The closing of life's day;
The last of all our trials, our troubles and our pains,
  The last of all our losses, the last of all our gains;
Would the hours seem as moments,
  Or would they seem too long?
Would our hearts beat faint and fainter
  Or would they beat more strong?

There are joys that give us heartaches,
  There are pains that seem as kisses;
There are depths that lift us skyward,
  There are heights that seem abysses;
And our lives are not the brightest
  When the sunniest hours enfold them;
Our hearts are often lightest
  When the heaviest sorrows hold them.

And these strange contrary feelings
  Make us hold life's thread in wonder,
As we see by faith no farther
  Than by sight, wherewith we blunder;
So we look toward the ending
  Of our cares, and trials, and blisses,
And ask if death is darkness,
  Or only light and kisses.
But no answering word comes to us—
  No replies, and no suggestions;
Doubt and fear each hour assail us,
  Yet each hour brings newer questions

And the end, though coming nearer,
  Is no nearer in its easing.
For the heart keeps on its wondering,
  And the soul keeps on its teasing;
And the Sphinx of doubt and fear,
  Still the soul doth tear and rend,
With its joyful, vexful question—
  What if we could see the end?

New High Level For Canadian F.O.B. Hogs

Hogs have again broken all price records. The figure given out Tuesday at the Toronto Union Yards is $21 for the f.o.b. stock. At this price hogs are worth between three and four dollars more than they were at the latter part of February when the farmers of Canada and the United States trembled because the American Food Administration talked of removing the minimum guarantee of $17.50 per hundredweight. When the guarantee was removed at the first of last month farmers started shipping their hogs to market in large numbers, with the hope of cashing their holdings before the quotations had time to drop very far. But instead of declining the prices have been steadily climbing until now the market is being spoken of as "the hog mystery."

Talked Lower Prices

In the past month there has been more talk about lower levels than at any time since the war broke out in 1914. Reasons after reasons—quite logical in most cases—have been put forth to show that hogs had actually reached the top figure. But while the packers talked lower prices they kept on boosting the market. In the United States the small houses were credited with raising the bids in order to hold the market up while they disposed of the cold-storage supplies which they had bought "at high prices." In Canada the f.o.b. buying and the competition between drovers almost compelled the packer buyers to continually advance the quotations. It is for these reasons that hogs are today a dollar—and in many cases much more—per hundredweight above the top figures reached during the war.

Dealers Nervous

The market has reached such a high pitch that producers, drovers and packers do not know whether they are standing on safe ground or not. There is a limit to which hog prices can soar and all concerned are straining every effort to find out the height of that level. When the break comes the drovers will meet heavy losses, unless protected by agreements with the abattoirs. The producers will have lost their opportunity to cash in on the high spot, and the packer will be wondering just how to keep his outlet prices up while he turns over the stock bought at adavnced rates.

Consumers Protest

City butcher shops are now complaining bitterly about the cost of pork and other hog products. Representative city dealers say that it will not be long until the general public calls a halt. In most cases the consumers are inclined to place the blame for the high cost of pork at the doors of the abattoirs; in fact, the packers are being blamed for all the advances created since the signing of the armistice. But the prices to the retail trade so far have scarcely taken into account the entire advance to the farmer. The packers' side of the story is that they are not receiving the same margin of profit out of their domestic sales as on their export shipments. "Indeed we would be a lot better off just now if the home trade could be done away with for a few weeks' they state. "It would be far better for us to devote our entire energies to supplying the English market, not merely because of the higher prices, but also for the ease in making sales and the quantities that can be shipped out at one time."

Break in May

It is said now that there is "an undoubted break" coming in May. Toward the close of last week the American live stock journals published stories about a break in June, but now they have brought it nearer. In May they say, more hogs will be offered and the packers will be able to secure ample supplies at lower levels. It is also argued that the trend must stop shortly, because even a $25 market would not bring any more hogs out than are now coming at prices around $21 per hundredweight. In the States, however, prices have not reached the heights prevailing in Canada. In Buffalo yesterday Canadian hogs sold at $21 fed or about $1 per hundredweight below the Toronto quotations. Under ordinary conditions the American prices are about $1 above the Toronto quotations. This makes the two markets stand about even, that amount being required for shrinkage and freight, etc. Last week there was a break of $1 in American hogs at the same time that Canadian markets advanced. When the American decline was brought about hogs were said to "have gone over the top at last," but now that the market has rallied about 50 cents the "real decline" is slated for the early part of next month.

Will Cattle Decline?

Opinions differ greatly as to cattle futures. The market Tuesday was exceptionally strong—stronger than on Monday, when an average advance of 35 cents was recorded. But in the face of these higher prices there is a general bear feeling. Present quotations are being compared with war prices. There is no question that the farmers are now receiving far more for their cattle than when the Allied Buying Commission was almost commandeering the exportable meats. With this great buying machine off the market and ships available to carry the Argentine and South American meats to Europe, there is no course left for the North American meats, it is argued, but to decline. Arriving at the conclusion that cattle values must beak sooner or later, many of the dovers and commission men say "it must come soon, and probably earlier than most people think.

Obsequies

L. T. JOHNS

Despite the inclement weather yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. L. T. Johns was largely attended. At the family residence, North Park Street, Adjutant and Mrs. Goodhew, of the Salvation Army, conducted service and the Adjutant officiated at the interment at Belleville cemetery. Deceased was a member of the Sons of England and a number of the brethren attended the obsequies The cortege was headed by the Salvation Army band playing appropriate selections. Bearers were six members of the Sons of England, namely Bros. J. Fenn, G. A. Bennett, J. Young, R. Oliphant, T. D. Ruston and W. J. Bennett. A Terrible Penalty frequently follows the neglect of an injury. Germs and dust get into the wound, it begins to fester, blood-poisoning sets in, and sometimes the loss of a limb is the result.

Safeguard yourself against such a possibility by applying Zam-Buk at once. This antiseptic balm destroys all germs and prevents festering and blood-poisoning. Then the healing essences promote the growth of new tissue and it is not long before the wound is completely healed.

Zam-Buk should be kept handy in every home, office, store and factory for cuts, scratches, burns, scalds and bruises. It is equally good for eczema, rashes, boils and ulcers. All dealers, 50c. box.

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

Are you a wife, who is proud of her husband's fatal attraction for women? Or are you the husband in the case? In either event, you should go to see "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," the screamingly funny farce comedy which A. H. Woods will present at Griffin's Opera House next Friday night.

MADGE KENNEDY IN "A PERFECT LADY"

Madge Kennedy achieves dramatic heights in several scenes of her latest picture "The Perfect Lady," by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf, in which Rose Stahl scored a triumph on the stage, the picturization of which is being shown at the Palace the first half of this week, matinee daily. Miss Kennedy's skill in evoking tears from her audience only to have them smiling again in a flash was never more forcibly exemplified than in the scene where a clergyman comes to scold her and remains to make her his wife. This incident brings a stirring climax to a series of pathetic situations confronting a young girl in a strange town who fights bravely against overwhelming odds and finally triumphs. Lucille Le Jambon, (Madge Kennedy) gives up her burlesque career after the authorities in Sysamore stop the show, of which she was premier performer. The morals committee responsible for the closing of the show also seek to have Lucille bared from town after she opens an ice cream cabaret and dancing school. The members have enlisted the aid of Rev. David Grayling and how the performer and the reformer fight it out proves of engrossing interest.

"Do Husband's Deceive" is the title of the novel and amusing comedy with the famous New York Hippodrome Clown "Toto" in the stellar role. Pathe news revealing happenings in Canada of interest to all Canadians is also being screened.

The Wedding Knives

By S. B. HACKLEY

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

They were very beautiful—those delicate trifles of the ancient wedding toilet of the seventeenth century bride—the wedding knives of Mistress Anne Hogarth.

Margery Byers took them reverently from their faded green brocade sheaths and running her fingers over the elaborately chased blades, and the quaint pearl set handles, handed them to Stephen Palmer. The young physician turned them over curiously.

"So these pretty trinkets were necessary to the bridal toilet away back in the days of your grandmother ancestress, Margie?" he remarked. "I don't remember of ever reading of them."

Margery's brown eyes sparkled with interest and admiration.

"Why, don't you remember, Steve?" she cried. "Juliet wore them at her girdle when she was in the Friar's cell, and she had them on when she was about to take the sleeping potion."

"What did they symbolize?" asked Palmer.

"They had something to do with severing the knot of love, I believe," answered Margery vaguely, "anyway, whatever they meant, they were beautiful things to wear."

"And you, Margie, I suppose you'll wear these when you're married." Palmer hesitated a little over his work.

When a girl has a well-defined, relative implanted idea of engaging herself when she gets to the seashore summer resort to a rich man she doesn't care for, but who is going to ask her to marry him—to see unexpected love in the eyes of the man she'd like to marry, even though disapproved of by the relatives, is disconcerting. Margery turned away and replaced the trinkets in their places before she answered a bit tremulously:

"My—my wedding day is a long time off, most likely, Stephen. I'm not quite twenty, you know."

"I—listen, Margie," Stephen tried to keep his voice steady, "I want to tell you something."

"Hurry, Margie," an impatient voice called from the next room. "Are you forgetting we have an engagement this evening?"

"I'm coming, mother," the girl answered. "Come down to the station tomorrow, Steve," she said in hasty good-by, "early. I'll go down a half hour before mother does, and we—we can talk before the train leaves."

But a man in a factory got himself cut up badly the next day an hour before Margery's train was to leave, and Palmer was called to hold life in him. There was not even time for telephoning Margery, and the letter of explanation he sent her was returned to him unopened.

When three weeks later Margery's engagement to Elmer Troxell was announced Stephen worked so many extra hours at the hospital that the head surgeon protested.

In September the Byers family returned, and Palmer could not escape the accounts of the wedding that was to be one of the city's social events. A few days before the wedding, unable to deny himself the uncertain unhappiness of trying to catch a glimpse of the bride-to-be, he found himself passing the Byers house. As he went by, driving at a snail's pace, he heard frightened screams from within. He leaped from his car. As he ran up the walk a terrified maid thrust open the door.

"Oh, Doctor Palmer!" she cried, recognizing him, "come in, quick!"

Another one of the maids had fallen, carrying a tray of glasses, and had cut her wrist. She was shrieking in fear and clinging to Margery, who with a pencil and a handkerchief was twisting a tourniquet about the wounded arm, while the blood spattered her lovely white dress.

"Come away, Margery," frowned a heavy browed man in a white serge costume, standing at a safe distance from the maid, as Palmer came forward, "and let the man attend to her. It's his business—besides you're getting your frock spoiled, and we were ready for our drive."

Margery shook off his hand. "Go away, Elmer!"—Palmer detected a note of dislike in her tone—"you are in Doctor Palmer's way. Never mind the drive. I shall stay with Sophie."

As Troxell sulkily left the room his foot touched something lying on the rug something that tinkled, as with a murmur of disgust he shoved it aside.

The next morning when Palmer returned to the house to attend the injured maid he found her crying.

"I'm not scared for myself, it's Miss Margie I'm worried about," she told him. "He—that man ain't fit for her nor anybody else. Miss Margie told him yesterday she was going to wear her great grandmother's wedding knives (maybe she's showed them to you) at her wedding, and he got awfully mad—asked her how she would look, standing up there in her bridal robes, before all his friends with 'those absurd things dangling at her belt, like a housekeeper's keys;' And he threw them on the floor, and when I came in with the tray I stumbled over them and fell and cut my arm."

Palmer paled as he listened, and though he made no comment he had to set his teeth to keep the words that came in his mind.

Two days later Palmer read the following paragraph in the evening paper:

"Troxell Neglects to Get License," ran the headline. "After being supposedly joined in matrimony at the most elaborate society wedding of the year at noon today, with both Rev. Robert Clinton and Bishop Phelps officiating, Miss Margery Byers and Elmer Troxell were informed by County Clerk Veal in the most matter-of-fact way that they were not married at all. They had been married without a license."

The paper further stated that the guests had left Miss Byers' residence after the reception, when the vital omission was discovered. A messenger was hastened to find Bishop Phelps, and the good prelate was begged to come to the house in an emergency situation. He did so, and when he reached the residence he was told the nerves of the bride were so shaken that the second ceremony would have to be deferred until the next morning.

For eight hours Stephen had thought her Troxell's wife, and she was not married—not married! An errand boy touched his elbow.

"You're wanted at the telephone, doctor."

"Is that Dr. Stephen Palmer?" the voice was trembling. "This is Margie Byers. Oh, Steve, come to the house right away. Come quick; I—I want you!"

Palmer stumbled out to the street and hailed a cab. The maid, Sophie, her arm in a sling, let him in.

"Miss Margie wants to see you alone," she told him, and led him to a little upstairs room at the back of the house. As the door closed behind him something in a white dress flew to him.

"Oh, Steve, I want you to save me!" Margery gasped. "They put it in the paper that I was so shaken the second ceremony would have to be deferred, but I've told father and mother I'm not going to marry him at all."

"Not marry him!" he echoed.

"No! Father, mother, everybody, thought it would be so fine for me, I agreed to marry him. I never loved him, but that day he quarreled with me over wearing great-grandmother's wedding knives at my wedding (the day Sophie cut her arm) I knew I hated him. But I thought it was too late then. They talked to me until I was nearly crazy this afternoon when I told them my eyes were opened and I was thankful the license was forgotten. They said it would be a scandal to the family if I didn't marry him now, and they've set the hour for eight in the morning."

"Margie," the young man's lips were white, "did you send back my letter that I wrote to explain why I didn't come to the train the day you went to Bar Harbor?"

"I never received any letter," she faltered. "I looked and looked for it; then I thought you didn't care. Mother—"

"But I did care—I do care—so much I don't dare advise you. I wanted to tell you that day—I wanted to tell you—"

She looked up at him and her wet eyes began to shine. "Tell me now, Stevie!" she cried softly. "Oh, Steve, it wouldn't be any scandal for you to let me run away with you and marry you tonight, would it?"

At seven o'clock the next morning the justice of the peace, just over the state line, stood before a tall young professional man holding the hand of a pretty girl clad in a gray traveling suit of French design, and wearing at her belt her great-grandmother's knives, and pronounced a ceremony that was binding and fast.

Job for Santa Claus.

In Evansville there are still a few cavaliers too old to be taken by the draft. The other evening one called on a woman who, it might be added in an undertone, also was beyond draft age.

During the evening her small niece dragged in a dilapidated doll. "I'm going to have Santa Claus bring her a new dress for Christmas so she'll look better," she informed auntie and the cavalier.

The cavalier tried to be facetious. "You'd better have him bring her a new face," he suggested.

The woman laughed and tried a fling at wit herself. "I wish he'd bring me a new face, too," she giggled.

Before the visitor could make a rejoinder the wee niece took up the conversation. "Then you wouldn't have to paint your old one over any more, auntie," she calmly finished.—Indianapolis News.

Experience.

"It's a good thing to depose a general if he makes a bad mistake," said Representative Britton, apropos of the new French law for trying the high command.

"You might say that a general learns by experience, that he profits by his errors. But the French people evidently hold that the man who only learns by experience never learns at all.

"'Experience,' they doubtless say, 'is a brush which is given to us after we have lost our hair.'

"Or again they say:

"'Oh, yes, experience is all right, but it doesn't seem to help us much. What's the good of knowing what the weather was like last night before last?'"

United States Exports.

The United States exported 14.6 per cent of its wheat crop in the five years preceding the war, 1.7 per cent of the corn, 38.3 per cent of the tobacco, and 29.1 per cent of the cotton. In the three years before the war this country exported 1.1 per cent of its oats crop, 4.4 per cent of the barley, 2.3 per cent of the rye, and 0.5 per cent of the potatoes.

LONDON CLOCKS DISAGREE

LONDON, Ont., April 29—The London Street Railway Co., under pressure from its employees announced yesterday that daylight saving will be abandoned commencing this morning. The theatres have taken similar action, as have several local factories.

The Board of Education is allowing matters to stand, and daylight saving will be adhered to until there is a more definite and general revision to Eastern Standard.

Obituary

MARSHAL BIDWEL BURR

The angel of death passed over Bloomfield Sunday morning April 20th, 1919, and called Marshall Bidwell Burr home to the Better Land, there to enjoy the house of many mansions. The beautiful Easter morning dawning the brightest day in all the year, was a fitting time for the departure of one who could truly say, I have not lived in vain. I have done my best. I have finished my course. I have kept the faith. I am ready to depart.

Mr. Burr was almost eighty years of age, and his whole life was full of labor full of ceaseless activity. He was the son of William and Sophia Redner Burr, and on both sides of the famely tree they were among the early pioneers of the County of Prince Edward. The Redners were U. E. Loyalists; the Burrs were among those who passed through the war of the American revolution, and if you inquire of the Burrs, it may be remarked in passing, as of moment or not, that Alfred the Great is an ancestor. The first of the Burr family in America came over from England in 1629. They were John, Benjamin and Jonathan, all of New England. One line claims John Alden and wife Priscilla, which meant Mayflower ancestry. Benjamin Burr was one of the founders of the City of Hartford, Conn., and he had a son Thomas and a son Isaac a Congregational minister in Worcester, Mass. He had a son Jonathan, and he also had a son Jonathan. He had a son Moadiah, and he had a son William, born in Watertown N.Y., and who was the father of the subject of this obituary

William Burr's mother was Joanna Whitney, a cousin of the celebrated Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin. Aaron Burr, founder of Princeton College, and his son Aaron, the third Vice President of the United States, also belonged to original American Burr family. Sir Andrew de Barr of "Acton Hall and Lord of Manor of Foxearth, Knight," is an ancestor of the Burr family. Major John Burr of Fairfield, Conn., was also related. He was at the head of the "Trayneband" and took part in the Indian wars. Col. Andrew Burr, grandson of Major John Burr was at the battle of Louisburg 1745. Judge Peter Burr of Fairfield, Conn., and Henry Burr, a rich Quaker and friend of William Penn were in the same line of ancestry.

William Burr father of the deceased, came to Canada in 1820, and settled in Hillier in what is known as the Burr neighborhood. He owned about 600 acres of land, and became one of the wealthiest men in the County of Prince Edward. It was here that the subject of this obituary was born, and in childhood and youth he was kind, tender hearted and affectionate, always active and energetic, ready and willing to do his part. It could truly be said of him, he never lagged behind.

At the age of 22 he married Miss Phoebe A. Saylor, daughter of Mr. Adam H. Saylor of Bloomfield and lived for a number of years on the old homestead in Hillier, but about one half of his life was spent in Bloomfield and while here he was engaged with his brother Peter in many different vocations, including farming milling, manufacturnig cloth, in general merchandise and in other pursuits as well, and, as a rule, success crowned all his efforts; furthermore, it may be said of him that the Burr church in Hillier and the Burr cemetery and the Methodist church generally, are all largely indebted to his liberality and untiring efforts, and, indeed it is a pleasing thought to think and know that in departing he is leaving the world more beautiful, richer and better for his having lived.

The pillow composed of varied tinted flowers, laid by his wife and children upon his casket, betokened their love and regard for one of the kindest and best of husbands and fathers. The floral wreath kindly placed on his casket by the Quarterly Board of the church, of which he was for so many years a faithful and honored member, spoke in tender tones their lasting appreciation of his worth. The Easter lilies reflecting the Easter morn, symbolizing the resurrection and an emblem of purity and immortality voiced the love and affection of his brothers, who have with him walked side by side together up through the long windings of the years, and then on down where the tidal waves rise and the rolling waters meet.

Mr. Burr leaves to mourn his departure his dearly beloved wife, and two sons Adam S. Burr, Consecon, and Clayton E. Burr, Bloomfield and two daughters, Mrs. Willoughby W. Anderson, Ameliasburg, and Mrs Mytura Gilbern, Bloomfield; also six grand children and two brothers, Mr. Peter Burr, Bloomfield, and Rev. W. K. Burr, Ph. D., Lockport, Illinois.

The funeral obsequies were conducted by his much loved pastor, Rev. A. E. McCutcheon, B.D., and was ably assisted by the Rev. Alfred Brown of Picton. The address was most beautiful and the words of comfort and cheer to the bereaved friends were very much appreciated. The high tribute paid the deceased could not other than be an inspiration to the family, and will help to smooth the troubled waves of time and cheer them on to the last lonely stretch in the journey of life. The community at large extend their heartfelt sympathy to the family, and especially to the sorrowing widow, one of the dearest and best of women.

Friends from Toronto Belleville and Picton, as well as from other parts, attended the funeral, and followed him to his last resting place in the beautiful Glenwood cemetery there to await the Saviour's call in the early morning of the Resurrection.—Contributed.

Doubling the time of sunset will give the length of the day and doubling the length of sunrise the length of the night at any time of the year.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

Does a Farmer Need a Truck?

THE farmer with a Ford Truck practically lives next door to the market.

He has a choice of markets.

He becomes more independent.

He can market his goods when and where he pleases.

He sells his crop to the very best advantage.

And his hauling costs him less—in labor and money.

It is not only cheaper to haul with a Ford Truck than with a team and wagon, it is quicker, it is easier work.

Consider the time and labor the farmer can save with a Ford Truck. With a team the trip to town takes the better part of a day.

A Ford Truck makes the same trip in two or three hours.

When labor is so scarce, what farmer can afford to waste day after day of his valuable time?

Ford Trucks Complete with Body and Enclosed Cab

Ford One-Ton Trucks are now supplied, if desired, with standard truck bodies in two types, the Stake Body and the Express Body.

In both standard bodies the cabs may be supplied with or without doors, as desired.

See these complete Ford Trucks. Consider the matter from every angle: the cost of feeding horses against the cost of running a Ford Truck; the time you lose on the road; the money you lose by being so far from the best markets. There is only one conclusion you can come to. You will have a Ford Truck.

FARM WATER SYSTEMS

A Summary of Best Available Types for Stables.

When Pastures Fail the Milk Flow Decreases Unless Soiling Crops Have Been Provided — Corn Silage Will Also Greatly Increase Milk Yield in Hot Summer.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

IN a day's visit among the farmers of Ontario in almost every county you would run across quite a number of stables equipped with some form or other of water system for supplying the farm stock more or less automatically with water each day. With few exceptions every new barn built now is provided with a water system. Among the available systems are the following, which, in this short article, can receive only a very brief description:

Of these probably the most common is that consisting of a water supply tank in the hay or straw loft above the stable, from which the water runs by gravity into a regulating tank on the stable floor, which supplies the individual drinking basins with water automatically. The tank is usually built of concrete and the size depends upon the kind of power used for pumping; if windmill be used then the tank needs to be large enough for three or four days' supply as the wind does not blow every day. Under these conditions a tank 10 x 4 x 4 feet, or its equivalent would be required for 30 head of stock. Sometimes the concrete tank is built just outside the stable wall and underground enough to protect it again frost, or in one corner of the stable, elevated enough off the floor to feed the regulating tank by gravity. In case pumping is done by gasoline engine and a smaller tank is sufficient, a metal one is suspended from ceiling of stable. In every case an overflow is necessary. Many provide means for collecting the rain water off the barn and running it into the storage tank so that in wet weather very little pumping is required, especially where a large tank is used. Another method of filling the storage tank is by the hydraulic ram installed at the spring. Still another is by means of a one-inch pipe leading from a spring or other source at an elevation at least as high as the storage tank. Sometimes where hydraulic ram or gravity system is in use the storage tank is dispensed with, the water, in the case of the former, running through the drinking basins or trough all the time and escaping to a good outlet or drain, in the latter the water is piped directly to the regulating tank which in turn supplies the basins or trough automatically. Again the water is pumped directly to tank in the attic of the house, and the overflow from it supplies the stable with water. And since the advent of the compression water system we find a few cases where it is used to supply the stables as well as the house, the installation being proportionately larger than it would be for the house alone. Probably no one system, however, can be absolutely recommended as best for every case as the circumstances pertaining to the source of supply, amount of water used, position and elevation of the farm buildings, etc., always have to be carefully considered in planning the ideal water system for the farm house or stable.—R. R. Graham, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

Soiling Crops for Cows.

Most Ontario dairy farmers depend on the pasture crop for the feeding of cows during summer. If the pasture fails, there is no remedy, the cows go dry, the creameries and cheeseries suffer loss of patronage, the city milk plants are short of milk, and the whole dairy business is more or less handicapped. The time has come when dairy farmers should take out an insurance policy in the form of a summer silo, filled with corn from the previous year's crop. Failing this, silage in the bottom of a winter silo is good feed, but the surface exposed should be reduced one-half by cutting the silage down the centre with a hay-knife. If this is not available, the silage in one-half the silo may be dug down with a fork, but this leaves an irregular edge which causes excessive spoiling of the silage. Great care is needed in feeding summer silage, else there is danger of tainting the milk. The strong advantage of silage for supplementing poor pasture, is the fact that a man can get feed out of a silo for a herd of cows in about one-half the time required to cut a soiling crop in a field and haul this to the stable for the cows to eat. Some meal, or wheat bran, should be added to the silage for best results.

If silage is not available for feeding during the season of '19, then soiling crops like clover, oats, peas and vetches, corn, etc., should be provided, so that the cows may not want for feed to make milk.—Prof. H. H. Dean, O. A. College, Guelph.

Farm Tractors.

Interest in farm tractors has increased rapidly in Ontario in the past two or three years. In the early part of this year the Ontario Department of Agriculture held 32 courses on farm power in different parts of the province, and there was a total attendance of 12,270. No greater interest has been shown in courses on any other subject, and much useful educational work was done.

Handle Tubers Carefully.

Potatoes should be handled carefully and not as though they were cobblestones. The potato is a living thing, with a protective skin, which it is able to keep intact if it has a fair chance.

GRAIN MIXTURE VALUES

Oats 34 Lbs., Barley 48 Lbs. the Best Combination.

By Opening Surface to Drains Many Dollars May Be Made by Increased Crops — Full Directions Given Regarding Starting Early Celery.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

A LARGE amount of experimental work has been conducted at the Ontario Agricultural College in testing grains both singly and in combination for the production of grain. The results of experiments indicate that there is practically no advantage in growing in combination two or more varieties of grain of the same class. Quite decided advantages, however, have been obtained from certain combinations of grain of different classes.

In an experiment which extended over a period of five years in which oats, barley, spring wheat and peas were grown separately and all the different combination which could be obtained by having two, three and four grains in each mixture, it was found that in about ninety per cent. of the experiments the mixed grains gave a greater yield per acre than the same grains when grown separately. Of the different combinations, oats and barley came at the head of the list, giving slightly over two hundred pounds of grain per acre more than when either one was grown alone.

It is important to use in combination varieties which will grow satisfactorily together and which will mature at the same time. Such varieties as the O.A.C. No. 21 barley and the Daubeney, Alaska or O.A.C. No. 3 oats give very good results.

Of twenty-five different mixtures with different proportions of oats and barley used for five years in experimental work it was found that the greatest returns were obtained by using one bushel, by weight, of each or a mixture of 84 pounds (34 pounds of oats and 48 pounds of barley).—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. College, Guelph.

Open Your Surface Drains.

Drainage—either surface or underground—is essential if farming is to be profitable. With the dearth of ditching machinery, the depleted labour market and the increased cost of underdraining, progress is retarded somewhat. Everything, however, has been done which prevailing conditions permit. Yet forty per cent (40%) of Ontario is in urgent need of drainage. The underdrainage of so much cannot be accomplished in a short period of time, hence that which renders timely service, even though only of temporary duration, must be taken advantage of.

Surface draining must be resorted to. Several lines will be necessary. Indeed, if the majority of farmers would leave all "finishing" furrows open in the ploughed ground and connect them by opening up cross channels through the lower-lying parts of the field—cleaning out all the furrows thus traversed—a system would be formed whereby the water could be carried to outlets quickly, efficiently and satisfactorily in the early spring.

Not alone to level fields or farms does this apply. Large areas of Ontario are quite rolling, hence naturally drained. Yet, a small open ditch or deep furrow will pay for the trouble necessary to make a channel by the greater ease with which water can escape, thus permitting quicker disposal of the same, hence hastening the drying of the land.

These surface drains should be opened at least once per year. The best time to do so is in the late autumn after the fall work is done. Labour can be obtained then with less difficulty and at less cost. The work may be done by hand or by the use of a team if water does not prevent.

Surface draining, however, is not recommended to take the place of tiling.—Thos. Cooper, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

Starting Early Celery.

The starting of early celery should be done immediately as the seed is slow in germination; requiring about four weeks before ready for the first transplanting. The seed should be sown in flats in a soil very sandy in nature. This soil is pressed down about ½ an inch in the box and then the celery is sown broadcast over it. The box is then watered through burlap and is left covered with burlap or brown paper until the seed germinates. When the plants are showing two or three leaves they are transplanted into flats, 2 inches each way in soil that is sandy in nature but well-filled with good manure and commercial fertilizer, such of a nitrogenous nature. Good fertilizer is necessary at this stage so that the plants will not receive any check. The plants should be thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux Mixture when they first break into third or true leaf, so that they will be kept free from blight, and every week after being set in the field.

Another method in use among growers is that of sowing in hot beds. The seed is planted in rows about 4 inches apart; in making these rows they take a piece of wood about an inch wide and press it down on the soil making a furrow about ¼ of an inch deep in which the seed is sown. It is then covered with burlap or paper as stated before.

Celery to germinate properly should be kept at a temperature of 70 degrees until the young plants are growing in good shape, when it is well to lower it to 55 or 60 degrees.—A. H. MacLennan, Ontario Vegetable Specialist.

ALLIANCE BETWEEN AMERICA AND FRANCE

Soldier Farmers' Allowances Fixed

Allowances towards defraying the cost of subsistence of the families of settlers who are going on the land under the provisions of the Soldiers' Settlement Act, but who require a period of training in practical agriculture, have been put into effect by order-in-Council just passed by the Dominion Government. The allowances are of two classes, namely, for soldiers who are receiving training at an agricultural training centre and their dependents; and for those who are receiving agricultural training while employed with the farmer.

In the case of a married man receiving training at an agricultural training centre, he may receive a maximum of $60 a month, which includes $35 for himself and his wife and a maximum of $25 for all his children.

The board may pay to any settler who is receiving instruction at an agricultural training centre, allowances for a period not exceeding three months, on the following basis:

Basis Payment

If he is a widower with children, $10 month.

If married, for settler and his wife, $35.

For one child, $6; for each additional child, $5, providing that the total amount for all the children does not exceed $25.

If he is a widower with children, $10 for himself; for one child, $15; for two children, $25; for each additional child, $5, providing the total amount for all the children does not exceed $40.

If he has neither wife nor child, but has parents or brothers or sisters wholly dependent on him, $10 for himself and $20 in full for all such dependents.

A settler who is in training while employed with a farmer may be paid for a period not exceeding twelve months on the following scale:

If he has a wife and children $20 per month for wife; $6 per month for one child; for each additional child $5, providing the total amount for the children shall not be more than $25.

Widower With Children

If he is a widower with children $10 for one child; for more than one child $10 for one and $5 for each other child. Maximum $10.

If he has neither wife nor children, but parents or brothers or sisters wholly dependent on him for support, $10 in full for all such dependents.

No allowance will be paid for boys over 16 or girls over 17, unless such children are unable to provide for their own maintenance, when the allowance may be continued up to the age of 21. No allowance shall be paid after the marriage of such dependent.

In addition to the allowances mentioned settlers receiving instruction at agricultural training centres may be given free board and tuition and settlers receiving practical training while employed on a farm shall be permitted to retain such remuneration as they may receive from the farmer.

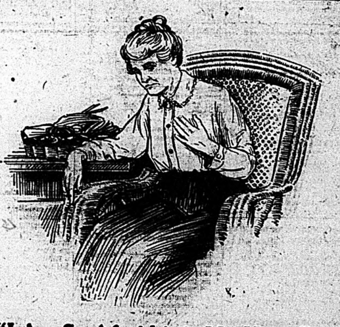
DETROIT TO HOLD WORLD EXPOSITION

DETROIT, Mich., April 29—Establishment of a World Peace Exposition in Detroit that will eclipse all World Fairs ever held in this country is planned. Announcement of the project was made by Mayor Couzens on Saturday. The organization of the Expsition will be under the direction of Charles M. Schawb.

Two or three years will be required to put the Exposition in shape, thus setting the date at 1922 or 1923. Millions of dollars will be required.

Fred J. V. Skiff, Director of Field Museum of Chicago, will draw plans for the Exposition. Mr. Skiff was Manager of the Chicago, Buffalo, St. Louis and San Francisco Fairs.

Mr. Charles M. Schawb has consented to come here it is understood, and tage the organization of the Exposition in hand. His record during the war in whipping the United States Government's shipbuilding program into shape is considered a guarantee of success.



"I Am So Afraid it is My Heart"

VERY many people live in constant dread of heart trouble, when the heart is in no way diseased.

There is perhaps no organ in the human system which is worked so hard and yet the heart seldom goes wrong so long as it is supplied with plenty of rich, red blood.

In fact the heart repairs its own waste and plods on; lifting tons of blood each year and pumping it through the body.

But the heart's action is the result of the contraction and expansion of muscles and these muscles are operated by the nervous system. When the blood gets thin and watery and the nervous system is starved the action of the heart, just like that of the stomach, bowels and other organs, is slowed down.

As a result, you are easily tired out, experience shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and general bodily weakness.

The quickest and most rational way to overcome this condition is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood and build up the exhausted nerves.

With the nerves in a run-down condition you are sure to get downhearted and discouraged and to imagine that all sorts of dreadful things are likely to happen to you.

But when you have been using the Nerve Food for a week or two you will begin to see the silver lining to the cloud and to realize that you are on the way to health, courage and happiness.

Mrs. Nellie Dertinger, Simcoe, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer with my nerves and with pains about the heart. I could not sleep at nights and though I tried several doctors could not get much relief. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I am happy to say the results have been a surprise. My health has been built up wonderfully. I have no more pains about the heart, my nerves are steady and I sleep and rest well."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on every box.

is the one that completely harmonizes with the design and finishing of the house. For this reason there is a steadily increasing demand for Brantford Asphalt Slates for the modern style of homes.

Brantford Asphalt Slates have a surface of crushed slate embedded into our asphalt coating, the base of the roofing being felt saturated with asphalt. They are cut the size of shingles, and their beautiful soft colors of reddish brown and dark green give a roof a most artistic appearance. The colors are the natural shades of the slate as it comes out of the quarries. Brantford Asphalt Slates are, therefore, unfadeable—never require painting.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are accurate in size and pliable, which makes them very easily handled and quickly laid, saving time and labor, and therefore costing less to lay.

Brantford Asphalt Slates make an artistic, durable and economical roof. Booklet describing them mailed on request.

CHARGE DISMISSED

Mrs. Maggie Cavanagh was before County Police Magistrate Langford of Peterboro on Saturday tried on a charge of shooting with intent her brother, Robert Hughes. The evidence produced satisfied the court that Mrs. Cavanagh was afraid of her brother and fired off the gun to frighten him, and as the evidence went to show that the gun was not fired in the direction of Hughes the magistrate held that the gun was not fired at Hughes so that this charge was dismissed.

PASSED IN ARTS AND SCIENCE.

The gratifying news has just been received in the city by telephone from Kingston that Mr. Garven Berkley of Victoria Avenue, has successfully passed his final examinations at Queen's University. In the list of those who had passed their finals in Arts and Science at Queens as published in yesterday's Toronto papers, the name of Garven Berkley was unfortunately omitted. Mr. Berkley has been specializing in Science, aiming to secure the rare degree of Plant Pathologist in the United States, this degree not as yet being obtainable in Canada. Mr. Berkly expects to go in the fall to Cornell or Chicago University to secure his final degree. His mother, Mrs. J. A. Berkley, leaves to-day for Kingston to be present at her son's graduation exercises. Garven had the honor of being Sec.-Treasurer of 'Arts '19 Executive.'

SAILORS SEEK SALVAGE

In the Admiralty Court at Toronto yesterday, Mr. Justice Hodgins heard the claim of the owners, master and crew of the steamer "Keyvive" for the salvage of the tug " S. O. Dixon" and the barges "Louisa" and "Idelwild" off Main Duck Island, in September last. The defence, the Sugar Products Company of New York, owners of the barges, and Daniel K. Ludwig, sole owner of the "S. O. Dixon," argue that they only asked for a tow to Main Duck Island or to McDonald's Cove. The barges in question were engaged in the trade of transporting molasses from New York to Belleville for the Corby Distillery Co.

SEE CANADA FIRST

Bridge St. Young People's Society and their friends turned out in large numbers last evening and enjoyed a very interesting and instructive entertainment. A travelogue of Eastern Ontario from Ottawa to Toronto was presented by Mr. Griffin and the 151 views that were thrown on the screen depicted the interesting places in the various cities and towns in the territory. Some splendid views of Belleville were shown in the collection. It was truly an evening of great educational value and reflected much credit on the Bridge St. Young People's Society. During the evening Mr. S. Anglin rendered a solo in his usual capable manner.

PLANE NOSE DIVES TO RIVER PASSENGER IS DROWNED

Cambridge, Mass., April 29.—An airplane used by the New England Airplane Company to carry passengers at a stipulated sum for every minute of flight, fell 150 feet into the Charles River basin yesterday, and the passenger, J. Lester Allen, of the Dorchester district of Boston, was drowned. Ensign W. Elliott Nightingale, the pilot, was severely bruised.

Nightingale said that engine trouble had sent the machine into a nose dive. His effort to restore the balance by climbing out on the tail was unsuccessful.

Love Under an Umbrella

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR

"I won't take no for an answer," declared Neal Arnold, volubly. "What! My oldest friend not come to see where and how I live? You're booked for tea at our home, old fellow, and I'll call for you at six."

"You'll find me a dull guest, Neal," insisted Bartley Deane. "You see, I'm not used to company."

"Well, my sisters needn't scare you. Marcia is quite an old maid; Nettie just out of her teens. Why, you've degenerated into a regular celibate. At twenty-five—shame! What's the trouble—a heart romance?"

"No, a distant warning, Neal. I've been attracted by two young ladies in my career. I came near falling into the trap until I discovered one of them slapping the younger children and insolent to her mother. The other made a boast how she'd make the money fly when she was Mrs. Deane. I never went back to either of them."

"Well, you prim, sedate, old-fashioned anchorite, come up to our house and see real home life and get some of the pessimistic wrinkles out of your mentality."

Bartley Deane was in a measure old-fashioned: good-looking, finely intelligent young man as he was. Life had not soured him, but after his experience with the two young ladies he had noted, he had allowed a prejudice against the gentler sex to develop and grow.

He received a welcome at Neal's house that warmed his heart from the start. The mother was something of an invalid and it pleased Bartley to follow the movements of pretty, active Nettie Arnold as she cared for the two little children and attended to the duties of the table.

Neal had an unexpected business call from down town and had to leave immediately after the meal. Then Nettie received a phone from a girl friend who lived half a mile away and was ill. She excused herself prettily, promising to be absent only a short time.

"Why, it is raining hard," abruptly observed Miss Marcia as she went to the window and glanced out. "That is the cause of Nettie's detention. She hurried away without gossamer or umbrella. I had planned to have her give us some music."

"Why, I have an umbrella," said Bartley, "and if you think—"

"Would you be so kind?" asked Marcia. "You can take the gossamer and I can give you the number of the Ellis home."

Thus it was that Bartley Deane a little later was joined by Nettie on the porch of the home of Nettie's friend and started out to face the driving storm. He thrilled at the light touch of the pleasantly chatting maiden on his arm. The umbrella truly furnished a capacious shelter and a sense of coziness and unusual pleasure pervaded Bartley.

A violent gust of wind had struck the umbrella and it was blown, not out, but shut. Some catch had slipped, enveloping both of them, bringing them close together in a momentary mutual captivity. They could not move. Bartley felt the breath of his companion sweep his face. She was almost in his clasp. It was an ecstatic moment he never forgot. He managed to right the umbrella.

He incoherently spoke of the strange mishap, but his companion laughed brightly. Her face was flushed and her eyes dancing, but he could not note that in the dark. "I—I declare!" he stumbled, "I was positively stupid to turn the umbrella the wrong way," and the memory of close companionship with this model of girlish grace and beauty would not depart.

Nettie sang and played for him and Bartley left the Arnold home with a new ideal in his soul. When he got home he found a slip of hair ribbon caught in one of the ribs of the umbrella. He carefully placed it in his pocketbook and was growing sentimental.

He was in love. Bartley comprehended it more and more as the days passed by. His fluttering heart emphasized the conviction after each further call at the Arnold home. And Nettie liked him. Her brother told him so and Bartley bought a volume on "Decorum as an Art" and "Lovemaking as a Science." He rehearsed a set speech he planned making when an auspicious moment arrived. His shy nature, however, impelled procrastination.

It was fate, coincidence perhaps, but two months later he and Nettie were at a picnic. Again he had his umbrella with him and again it rained. He held it over her as they stood in the partial shelter of a tree. He looked down into the sweet face so near to him. His set speech came to his lips, but he could not utter it.

"The night the umbrella came shut it was on account of that little catch shifting," and he placed a finger upon the spot in question.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Nettie in pretty confusion, for down came the enveloping folds of the parachute.

"Nettie, I love you!" spoke her desperate suitor, brave under cover and so near to her that their cheeks touched. "I couldn't tell you so in broad daylight. Not that I'm a coward, but it seems so daring, and you are so beautiful, and if you care for me just press your dear, sweet cheek a little closer to mine. Oh, thanks—I'm the happiest man in the world."

SMITH HARDWARE

No Glory In War An Unclean Thing

Hatred of war was the message brought by Mr. George Pearson of Toronto, to the Women's Canadian Club last evening in his address upon "The Reconstruction Problem." There was no glory, romance or any good whatever in war which was all a hideous evil atrocity unworthy of civilization. Mr. Pearson was an original members of the Princess Patricia Battalion which went overseas under Lt.-Col. Hamilton Gault early in the war and was almost wiped out of existence while helping to hold back the German hordes in their rush upon Calais and the Channel ports, preparatory to the invasion of England. Without reserves or the backing of heavy guns the Canadians were slaughtered by the rain of high explosives from the German batteries and the enfilading fire which swept their trenches, but they hung on grimly and prevented the Huns from achieving their plans.

Mr. Pearson painted a vivid, but gruesome picture of those terrible days early in the war when strong men were afraid, but conquered fear and went through the agonies of hell that the world might be free. All but ten men of the original Princess Pats were casualties which showed what a gruelling they received. On the 8th day of May, 1915, the entire Regiment was destroyed with the exception of 135 men, and through it all the hardest task for them was to obey occasional orders to retire to new positions. Upon that terrible day in May, when death, grim and terrible, faced each one of the Regiment, Major Gault, himself a shocking mess of blood and mud crawled about from point to point encouraging the men and telling them that the Huns must not pass—and they did not pass.

Mr. Pearson closed his address with an appeal for a higher citizenship in Canada, for co-operation between the women and the returned soldiers to effect needed reforms. Disabled soldiers must be cared for, but not only disabled soldiers but everybody else needing assistance. Especially must the children of the nation be given every opportunity to make good, assured of good food, pleasant surroundings, and a good education, so that they will develop into the best class of citizens. The soldiers can be a great force for good or a great force for evil and it is essential that efforts be made to bend that force for the good of the nation.

Mr. Pearson's address was interesting and a new light was thrown upon various phases of the war. Being a former resident of Belleville having attended the High School here, he prefaced his address by an account of his first love affair which happened in Belleville, but was rather unfortunate, in that after he had spent his allowance upon the young lady of his dreams, she immediately transferred her attention to his rival whose allowance was still unexpended.

In the absence of the President, Mrs. (Dr.) MacColl, the chair was occupied very acceptably by Mrs. Bell. At the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks was proposed in witty terms by Mrs. George Gorman, seconded by Mrs. (Judge) Wills.

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is
PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city, for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

VOL. 84 BELLEVILLE ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1919. NO. 275

Peterboro Bridge Meets Objection

Injunction is Threatened Because of Alleged Exceeding of Estimated Cost.

PETERBORO', April 30—R. R. Hall, solicitor, served the city with a notice threatening to seek an injunction into a contract with the Russell Townsend Company, of Toronto, for the construction of the Hunter Street overhead bridge, estimated to cost a quarter of a million dollars. In his letter Mr. Hall states he is acting for Wm. Dudkins, a ratepayer. The grounds for the threatened injunction according to Mr. Hall's letter, are based on the fact that only only $260,000 was voted for the construction of the bridge, and that taking into consideration land damages and engineer's fees, this figure is likely to be exceeded, and that the Board of Works in recommending acceptance of the Russell Townsend Company's tender on a lump sum fee, plus cost, have discriminated against several other contractors who tendered on the same basis. It is the intention of the parties supporting the injunction suit to make each member of the city council who votes in favor of the proposed agreement with the Toronto firm personally liable for any loss, costs or damages in excess of the amount originally voted for the work.

Mr. Hall also alleges that Mr. Frank Barber, the Toronto engineer in charge of the work, has not sunk any test pits to determine the depth to which the foundations of the several piers are to be sunk, and that the plans showing the depth to which the piers shall be sunk are wholly incorrect and the piers will have to be sunk to a much greater depth, which will very materially add to the cost of the construction of the bridge.

Mr. Hall states that the tenders that have been received by the Council of the construction of this bridge, exclusive of land damages, and engineer's fees, clearly exceed this amount authorized by the ratepayers to be expended in the construction of this bridge and even these twelve tenders that have been received are estimates only and ar not in fact bona fide tenders that the contractors are willing to be bound by, as the lump sum cost of the constructon of the bridge.

Rival Claims To Be Harmonized

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 30.—A formula for the solution of the problem of Kiao-Chau, which it is hoped will remove any possibility of friction and prove mutually acceptance to the Chinese and Japanese, has been reported by the Powers, it was stated in authoritative quarters today. The nature of the indicated solution, however, has as yet not been disclosed.

QUAKE KILLS FORTY IN SAN SALVADOR

WASHINGTON, April 30—The State Department was advised yesterday that a severe earthquake occurred in San Salvador at one o'clock Monday morning causing forty deaths, injury to many persons and considerable damage to property. The American legation building at San Salvador was damaged.

Divorce Bill In Parliament Gives Jurisdiction To Courts

OUTSTANDING FEATURES OF DIVORCE BILL INTRODUCED IN PARLIAMENT BY KINGSTON MEMBER—TO PLACE ALL CANADA UNDER ONE LAW AS REGARDS DIVORCE.

OTTAWA, April 30—Though daring men have occasionally in the history of Canada's Parliament braved the intense antipathy felt all through Canada to even the name of divorce by trying to ascertain the feeling of the Commons with regard to the advisability of having divorce courts in Canada, it is only this session that a bill has been prepared, sponsored by Mr. W. F. Nickle, member for Kingston, to constitute divorce courts in Canada. If the bill passes, as there appears to be every posibility it will, the question of divorce and nulification of marriage will for the first time come under the damain of law and the dissolution of marriages will be granted only for the seasons set forth in the law.

PARLIAMENT'S POWER

Hitherto, as was pointed out in a memorandum prepared for the Senate Committee on Divorce some years ago by Mr. Alexander Smith, K.C., of Ottawa, who has made a special study and is exceptionally well-informed on the subject: "The Parliament of Canada has authority to annul marriages or grant divorces on any grounds whatsoever as it may deem fit. The Parliament of Canada is not restricted or bound by precedent or law in dealing with marriage and divorce as are the courts of England or the courts in any of the States in the United States. Parliament can exercise its own sense of the fitness of things in each application."

JURISDICTION TO COURTS

The new bill gives jurisdiction throughout Canada over all matters relating to marriage and divorce to the Exchequer Court of Canada where either of the parties is domisciled in Canada, and to the Superior Court of each Province where either party is domiciled in such Province. In the Province of Ontario the Superior Court would mean the High Court Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario and in Quebec the Superior Court of that Province. In the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, where courts for divorce and matrimonial causes now exist, these would remain in existence so long as the present Judges remain in office, and after that the divorce courts would become the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia and the King's Bench Division of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick. The divorce court established in Prince Edward Island as far back as King William IV's reign loses its juridiction immediately under this act.

In contradiction t othe state of affairs existing across the line, this bill would place all Canada under the same law. The great importance of this law to all Canada demands explicitness as to causes leading to dissolution. Divorce is allowed for only two reasons, proof of adultery or bigamy. Nulification of marriage may, however occur for any of six reasons:

First, at the suit of the injured party for the incurable physical impotence of a party to a marriage if it existed at the time of the marriage;

Second, for duress, coercion, or want of consent, at the suit of the injured party, unless such party has by his or her conduct confirmed the marriage;

Third, for kindred within prohibited degrees, provided, however, that no marriage shall be declared null and void because the woman is a sister of a deceased wife of the man, or a daughter of the deceased wife's sister;

Fourth, for insanity at the time of the marriage of either of the parties thereto;

Fifth, at the suit of the husband when the wife is pregnant at the time of the marriage by a man other than the husband, if the husband was ignorant of the pregnancy at the time of such marriage, and has not, after the discovery by him of such pregnancy, by his conduct, confirmed such marriage;

And sixth, at the suit of the injured party, when the other party wilfully refuses to consumate the marriage.

COLLUSION FATAL TO APPLICATION

Proof of connivance or collusion in any of the applications for divorce would cause the Judge to refuse dissolution or nulity of marriage shall in the first instance be a decree nisi, not to be made absolute until after the expiration of not less than three months as the court shall by general or special order direct, and during that time any proof of connivance or collusion or any evidence of material facts will be admitted before the decree is made absolute or reversed. The court is given the power to order alimony within the power of the husband to pay, and later to increase or stop payment of the sum on proper representations of inability to pay or for other good reason.

The court may also order the payment of interim alimony by the husband until the suit is heard, and order him to pay as well the cost of his wife's suit. Appeals are provided for from the Exchequer Court of Canada to the Supreme Court of Canada, or from the Superior Court of a Province to the Appellate Court or tribunal of that Province, and a final appeal can be taken to the Supreme erior1Sls opublics O:xi .tiE do-m 'n Court of Canada.

RE-MARRIAGE ALLOWED

After the decree is made absolute re-marriage of both parties is permitted as if the prior marriage had been dissolved by death, but the bill very wisely adds with regard to religious differences in Canada; 'But no clergyman or minister shall be liable to any penalty for refusing to publish any banns of marriage or to solemnize any marriage in any case where either of the persons desiring to be married has been so divorced, or has had his or her marriage declared null and void.' It is also provided that the husband and wife shall each be a competent and compellable witness. As to domicile men and women are placed on an equal footing, the domicile of a married woman being governed by the same laws and rules that apply to a man, in this case the domicile of a married woman not being considered the same as that of her husband.

PUBLICITY PROHIBITED

Although a large number of divorce and nullification of marriage cases are heard every years by Parliament, and a great increase this year over other years. Canadian newspapers have hitherto refrained from publishing more than the mere result of such applications. In England full reports are given of proceedings of divorce courts, even in such papers as The Times, but the proposed bill proposes to maintain Canada's tradition in this respect, the bill prohibiting reports of any case without the presiding Judge's order or approval, on pain of the penalties prescribed for contempt of court.

The tariff of costs or fees is left to the respective courts to determine as well as other rules and regulations concerning the practise and procedure of the courts, except "that no order, rule or regulation shall be made to permit the introduction of co-respondents in any case or to try any issue by a jury."

Another Statement By Pres. Wilson

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, April 30—A President Wilson statement issued last night dealing with the memorandum sent by President Wilson to the Italian delegation on April 14 says: "I felt bound to square every conclusion that I should reach as accurately as possible with the fourteen principles of peace which I set forth in my address to the Congress of the United States on the 8th of January 1918 and in subequent addresses. Personally I am quite willing that Italy should be accorded, along the whole front of her northern frontier and wherever she comes into contact with Austrian territory, all that was accorded her in the so called pact of London, but am of the clear opinion that the pact of London can not apply to the settlement of her eastern boundary.

Italians Endorse Orlando's Actions

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited

ROME, April 30—Premier Orlando's Government was given an unanimous vote of confidence in the Italian Senate following a vote of confidence given him in the House of Deputies. Great demonstrations followed the Premier's address before the Senate. The vote in the chamber of deputies was 328 to 40. The ballots opposing the resolution were cast by intransigeant socilaiists.

Chemical World In Grip Of Science

New Theories Concerning Arrangement of Electors in Atoms

WASHINGTON, April 29—Dr. Irving Langmuir of the General Electric Co. will present to the National Academy of Sciences, which opened a three-day session here, new theories concerning the arrangement of electrons in atoms and molecules. Many chemists in attendance upon the Academy regard the new theories of fundamental importance, equal, some of them say, to the original conception of the atom announced by the English chemist, Dalton, in 1803. Scientists attending say Dr. Langmuir will show that, by certain geometric assumptions as to the nature of atoms and similar assumptions as to the forces which lead to their combination he can derive the inmost compositions of the most complex pure chemical substances. It is said he can also predict what their properties will be in the whole rang of chemical substances which go to make up the universe.

The opening session was participated in by perhaps one hundred scientists, many of whom undoubtedly helped to win the war with their brilliant researches and the practical development resulting therefrom. Many of the learned men told of their discoveries

SPORT FOR THE ANGLER

To the excellence of the fishing to be enjoyed in Algonquin Park there is undisputed testimony. Fish caught in the waters of the Park have won each year many of the National competitions open to the angler of the Continent. The brook trout of Algonquin Park are of the genuine square tailed, red spotted or speckled variety. Black bass are plentiful in the Rock Lake district and are of the small mouthed variety. Salmon trout are found in all the waters of the park. Splendid camp sites, unlimited canoe routes and hotels if you want them. Easy of access, only 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa. Illustrated descriptive literature giving full particulars for the asking. Apply to Grand Trunk Agent or C. E. No More Knighthoods For Canadians

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

OTTAWA, April 10—The discontinuance of the conferring of Knighthoods on Canadians residing in Canada was decided upon as desirable by the special committee of the Commons dealing with the matter this morning. The committee also concurred in the recommendation decided on last night of favoring the abolition of hereditary titles which now exist in Canada. The committee rejected the amendment by Mr. Cockshutt that while the committee did not favor immediately the discontinuance of titles it recommended that some discrinmation be exercised in granting such honors. Sir Herbert Ames, Dr. Michael Clark and the mover only favored this amendment. The main resolution carried 20 to 3.

EXTEND LICENSES UNTIL MAY 15

TORONTO, April 30.—Arrangements for the Government to take over the sale of liquor in Ontario are nearing completion, although it will be some days yet before the locations of the stores to be opened in the Province will be made known. As was forecast last week the License Board found it impossible to take over the distribution of liquor at the beginning of the license year—which is tomorrow—and Mr. J. D. Flavelle, the Chairman said yesterday that the licenses of the vendors had been extended until May 15. It is probable the board will by that time be ready to undertake the sale of liquor; if not, the vendors' licenses can again be extended.

The board is busy at present issuing licenses to the standard hotels for the next year. It was stated yesterday that there will be very few changes made in the hotels that have been operating for the last year, but statistics are not yet available.

QUEBEC LICENSES READY FOR MAY 1ST

QUEBEC, April, 29.—Licenses for the sale of light beers and wines were delivered by the Provincial officials yesterday and today, in time for the 1st of May, the date when the referendum of April 10 established the will of the people of the Province at large to have beer and wine.

An extra edition of The Quebec Official Gazette was printed last night for distribution to-day, announcing the enactment of the law that will become enforced on May 1st throughout the Province for the sale of light beers and wines in such places where the Scott Act is not enforced through local option.

The extra edition of the official paper reports the exact majority given in the Provincial referendum of April 10th in favor of the sale of wines and beers as 129,679—178,112 votes were cast in avor of wine and beer, and 48,433 against.

High School Students Win Scholarships

W. K. Detlor, who secured his Junior Matriculation examination in June 1918 at Deseronto High School entered Belleville High School in September, 1918, and took up Upper School work for two months after which he decided to enter the first year Science at Queen's University. Whilst attending the Belleville High School, Kenneth proved himself to be an exceptionally clever student in Mathematics and therefore it was not a surprise to learn that at the recent first year Science examination at Queen's University he secured the highest aggregate marks in the following first year subjects: Mathematics, Surveying, Physics, Junior English, Junior Chemistry, and Drafting, winning at the same time the Sandford Fleming scholarship.

Alan G. Hamilton secured the greater part of his secondary education at Kingston Collegiate. He attended the Belleville High School during the winter term of 1918 and devoted his time to Upper School Mathematics and Chemistry. He entered the first course in Science at Queen's University in September, 1918, and completed his first year successfully securing the highest standing in General Chemistry and the Moffat scholarship. Alan is a brother of Mrs. George Graham of this city.

DAY OF EXCITEMENT IN THE PENITENTIARY

KINGSTON, April 30.—It is stated that Sunday was one of excitement in the Provincial Penitentiary at Portsmouth. Four cases of diphtheria were discovered and the patients had to be isolated. Then one of the convicts was found by a guard hanging in his cell and he was cut down and his life saved. Still another convict was saved from choking to death.

Housing Millions Nearly All Taken Up By Progressive Places

ALL OF THE FEDERAL FUND IS SPOKEN FOR AND PROVINCIAL RESERVE OF TWO MILLION NOW BEING DRAWN UPON — LIVE COMMUNITIES TAKING ACTIVE ADVANTAGE OF GOVERNMENT HOUSING LEGISLATION.

TORONTO, April 30.—One-half the cities of Ontario, as well as a number of smaller municipalities, have already come under the Provincial Housing Act, according to announcement made by J. A. Ellis, director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs. Mr. Ellis estimates that the loans required by these municipalities will consume the whole of the $3,000,000 provided by the Dominion Government for Ontario. The sum of $2,000,000 set aside by the Provincial Government is still held in reserve, however.

From information which the director has, he believes that over 60 municipalities will be actively engaged in construction of houses under the Act during the summer. In a number construction has already started, while other localities are planning to acquire land and erect houses on a large scale.

The town of Ingersoll has acquired, under the Act, a tract of land of over 25 acres, in the centre of the town. This was obtained at a cost of $4,000 and can be divided into about 200 fifty-foot lots, which will enable Ingersoll to provide lots at about $30 each, since municipalities are not allowed to make a profit on the sale of land.

The full list of cities, towns and villages which have thus far come under the Act, is as follows: Sudbury, Windsor, Sandwich, Fort William, Hespeler, Port Dalhousie, Madoc, Galt, St. Catharines, Ingersoll, Port Credit, Oshawa, Sault Ste. Marie, Ford City, Ottawa, New Toronto, Elmira, Neebing Township, Cochrane, Trenton, Sarnia, Woodstock, Point Edward, Sturgeon Falls, Leamington, Palmerston, Richmond Hill, Perth, London, Whitby, Guelph, Niagara Falls, Listowel.

Peace Congress Will Proceed Regardless Of Italian Action

TREATY OF PEACE WILL BE PRESENTED TO GERMAN DELEGATES DESPITE ABSENCE OF ITALIAN REPRESENTATIVES — FIRST READING FRIDAY OF SATURDAY—PROCEEDINGS WILL CONTINUE STEADILY.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

PARIS, April 30.—It is planned in Peace Conference circles to go ahead with the treaty of peace without regard to any action by Italy as it is considered probable that the Italian delegation will not return, certainly not within the present week. The delivery of the treaty and the first exchange with the Germans, therefore, will occur without the participation of Italy and it is said that this procedure will go forward steadily up till the signing of the treaty. The first reading with the Germans will probably occur on Friday afternoon or Saturday when the pact will be presented.

The first session of the peace congress will be held in the room now used by the Supreme War Council and will be devoted to the verification of credentials. The text of the peace treaty will be presented to the Germans at the second session in the rest room of the Hotel Trianon,

SUPREME COURT WILL WORK ON RY. TIME

HAMILTON, April 30.—By an order passed by the judges of the supreme court of Ontario, daylight saving hours will be observed by the court officials, including the sheriffs, of the counties of Wentworth, York and Carlton. By this order the offices in Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa will open at 9 a.m. standard time, and close at 3 p.m. standard time every day except Saturday, when the closing hour will be 12 a.m. standard time. The observation of the new hours will remain in force until October 31, when the offices will resume the hours formerly observed by the courts. This order will not affect the division courts or the criminal court, which will be held at the usual time, the division court sittings opening at 10 a. m. standard time and the criminal court at 10.30 a.m. standard time and the criminal court 10.30 a.m. standard time.

Many of the local law offices are working on daylight time, thereby opening their offices at eight o'clock standard time while no action has yet been taken by the Law association, many of the legal profession feel that something definite will have to be done, and a meeting will probably be held in the near future to adjust the matter of office hours during the summer months.

34,000 Applications For War Gratuities

Militia Department Issues Statement to Clear Up Existing Difficulties.

OTTAWA, April 30.—The following information is issued by the Department of Militia with a vew to clearing up existing difficulties regarding soldiers war service gratuities:

The statutory declaration must be forwarded through the district paymaster of the military district in which the applicant was discharged after a certificate has been attached, showing the amount of post discharge pay already paid.

Up to April 25th there have been received 33,931, applications for war service gratuity from those struck off the strength, prior to the 11th of November, 1918. Of these, 2,800 have been received since April 1st, and to date 89,190 checks have been issued.

Cases have also arisen where the service as shown by the record office in Canada differs from the service claimed by the soldiers. This necessitates reference to overseas authorities.

In the case of any applicant whose claim was forwarded to the district paymaster of the district in which he was discharged prior to April 17, and who has not received either a check or a communication in connection with this claim notification should be sent addressed to the Paymaster General Militia Headquarters, Ottawa, advising the date on which the statutory declaration was forwarded, and the military district in which the soldier was discharged.

DEFENDS ARGYL HOUSE

OTTAWA, April 30—Colonel the Hon. Angus MacDonnell, C.M.G., who has just returned from France, where he was second in command of the Canadian Railway troops under Brig.-Gen. J. W. Stewart, C.B., is at the Chateau Laurier. Col. MacDonnell when asked about the administration overseas stated: "As the overseas Ministry and Argyl House appear to have been the targets of adverse criticism by some officers on their return to Canada I think it is only fair to the administration in England that officers returning to this country holding a different opinion should express their views.

"Without the ever ready help of the much abused Argyl House the Canadian Railway troops would have been in the position of orphans in a strange land, or at best step-children," he said.

MAJESTIC MINE BLOWN UP

BIRMINGHAM, Alta., April 30—The Majestic Mine, 22 miles north of Birmingham, was blown up by an explosion of coal gas yesterday afternoon according to information reaching here. Several men have been taken out severely injured, and forty others are believed to be still in the mine, according to company officials. The Government mine rescue car is en route to the scene from Dora. Mine officials were unable to state at what entrance the explosion took place. The mine employs 115 men.

The largest steam whistle in the world has been placed on a Pennsylvania steel plant, being five feet long and a foot in diameter and audible twelve miles.

Sir Robert Shone As a Mediator On Labor Issue

PARIS, April 30—The new draft of the covenant of the League of Nations is generally regarded as a great improvement upon that which was first presented. It is believed that the Canadian delegates pressed strongly for certain amendments, some of which are embodied in the new draft, while others were not accepted. The Canadian representatives urged their views with vvigor both before the commission and at meetings of the British delegation. Their belief, however, is that the one great advantage to accrue from the constitution of the league is that it will bring to the world first-hand discussions of world affairs. Through this understanding good will and co-operation in maintaining world peace will naturally follow.

SIR ROBERT SUCCESSFUL

Sir Robert Borden's chief activities have been devoted recently to an endeavor at reconciliation on the conflicting viewpoints respecting the form of the nine articles to be inserted in the peace treaty relative to labor conditions. There has been a danger that the strong divergence of opinion on this subject would lead to the withdrawal of some members of the league as the labor convention is closely linked in every way to the League of Nations covenant. Sir Robert was eventually successful in securing the acceptance of a new draft which he moved at yesterday's meeting. He was supported by Mr. Barnes, of Great Britain, and Mr. Vandervelde, of Belgium and had also secured the assent of the United States, French and Japanese delegates. In a short speech Mr. Vandervelde stated his hearty co-operation and the Borden amendment was then unanimously accepted.

AS TO WAGE EARNERS

The form of the articles as established by this amendment states that the high contracting parties, recognizing that the physical, moral and intellectual well being of industrial wage earners is of supreme international importance, have framed a permanent machinery in close association with the League of Nations to further this great end. Recognizing that differences of climate, habit and customs of economic opportunities and industrial traditions make strict uniformity in labor conditions difficult of immediate attainment, but holding that labor must not be regarded merely as an article of commerce, they are of the opinion that certain methods and principles relative to the regulation of labor conditions should be employed in all industrial communities so far as special circumstances will permit.

Sir Robert Borden explained that the proposals embodied in the articles were the result of many meetings and conferences, coupled with suggestions from the different delegates which he had been able to compile in the form of a draft acceptable to all.

Martial Law Is Declared In All Bavaria

BERLIN, April 30—Martial law declared yesterday in all Bavarian territory east of the Rhine, and Government troops began an advance on Munich from the south and captured Murnau. The Communists immediately threw reinforcements into Kempten west of Marnau, from Munich and Augsburg to ward off the attack of the Government forces.

The Spartacan leader in Nuremburg, Albert Schmidst, was shot after the discovery by the military authorities of a plot to dispose of the Hoffmann Government. Fighting then developed between the Government and Communist troops, resulting in the death of a number of the Reds. The other Spartacan leaders in Nuremburg were arrested and quiet against reigns temporarily. Officers of the Third Army Corps announce that they have established that the Independent League had organized an armed force to overthrow the Hoffmann Government and replace it by a Communist distatorship.

The Communists sent emissaries to Ratisbone and Land shut in an attempt to raise two million marks. The agents were arrested together with the Communist commissioner of transportation, Herr Lukum. The commissioner confirmed reports that the financial situation in Munich was desperate and that the Communists were unable to pay those out of work as they had agreed.

DEMAND ONE PRICE FOR ONT. HAIRCUTS

GUELPH, Ont. April 30—The fourth convention of the Ontario Federation of Barbers concluded by passing resolutions for a uniform closing hour in the Province of 7 o'clock p.m.; uniform price for haircutting of 50 cents; for a law compelling every barber in Ontario to be licensed and for the abolition of the order-in-Council preventing free speech. The convention was also unanimously opposed to the one big union idea.

19 Messages On One Copper Wire

"Wired Wireless" is New Telephonic and Telegraphic Development in U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—By an astonishing arrangement demonstrated for the first time by the signal corps of the army at the annual spring meeting of the American physical Society, it is possible to transmit and receive simultaneously over a single copper wire, a total of nineteen separate and distinct telephone and telegraph messages. This is far in excess of anything ever attempted in the world by way of multiple communication.

The demonstration of this remarkable development together with the announcement by Major-General George Squier chief signal officer of the army, that growing trees are a natural antennae for radio, were features of the day's session of the Physical Society.

The sending of nineteen separate telephone and telegraph messages at one time over a single copper wire is accomplished through the application of radio. The wire serves as a guide for the radio currents, conducting them with a minimum of power and with a minimum of interference with other radio communications.

Over the single wire then are carried eight telegraph and eleven telephone message. The sending of eight telegraph messages is accomplished through the application of multiplex telegraphy, the announcement of which several months ago astonished the country, also a development of General Squier. Four messages are sent in each direction.

One telephone conversation is carried over the wire in the ordinary way and ten additional telephone conversations are carried over the wire by radio, the radio telephone developed during the war being used for this communication. The wave lengths are changed for each additional radio telephone conversation, guided by the wire.

This development of "wired wireless," as it is called, is the result of efforts by General Squier and Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph O. Maubergne, of the Signal Corps, working with the engineers of the Postal Telegraph Company who have given valuable assistance. The arrangement, which recently was declared by several prominent electrical engineers to be impossible, now is in workign condition and operating successfully from a station in the United States Bureau of Standards.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY
SWOLLEN VEINS RELIEVED

That Absorbine, Jr., would relieve varicose veins was discovered by an old gentleman who had suffered with swollen veins for nearly fifty years. He had made unsuccessful efforts to get relief and finally tried Absorbine, Jr. knowing its value in reducing swellings, aches, pains and soreness.

Absorbine, Jr., relieved him and after he had applied it regularly for a few weeks he told us that his legs were as smooth as when he was a boy and all the pain and soreness had ceased.

Thousands have since used this antiseptic liniment for this purpose with remarkably good results.

Absorbine, Jr., is made of oils and extracts from pure herbs and when rubbed upon the skin is quickly taken up by the pores; the blood circulation in surrounding parts is thereby stimulated and healing helped. $1.25 a bottle at druggists or postpaid. A liberal Trial Bottle will be mailed your address for 10c in stamps. Booklet free. W. F. Young, Inc., 427 Lymans Bldg., Montreal, Can.

Feels Better Now Than In 28 Years

Sam Hooper Has Gotten Over His Breakdown Through Using Tanlac

"Tanlac has overcome all my troubles, and I am actually feeling better than I have in twenty-eight years" said Sam Hooper, of 56 O'Hara street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

"For the past four or five years," he continued, "I suffered from nervousness and a general rundown condition, and was getting worse all the time. Gas would bloat me up and cause terrible pains all through my sides and stomach; I lost over thirty pounds. I couldn't half sleep and was so weak and wornout that I had to give up work and just lay around feeling good for nothing.

"Since taking Tanlac I can hardly tell I had stomach trouble at all. My nerves are strong and steady. I sleep fine and my friends are congratulating me on my wonderful improvement for Tanlac has about made me over again and has helped me so wonderfully that I am glad to tell about it."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling, by J. S. Morton, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

8-Hour Day For World's Workers In Peace Treaty

PARIS, April 30.—The text of the nine labor clauses in the peace treaty follows:

"Among these methods and principles, the following seem to the high contracting parties to be of special and urgent importance:

First—The guiding principle above enunciated that labor should not be regarded merely as a commodity or article of commerce.

"Second—The right of association for all lawful purposes by the employed as well as by the employers.

"Third—The payment to the employed of a wage adequate to maintain a reasonable state of life as this is understood in their time and country.

"Fourth—The adpotion of an eight-hour day or a 48-hour week, as the standard to be aimed at where it has not already been obtained.

Fifth—The adoption of a weekly rest of at least 24 hours, which should include Sunday whenever practicable.

"Sixth—The abolition of child labor and the position of such limitations on the labor of young persons as shall permit the continuation of their education and assure their proper physical development.

"Seventh—The principle that men and women should receive equal remuneration for work of equal value.

"Eighth—The standard set by law in each country with respect to the condition of labor should have due regard to the equitable economic treatment of all workers lawfully resident therein.

"Ninth—Each State should make provision for a system of inspection in which women should take part in order to insure the enforcement of the laws and regulations for the protection of the employed.

"Without claiming that these methods and principles are either complete or final, the high contracting parties are of opinion that they are well fitted to guide the policy of the League of Nations and that if adopted by the industrial communities who are members of the League and safeguarded in practice by an adequate system of such inspection, they will confer lasting benefits upon the wage-earner of the world."

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

There is promise of something unusual in theatrical entertainment in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," the famous New York farce hit which A. H. Woods will present at Griffin's Opera House next Friday night for an engagement of one night direct from a year's run in Chicago and New York, where it provided the most popular comedy of the season. It is said to be amazingly original and concerns "doings" of an estimable married young man who finally decided to live up to his wife's opinion of him as a Don Juan and get more than either he or she bargained for. This is the same production as played the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, recently for one week. Seats will be on sale at Griffin's tomorrow morning.

DOROTHY GISH AT GRIFFIN'S

To have the man you love propose to you, to accept him and to be the happiest girl on earth, then, just a few minutes later, to find him kissing a woman you hate, is the situation which confronts Dorothy Gish in one of the dramatic moments of "Boots," her newest picture which will be shown at Griffin's Thursday and Saturday, matinee Saturday. Usually it is the other way. The man finds his sweetheart apparently false to him, and in his blind anger refuses to trust her. This time "Boots" in her own tearful resentment, refuses to trust the man who she believes has been false to her. "So," says Dorothy Gish who will be remembered to theatre goers through her splendid comedy work in "Hearts of the World" and "The Hope Chest," it makes little difference which side of the fence the clover is on, the other side looks different anyway "Love Loops the Loop" is the title of the two-act Mack Sennett comedy being screened on the same programme along with the British News. Raly and May in a comedy juggling act is the vaudeville portion of the programme for the week end.

VIVIAN MARTIN'S NEW PHOTOPLAY

That Vivian Martin, the popular screen star, has an exceptional vehicle in "You Never Saw Such a Girl," her latest picture, is conceded by all who have seen the picture. The story is by George Weston, and was published in book form under the title "The Kingdom of Heart's Desire." Marian Fairfax adapted it to the screen as "You Never Saw Such a Girl." Robert G. Vignolia with his usual directorial skill, put it into film forms and it will be shown at the Palace tomorrow to Saturday, matinee daily along with the 11th chapter and the fourth to the last of "The Bull's Eye" serial and a good Luke comedy.

MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMAN

Lina Cavalieri, the famous operatic star, who is widely known as "the most beautiful woman in Europe" is appearing at Griffin's tonight for the last time in "The Two Brides." The story of "The Two Brides" is a most interesting one, the situations being dramatic and the climax exceptionally thrilling. Mme. Cavalieri has a role unsurpassed for strength, interest and appeal by any she has essayed since she became a screen star. Mack Sennett's two-act comedy "Battle Royal," a beautiful hand colored travelogue and a funny Mutt and Jeff cartoon complete the photoplay programme. The Musical McMillon's is a novel musical offering are also appearing on the same program.

MADGE KENNEDY STAR DANCER

There seems to be no end to Madge Kennedy's versatility. In her recent screen success the piquant star proved her ability as a diver, swimmer and all around athlete. Stage dancing is her favorite pastime in her newest picture "The Perfect Lady" from Rose Stahl's popular stage play by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf, which is being shown for the last time to-night at the Palace. In "A Perfect Lady" Madge Kennedy has the role of Lucille Le Jambon, featured performer of the Merry Model Burlesquers. The beautiful comedienne demonstrates in several scenes that there is very little of the art terpsichorean with which she is not familiar. "Toto," the famous New York Hippodrome clown, is also appearing on the same program in an amusing and original comedy entitled "Do Husbands Deceive." Pathe News with many important events of interest to all Canadians is also announced for presentation.

HOW'S YOUR BLOOD?

Pimples and Eruptions Mean Bad Blood

People who have impure or impoverished blood should be careful to take only a temperance remedy made of wild roots and barks such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is and has been for nearly 50 years. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

The first day you start to take this reliable medicine, impure germs and accumulation begin to separate in the blood and are then expelled through the eliminative organs.

In place of the impurities, the arteries and veins gradually get fresh vitalized blood and the action of this good blood on the skin means that pimples, boils, carbuncles, eczema, rash, acne and all skin blemishes will disappear. Then you must remember that when the blood is right, the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys become healthy, active and vigorous and you will have no more trouble with indigestion, backache, headache.

Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to-day at any medicine dealers, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10c for trial package to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

WINDSOR, ONT.—"For over three years I suffered with stomach and liver trouble. I would bloat up, gas would form on my stomach and cause me to be terribly distressed at times. I also broke out with ring worms. I doctored and took medicine but did not get any relief until a lady advised me to try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, and, also, the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and I am glad to say that these medicines so completely cured me that I have never had any return of these ailments."—MRS. FLORENCE HOOPER, 4 Albert Street.

TWO PLACES TO ONCT IS THIS JUDGE

HAMILTON, April 30.—His Honor Judge Gauld has attained novel distinction. All axioms to the contrary he is now called upon to be in two different places and to do two different things at one and the same hour. Moreover, he is at both places and does both things—at the same hour.

Greatness has been thrust upon his Honor. The ardent devotees of daylight saving and the rigid adherents of standard time have combined toward this end. At 10 o'clock in the morning as County Judge or Local Master, he sits in court presiding at the jury trial of an offender or sits in chambers issuing a commission to take evidence, while at 10 o'clock the same morning he is busy in Division Court, adjudicating the collection of an account or dealing with a debtor under judgment summons. In the first case he is required to work on daylight saving, and in the latter case on standard time.

But everybody seems to be satisfied—unless it be the Judge. He puts in an extra hour each day, which would seem to be a matter that might well have the attention of his labor union.

RIAL PROVISIONS COME AS SURPRISE

WASHINGON, April 30—The State Department's announcements on the steps proposed to bring the Kaiser to trial was received here generally with surprise because it was known that Secretary Lansing, chairman of the commission, had steadfastly opposed any attempt to bring the former Kaiser before an international tribunal. Mr. Lansing contended there was no law by which such an offender could be reached by the conference and that it would be contrary to the constitution of the United States for the American delegates to participate in the execution of a sort of international ex-post facto law. At that time, however, it was proposed to charge criminal and military offences.

STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK

TOLEDO, April 30—Twenty-five hundred striking employes of the Toledo Shipbuilding Company, who walked out last Wednesday because thirty negroes were hired, returned to work. Neither the company nor men would discuss terms of settlement. Work immediately was resumed on fifteen freighters for the Federal Shipping Board.

HIGH PRICE OF FOODSTUFFS.

Continued high prices for staple articles of food in Canada at this time when many are out of employment and wages are beginning to sag are contributing factors in a serious situation. The rapid advance in the price of butter has no apparent justification and means for the average wage-earner a radical reduction in the family use of butter.

The Montreal Star is investigating the recent increase in the price of butter which is not justified by market conditions, according to the findings of its Ottawa correspondent, who writes as follows:

> Underlying the militant unrest which is manifested by repeated strikes all over the country, or by labor troubles of one kind or another, is a basic cause—the cost of living. While every necessary of living is abnormally high, food is particularly so, and no commodity in that line has risen so sharply in price as butter. The situation becomes alarming with this essential product selling at 75 cents a pound in Ottawa, at a corresponding figure elsewhere, and with more of a likelihood of going higher than lower.
> The conditions are conceded to be very serious, the more so because they are attributable, in large measure, not to the operation of the law of supply and demand, but to speculation and gambling with a reckless abandon.
> From enquiries made by the Montreal Star it is clear that a considerable part of the butter now being sold around 70 and 75 cents was obtained last fall and winter at prices ranging from 45 to 50 cents a pound. The supplies that are now coming in from current production do not, in many instances, admit of such a margin of profit. In the former case, so far as can be learned here, the profiteers are the storage men and others with butter on hand. In regard to the butter now being made, and the prices charged, the retailers are not overlooking their profit and are making out of it fully as much as any other interest.
> ### Lots in Storage.
> It should be pointed out that the quantity of butter in cold storage, according to the Government returns, is not a complete indication of the quantity in the country. There were 1,800,000 pounds in storage on April 1 in those large plants which are called upon to make returns to the Government. There is a great deal more—but how much exactly cannot be estimated—in the hands of grocers, store-keepers or farmers who salted it away last fall and winter, and are now reaping a harvest. These people are not required to make any returns to the Government, and how much they have on hand is a matter of speculation.
>
> Why the sudden rise in price? is everywhere asked. If butter had gone to such a figure in December or in mid-winter there would not have been so much surprise; but the facts are that the increase dates, practically, from the latter part of March, with Spring, when normally butter prices decline.
>
> Two explanations are given here—the ruling price in Europe and, what is the better reason, the removal of the restrictions which obtained up to the middle of February. There is, undoubtedly, a butter shortage in Europe, and high prices are offered. Canada is not supplying the shortage. Her exports are very small, but a little was exported, a high price secured, and that particular price was the signal for an unexampled orgy of butter speculation and price jumping. Inquiry shows that very little butter has been sent from the eastern provinces to Europe. The only shipment of any size was seventeen carloads covering the period of the past six weeks. There are 25,000 pounds to the carload. The supply came mainly from Manitoba.
> ### At European Prices.
> Because, however, there is a shortage and a high price is being paid for butter in Europe, Canadian dealers, though not supplying the foreign market to any degree worth mentioning or lacking plentiful supplies, are demanding and obtaining at home the prices they could secure if their butter were being sold in Europe. Their cost of production has not increased this spring, the handling involves no extra trouble and the domestic market is abundant, yet by reason of the prevailing quotations in another part of the world, they consider it quite justifiable in raising the level here correspondingly.
> On the same principle, when apples were selling last winter in London at twenty-cents a piece, because they were scarce, a similar price should have been demanded in Canada where they were fairly plentiful.
>
> ### The Cause of Strikes.
> Thus a wild speculation goes on while the consumer pays through the nose for it. Observers of the labor situation say that the rise in the price of butter has a greater influence on the alarming number of strikes at present than any other single factor that enters into the cost of living.
>
> When one travels around official circles in Ottawa and inquires what they are going to do about it, one hears in some quarters no words of criticism but rather of justification. Admitting that much of the butter of fall and winter production, latterly sold at 70 to 75 cents a pound, was bought at prices varying from 45 to 48 cents, it is claimed to be perfectly moral as well as legal to demand for it now whatever figure the speculative market fixes. It is said to be the practice "in business generally" and the argument is that just as the dealer would lose if butter declined suddenly below the original purchase price—a most improbable contingency—so he is entitled to benefit by the raise even though it be abnormal and involves profiteering beyond his wildest dreams.
> If a great part of the butter produced in Canada were sent abroad and a shortage at home existed the present prices could, at least, be understood. But the plain facts are that Canada is not a butter exporting country to any particular degree. Canada has been importing about as much as it exported. The normal production is two hundred million pounds a year. And of this quantity, how much is exported? The total ranges from ten to twenty millions only. The home market is abundant and profitable yet because, after strain of war, Europe is short and enormous prices are being paid, Canadians without a shortage and without any considerable export, have to pay the same prices as rule in the war bedevilled countries of Europe.
> ### Others in it, Too.
> So far as the butter now being produced from day to day is concerned the farmer, as well as the jobbers and retailers, are availing themselves of the abnormal situation. The Agriculture Department has a dairy station at Finch in Stormont county and last week there they were paying farmers 70 cents a pound for their butter fat. Out of one pound of butter fat about one pound and a fifth of butter can be produced.
>
> The second and really vital explanation of the present profiteering is that the lid is now off. It may continue until an outraged public demands the reimposition of the restriction. Up till about the 10th of February, the situation was well in hand. Dealers were effectively regulated. A wholesaler was allowed to make only ten per cent. on his sales to a retailer and four per cent. on sales to another wholesaler, and, in the latter case, the transaction was limited to one. There were also restrictions on the export. Last fall, a shortage of butter occurred in England and the government here commandeered the produce of the creameries. Six million pounds were sent out of the country. One could imagine how, if the present conditions had obtained then, prices would have gone kiting. As it worked out there was barely a flurry in the market because the business was regulated. They couldn't jump the fence if they wanted to.
> ### "Go To It, Boys!"
> The producers, however, kept nagging the government, and though the Commissioner of the Cost of Living foresaw the result, protested vigorously and is officially on record, all the bans were lifted and the government in effect said "Go to it, boys!" They have gone with a vengeance, free from export restriction and free from the limitation of profits. They are making up for lost time.
> What is the remedy? Two are suggested. One might lie in the production of more butter, but there is no assurance of that; even so, the price would not come down when the gambling tendency is so highly developed. The other is to restore the restrictions which used to be applied and which proved so effective. Under the operation, as stated, profits were limited and embargoes were applied to foreign export. If they were justified during the duration of the war and up to last February, three months after the war ended, they would seem to be more than ever justified now when, with their removal, a grand carnival of profiteering has been inaugurated.
> The proposal of applying an embargo would be immediately met with a cry that Canada would be struck out of foreign markets. The best answer to this is that, in the past, the foreign market was never availed of as is indicated by the fact that only ten or twenty million pounds of the two hundred millions of annual production were sent out of the country. The home market, easy of access, proved equally profitable. The limitation of profits would also give rise to a howl, but the government, it is observed, has as much authority to resort to this expedient, in the period of reconstruction, as it had during the war which has necessitated that reconstruction. It would have the further justification in the fact that the removal of the restrictions has been seemingly the signal for going at the throats of helpless consumers.
> ### Farming Influence.
> On the back of all this comes the demand also for a resumption of the ban on oleomargarine. The dairy interests are insisting on it and certain officials are said to favor it. Canada is the only country in the world where the butter substitute is made as a matter of special temporary privilege, and to this uncertainty may be ascribed the fact that the industry is not developed to any degree and consequently the price is equal to what butter used to be in the days before the profiteers got busy.
> The farming influence is strong at Ottawa and they are being backed up by exporters, but it seems unlikely that in view of the situation the Government will put oleo under the ban again. The only way to secure a remedy for butter profiteering it seems will be by public agitation, and in such a campaign the active and aggressive opposition of producers is to be anticipated.
> Other figures respecting the cost of living show that it is running high, but it is not felt so acutely as in the case of butter. Eggs in cold storage are now practically a negligible quantity, this being the season when the fresh variety can be secured at prices which, relatively, are not exorbitant. Meats are high, going higher still, and give indication of a considerable 'spread' between the price to producers and consumers. Butcher steers sold last week at the Toronto yards at 11 to 12 cents a pound on the hoof and "heavy choice" steers at 14 and 15 cents a pound. The common variety brought from $6.50 to $7.75 per hundredweight. Dressed carcasses ranged from 18 to 20 cents for common, to 23 and 25 cents for choice. In Montreal on Wednesday—the departmental returns are prices at stores patronized by the working classes—round steak sold at 32 cents, sirloin at 35 cents, shoulder roasts at 25 cents and rib roasts at 28 cents. Flour sells in Montreal at $2.40 bag and retails at $1.75. In the price of tea, which varies greatly according to quality and the method of putting up, the excise tax of 10 cents a pound is a material factor.
> In no commodity, however, is the rise so sharp as in butter. The situation may be sized up by saying that while the European demand—not being supplied by Canada—is availed of as an excuse, the essential cause is the removal of the restrictions which used to be applied limiting profits and limiting export. Conditions, it is thought, are unlikely to improve materially until the Government either reverts to the regulation which it removed in the face of the protest of the Cost of Living Commissioner, or, at least, "reads the riot act" to the interests that are making the best of an unfettered opportunity that is afforded them.

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, April 29.—With a run of 2596 head of cattle to be exact, on the Union Stock Yards market yesterday, following the light receipts of last week, the market for all classes of cattle with the exception of heavy export steers (of which there was only one load) was decidedly strong.

All classes, especially the lighter quality butcher steers and heifers, were in active demand, and sold well and more would have found a ready market.

Butcher, cows and bulls were strong, and there was a good demand for stockers and feeders and their young cows for grazing purposes.

There was a heavy run of calves (872), and the price fell away anywhere from $1 to $1.50 per cwt., with sheep and lambs herd steady.

The hog market with a run of 2616, held steady, selling at 21¾c f.o.b.

Beginning to-day the price for fed and watered hogs will be 22¾c, and for f.o.b. hogs 21¾c, a straight one dollar difference.

What Your Money Did Last Year

What Y.M.C.A. Plans to do This Year

ON May 5th throughout Canada, the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Associations inaugurates a Red Triangle Campaign to raise $1,100,000. Before asking for renewed endorsation, it is desired to render full account of the funds subscribed in response to the appeal of one year ago, and to thank the public most sincerely for the generosity that made possible the Y.M.C.A.'s work for the soldiers throughout the war.

The Consolidated Financial Statement of the Y.M.C.A. for 1918 has been duly audited and found correct by Price, Waterhouse & Company, of London, England, and Oscar Hudson & Company, Toronto. A full copy of this statement may be obtained at any local Y.M.C.A. building, Red Triangle Club or Red Triangle Campaign Headquarters in Canada.

We present herewith a complete summary of our finances for 1918, covering our entire service in France, England, Scotland, Belgium, Germany, Holland, Northern Russia, Siberia and Canada, where the Association served, and is still serving, Canadian men and boys. We also outline our 1919 Budget.

What Soldiers Say About the Y.M.C.A.

Lt.-Col. W. P. Purney, Dominion President, Great War Veterans' Association, Sydney, N.S. Jan. 23, 1919.

"There is no bone of contention between the G.W.V.A. and the Y.M.C.A. The Y.M.C.A. has done a work that no other institution could or would do. Speaking as president of the organization, and for our members, I wish the Y.M.C.A. God-speed in their splendid work."

Philip Gibbs, War Correspondent, London Chronicle.

"I want to pay a very big tribute, my warmest tribute to the work of the Y.M.C.A. Very quickly after each battle these men of the Y.M.C.A. brought out their tents and equipments, by means of which they could give hot cocoa, coffee and cigarettes to these men in the lines, and words cannot say what a cup of coffee meant to men plastered in white clay like those I have described. I remember seeing and marvelling at the rapidity with which the Y.M.C.A. got up their tents and equipment under Vimy Ridge, within a few hours of the capture of that place."

Major General Sir David Watson, Quebec, P.Q., Commanding Officer, 4th Canadian Division.

"The Y.M.C.A. over here is doing a most noble work, and I am proud of the work that is being carried out by the Canadian Y.M.C.A."

No. 456823, Pte. F. Frieman, 21st Battalion.

"On behalf of the boys who travelled from Halifax I really take pleasure in thanking you for the splendid work done by your representative on the train. Judging by unfavorable reports, I, while in England, had been prepared for a neglected welcome of returned soldiers. But I am glad to say they are more than well looked after on the road to their homes, and in Halifax."

T. A. Hector, Regina.

"I would like to take this opportunity before finally leaving the Military Service of thanking you and the Y.M.C.A. organization, first for the many good things I enjoyed in France, and secondly for the cheerful, helpful work during the journey homeward. I voice the appreciation of many others."

Signaller I.D. Smith, Belmont, Manitoba, 43rd Battalion.

"Let no man now say anything against the Y.M.C.A. to me, or he will get what for if I catch him. It is in France we found the great need of the Y.M.C.A., and, believe me, it is a Godsend to the boys in the trenches."

Driver E. L. Milton, Vancouver, B.C., 45th Battery.

"The prices charged by the Y.M.C.A. canteens are rivalled by no other canteens, and more than that they sell Canadian goods—Canadian cigarettes, Canadian maple sugar, milk, fruit, and cereals. I cannot see anything wrong with the Y.M.C.A., and if the people at home knew its real value to the boys at the front they would give it all the support it needs."

Corporal G. Waterman, Vancouver, B.C.

"I think that this idea of a representative of the Y.M.C.A. on the homecoming troop trains is an excellent one, and I hope that it will be continued until the last Canadian comes home."

Y.M.C.A. Budget for 1919

THE total budget of the National Council of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. this year calls for an expenditure of $2,869,669. The cost of the Y.M.C.A. work for the soldiers overseas, estimated at $1,350,000 for eight months ending August 31st, will, it is expected, be provided for by the balance of funds on hand overseas, by the liquidation of overseas assets and 1919 canteen earnings. The budget in full outline is as follows:

1. Overseas Work for Soldiers Until Conclusion (To be financed by balance on hand, liquidation of assets and 1919 canteen earnings overseas) $1,350,000

2. Service to Returning and Returned Soldiers - $973,549

Red Triangle Service on Transports, $120,000.

Red Triangle Service at Disembarkation Ports, $50,000.

Red Triangle Service on Troop Trains, $30,000.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS

How to Obtain the Most Practical Kind of Information.

Kindness and Cleanliness Two Chief Points to Observe in Caring for Dairy Stock — Cow and Young Calf Should Be Separated in Not Over Three Days.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

CO-OPERATIVE experiments have been conducted in agriculture throughout Ontario annually since 1886. Previous to the war the number of farmers conducting these experiments reached over 5,000, and in 1918 (the last year of the war) the number was slightly over 3,600. Some of the leading varieties of crops now grown in general cultivation throughout Ontario were introduced through the medium of the co-operative work, such, for instance, as the O.A.C. No. 21 barley, Marquis spring wheat, O.A.C. No. 72 oats, O.A.C. No. 3 oats, Dawson's Golden Chaff winter wheat, O.A.C. No. 61 spring rye, Canadian Beauty pease, O.A.C. No. 81 Soy beans, Rye buckwheat, Golden Bantam sweet corn, Early Amber sugar cane, Dwarf Essex rape, Irish Cobbler potatoes, Yellow Leviathan mangels, Grimm and Ontario Variegated alfalfa, etc.

The co-operative experiments enable practical farmers to obtain information regarding varieties of field crops, mixtures of grain for grain and for fodder production, ways in increasing soil fertility, etc., for their own particular farms which they cannot possibly get in any other way. They furnish hundreds and even thousands of object lessons annually, which form centres of interesting study along the lines of progressive agriculture. They enable farmers to get a supply of pure seed of the leading varieties of field crops which rapidly increase in quantity and which furnish seed for sowing and planting in large areas and for selling at good prices. The whole work leads to a substantial increase in farm profits and to a steady advance in agricultural education throughout Ontario.

The plan of the co-operative work for 1919 is printed in circular form and has already been sent to all the successful co-operative experimenters of the past few years. Other interested farmers could secure a copy of the circular by applying to the Department of Field Husbandry, Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Care of Cow and Young Calf.

Kindness and cleanliness are the two chief points to observe in caring for dairy stock.

About a week before the young calf is expected, the cow should be placed in a clean, well-bedded, comfortable box-stall. The practice of compelling cows to give birth to their calves, tied in the row, is cruelty for the cows, dangerous for the calf, and bad for the whole herd. Privacy and quietness should be the rule at this time.

The cow should be allowed to lick the calf dry, and should be kept tied until the after-birth is removed. The two may be left together for one to three days. Some remove the calf at once, but if it is to be reared, it should be left with the dam for a short time, in order to give the young animal a good start. Leaving cow and calf together for a day or two also tends to remove inflammation from the udder of the cow.

If necessary the cow's udder should be bathed with warm water or some form of liniment such as camphorated oil, or equal parts of turpentine and vinegar and an egg in one quart of the mixture.

In case the cow and calf are all right, they may be separated in not over three days, and the cow be returned to her regular stall. The calf may be allowed to remain in the box-stall, if not needed for another cow, or be placed in the nursery along with other calves, as this will cause it to forget its "mammy" more quickly. It should receive its mother's milk for a week, whole milk for two or three weeks, then skim milk and other suitable feeds for six months, and be kept dry and clean at all times.—Prof. H. H. Dean, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Trimming and Staking Tomatoes.

This method of handling tomatoes has come into very extensive use in the past few years among the commercial market gardeners, owing to the high price of land and backyard gardens. The plants as a rule are set two feet apart each way and after planting are given one cultivation. The sticks are then set; driving them down about a foot into the ground and leaving from five to five and a half above the ground. These sticks may be made from mill edgings, saplings or anything else of a similar nature about one and a half inches square and strong enough to hold the plants when the fruit is fully grown. After driving the sticks and tying the plants to them the ground should be covered from four to six inches thick with very strawy manure, as a mulch. This mulch will keep the moisture in the ground and, at the same time, remove any necessity for cultivation and other disturbance of the roots. In growing tomatoes on the single stem, such as is used in this method, all side branches which appear where leaf stems join the main stem of the plant are removed as quickly as possible. If they are allowed to grow it will take away very valuable plant food from the growing plant. The plant should be tied every eight or twelve inches to the stake and when they have reached the top are cut off.—A. H. MacLennan, Ontario Vegetable Specialist.

Some Features In "The Winning Girl"

When the citizens of Belleville sit back comfortably Monday night to see and listen to the performance of "The Winning Girl" at Griffin's they will know little indeed of the work connected with the production of a musical play of this sort. From the time the rehearsals began until the ringing up of the curtain on the opening night the musical comedy is going through a process of evolution; adding to cutting out changing lines numbers even whole acts to fit together a consistent entertainment. "The Winning Girl" is now complete and in the polishing up stage. On Monday night the finish will be complete.

While nearly all the principals have big musical numbers some of the best bits of acting are done by those members of the cast who are actresses alone. Miss Evelyn McCarthy as Aunt Paradise the negro mammy who has to guard carefully her six dollars and sixty-seven cents, Mrs. Beamish as Mrs. Perrington-Shine, and Miss I. Keeler as Mrs. Ima Clinger, as well as Miss C. McArthur as Angelina "Little Angel" furnish a brand of acting that will be thoroughly appreciated.

The plan of "The Winning Girl" opens at Griffin's Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. As there will be a great demand for seats those coming first will get the choice.

Pleasing Program At Holloway St. Church

A large crowd featured last night's entertainment given by the Alert Bible Class in Holloway St. Church.

The special feature of the evening was the play entitled, 'The Challenge of the Cross,' and the large audience filled the Sunday School room to capacity. The play while being unique bristled with truth throughout and was clear and concise in the lessons it taught carrying a message to each one which might be condensed in these words, "my task."

The other numbers on the programme are well worthy of mention; a chorus by the class, solos by Mr. A. Baldwin, instrumental duet by Mrs. Clarry and Miss Pearce, readings by Mrs. Mott, Elsie Yerex, Ray Farrel and Mr. Davies of Albert College were much appreciated. Mrs. Dobbs and M. Robinson each rendered a solo very acceptably. A quartette composed of Messrs. Calnan, Barrager, Mrs Cook and Mrs. Wooten sang a piece entitled "The Old Rugged Cross."

At the conclusion of the program an address was read by Mrs. Charles Pearce, after which Mrs. Graham presented to Mr. and Mrs. Clarry the autograph quilt which has been on exhibition in Mr. G. W. Woodley's window during the last few days. Mr. Clarry, after making a suitable reply, called Messrs. J. S. Calnan and C. L. Walters to the platform and Mrs. E. Mastin on behalf of the Alert Bible Class presented Mr. Calnan, the missionary treasurer, with a cheque for one hundred dollars, and Mr. Walters, the Building Fund Treasurer, with a cheque for two hundred and sixty-five dollars, being the splendid sum raised on the quilt and concert combined.

After suitable replies were made by the recipients the evening's entertainment was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Mrs. Phillips Sends an Encouraging Letter to Expectant Mothers

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for five months before my baby was born and it has made me much better in health. I was always very ill when my other children were born, but with this one I had a much easier time. He is a big healthy boy now, three years old, and I believe it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that made me so well. It is certainly a good medicine for every woman. I cannot say too much in its favor, and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. W. PHILLIPS, 5430 Kingsessing Avenue, West Phila., Pa.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such letters is that this famous old root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness.

For special advice in regard to such ailments write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its many years experience is at your service.

A ROMANTIC CAREER.

Judge Craig Witnessed the Klondike Gold Rush.

Mr. Justice James Craig, who has been appointed chairman of the committee of the Navy League for the relief and pension adjustment of men of the merchant marine, has had one of the most novel careers in the history of the Canadian bench.

In 1900, when the famous Klondike gold rush was at its height and all the adventurers of the world bent their steps towards that new El Dorado, Mr. Justice Craig, then a prominent barrister in Renfrew, was selected as the man for the bench in the Yukon, where law was a little-known quantity. He accordingly proceeded to the Arctic, to assist Judge Dugas in the dispensation of justice under the midnight sun. He lived for twelve years in Dawson City, and during those romantic but troublous years, handled, with his two fellow judges (Messrs. Dugas and C. D. McCaulay) more than three times the number of cases of any other High Court Judge in Canada.

When Mr. Justice Craig arrived in the Yukon, there were one hundred and fifty-four High Court cases awaiting him. Many of these cases involved enormous sums of money and concerned fabulously rich mines. He was also appointed Judge of Admiralty for the Yukon, and under the conditions prevailing, he was obliged to formulate much new admiralty law.

After his first eighteen months in the Yukon, Mr. Justice Craig's health broke down under the strain of work, and he was put on board ship to be sent away to die. But after five months in California, he returned to his bench on the roof of the world and remained there the remainder of the twelve years, until 1912, when he returned to Toronto.

The most amusing story told regarding Mr. Justice Craig's term of office in the lawless goldfields concerns a case of litigation between two Russian Jews. These two worthies had been drawn by the lure of gold, but ran foul of each other and came before the judge. Their cases was adjourned for one day.

That evening, while Mr. Justice Craig was sitting in his study, he heard someone raising a row at his back door. The Jap servant being out, Mr. Craig answered the door and found a bushy, foreign-looking party with a bundle.

"Is this Judge Craig?"

"Yes."

"Well, this is for you."

And the foreign-looking party entered and unwrapped upon the table a fine big turkey.

"Did Mrs. Craig order this?" asked the justice.

"No! no! I give you this!" exclaimed the foreigner in a stage whisper, and he pulled from his pocket the blue summons form, and pointing to one of the two names on it, said:

"That's me! I give you this turkey!"

The justice promptly kicked the amazed foreigner out of the house, and his turkey after him. But the story leaked out, and for a long time, the justice suffered much twitting over his supply of turkey.

Mr. Justice Craig was born in Scotland in 1851, and came to Canada as a boy with his parents, settling in Arnprior. He was educated at McGill University and Osgoode Hall, graduating from the latter institution in 1878. He practiced in Renfrew, and was created a K.C. in 1898.

A special act of Parliament was passed in order to retire him from the bench, as he served only twelve years and not the required fifteen. But the nature of the work was taken into consideration.

Previous to his identification with the Navy League, Mr. Justice Craig was chairman of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society.

A Motor-driven Ice Cutter.

Why are the blocks of ice that the iceman juggles so mathematically alike and regular in shape? They have been sawn. Usually the saws are pulled by a horse. Now, however, machines are doing the sawing.

The marking is done with an electric marker operated by one man. Then comes the field cutter, a light, plough-like device with a circular saw operated by an electric motor carried on a truck. Current is supplied from a power plant. To start and stop the motor you merely throw a switch conveniently placed near the handles of the truck. One man can easily steer and operate the cutter.

This motor-driven cutter can be used on ice that would be too thin to bear the weight of a team of horses. Besides, the ice is not in danger of becoming contaminated by the horses.

The ice is not cut in square blocks by the field cutter, but is divided into large floats, and these are pushed against saws. — Popular Science Monthly.

U. S. Coal Output.

Nearly nine-tenths of the total estimated coal deposits of the United States, or about 2,580,000,000 tons, are stated to lie at a depth not exceeding 3,000 feet below the surface.

News Print Production.

In 1917 Canada produced 650,000 tons of news print paper, of which 492,800 tons, or 76 per cent., were exported to the United States.

Keeping the Home Fires Burning

THERE ARE MANY MEN YET LIVING who can tell about going to the neighbor's, miles away perhaps, to "Borrow" a chunk of fire. Until it arrived, no warmth, no light could be kindled. Whole families have shivered for hours until the messenger could return with the precious spark from a neighbor's fireplace.

Today, with a box of

on the shelf, you need not worry least the fire die down in the night, and you can leave your house for weeks without making elaborate plans for getting a fire started when you return.

A match is a little thing, perhaps, but it has made a big difference in the world. And it makes a difference whether you get good matches or poor ones.

The best assurance of match satisfaction you can have is to see that Eddy's name is on the box.

THE THIRD MACKENZIE.

Temporary Leader of Liberal Party Has Never Been Defeated.

Daniel D. Mackenzie, the new temporary leader of the Liberal party at Ottawa, is described by Parliamentary observers as a "two-fisted, fighting man," a dour and capable Scot.

One may imagine the trusty and faithful type of the man from the fact that in twenty-five years of public life he has never been defeated in any election.

He is the third Mackenzie in the line of Liberal leadership in Canada, and it is just a century since the first, William Lyon Mackenzie, landed in Canada. That first Mackenzie was not a Liberal leader in the party meaning of the word, but stood for liberty and the free institutions in Canada. The second Mackenzie was Alexander, who was Liberal Premier of Canada for five years shortly after Confederation.

This latest Mackenzie has had a distinguished public career. He is now sixty years of age, having been born at Lake Ainslie, Cape Breton, in 1859. He entered the profession of law and served as mayor of North Sydney and Commissioner of Schools for Cape Breton County for five consecutive years. In 1900 he was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature and to the House of Commons in 1904, in which he has remained ever since. From 1906 to 1908 he was judge of the County Court District No. 7 of Nova Scotia. As his name would indicate, he is a Presbyterian.

While a very aggressive fighter, Mr. Mackenzie has till the present remained out of the limelight. In the Parliamentary debates in the first year of the war, when the Government was attacked on several points, Mr. Mackenzie took a prominent part. Sir Wilfrid Laurier thought so highly of Mr. Mackenzie that he chose him to sit as his deskmate in the Commons during the last season of Parliament.

A Painter of History.

Mr. Robert Harris, C.M.G., who died in Montreal recently, had a long and distinguished career, chiefly as a figure and portrait painter. One of his best known works was "The Fathers of Confederation," executed under a commission from the Dominion Government. It contained the figures of thirty-three Canadian statesmen, and was regarded as an accurate representation of them and of great historical value. Unfortunately this painting, which hung for many years in the lobby at the main entrance to the House of Parliament, Ottawa, was destroyed in the fire. Among the offices which he held were President of the Royal Canadian Academy, 1893-1906; president of the Ontario Society of Artists and Director of the Art School, Montreal Art Association, 1883-87. He was created a C.M.G. in 1902.

Biblical Names.

Biblical names are not now as common as formerly. In Nova Scotia, however, they are still prime favorites. A journalist in that province says that at Canso, Nova Scotia, are six brothers whose given names are respectively: Cyrus, Elias, Silas, Ananias, Zacharias and Cornelius. "Strange to say," the journalist adds, "some years ago these brothers were working on one of the fish wharves when a heavy thunderstorm came up and Ananias was struck by lightning!"

MEAT TATING BANNED AMONG THE SWISS

BERNE, April 30—Because of the increasing difficulties of provisioning Switerland with meat the Federal Council has decided to forbid the eating of meat from May 5th to May 19th throughout the nation. During this period the killing or sale of cattle is also forbidden. The Government of Cantons have been ordered by the Federal Council to take extremely strict measures for the enforcement of these orders.

A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Safe, of this city yesterday afternoon strayed away from home and caused considerable anxiety to the parents until it was found. The police assisted in locating the little one.

HOGS AND CALVES SHIPPED

Mr. D. Scott and son of this city shipped from here today a large number of live hogs and calves. The price paid for the porkers was $21.25 per hudnred weight and for the calves 10c. to 15c. per pound according to quality and weight.

CALL FOR THE POLICE

Last evening the police answered a call to Mr. H. Goodman's warehouse on Mill Street, it being alleged that some person was trying to get into the premises. Upon investigation it was ascertained that boys whilst playing ball threw the latter into the building and were making an effort to recover the lost article. Their presence in a portion of the building was the cause of the alarm.

MISSING AUTO RECOVERED.

Amongst those who attended the minstrel show at Griffin's opera house last evening was Mr. John Bracker, of Corbyville, who drove his car to the place of amusement and left it standing on the north side of Bridge Street. When the show was over the car was gone. The police were notified and later the missing auto was found by Constable Deshane on Charles street. Evidently some party or parties had taken the auto to enjoy a ride.

HOSPITAL AT PICTON

The opening of the Prince Edward County hospital was a unique event in the history of Picton and attracted large crowds. The large building with its many windows is situated in a quiet part of the town and affords a pleasant view of the harbor and lake. The operating room, the waiting room and the bath room, furnished by the ladies of Wellington, the Cherry Valley Women's Institute, and the Red Cross Auxiliary of Picton Women's Institute, respectively, together with the cots furnished and maintained by the different Women's Institute, reflect much credit to the ladies throughout Prince Edward County.

PICTON LADY THRICE DECORATED

The many friends who knew Mrs. M. M. Eaton of Picton, in her girlhood years, as May Wilson, daughter of the late C. S. Wilson, will be interested to learn that she has just been decorated for the third time for hospital work in France. A medal was awarded her in 1917 by the French Government, for her heroic work in the American Ambulance Hospital at Nevilley, a suburb of Paris. She was also awarded the Mons Star and ribbon for her care of British soldiers in 1914.

BANQUET TO RETURNED SOLDIERS

At six o'clock on Saturday evening the members of the Brockville Salvation Army Corps, assisted by the members of the Ladies' G.W.V.A., tendered a banquet to the returned soldiers of the town and their wives, in Victoria hall, which had been nicely decorated and arranged for the occasion. Ample provision had been made for 200 guests but it was a matter of sincere regret to those who had labored hard to make the affair a success, that only 30 returned soldiers partook of the warm hospitality of the Salvationists.

MEMORIAL WINDOWS DEDICATED

Beautiful simplicity marked the dedication of a handsome set of chancel windows, placed in St. Paul's church, Brockville, during the past week and presented to the church at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning by H. H. Davis Toronto, only son of the late Mr. William Henry Davis, to whose memory the windows were dedicated by Venerable Archdeacon Dobbs, Kingston, for many years rector of St. Paul's parish.

BURNING RAG CAUSES BLAZE.

At 9.20 this morning the fire brigade was called to Mr. W. H. Melburn's residence on the west side of Cedar street to extinguish a blaze which broke out in the summer kitchen. It appears that a rag was on fire some time previous to the outbreak, and Mrs. Melburn, thinking she had extinguished it, placed it in a bag with other rags and went about her household duties. Evidently there was fire in the rag and in a few minutes the bag was ablaze and also the framework. Before the blaze was extinguished considerable damage was sustained to the interior of the kitchen and roof. The building is the property of Mr. Melburn and the loss sustained is covered by insurance.

DINNER TO CANADIAN BAR

The Premier, Sir Wm. Hearst and Hon. W. D. McPherson gave a luncheon Thursday to a number of the members of the Canadian Bar Association in the Speaker's Quarters at the Parliament Buildings. The guests included Sir James Aikins, Lt.-Gov. of Manitoba, the President of the Canadian Bar Association; Senator Willoughby, of Saskatchewan; W. H. Mulock, K.C., Winnipeg; Eugene Lafleur K.C., S. Happy George Wilson Never Grows Old

Given a Joyous Reception by Large Crowd of Admirers at Griffin's Last Evening with Gus Hill's Minstrels—Fine Exposition of Old-time Minstrelsy.

George Wilson, the veteran minstrel, was making people laugh when time was young, and George laughs so much himself that he will never grow old, while his friends in front of the footlights who have laughed at him and with him for many years are sure that George has discovered the secret of youth somewhere and instead of growing old gracefully is growing young gradually. George Wilson came back last evening with Gus Hill's minstrels and entertained a large and select audience at Griffin's theatre. There were other entertainers of course, but first and foremost there was George Wilson, funnier than ever. His monologue to the suffering suffragette sisters was a masterpiece of foolery which kept the audience shaking with laughter especially the feminine portion, some of whom were threatened with an attack of hysterics from overworking their laugh facilities. George gently chided one lady who was having the laugh of a lifetime and seemingly could not stop, by asking "Are you suffering, sister?" while to a gentleman who was laughing so hard it seemed that something must break he suggested that the laugh be finished outside so that the show could proceed. George certainly made a decided hit with the Belleville audience and he had difficulty tearing himself away.

Gus Hill's Minstrels this year is truly bigger and beter than ever and the audience last evening thoroughly enjoyed every moment of the entertainment which was the good old-fashioned minstrelsy from start to finish with blackface and no frills, singing, dancing, music and merry songs, quips and monologues. The scenery was excellent and the various settings were very pleasing.

The company is good al the way through, and there is a specially good bunch of funmakers headed by Jimmy Wall, who sure is some laugh teaser. Jimmy was recalled again and again and although he always protested that he had nothing else to offer, managed each time to emit another laugh provoker, and was only silenced by the director insisting that the rest of the programme be proceeded with.

There is a good bunch of singers with the show and many entertaining song hits were presented in the good old-fashioned way which permits the audience to understand every word of the songs.

It was one jolly night for everybody present even the performers warming up to the evident appreciation of the audience and enjoying the occasion as something rather out of the ordinary and not altogether in the day's work. For the old-timers the show was all to the good and the young uns seemed to be enjoying it also. Anyone who attended the show last night and failed to get a good series of laughs should see a doctor at once—these liver affections are so depressing and gloom inspiring.

Billy Markwith's Saxo Sextette was a feature deserving of special mention and met with the unqualified approval of the audience responding to several encores.

Honeymoon Bells, a musical moving colored wedding was a novel feature and well presented. The programme has a strong finish in the scenic novelty "Over There" with battleship scenes introducing sailors, marines and middies at play and at drill with appropriate songs.

Some of the good old songs of long ago were sung and found instant favor with their haunting harmonies and charming melodies awakening memories of other days.

It is safe to say that most of those who attended Gus Hill's Minstrels last evening would be glad to attend a repeat performance if it could be arranged, for the show is certainly a winner this season and worthy of the patronage of all who enjoy a good clean show and a hearty laugh.

Cheering was the prophecy of Billy Wall that some day the Bay Bridge would be free. Let us hope the present generation will live to see it.

Red Triangle Drive Begins In Belleville

Interesting Address by Mrs. Hutchinson, Who Served Overseas During the War.

Under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. a Red Triangle Campaign to secure in Canada a contribution of $1,100,000 to be used by the Y.M.C.A. in the reconstruction period and to assist returned soldiers will be launched on May 5th and extend to the 9th. All over the country meeting are being held for the purpose of explaining the object of the drive and last night such a meeting was held in the City Hall here. The attendance was by no means large and the great majority of those present were ladies. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Hutchinson, who went overseas with many other American ladies to assist in Y.M.C.A. and other work during the war. The meeting opened by an appropriate prayer Rev. Mr. Marshall, Rector of Emmanuel Church.

Mr. D. V. Sinclair presided over the gathering and gave an outline of the proposed campaign which was a great work. The Y. M. C. A. through its National Council did a grand work during the progress of the war. Its service was such that the Dominion Government had set its seal upon it, and had asked the Y.M.C.A. to continue its good work. Not only overseas did the Association look well after the welfare of the boys but it is continuing to do so and a Y.M.C.A. Secretary travels on each transport and 25 of these men are constantly engaged in the work. A Y. M. C. A. Secretary travels with every troop train right through to its destination. He carries equipment for the service and entertainment of the men and as far as circumstances allow, his program is similar to that carried on by the Transport Secretary. Free distribution of fruit, drinks and eatables en route is made regularly. In referring to the coming campaign the speaker stated that the allotment to Belleville was $3,000 which he considered was by no means large considering the benefits derived.

Mrs. Hutchinson is both a pleasing and capable speaker and her address was much appreciated. In speaking of women's work during the war she stated that before the war the women of France did little to assist in industrial pursuits of that country. Today some three million of women are in factories, fields and office doing work formerly done by men. In the allied armies there were many women engaged in responsible positions. In speaking of the Y.M.C.A. work Mrs. Hutchinson stated that some 5,000 women went overseas from the United States as Red Cross, Women Christian Temperance Workers and Y. M. C. A. workers. The speaker outlined minutely the work she was engaged at while in France and spoke eulogistically of the good accomplished by the Y. M.C.A. In refering to the Y. M. C. A. huts the speaker cited the fact that for five and seven francs as good a meal was provided to the Canadian soldiers as twenty-seven francs would procure in a hotel. Throughout all the steady fighting the "Y" kept right up with the front lines to provide comforts for the boys. In addition to comforts provided, entertainments were held which were both profitable and entertaining. The work done by the Y.M.C.A. could not be overestimated and the money required to still further prosecute the work should be forthcoming. Mrs. Hutchison before concluding her address gave briefly, but concisely, some of her experiences while engaged in the work overseas.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker and the singing of the National Anthem brought the proceeding to a close.

END OF SHOVEL BATTLE

Before Magistrate Masson this morning John O'Connell was charged with assaulting and occasioning grievous bodily harm to Louis Campbell, and the latter was similarly charged by O'Connell. This case was the outcome of an affray which occurred near the G. T. R. round house on the 15th inst., both men sustained painful injuries as the result of a battle with shovels. O'Connell admitted he said that the "D— Italians should all be in their own country," and Campbell admitted striking O'Connell. As both appear to have been equally at fault the magistrate dismissed the charges and ordered each party to pay their own costs. Mr. Carnew was present on behalf of the Crown, and Mr. Butler appeared for Campbell and Col. O'Flynn for O'Connell.

EARLY MORNING FIRE

Through the well directed efforts of the city fire brigade under the capable leadership of Chief Brown, a disastrous fire was averted at an early hour this morning. At a few minutes after three o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded and with alacrity the brigade responded. The blaze originated at No. 10 of a brick terrace situated on the north side of Harriett Street and, in the centre of the terrace in which five families are housed. It was in Mr. Howard English's partment the fire broke out and it is alleged that a lamp exploding caused the trouble. Mr. English had occasion to go to an early train to meet his wife and he left the lamp burning. During his absence the fire broke out and when discovered had gained considerable headway. When the firemen arrived upon the scene the interior of the apartment was a mass of flames and the smoke was suffocating. Chief Brown was however, enabled to fight the fire from both sides and virtually confined the flames to that portion of the terrace where it originated. The apartment to the west adjoining where this fire was, is vacant, and some slight damage was done by fire reaching the attic and also breaking through the petition. The east apartment is occupied by Mr. E. Hubbard, who escaped with only smoke damage. The fire eat its way to the roof which was burned for a few feet. Only a badly burned organ was taken out of Mr. English's partment. The terrace is owned by Mrs. Andrew Lloyd, who resides at Erie, Penn. Her loss is covered by insurance. Mr. English had insurance of $100 upon his contents. Naturally the fire for a time caused considerable axniety to the tenents but this was soon allayed when it was apparent the brigade had it in check.

Buy Your Home NOW

All You Need to do is

PHONE 869 — DOYLE DOES THE REST.

The rent you pay will buy it. He will show you forty homes he has built in the city and every buyer well pleased. Some of these buyers have been offered from $200 to $500 more than they paid. By buying off Doyle you see the homes he has built. Then choose and your home will be just like the one you pick. You see just what you are buying. As to price, he can give you a better home for less money than you can get anywhere else. For instead of building 2 or 3 houses a year, he makes a business of building from 10 to 15 and by buying his supplies in large quantities, he receives the best grade of goods at the lowest price, and also employs his workmen at building the year round. He will save you ten per cent. on all building which when you figure up amounts to enough to buy your lot. A home is the largest purchase you may ever make, and why take any chances, when you can see and talk to buyers who have bought their homes from Doyle. By making a small payment down, and then so much a month you will soon own your home. We have the choicest building lots in all parts of the city for your use. Phone 869. We will have a car call, take you about the city and show you these homes and how easy it is to own one, built after your own idea.

Mr. Ayearst Is Exonerated Charges Were Unfounded

SIR WILLIAM MEREDITH HORRIFIED AT SUGGESTION OF PERJURY — DISCREDITS DUNCAN'S EVIDENCE — SAYS THAT CHIEF INSPECTOR COMMITTED TWO INDISCRETIONS—DID NOT SHARE IN EARNINGS.

TORONTO, April 30—"I have absolutely no hesitation," said Sir William Meredith, at the conclusion of the charges against the Ontario License Board, "in coming to the conclusion that not only were the charges 'not proven," but that they were disproven. I believe Mr. John Ayearst, the chief license inspector, who has been suspended, to have led an honorable life and to have been a zealous and faithful public servant. I thought it better to make the statement now at the conclusion of the investigation rather than later, in order that Mr. Ayearst might receive the benefit of its publication. The ultimate tribunal, of course, is the public, and they will be the final judges. As for me I have no hesitation in affirming the correctness of my judgment.

"It is horrifying to me that anyone should suggest that a man of Mr. Ayearst's character should come here and permit perjury and get others to commit perjury, rather than confess a fault.

COMMITS TWO INDISCRETIONS

"Although an honorable man, Mr. Ayearst committed two indiscretions. When the money was offered to him by Solomon he should have refused to have had anything further to do with it. Moreover, deem it very unwise and likely to lead to suspicion for a superior officer to borrow money from his subordinate.

"I think it is disproven that any agreement was ever entered into between Mr. Ayearst and Hinch and Solomon to share in the money which the later received from the Duncan Detective Company. It is established to my satisfaction that Mr. Ayearst never entertained any hope of sharing in the money and I find that there never was any agreement that he should share. I also find it was contemplated by Hinch and Solomon to give Mr. Ayearst one-third of the money and Hinch was probably under the impression continuously. Solomon may have had his own reason for not undeceiving Hinch. I find that an offer was made to Mr. Ayearst and that he refused to take any part of the money.

"The suggestion that Mr. McKay tried to impress on me of perjury is horrifying to my mind. The whole charges are concocted out of whole cloth. Mr. McKay did not appreciate the gravity of his statement when he tried to impress upon me that perjury was committed.

WHY DEWART WASN'T CALLED

"Why was Mr. Dewart not called," asked Sir William. "For reasons satisfactory to himself," replied Mr. McKay.

"But not to me," responded the Commissioner.

Mr. Dewart came in to hear Sir William's pronouncement. Afterwards Mr. Dewart told The Star: "What I will have to say will be before the real tribunal, the public, as Sir William says."

Sir William told Mr. Monohan that he did not wish to hear him speak. "It is not necessary," he said. Mr Monohan gracefully acquiesced.

Mr. Peter White arose to speak, five foolscap pages of notes in his hand.

"I told you before," said Sir William, "that you did not need to make a speech unless you wanted to.'

"I want to," said Mr. White, but sat down smiling.

"Nobody could suggest that there could be any political significance to the charges being laid. But have no brief for Mr. Cronin's conduct in the case," said Mr. McKay.

"I should not think so," remarked Sir William, "I believe his conduct in the entire case was most scandalous."

Mr. McKay: "I believe he was a zealot and I don't think the evidence brought out so far has convinced him otherwise."

Sir William appeared skeptical and retorted: "I don't believe he believes it yet. It was upon an entire invention that he put forth his base allegations against the entire License Board It was a cowardly, dastardly act.

What do you believe of this grotesquely ridiculous suggestion of Cronin's that the tags were put on as though the shipment had come from Quebec in order to stir up ill-feeling between Ontario and Quebec. I think he is one of those impulsive Irishmen who base their statements and charges upon their impressisons and not upon facts. I think it's the worst kind of gutter journalism."

Kept Tryst Within Shadow Of Prison

TORONTO, April 30—Vera Lavelle, the young woman who is in jail here awaiting trial on a charge of having aided and abeted the escape from the jail of Frank McCullough, condemned murderer, in an interview stated that, though she had had no part in McCullough's jail-breaking she had received a note from him informing her in advance of the time he would get away. She met him at midnight, a short distance from the jail, and he clasped her in his arms and was with her on the street about ten minutes.

Miss Lavelle asserted that she had not heard from McCullough since and that she did not know where he was.

Toronto papers as well as the Kingston papers, have received postcards purporting to have been written by McCullough stating that he was at Kingston a day or so ago. "This is surely some fine place for a rest," said one postcard received here. "Will not stay long, however."

The police of this city think some commercial traveler is having fun over McCullough's escape and is sending out postcards.

An investigation will be held by Sheriff Mowat and W. W. Dunlop, provincial inspector of prisons, into the interview with Vera Lavelle, published by a Toronto evening paper. The interview obtained in the jail was against the rules, it is stated.

HOW CANADIANS DID THEMSELVES A GOOD TURN

When the people of Canada last year subscribed $695,000,000 to the second Victory Loan they did a great thing for themselves and the Dominion. They enabled Canada to make a splendid finish in the war, they kept busy the wheels of the country's industry and made a first class personal investment.

On May 1 these Victory Bondholders will draw their first interest return on these bonds in the form of $18,000,000. Every province will share in this, from Prince Edward Island with $85,000 up to Ontario with 8,600,000. And this is one one-half of what these 1918 bonds will pay this year.

The 1,100,000 people who bought he bonds did not inflict on themselves any hardship in doing so. They did themselves a good turn, for the bonds are quoted three or four points above par. The money is absolutely safe, and it is enabling the bondholders to collect $36,000,000 a year.

Will this amount be permanently saved? It will, if those who draw it put it into War avings and Thrift it put it into War Savings Stamps is a Victory Bond in miniature.

Peace Flags Fly In Germany

COBLENZ, May 1.—Enthused by prospects of peace and newspaper reports that the German peace delegates had passed Cologne en route to Versailles, five Coblenz civilians yesterday hoisted German flags. The colors fluttered from their staffs only a short time all having been taken down by the military police, excepting in one case, almost as soon as they appeared. A crowd of 200 soldiers on leave assembled on the street near a downtown building where a large German flag was flying, but a military policeman relieved the situation by hauling down the flag himself.

Army regulations prohibit the flying of the German colors except by special permission, which has been granted upon only one occasion. That was in January ,when the Burgomaster of Coblenz died.

Reports from the eastern edge of the bridghead across the Rhine state that in the neutral zone opposite Coblenz there were German flags flying over most houses and the enemy colors were displayed in all villages as far as the outposts could see with glasses.

It is indicated that the Germans believe peace will soon be signed and the suspense which has been prevalent since the armistice will be broken.

PROF. KNIGHT TO RETIRE

KINGSTON, May 1.—It is understood that Dr. A. P. Knight, Professor of Physiology in Queen's University, is shortly to retire. Dr. Knight will retain his position until a successor can be secured. He has been head of the physiology department for the past seventy-seven years and is a recognized Canadian authority. He has done a great deal of experimental and research work for the Dominion Government, his last work being in connection with the lobster industry in the Maritime Provinces.

ITALIAN TROOPS CONTROL PORT OF FIUME

ROME, May 1.—Further details of the meeting held in Fiume yesterday show that the National Council of the Adriatic city notified Premier Orlando that all the political powers, State and municipal, had been placed in the hands of General Graziola, who was asked to exercise supreme authority in the name of King Victor Emmanuel.

It was stated that by this action Fiume intended officially to weld its annexation to Italy.

Wedding Bells

EMERSON—COLLINS

The home of G. W. Collins, Plainfield, was the scene of a quiet wedding Wednesday, April 16th at 8.30 a. m., when their youngest daughter, Blanche Lenora, was married to Edward Emerson of 8th Line Thurlow.

Rev. F. W. White conducted the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends. The bride wore a beautifully tailored suit of sand serge with hat to match and white furs. Her flowers were white carnations. After refreshments Mr. and Mrs. Emerson left on the honeymoon trip to Kingston. On their return they will reside at their home on the 8th line of Thurlow.

On the Monday evening preceding a shower was given the bride by her many friends, when a most enjoyable evening was spent. The very many useful and beautiful presents received testified to the deserved popularity of the bride. The whole community extends to Mr. and Mrs. Emerson their best wishes.

"Red" Agents Are Nabbed In Toronto

TORONTO, April 30—The Toronto authorities are to deport three revolutionists, two Germans and a Russian, picked up quietly by the police a month ago. They are Otto Ewart, alias Arthur Ewert, aged thirty; Lita Zabarawhks, twenty-seven, alias Annie Bancourt; Mrs. A. M. Brown, and Mrs. Ewert, pseudo wife of the first-named prisoner, and Lab Samson Vritch, twenty-four, alias Samson Black and Charnie.

The German and the woman were surprised at their rooming house, and among their effects were found three brand new colt automatics, one small German weapon, and a plentiful supply of cartridges, which they had not time to use, being so quickly burst in upon, also a quantity of Bolshevik literature and part of a German officer's uniform, puttees and knapsack.

Charnie was picked up in a down-town restaurant. He is well known in this city and is well educated. He was expelled from Columbia University, it is said, after three years' attendance, on account of seditious utterances. He tried court action to compel the University to re-admit him but was defeated. He then tried Yale and Harvard, but was refused admittance at both places.

He is said to have stolen into Canada in August, after having been refused admittance once at St. John. He has delivered addresses at Broadway Hall in this city, at the unemployed demonstration in Queen's Park and in front of the City Hall when Watson and Cheesman, Socialists, were sentenced, and was one of the leaders of the crowd who, on the same day, had to be expelled by the police from the Labor temple.

Ewart is a saddler, who says he came to Canada from Germany in 1914, about the time the war broke out. He is registered as an alien enemy and complied with the law in that regard, except that he changed his address without telling the authorities.

Lite Zaborowska came from Germany to the United States in 1914, was refused admittance to Canada, but stole in by boat to Belleville. She is an expert photographer, and was employed in a large establishment in Toronto where she claimed to be French.

The police found an interesting collection of photographs of all the revolutionary leaders of the world, including Lenine and Trotsky, also many of men of other nations, some in Canada, among them being individuals now residing here.

TO ERECT WAR MEMORIALS

TORONTO, May 1.—Encouragement and financial assistance from the Government was asked by a deputation from the Ontario Society of Artists, the Graphic Art Club of Toronto and the Toronto chapter of the Association of Architects, which waited on Premier Hearst yesterday morning. These organizations have undertaken the work of assisting in the erection of war memorials to Canada's fallen, and aim to have such memorials of suitable dignity and of durable character. The Government was asked to aid in bringing the aims of the associations before the public. The chief speakers of the deputation were G. A. Reid, A. Robson and Frank Wickson.

Premier Hearst, in reply, admitted the importance of the objects outlined, but pointed out that since the repeal of the War Tax Act the Government had no means of raising funds for such a cause. He promised however, to confer with the Ministers of Education and Agriculture, with a view to encouraging erection of such memorials in schools and community halls throughout the Province.

SENATOR MACDONELL IMPROVED

OTTAWA, April 30.—Senator Claude Macdonell of Toronto, who has been ill, is recuperating at Braeside Lodge, Preston, Ontario, and is expected to return to Ottawa in a few days.

Four Queer Ways of Treating Corns

Some Sit and Suffer
They let the corn spoil countless joyful hours. Dainty shoes are torture. Yet millions of others end that pain in a jiffy, and keep free from corns forever.

Some Pad Them
The pads are unsightly. Everyone knows that they hide a deformity. Why will dainty women, year after year, treat their feet in that way?

Some Pare and Pare
They get a partial brief relief. But they let the corn stay, and pare it again and again. And each time they risk an infection.

Some Use Ancient Cures
Some use methods which are harsh and mussy, out-of-date, unscientific. The very same treatments that fakers sold back in 1860.

The Right Way
Ends Corns—At Once and Forever

Nowadays there are millions who know that all those old methods are folly. The new-day way—the simple, certain, scientific way—is easiest of all.

A famous chemist, years ago, invented the Blue-jay plaster. It was based on many years of corn study.

The plaster is applied in a jiffy. It wraps about the toe and fits snugly. In a moment one forgets it. The pain of the corn stops instantly, and never returns. Then a bit of wax, centered on the corn alone, gently undermines it.

In two days take the Blue-jay off and the corn will disappear. Sometimes an old, tough corn needs another application. But that's easy, and that's all. The toughest corn cannot resist Blue-jay.

Blue-jay is the doctor's way of ending corns. It is the modern, scientific way—made by a surgical dressing house of world-wide reputation. It is also the easy way, the simple, quick and safe way.

Millions now employ it. Half the corns in America, probably, are now being ended by Blue-jay. Users apply it when a corn first appears, so they never suffer, or keep a corn.

Consider that. Corns are absolutely needless. It is easier to end than coddle them. Every corn pain can be ended in a jiffy. Every corn can be eliminated. Every foot can be kept forever free.

Prove this tonight. Get a package of Blue-jay—watch the effect on one corn. Say farewell to all corns today. You owe that to yourself.

How Blue-jay Acts
A is a thin, soft, protecting ring which stops the pain by relieving the pressure.
B is the B&B wax centered on the corn to gently undermine it.
C is rubber adhesive. It wraps around the toe and makes the plaster snug and comfortable.

AN IDEAL GENERAL.

Late Gen. Lipsett Idolized by His Men.

Apropos the discussion of Canadian high commanders arising out of Sir Sam Hughes' charges in Parliament, Maj.-Gen. Louis James Lipsett, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., commander of the Third Canadian Division, who was killed just before the armistice, was about as splendid an example of the ideal general officer as could be found. He commanded the division for nearly three years, and in that time won the affection and sincere esteem of tens of thousands of Canadians.

Gen. Lipsett won his way into the hearts of his men by two means; his personal bravery, and his personal interest in the men.

It was not only before battles that Gen. Lipsett was to be found in the front line. He was an indefatigable "strafer," and in order to keep his twelve battalions up to concert pitch all the time, he spent every hour he could spare from his documents and the machinery of administration, up in the line, studying the ground, speculating on raids, and keeping in touch with the spirit of the troops. In the infernal mud and corruption of the Somme, he was an ever present visitor in the heart of the fight. In the unspeakably filthy trenches in which the corps spent the winter of 1916-1917, around Neuville St. Vaast, Gen. Lipsett braved the mud three and four times a week to cheer the troops with his shy smile. And at Amiens, in August, 1918, no third division man will ever forget the sight of Gen. Lipsett, with his orderlies, galloping cheerily along the shell-swept roads and over the green fields, not more than a thousand yards from the front of the battle.

He was a practical believer in the army regulation that staff officers should be personally acquainted with the ground and the progress of their battle. And as he walked around the shell-swept battle ground, the fear was that his bravery was too big for a general. The third division felt they could not spare "Louis" Lipsett, and it was with trepidation that the troops watched him striding about the countryside. In fact, it was a common saying among the men that Gen. Lipsett was bound to "get it" sooner or later. Alas, he "got it" only a few days before the finish of the great war in which he had played so noble a part.

Quite unexpectedly, after the battles of Arras in August, 1918, word came that Gen. Lipsett was to leave the Third Division of Canadians and go to take command of the Fifth Imperial Division. Of course, it was intended as a boost for Gen. Lipsett, as he would be having command of a force in the British army, which was his life's profession. But neither the Third Division nor Gen. Lipsett could see it that way. He came up early in September to the neighborhood of Vis en Artois, where his battalions were in rest, and called for battalion parades. He visited the battalions in turn, and there were tears in his eyes and in his men's, too, as he made a typically shy, bashful speech to them in farewell.

"For three years," he said, "I have done all in my power to command you as efficiently as you responded to command. It has been a great privilege to command you splendid men, and I desire to thank you with all my heart for the honor you have bestowed upon me as your commander.".

And the battalions, formed up in hollow square, presented arms, and then cheered themselves horse, remembering how this shy, brave young general had spent his days in eliminating all chance out of the men's war.

He had a great memory for names and faces, and knew even the newer lieutenants by name, and many of the old non-coms.

Gen. Lipsett was only 44 when he was killed. He was a professional soldier, born in Wales, and belonged to the Royal Irish Regiment. He came out to Canada in 1911, as a staff officer on the Canadian permanent force with the rank of major. At the outbreak of the war he raised the 8th Battalion, "Black Devils," in Winnipeg, and commanded them in France through the Canadians' first battle at Ypres.

It is said that he would certainly have been chosen corps commander after Byng if he had been Canadian-born.

The Third Division has the one big regret that "Louis" Lipsett, the fair-haired and blue-eyed young man who made the division one of the finest in the whole British army, was not with them when the came home.

Aviator Plans Daring Flight.

Col. Raymond Collishaw, D.S.O., D.F.C., the famous Canadian ace, is seeking new aerial honors by making a flight across the Atlantic Ocean, which he hopes to accomplish early in May. Col. Collishaw is going to England to complete arrangements for the great flight. He stated recently that he would use a Handley-Page super-biplane, one of the machines built to the order of the British Government for the purpose of bombarding Berlin, and which would have been used for bombing the German capital had not the signing of the armistice put an end to aerial hostilities. The machine is a wonderful combination of mechanism. It has a wing spread of about 180 feet and is equipped with five engines, each with its own propeller, giving an aggregate horse-power of 2,000. It has a dead weight carrying capacity of 15½ tons. He will start from St. John's, Newfoundland, and land at a selected point on the west coast of Ireland. He expects to make the flight in one day.

Much Paper Used.

Brazil is the second largest consumer of paper and paper products in South America, importing more than $13,000,000 worth in 1916, but the outlook for an increased trade in this line is not promising because of the country's educational development.

Great Britain has spent $700,000,000 on industrial housing since the war began.

Dispute over Shantung has been setteld and eGrmany must surrender Kia-o-Chau to aJpan who will transfer it to China in due course.

Excitement in Italy has abated. United States ambassador has sent encouraging messages to Paris.

"They're Coming Home!"

The Y.M.C.A. will keep its chain of Service unbroken to the end!

Four and a half years of war—anxiety—separation—and now they're coming home! Help to make their home-coming happy. Help the Red Triangle maintain its chain of service unbroken until the last man is discharged.

CANADIAN Y.M.C.A. Nation-Wide Appeal CANADIAN Y.M.C.A.

Red Triangle Campaign

$1.100.000. May 5th to 9th

The Red Triangle has been with the Canadian Army from the first—from Valcartier to the Rhine. During demobilization we have maintained full service to the soldiers both in Canada and overseas, and we will continue to do so until demobilization is completed—if you help us.

But please note that for the military work in Europe this year you are not asked for further contributions. The gradual liquidation of assets overseas will suffice to maintain full service while the soldiers remain. The war work you are asked to support this year is for the soldiers coming home.

What We Are Doing for Returning Soldiers

On every troop ship a trained Y.M.C.A. man is on duty. He carries a supply of literature, writing materials, games, a magic lantern and slides, a gramophone and records. In some cases he has a piano or an organ.

He takes charge of the entertainment of men, organizes concerts, lectures, sing-songs, religious services, sports and games on ship-board. He helps and advises, explains the government plans for re-establishing soldiers into civil life, stimulates sociability and wholesome good cheer.

At Ports and on Trains

When the transport reaches Halifax, St. John or Quebec, The Red Triangle welcomes the soldier back to Canada. Free canteen service awaits him on the dock, with hot coffee, or tea, cold drinks, eatables and cigarettes. Reliable information is furnished. Facilities for telegraphing home are at hand. If the men have to wait for trains, the Y.M.C.A. is there to organize entertainment.

Every troop train leaving the ports of debarkation has on board a Red Triangle man. He distributes cigarettes, candies, and other eatables, reading materials and games—free of charge. He furnishes needed information, and helps, by entertainment, to make bearable the monotony of the train journey. Every one hundred dollars subscribed provides these facilities for one troop train.

In each of eleven big Canadian Cities stretching from coast to coast, where soldiers are held over, or where they may have business, the Y.M.C.A. maintains a fully equipped Red Triangle Club, where soldiers are provided with comfortable board and lodgings at nominal rates. Here they may meet to talk, play or read, write letters and make themselves at home generally.

At every dispersal centre in Canada, the Y.M.C.A. maintains its Red Triangle service, with free canteen, reading and writing facilities and information bureau.

In Military Hospitals

In each of the military hospitals in Canada, in the military camps and barracks where men remain on duty during demobilization, the Y.M.C.A. place a trained man in charge of full Red Triangle service, providing entertainment, recreation, instruction and social stimulus.

Besides the work for the men returning, your support is asked for the maintenance of four Red Triangle Secretaries and auxiliary staff with the Siberian Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Every returned man is offered six months' full membership privileges free, in any local Y.M.C.A. The National Council is aiding the local Y.M.C.A.'s to meet the cost of dormitory accommodation, bathing facilities and other privileges and the employment of special secretaries in connection with local service to these men.

For Soldiers' Wives and Children

Out of the Red Triangle Fund $175,000 will be set aside for the Dominion Council of the Young Women's Christian Association, who are looking after soldiers' wives and children coming to Canada. Y.W.C.A. secretaries help mothers on boats, and render to the women and children a service similar to that which the Y.M.C.A. does for the men. Y.W.C.A. rest rooms and refreshment service welcome the soldiers' families at the ports of arrival. The sick are attended, children cared for, and the women folk cheered with the kindly word and the helping hand. At the big railway stations the Y.W.C.A. representatives are there to help, comfort, advise and direct. And in certain cases, where money is lacking, funds are provided to complete the journey. The budget of the Dominion Council, Y.W.C.A. provides also for the extension of its many forms of service among Canadian girls.

For Coming Men of Canada

The Y.M.C.A. asks your support for a greatly enlarged programme of service to Canada's boys this year, as the most valuable reconstructive work that can be done to repair the awful war-wastage of Canada's man power (60,383 dead and 156,799 wounded.)

The Red Triangle will be carried to the boys and men of the towns and villages and the open country this year, upon a plan of county organization.

You are asked to help construct the manhood that will reconstruct Canada.

For Soldiers of Industry

Something of what the Y.M.C.A. is doing for the soldiers in khaki, will be done this year for the army of workers in Canada's industrial plants. A programme of social activities and recreation will be promoted under the guidance of trained Y.M.C.A. men.

The Y.M.C.A. is establishing Red Triangle service also for the men and boys in the "front trenches of industry"—workers in isolated industries like lumbering and mining.

Bar Out Bolsheviks Build Up Canada

NEW IMMIGRATION POLICY TO ACCEPT ONLY HAND-PICKED IMMIGRANTS—AGITATORS BARRED—LABOR PROTECTED —ONLY FARMERS WANTED.

OTTAWA May 1.—"Pump in the whites and bar out the Bolsheviki, Huns, spies, conspirators and Hutterites." This, in brief, is the new immigration policy of Canada.

It was outlined by Hon. James Calder in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. The Minister's bill containing drastic amendments to the act, was given second reading. He said we needed people and capital to develop our resources, billions of dollars worth of which are lying dormant. But we must avoid over-crowding the cities during the reconstruction period. In the past too much attention had been paid to erecting tall chimneys and not enough to the cultivation of the land. All Governments should devote efforts to the development of rural Canada.

Building Good Citizenship

Canada, Mr. Calder said, must consider seriously the discontinuation of our wide-open door policy with regard to immigration. Our citizenship must be protected from the elements that would swamp and destroy it. Our policy in the past with respect to Canadianizing our immigrants had been a tragedy. We did nothing to improve their habits, their customs and their respect for our laws. We just allowed them to drift. Some of the 50,000 to 70,000 Galicians, Ruthenians and Ukrainians in the West, for instance, lived in mud houses and others had no where to lay their heads when they came to this country, so they just dug holes in the ground. Not only did Canada allow them to exist in that fashion, but they were "the prey of every shark in the community." nl future we must Canadianize them.

Canada Free to Decide Policy

The Minister said it was not likely there would be anything in the Peace Treaty that would affect the question of immigration, and Canada should have the absolute right to determine for herself what her future citizenship should be. "We should know best what class we can absorb and assimilate, and we must not be tied down by any treaties or agreements of which we have no knowledge and to which our consent has not been given. If there are any such treaties in existence we should get them out of the way as quickly as we can." (Applause).

To Exclude Undesirables

Mr. Calder explained that in addition to alien enemies, spies, conspirators and other dangerous characters, it was proposed to exclude persons suffering from loathsome diseases, criminals, mental defectives, etc. He announced that the Government intended to establish administrative machinery to see that the law in this respect is carried out.

To Protect Canadian Labor

He said that steps must be taken against unemployment in Canada, and the Government had been excluding skilled and unskilled labor since the armistice was signed. Special efforts would be made to secure desirable immigrants, such as farmers, who have the necessary capital to enable them to establish themselves in Canada.

MILLIONS OF PELTS GO UNDER HAMMER

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—More than 6,000,000 pelts, valued at approximately $10,000,000 will be auctioned at the International Fur Exchange in the next two weeks.

A feature will be the disposal of 10,000 dressed, dyed and machined Alaska seal skins for the United States Government. There also will be 1,500 silver fox and 3,300 Russian sables for sale. Pelts from every fur-producing country in the world will be offered, the largest lots being 900,000 moles and 830,000 muskrats, and the smallest two sea otter and 28 polar pelts.

Three hundred fur buyers and shippers have arrived for the opening session, and 100 more are expected. Many foreign countries including Belgium, Holland, Denmark and other small nations, have had representatives here for a week inspecting pelts.

SPENCE APPEAL FAILS P. M. HAS JURISDICTION

TORONTO, April 30—Judgment has been handed out by the Second Appellate Division, dismissing the application for prohibition made on behalf of the Rev. Ben. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, who is charged with the publication of the "Parasite" which, it is alleged, was banned by order-in-Council.

The court has decided that Magistrate Kingsford has full and ample jurisdiction to try the case, and that the defendans is not entitled to a trial by jury.

JAPS OPPOSE TEACHING ENGLISH

HONOLULU May 1.—The foreign language schoon bill, strongly opposed by Japanese educators, was tabled by the Senate of the territorial legislature. The foreign language school bill provided that to obtain certificates teachers must show a knowledge of the English language, American history and American civics. Japanese editors and educators declared passage of this bill would force Japanese

Quebec Says Good-bye To Its Whiskey Stock

MONTREAL, April 30.—This is the last day on which spirits can be sold without a prescription in the Province of Quebec as the wine and beer referendum comes into effect tomorrow.

During the past week hotels and dealers in liquor have been busy getting rid of their stock. Huge quantities have been auctioned off. Under the new licensing law Montreal can have 250 hotels and restaurants, 350 shops where wine and beer may be purchased. No bars will be allowed. So far only 89 hotel licenses have been applied for. A number of spirit vendors are to be appointed later by the Provincial Government.

Petitions for the repeal of the Scott Act (total prohibition) in Quebec City are being circulated and it appears that the number of persons who have so far signed the petitions indicates the passing of prohibition in Quebec City, where beer and wines would then, in this contingency be sold under license.

Below Your Equator

there is, in the form of the intestinal canal, a wonderful laboratory, within which are manufactured the very materials which are vitally necessary to sustain life, and also violent poisons which directly and indirectly cause disease and death.

Food waste, if allowed to accumulate, stagnates and gives rise to poisonous matter. This, if allowed to be absorbed into the blood, produces 90% of the disease that attacks mankind, from a transient neuralgia to a permanent hardening of the arteries.

Bright's disease, liver trouble, heart enlargement, high blood pressure, skin affections, rheumatism, insomnia, nervous exhaustion, mental affections, all may be caused by such self-poisoning, the warning of which is obstinate or habitual constipation.

Nor is it safe or sufficient to take castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., in the effort to force the bowels to move. Not only will the constipation grow worse with the continuance of such remedies, but the dose must be constantly increased with an ever-weakening effect.

But Nujol acts differently—and successfully. Nujol is not a drug—does not act like any drug.

Nujol brings about thorough and natural bowel evacuation, at regular intervals, because it helps Nature to restore and to maintain the proper mechanism by which body waste is removed and its stagnation prevented.

Nujol overcomes constipation by removing its causes. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and send coupon for free booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger."

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

KINGSTON VETERANS WANT INSURANCE PLAN

KINGSTON, May 1.—The local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association is recommending to the Dominion convention that the Federal Government institute and carry on a scheme of life insurance for the veterans of the great war. It is further recommending that the words "non-partisan" be struck out of the constitution. This amendment to the constitution will, it is thought, tend to strengthen the association in its political policy in the future.

It has come to light that the mother of Jack Cornwell, V.C., the boy hero of the battle of Jutland, is forced by poverty to work outside her home twelve hours a day. The mothers have been generally overlooked in the distribution of war benefits, but they have had more than their share of grief.—Toronto Globe.

BOLSHES APPEAR IN DETROIT.

DETROIT, May 1.—Police aided by soldiers and sailors last night ejected about 200 Bolsheviki sympathizers from a hall where Mme. Catherine Breshkovsky, grandmother of the Russian revolution, was heckled when she pleaded for the emancipation of Russia from the rule of the Soviet Government.
